KILLED BY MOSQUITOES.

TERRIBLE DEATH OF THE COOK OF A LUMBER CAMP.

He Disfigured by the Bites of Insects as to be Hardly Recognizable—Five Days in a Deserted Camp Without Food a Prey to Tiny Tormentors.

OTTAWA, July 3.—A terrible occurrence is reported from Pembroke. Last week Thomas Young, aged 28, of Clarke River, who was engaged as cook in one of the lumbering camps above Chapleau, feeling unwell, decided to go home.

On arriving at Chapleau he found that the train that he wished to take had not arrived, and thinking a walk might do him good determined to try it to the next station.

About half way he became so sick that he was obliged to seek refuge at a deserted camp. There he lay five days a prey to mosquitoes and black flies, unable to summon assistance and without anything to eat.

Finally he managed to drag himself two miles to the railway track, where he met the station men, who placed him on the train for home. He died shortly after reaching his destination, so disfigured by the bites of insects as to be hardly recognizable.

PRECOCIOUS CRIMINALS.

HAMILTON, July 3.—Maria Thornton, a 10-year-old kleptomaniac, received a 4-years' sentence at the Police Court this morning for stealing two tricycles, and 12-year-old Martin Roos was sent to jail for 20 days for larceny of $15.

Dr. Olmsted has taken temporary charge of the Hospital and will reorganize the staff.

Thirty little ones from the Home of the Friendless were this morning taken to Elsinore, Senator Sanford's lakeside retreat for the waifs.

John Thompson, residing at Blackheath, came into the city this morning on the N. & N.W. train from the south minus his pocketbook. He reported to the police that when near Rymal Station the pocketbook was stolen. There was in it a check on the Merchants' Bank for $175 and $15 in cash.

KEPT THE BEST FOR THE LAST.

TORONTO, July 4.—The firemen's tournament yesterday was participated in by eight outside brigades in addition to the city force. The tail end of the Carnival by all odds surpassed all preceding features, excellent as some of the latter were. The advance guard of the procession consisted of several hundred bicycles, their wheels being beautifully illuminated, and their journey along King and Yonge-streets was signalled by repeated plaudits from the citizens who lined the thoroughfares. Then followed various uniformed societies and a dozen allegorical floats surrounded by flaring flambeaus and illuminated by calcium lights.

Hon. Edward Blake has written to The Globe denying that he desires to resume the leadership of the Liberal party.

In the Court of Appeal yesterday a petition was lodged against the return of Mr. Sol. White, M.L.A. for North Essex. The petitioner is Thomas Coutts and the usual charges of bribery and corruption are alleged against his return.

F. C. Atwood, the man who was arrested in the Rossin House on June 30, on a charge of offering to buy counterfeit bank notes, and who was caught by a job put up by Provincial Detectives Roger and Greer, got a hearing in the Police Court yesterday and was sent for trial. Atwood met the detectives by appointment at the Rossin, and thinking they were dealers in "green goods" unbosomed himself. He said he had once disposed of $1500 bogus Bank of Hamilton bills which he bought from a dealer in New Orleans and easily passed off. He mentioned having bought that lot in New Orleans at 25 cents in the dollar, but would willingly give 35 cents for good stuff. He said he could take $1000 a month.

This evidence was, the Magistrate thought sufficient to send him over to the Criminal Court.

THEY'D BEEN DRINKING.

MONTREAL, July 3.—The other afternoon, Mrs. Hamelin, living in Claude-street, ran into No. 1 station, and excitedly told Sergeant Beauchemin that her husband was going to commit suicide, and asked for help.

Two policemen were sent up to her house, where they saw the husband sitting with a rope around his neck, but it was not tight enough to inconvenience his respiration. He was however brought down to the station house, and at a private examination this morning said that he had been drinking freely, but that he had no intention of committing any such rash act. He was warned not to frighten his wife in that manner again and discharged.

A respectable looking man named James Johnstone, 45 years of age, and formerly of Prescott, attempted suicide at Allan's wharf this morning. He had his coat and vest off and was in the act of jumping into the river when Constable Thomas Robinson caught him just as he was taking what might have been the fatal jump. He was conveyed to the police station on the wharf. He has lately lost his wife and had been drinking.

A New Star.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—In signing the bill admitting Idaho as a state to-day the President agreeably disappointed a number of people in that State. The President found that the law ordained that a new star should be placed upon the American flag for each new State on the Fourth of July succeeding its admission to the Union. Forty-three stars are therefore due upon the flag to-morrow. The bill [illegible] nothing to satisfy [illegible]

One More for Mercier.

MONTREAL, July 3.—The election for the Assembly in Chicoutimi to-day has probably resulted in the success of Cote, the Mercier candidate. His majority over Petit with four polls to hear from is 159.

Mr. Ste. Marie's Election Contested.

MONTREAL, July 3.—The election to the Quebec Assembly of Mr. Ste. Maria (Lib.), who resigned his seat in the Commons to contest Napierville in the recent provincial elections, is to be contested on charges of corruption and fraud.

Mr. J. T. Cardinal has taken out an action for $10,000 damages against Mr. Ste. Maria, alleging that Mr. Ste. Maria had used defamatory language regarding him at an election cont

TWO OF THE SAME KIND.

BOYS AND GUNS MAKE A FATAL COMBINATION.

Little Mabel Bichler of Ottawa, Aged 14, Shot by a 10-Year-Old Lad—A Dominion Day Casualty Reported from Charlottetown.

OTTAWA, July 3.—Mabel Richler, aged 14, was instantly killed this morning. She had just stepped out of her father's back door when a small rifle in the hands of a lad named Frank Leggat, aged 10, was discharged and the bullet hit the poor girl in the heart. An inquest will be held.

HALIFAX, July 3.—On Dominion Day two lads, Rufus Whittle and George Henderson of Charlottetown, went out in the country. They had a rifle and fired a number of times at trees and gate posts. One of the bullets struck and killed a little daughter of Samuel Gay. The boys did not see the child, nor did they know she had been shot. A woman named Catharine McDonald driving along the road saw the girl lying in a field, as she supposed asleep. She went to awaken her and found her dying. The boys were acquitted by a coroner's jury, who severely condemned the careless use of firearms.

REMARKABLE SAGACITY.

WOODSTOCK, July 3.—William Murray of West Oxford left Woodstock late on Saturday night and drove home, says The Sentinel-Review. Having unharnessed his horses, he rode one of them down to a spring, about 400 yards down from the house, for the purpose of watering it, the other horse having started ahead on its own account. When he reached the spring the horse that was loose kicked, striking Mr. Murray in the leg. Mr. Murray knew that he was hurt, but had no idea how badly. He jumped from the horse he was riding to find his leg bend under him. It was broken below the knee. A compound fracture was produced by the kick and the jump from the horse on the broken limb aggravated the nature of the injury in a painful degree.

He called as loudly as he could for assistance, but he was 400 yards from the house and there was no one there but his mother and sister. He tried to drag his body along the ground by pulling on the grass, but soon fainted away from pain and exhaustion. When he recovered he called again, but there was no response. A little collie puppy came down to where Mr. Murray was, and after licking his hands and acting as a dog would do started back for the house. At the house he barked furiously for a little while and then returned to where the injured man was, returning at once to the house to bark again. From the man to the house and the house to the man the dog ran for fully an hour, until finally Mr. Murray's sister got up to see what was the matter. Miss Murray, thinking that perhaps something was wrong, went to her brother's bedroom, but found that he was not there and had not been to bed.

The dog resumed his barking and started off in the direction of the scene of the accident. Miss Murray followed, and was led to the spot where her brother lay. With the assistance of her mother, an old lady, the wounded man was removed to the house, but it was a slow and painful task, and it was 3 o'clock in the morning before he was in his bed. A doctor was summoned and the wound was dressed, but it will be a couple of months before Mr. Murray will be himself again. The dog is only an ordinary one to look at, and was never suspected of any sagacity before.

Burglary at Bennington.

EMBRO, July 3.—On Monday night some one entered the store of Peter Murray, Bennington, northwest of Embro, and stole about $50 worth of tobacco and canned goods. The thieves had a pile of drygoods and groceries piled up beside the window, through which they had effected an entrance, but were surprised and frightened off before they had time to remove them. There were two of them, and they had a buggy waiting outside, in which they drove off. They were followed for some distance, but managed to make their escape. One of them left his hat behind in his hurry.

Pitchfork v. Revolver.

BERLIN, Ont., July 3.—At Preston the other day a blacksmith named Forbes had his horse grazing on the street and came near Casper Jacobs' house. The latter got mad and the bookbinder went to the blacksmith with a revolver and hit him in the arm, whereupon the latter went for the former with a pitchfork and nearly pitched him into eternity. Jacobs at last accounts was very low and may not recover.

Death of Dr. E. H. Horsey.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Dr. Edward H. Horsey, a native of Kingston, Ont., and for 15 years house physician at the Palmer, died here Tuesday afternoon. He was 54 years old, a graduate of Queen's College in '59, practised medicine in Montreal and at the breaking out of the war offered his services to the Union, was assigned to duty in Army Square Hospital and remained there until the collapse of the rebellion. For the last eight years he had spent the summer at Kingston, where he had built a handsome house. The remains were taken to Kingston for interment.

Had a Right to Interfere.

SARNIA, July 3.—Those who were in the neighborhood of the Grand Trunk Station when the excursion train was leaving on Wednesday evening last, were treated to a bit of romance in real life. A family party, consisting of father, brother and daughter, the latter about 16, had come in from Petrolea on the excursion. When the time came to return the girl refused to start, saying that her relatives did not treat her well and that she would not go back home. While the dispute was going on a good-looking young colored man joined the party and took the girl's side of the question, saying that she should not be forced to go with her relatives if she did not wish to do so. When asked by the father what business he had to interfere, the mulatto pulled out a marriage certificate which showed that John Holland of Petrolea had that morning been joined in the bonds of matrimony to Carrie Webb of the same place. The disgusted father and brother gave up the discussion and entered the train, while the newly-wedded husband started up town with his bride.

The McKinley Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Senator Morrill, chairman of the Committee on Finance, said he would ask Monday to have the Tariff Bill taken up, as against the River and Harbor Bill, and expected that the Senate would grant his request. The committee will have several amendments to propose to the bill none of them, it is said, of any great importance.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

RAILWAY UNPOPULARITY WITH THE POSTAL EMPLOYES.

Greens for the Queen and the Postmaster-General—Lord Wolseley's Successor—The Resignations of the Spanish Ministry Accepted—Stanley Banqueted.

LONDON, July 3.—The staff of the central telegraph office, numbering 400 persons, refused to cheer for the Queen on the invitation of the officials on the occasion of the postal jubilee. Instead of cheering they groaned for the Queen. They also groaned for Postmaster-General Raikes, as a protest against his treatment of their demands for the amelioration of their condition.

From This Morning's London Papers.

LONDON, July 4.—The Herald has learned from M. Ribot, the French Foreign Minister, that England gives France an island in the Caribbean Sea, and recognizes the French protectorate over Madagascar.

The Standard says the redemption clauses of the Tithes Bill will be dropped and the bill carried in the abridged form.

Lord Wolseley's Successor.

LONDON, July 3.—In the House of Commons to-day War Secretary Stanhope said Sir Redvers Buller would succeed Lord Wolseley as adjutant-general of the army.

His Voice Is Still for Beer.

BERLIN, July 3.—Gen. Von Moltke in a letter to a friend says: I have never said beer was Germany's greatest enemy. I am myself an abstainer but I regard complete abstinence as neither desirable nor practicable. I wish we could brew a good light and cheaper beer for the people. It is sinful to give stimulants to children or uncivilized people.

The authorities of Buda-Pesth intend to build a large lunatic asylum at once, statistics showing that there are 15,000 lunatics in Hungary and only four asylums.

Samoa's New Chief Justice.

STOCKHOLM, July 3.—In accordance with the request of America, Germany and England, King Oscar has nominated Conrad Cederkrantz for the post of Chief Justice of Samoa. The appointee is now an assistant judge in this city.

Dr. Peters at Usagara.

ZANZIBAR, July 3.—Dr. Peters telegraphs that he has arrived at Usagara.

Milan's Expulsion Urged.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 3.—The Novoe Vremya urges the expulsion of ex-King Milan from Servia, believing that his presence will provoke the overthrow of the Obrenovitch dynasty in favor of a Montenegrin prince.

Bulgaria's Request Refused.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 3.—The Porte has refused to comply with Bulgaria's request that it ask the powers to recognise Prince Ferdinand as ruler of that country.

Stanley Banqueted.

LONDON, July 3.—The Royal Geographical Society gave a banquet to-night in honor of Henry M. Stanley. Sir M. E. Grant Duff, the president of the society, in toasting the guest said that Stanley perhaps had found an outlet for the surplus population of England and America.

Mr. Stanley, replying, said that plenty of work remained for the society to do in Africa.

Resignation of the Spanish Ministry.

MADRID, July 3.—The Queen Regent has accepted the resignations of the members of the Cabinet. The sitting of the Cortes has been suspended pending the formation of a new Ministry.

Premier Sagasta resigned to enable the Queen to decide whether or not a change of policy is advisable. The Queen has consulted several statesmen.

Tennis at Wimbledon.

LONDON, July 3.—In the Wimbledon lawn tennis tournament to-day in the singles championship match Lewis, the Irish champion, defeated Miller of the St. George's Club New York, in the third round, three sets to a nothing.

Russia's Anti-Chinese Schemes.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 3.—The Russian Government, in order to counteract the plans of China to make Manchuria an outpost against Russia by building railways and fortresses in that territory and by an extensive colonization scheme, has decided to hasten the construction of the Siberian railway and to strengthen the garrisons in the Amoor and Usuri provinces The Government will also establish colonie throughout these provinces and no Chinese will be permitted to settle in the territory. A Russian commission with headquarters at Vladivostock will watch the execution of the measures.

They are Not Hostile.

PARIS, July 3.—The Guatemalan Minister here denies that hostile relations exist between Guatemala and San Salvador.

The Tithes Bill to Be Pushed.

LONDON, July 3.—Mr. Smith, the Government leader, intimated in the House of Commons to-day that the Government meant to pass the Tithes Bill this session.

Born With Teeth.

CINCINNATI, July 3.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Carl Kimble of No. 44 Kindel-avenue gave birth to twins. The doctors who were in attendance at the birth of the babes noticed that they were exceptionally large and well developed. Greatly to their surprise upon examining one of the twins it was discovered that it possessed two large lower front teeth, which are at least an eighth of an inch in length and perfectly formed. The teeth are of a pearly whiteness and look as natural as those of a child 6 or 8 years old. This is a rare occurrence, and a similar one has never been recorded before. There have been cases where there was one tooth when a single child was born, but never before when there were twins.

KEMMLER RESENTENCED.

To Die by Electricity in the Week Beginning Aug. 4.

BUFFALO, July 3.—At 9 o'clock this afternoon Murderer William Kemmler was brought into the Supreme Court for re-sentence. Judge Childs said:

"Kemmler, the courts of last resort, both in the state and nation, have decided against all appeals in your case."

Kemmler (interrupting): "Yes, sir."

"But little remains to be said," continued Judge Childs. "I hope you have had time to consider the enormity of your offence, and to recognize the justice of your conviction."

Kemmler: "Yes, sir."

And, continued the court: "It is also trusted that you will use the remaining time in preparations for your death. It is the judgment of the court that sentence in your case will be carried out at Auburn prison in the manner provided by law during the week beginning August 4, and may God have mercy on your soul."

Kemmler was taken back to Auburn to night.

BELLEVILLE, July 3.—The body of the little Scrimshaw girl was found yesterday in the bush near her father's house in Rawdon. She had evidently died from exposure and hunger.

KILLED BY MOSQUITOES.

So Disfigured by the Bites of Insects as to be Hardly Recognizable—Five Days in a Deserted Camp Without Food a Prey to Tiny Tormentors.

OTTAWA, July 3.—A terrible occurrence is reported from Pembroke. Last week Thomas Young, aged 38, of Clarke River, who was engaged as cook in one of the lumbering camps above Chapleau, feeling unwell, decided to go home.

On arriving at Chapleau he found that the train that he wished to take had not arrived, and thinking a walk might do him good determined to try it to the next station.

About half way he became so sick that he was obliged to seek refuge at a deserted camp. There he lay five days a prey to mosquitoes and black flies, unable to summon assistance and without anything to eat.

Finally he managed to drag himself two miles to the railway track, where he met the station men, who placed him on the train for home. He died shortly after reaching his destination, so disfigured by the bites of insects as to be hardly recognizable.

PRECOCIOUS CRIMINALS.

HAMILTON, July 3.—Maria Thornton, a 10-year-old kleptomaniac, received a 4-years' sentence at the Police Court this morning for stealing two tricycles, and 13-year-old Martin Roos was sent to jail for 20 days for larceny of $15.

Dr. Olmsted has taken temporary charge of the Hospital and will reorganize the staff.

Thirty little ones from the Home of the Friendless were this morning taken to Elsinore, Senator Sanford's lakeside retreat for the waifs.

John Thompson, residing at Blackheath, came into the city this morning on the N. & N.W. train from the south minus his pocketbook. He reported to the police that when near Rymal Station the pocketbook was stolen. There was in it a check on the Merchants' Bank for $175 and $15 in cash.

KEPT THE BEST FOR THE LAST.

TORONTO, July 4.—The firemen's tournament yesterday was participated in by eight outside brigades in addition to the city force. The tail end of the Carnival by all odds surpassed all preceding features, excellent as some of the latter were. The advance guard of the procession consisted of several hundred bicycles, their wheels being beautifully illuminated, and their journey along King and Yonge-streets was signalized by repeated plaudits from the citizens who lined the thoroughfares. Then followed various uniformed societies and a dozen allegorical floats surrounded by flaring flambeaus and illuminated by calcium lights.

Hon. Edward Blake has written to The Globe denying that he desires to resume the lea ership of the Liberal party.

In the Court of Appeal yesterday a petition was lodged against the return of Mr. Sol. White, M.L.A. for North Essex. The petitioner is Thomas Coutts and the usual charges of bribery and corruption are alleged against his return.

F. C. Atwood, the man who was arrested in the Rossin House on June 30, on a charge of offering to buy counterfeit bank notes, and who was caught by a job put up by Provincial Detectives Roger and Greer, got a hearing in the Police Court yesterday and was sent for trial. Atwood met the detectives by appointment at the Rossin, and thinking they were dealers in "green goods" unbosomed himself. He said he had once disposed of $1800 bogus Bank of Hamilton bills which he bought from a dealer in New Orleans and easily passed off. He mentioned having bought that lot in New Orleans at 25 cents in the dollar, but would willingly give 35 cents for good stuff. He said he could take $1000 a month.

This evidence was, the Magistrate thought sufficient to send him over to the Criminal Court.

THEY'D BEEN DRINKING.

MONTREAL, July 3.—The other afternoon, Mrs. Hamelin, living in Claude-street, ran into No. 1 station, and excitedly told Sergeant Beauchemin that her husband was going to commit suicide, and asked for help.

Two policemen were sent up to her house, where they saw the husband sitting with a rope around his neck, but it was not tight enough to inconvenience his respiration. He was however brought down to the station house, and at a private examination this morning said that he had been drinking freely, but that he had no intention of committing any such rash act. He was warned not to frighten his wife in that manner again and discharged.

A respectable looking man named James Johnstone, 45 years of age, and formerly of Prescott, attempted suicide at Allan's wharf this morning. He had his coat and vest off and was in the act of jumping into the river when Constable Thomas Robinson caught him just as he was taking what might have been the fatal jump. He was conveyed to the police station on the wharf. He has lately lost his wife and had been drinking.

A New Star.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—In signing the bill admitting Idaho as a state to-day the President agreeably disappointed a number of people in that State. The President found that the law ordained that a new star should be placed upon the American flag for each new State on the Fourth of July succeeding its admission to the Union. Forty-three stars are therefore due upon the flag to-morrow. The bill [illegible] according to Statehood was not [illegible]

BOYS AND GUNS MAKE A FATAL COMBINATION.

Little Mabel Bichler of Ottawa, Aged 14, Shot by a 16-Year-Old Lad—A Dominion Day Casualty Reported from Charlottetown.

OTTAWA, July 3.—Mabel Bichler, aged 14, was instantly killed this morning. She had just stepped out of her father's back door when a small rifle in the hands of a lad named Frank Leggat, aged 16, was discharged and the bullet hit the poor girl in the heart. An inquest will be held.

HALIFAX, July 3.—On Dominion Day two lads, Rufus Whittle and George Henderson of Charlottetown, went out in the country. They had a rifle and fired a number of times at trees and gate posts. One of the bullets struck and killed a little daughter of Samuel Gay. The boys did not see the child, nor did they know she had been shot. A woman named Catharine McDonald driving along the road saw the girl lying in a field, as she supposed asleep. She went to awaken her and found her dying. The boys were acquitted by a coroner's jury, who severely condemned the careless use of firearms.

REMARKABLE SAGACITY.

WOODSTOCK, July 3.—William Murray of West Oxford left Woodstock late on Saturday night and drove home, says The Sentinel-Review. Having unharnessed his horses, he rode one of them down to a spring, about 400 yards down from the house, for the purpose of watering it, the other horse having started ahead on its own account. When he reached the spring the horse that was loose kicked, striking Mr. Murray in the leg. Mr. Murray knew that he was hurt, but had no idea how badly. He jumped from the horse he was riding to find his leg bend under him. It was broken below the knee. A compound fracture was produced by the kick and the jump from the horse on the broken limb aggravated the nature of the injury in a painful degree.

He called as loudly as he could for assistance, but he was 400 yards from the house and there was no one there but his mother and sister. He tried to drag his body along the ground by pulling on the grass, but soon fainted away from pain and exhaustion. When he recovered he called again, but there was no response. A little collie puppy came down to where Mr. Murray was, and after licking his hands and acting as a dog would do started back for the house. At the house he barked furiously for a little while and then returned to where the injured man was, returning at once to the house to bark again. From the man to the house and the house to the man the dog ran for fully an hour, until finally Mr. Murray's sister got up to see what was the matter. Miss Murray, thinking that perhaps something was wrong, went to her brother's bedroom, but found that he was not there and had not been to bed.

The dog resumed his barking and started off in the direction of the scene of the accident. Miss Murray followed, and was led to the spot where her brother lay. With the assistance of her mother, an old lady, the wounded man was removed to the house, but it was a slow and painful task, and it was 3 o'clock in the morning before he was in his bed. A doctor was summoned and the wound was dressed, but it will be a couple of months before Mr. Murray will be himself again. The dog is only an ordinary one to look at, and was never suspected of any sagacity before.

Burglary at Bennington.

EMBRO, July 3.—On Monday night some one entered the store of Peter Murray, Bennington, northwest of Embro, and stole about $50 worth of tobacco and canned goods. The thieves had a pile of drygoods and groceries piled up beside the window, through which they had effected an entrance, but were surprised and frightened off before they had time to remove them. There were two of them, and they had a buggy waiting outside, in which they drove off. They were followed for some distance, but managed to make their escape. One of them left his hat behind in his hurry.

Pitchfork v. Revolver.

BERLIN, Ont., July 3.—At Preston the other day a blacksmith named Forbes had his horse grazing on the street and came near Casper Jacobs' house. The latter got mad and the bookbinder went to the blacksmith with a revolver and hit him in the arm, whereupon the latter went for the former with a pitchfork and nearly pitched him into eternity. Jacobs at last accounts was very low and may not recover.

Death of Dr. E. H. Horsey.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Dr. Edward H. Horsey, a native of Kingston, Ont., and for 15 years house physician at the Palmer, died here Tuesday afternoon. He was 54 years old, a graduate of Queen's College in '59, practised medicine in Montreal and at the breaking out of the war offered his services to the Union, was assigned to duty in Army Square Hospital and remained there until the collapse of the rebellion. For the last eight years he had spent the summer at Kingston, where he had built a handsome house. The remains were taken to Kingston for interment.

Had a Right to Interfere.

SARNIA, July 3.—Those who were in the neighborhood of the Grand Trunk Station when the excursion train was leaving on Wednesday evening last, were treated to a bit of romance in real life. A family party, consisting of father, brother and daughter, the latter about 16, had come in from Petrolea on the excursion. When the time came to return the girl refused to start, saying that her relatives did not treat her well and that she would not go back home. While the dispute was going on a good-looking young colored man joined the party and took the girl's side of the question, saying that she should not be forced to go with her relatives if she did not wish to do so. When asked by the father what business he had to interfere, the mulatto pulled out a marriage certificate which showed that John Holland of Petrolea had that morning been joined in the bonds of matrimony to Carrie Webb of the same place. The disgusted father and brother gave up the discussion and entered the train, while the newly-wedded husband started up town with his bride.

The Hackmatack Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Senator Morrill, chairman of the Committee on Finance, said he would ask Monday to have the Tariff Bill taken up, as against the River and Harbor Bill, and expected that the Senate would grant his request. The committee will have several amendments to propose to the bill none of them, it is said, of any great importance.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

RAILWAY UNPOPULARITY WITH THE POSTAL EMPLOYES.

Cheers for the Queen and the Postmaster-General—Lord Wolseley's Successor—The Resignations of the Spanish Ministry Accepted—Stanley Banqueted.

LONDON, July 3.—The staff of the central telegraph office, numbering 400 persons, refused to cheer for the Queen on the invitation of the officials on the occasion of the postal jubilee. Instead of cheering they groaned for the Queen. They also groaned for Postmaster-General Raikes, as a protest against his treatment of their demands for the amelioration of their condition.

From This Morning's London Papers.

LONDON, July 4.—The Herald has learned from M. Ribot, the French Foreign Minister, that England gives France an island in the Caribbean Sea, and recognizes the French protectorate over Madagascar.

The Standard says the redemption clauses of the Tithes Bill will be dropped and the bill carried in the abridged form.

Lord Wolseley's Successor.

LONDON, July 3.—In the House of Commons to-day War Secretary Stanhope said Sir Redvers Buller would succeed Lord Wolseley as adjutant-general of the army.

His Voice Is Still for Beer.

BERLIN, July 3.—Gen. Von Moltke in a letter to a friend says: I have never said beer was Germany's greatest enemy. I am myself an abstainer but I regard complete abstinence as neither desirable nor practicable. I wish we could brew a good light and cheaper beer for the people. It is sinful to give stimulants to children or uncivilized people.

Bulgaria's Request Refused.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 3.—The Porte has refused to comply with Bulgaria's request that it ask the powers to recognize Prince Ferdinand as ruler of that country.

Stanley Banqueted.

LONDON, July 3.—The Royal Geographical Society gave a banquet to-night in honor of Henry M. Stanley. Sir M. E. Grant Duff, the president of the society, in toasting the guest said that Stanley perhaps had found an outlet for the surplus population of England and America.

Mr. Stanley, replying, said that plenty of work remained for the society to do in Africa.

Resignation of the Spanish Ministry.

MADRID, July 3.—The Queen Regent has accepted the resignations of the members of the Cabinet. The sitting of the Cortes has been suspended pending the formation of a new Ministry.

Premier Sagasta resigned to enable the Queen to decide whether or not a change of policy is advisable. The Queen has consulted several statesmen.

Tennis at Wimbledon.

LONDON, July 3.—In the Wimbledon lawn tennis tournament to-day in the singles championship match Lewis, the Irish champion, defeated Miller of the St. George's Club New York, in the third round, three sets to n othing.

Russia's Anti-Chinese Measures.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 3.—The Russian Government, in order to counteract the plans of China to make Manchuria an outpost against Russia by building railways and fortresses in that territory and by an extensive colonization scheme, has decided to hasten the construction of the Siberian railway and to strengthen the garrisons in the Amoor and Usuri provinces The Government will also establish colonie through out these provinces and no Chinese will be permitted to settle in the territory. A Russian commission with headquarters at Vladivostock will watch the execution of the measures.

They are Not Hostile.

PARIS, July 3.—The Guatemalan Minister here denies that hostile relations exist between Guatemala and San Salvador.

The Tithes Bill to Be Pushed.

LONDON, July 3.—Mr. Smith, the Government leader, intimated in the House of Commons to-day that the Government meant to pass the Tithes Bill this session.

Born With Teeth.

CINCINNATI, July 3.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Carl Kimble of No. 44 Kindel-avenue gave birth to twins. The doctors who were in attendance at the birth of the babes noticed that they were exceptionally large and well developed. Greatly to their surprise upon examining one of the twins it was discovered that it possessed two large lower front teeth, which are at least an eighth of an inch in length and perfectly formed. The teeth are of a pearly whiteness and look as natural as those of a child 6 or 8 years old. This is a rare occurrence, and a similar one has never been recorded before. There have been cases where there was one tooth when a single child was born, but never before when there were twins.

KEMMLER RESENTENCED.

BUFFALO, July 3.—At 9 o'clock this afternoon Murderer William Kemmler was brought into the Supreme Court for re-sentence. Judge Childs said:

"Kemmler, the courts of last resort, both in the state and nation, have decided against all appeals in your case."

Kemmler (interrupting): "Yes, sir."

"But little remains to be said," continued Judge Childs. "I hope you have had time to consider the enormity of your offence, and to recognize the justice of your conviction."

Kemmler: "Yes, sir."

And, continued the court: "It is also trusted that you will use the remaining time in preparations for your death. It is the judgment of the court that sentence in your case will be carried out at Auburn prison in the manner provided by law during the week beginning August 4, and may God have mercy on your soul."

Kemmler was taken back to Auburn to-night.

BELLEVILLE, July 3.—The body of the little Scrimshaw girl was found yesterday in the bush near her father's home in Rawdon. She had evidently died from exposure and hunger.

THE PULSE OF TRADE.

Stocks of Breadstuffs—Other Statistics—Bank Clearings.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's Journal from the various of general merchandise, while keep [illegible] perceptibly, as help to [illegible] this season, and the week, [illegible] days short, has further tended to [illegible] operations.

Iron and steel are [illegible] and anthracite coal is really in better demand at improved prices. At the west keep new in free movement to interior markets, and prices are weak and lower. Cattle are dull. Provisions barely hold their own as to prices. Wheat is up 1¼c on bad crop reports from abroad and [illegible] heavy decrease of domestic stocks. Corn and oats are fractionally higher. In California the outlook is for a heavy wheat crop. Our Melbourne cable states that wheat stocks in Australia and New Zealand, out of farmers' hands, July 1, equal 4,972,000 bushels against 8,891,000 bushels one year ago.

There were 94 strikes, involving 32,089 strikers, reported to Bradstreet's in June. For the six months there were 651 strikes involving 174,326 strikers, against 349 strikes, involving 93,926 strikers last year, and 438 strikes and 172,462 strikers in 1888.

Bank clearings for June at 51 cities showed a decrease of 13.6 per cent. from the May total, but they are 7.2 per cent. larger than in June, 1889. For the six months they show at 87 cities a gain of 4.9 over last year.

At this, the close of the crop year of 1889-'90, Bradstreet's reports point to 88,080,000 bushels of wheat carried over, against 57,000,000 bushels a year ago. Farmers' stocks are 7,000,000 bushels heavier than on July 1, 1889, and so-called available stocks 8,000,000 bushels. These totals point to the wheat crop of 1889 having been 470,000,000 bushels instead of 490,000,000 bushels. Stocks of Indian corn (available) carried over are 19,351,926 bushels, against 19,361,565 bushels a year ago. Stocks of oats are 7,267,494 bushels, against 7,470,989 bushels, of barley 697,255 bushels, against 454,167 bushels, and of rye 966,703 bushels, against 986,345 bushels. Stocks of wheat flour at leading points of manufacture and accumulation in first and second hands (exclusive of New York City) equal 1,420,378 barrels, against 1,317,800 barrels one year ago.

The Flour Market.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 3.—The Northwestern Miller says: The aggregate flour production of 12 mills last week was 83,888 bbls. A few firms are behind hand with orders and will run on the Fourth. The flour market is constantly improving. There is a very good domestic demand and the export orders received are encouraging. The export shipments for the week were 25,375 bbls. Patents for export are in good demand and one firm reports a sale of 2500 sacks of 280 pounds at a price equal to $3.25 at Boston, an advance of 15 cents over bidding figures. In bakers for export an advance of 6d is noted.

THE TAILORS' STRIKE.

New York Sisters Attack an Employer and His Family.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Abraham Rosenberg and a crowd of 30 other strikers visited the tailoring shop of Samuel Dillet in Eldredge-street to-day and began an indiscriminate attack upon Dillet, his wife and the workmen in the shop. Dillet defended himself with a revolver. He fired into the crowd and shot Rosenberg, inflicting a probably fatal wound.

The Boilermakers' Convention.

NEW YORK, July 3.—At to-day's meeting of the American Boilermakers' Association it was decided to organize local boards in the various cities which will have control of local affairs, such as matters of disturbances and trouble between employer and employe, such local boards to be under the control of the State committee. The report of the Apprenticeship committee was adopted. The next annual meeting will be held at St. Louis.

PAN AMERICAN COMMERCE.

Mr. Blaine Urges Subsidies for Postal and Cable Communication.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—President Harrison yesterday sent to Congress a message transmitting a letter from Secretary Blaine upon the reports adopted by the Pan-American Conference respecting postal and cable communication between the United States and the ports of Central and South America, which accompanied the letter. In his letter the Secretary says:

"The report of the Committee on Communication upon the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea shows that Mexico and the republics of Central America, although containing a population and wealth that are but a fraction of our own, and with public revenues that do not compare with those of the United States, are doing more than this Government to maintain a commerce that is of much greater importance and advantage to us than it is to them.

"The representatives of countries bordering on the Pacific also recommend the cooperation of the various countries for the establishment of one or more subsidi and steamship lines of the first-class between San Francisco and Valparaiso and intermediate points, each country to pay a share proportionate to its population. Between the United States and ports of Brazil, Uruguay and the Argentine Republic, it is recommended that a fast subsidized line be established and an auxiliary slower line between the United States and Brazil, to stop at minor ports."

A SOUTHERN CLOUDBURST.

Traffic on the Texas Pacific Railway Interrupted—A Remarkable Flood.

VAN HORN, Tex., July 3.—A remarkable cloudburst on the mountains has stopped traffic temporarily on the Texas Pacific Railway to-day. The noon train out of El Paso eastward bound had three coaches, a sleeper and the special palace car May flower, containing the Frank Leslie's Weekly Newspaper party, including Russell Harrison. It was moving along about 8 to-night at high speed when at this point it suddenly ran into an enormous flood of water spreading for over eight miles along the valley and inundating the entire town. The train was instantly slowed, but the flood from the mountains increased so rapidly that the ties were washed out from under the track and the train stopped to await developments. The extraordinary nature of the cloudburst is shown by the fact that 15 minutes before the train approached Van Horn the track was perfectly dry. Before this there had been no rain at Van Horn for many months, though there had been occasional smaller cloudbursts. The Leslie party remains on the car, as the track is cut off from the mainland by the water, the roaring of which can be heard for miles.

Agreed to Advance Rates.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The western roads today agreed to advance freight rates to the Missouri River and St. Paul 10 cents per 100 lbs. on first-class and proportionately on the other classes. The scale of rates is on the basis of 70 cents first-class to Missouri River points and 80 cents first-class to St. Paul. The chairman will fix the date on which the rates become effective.

A 'Frisco Fraud.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The Examiner to-day devoted 13 columns to an exposure of alleged fraudulent methods in furnishing Government supplies to the Mare Island Navy-yard. Secretary Tracy has ordered the payment of the fraudulent bills stopped pending further investigation.

Prof. Brooks' Comet.

GENEVA, N.Y., July 3.—Prof. Brooks' comet is now in favorable position for telescopic observation in the evening. Its discoverer states that the comet now forms a triangle with the stars Zeta and Eta in the Big Dipper, is moving slowly westward and on July 16 will be midway between the above stars. The comet has a bright nucleus and a short tail and remains above the horizon the entire night.

FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1890.

Notes for Cheese Makers for July.*

(By Jas. W. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner.)

July cheese, like July butter, has a reputation for being the poorest of the summer. This year it should be exceptionally fine. The abundance of grass in June, with a too plentiful rainfall, will leave the pasture with richer herbage than usual. Suitable conditions for the production, preparation and preservation of the milk in a fit state for the manufacture of fine cheese can be continued by the patrons giving effect to the following simple requirements:—

1. Cows need the owner's providential care in the following matters, viz.:
(a) An abundant allowance of succulent or other food;
(b) Opportunity to drink pure water at least twice a day;
(c) Access to salt every day;
(d) Shade in the pasture fields from the weakening influences of July suns;
(e) Regularity in milking;
(f) Management and handling with such thoughtfulness and an eye to profit;

2. Cows should be prevented from drinking impure water, and should be protected against the attentions of all dogs;

3. (a) Milk should be strained immediately after it is drawn from the cow;
(b) It should be aired by the use of an aerator or by dipping, pouring or stirring;
(c) It should be cooled to the temperature of the atmosphere;
(d) It should be protected from contamination by the foulness of impure air.

It will be of quick and durable advantage to direct the attention of all patrons to these matters, by sending each a concise, clear and courteous reminder of duty in connection therewith.

When the yield of milk by the cows begins to shrink, the temptation to make up the quantity in some other way is increased. The Act passed by the Dominion Parliament to provide against frauds in the supplying of milk to cheese, butter and condensed milk manufactories is a piece of wholesome legislation.

It forbids the sending to any such factory (1) milk diluted with water, or (2) milk in any way adulterated, or (3) milk from which any cream has been taken, or (4) milk commonly known as skimmed milk, or (5) milk from which any portion of that part of the milk known as strippings has been kept back, or (6) any milk that is tainted or partly sour. The penalty for each offence against the provisions of the Act, upon conviction thereof before any justice or justices of the peace, is a fine not exceeding fifty dollars and not less than five dollars, together with the costs of prosecution.

The fine, when recovered, shall be payable, one-half to the informant or complainant, and the other half to the representative of the factory to which the milk was sent, to be distributed among the patrons in proportion to their respective interests in the product thereof.

Let every cheese maker get a copy of this Bulletin published in the local newspaper, and further, let him see that every patron is furnished with a copy of that issue.

Some of the qualities that are expected and desirable in the cheese of July are:—

1. Rich, clean, creamy flavour;
2. Solid, firm, buttery body;
3. Fine, silky, flaky texture;
4. Bright, uniform colour;
5. Attractive, neat, symmetrical, stylish appearance.

In order that cheese having just these qualities may be manufactured regularly, I make the following notes for guidance:—

1. Thorough distribution of the rennet in the milk must be effected by diluting the rennet extract and by vigorous stirring.

2. Sufficient rennet to coagulate the curd into a state fit for cutting in from 35 to 40 minutes at from 86° to 90° should be used. When an extra quantity of rennet is used, a corresponding increase in the weight of salt should be added to the curd.

3. The contents of the vat should be perfectly still when coagulation commences. Vibration of the floor and of the vat during the thickening of the milk causes waste.

4. The horizontal knife should be used first in cutting; and active stirring should not commence until the cubes of curd become slightly heated.

5. The temperature should be raised gradually to 96° or 98° Fahr.

6. The stirring should be continued until the curd particles are so well "cooked" or "dried" that when a handful has been pressed for a few moments they will fall apart again as the result of any slight disturbance.

7. As soon as the presence of acid is discernible by the hot iron test, the whey should be removed. In the case of gassy curds, a further development of acid before the drawing of the whey will be beneficial.

8. Hand stirring will be of advantage until the curd is firm.

9. The temperature should be maintained at or above 94°.

10. The curd should be allowed to mat into one mass.

11. It should be turned so frequently that whey will not collect or stand in small pools in or on it.

12. If it becomes gassy it should be aired (if need be by grinding and stirring) and afterwards kept at a temperature above 94°.

13. The gas formed in gassy curds hinders the development of acid; and the presence of acid prevents the formation of gas. The treatment should provide for the removal of the gas by aeration and the maintenance of temperature by the application of hot water to the curd or steam to the vat or stak in which it is.

14. Close matting and packing of the curd are beneficial only after the curd is sufficiently dry and when aeration is provided for.

15. When the texture of the curd becomes stringy in its nature, it should be put through the cutter or grinder.

16. Aeration should be effected by the stirring of the curd before the addition of salt. Usually 15 minutes of such treatment will suffice.

17. Salt should be added at the rate of from 2¼ to 2½ lb. per 1,000 lb. of milk, according to the dry or wet condition of the curd. A judicious variation in the quantity of salt should be made in proportion to the moist or dry state.

18. The "hooping" of the curd should begin when the harsh surface, produced on each piece of curd by the salt, commences to give place to a slippy, mellow quality.

19. Shoulders or projecting edges on cheese are unsightly evidences of careless workmanship, and lessen their value from 2 to 3 shillings per cwt. in the English markets. Careful pressing and bandaging and turning of the cheese in the hoops in the morning will prevent their formation. The pressure should be continued for at least 20 hours. In that way cheese can be finished having an attractive, neat, symmetrical and stylish appearance.

20. The sprinkling of cold water in the curing rooms in the morning and just after noon will reduce the temperature.

21. The curing room should be thoroughly ventilated and should be kept clean.

* Cheese-makers may obtain copies of this bulletin free, in English and French, by application to the Dairy Commissioner, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Pay up or Subside.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I observed in the EXAMINER of last week a communication from Mr. John Graham Weir, who represents himself to be an Orangeman in East Peterborough, in which he uses very strong adjectives in reference to yourself. If he will come forward and pay the $5 he promised to give to assist in paying the expenses of the Lakefield band, which visited Port Hope on the 12th of July, 1888, then I can believe that his word is worth something. Talk is cheap and, under Mr. Weir's use, nasty, but cash counts. Mr. Weir may be very loyal with his mouth and valiantly champion Protestantism (poor Protestantism!) when there is nothing particular to defend, but it strikes me that if the Riot Act should require to be read, and real danger arose, that Mr. Weir's form would absorb his whole attention, and if the funds of the Orange Society should need replenishing, his pocket would be very conveniently found buttoned.

Yours, etc.,
AN ORANGEMEN WHO KNOWS.

Young's Point.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Last [illegible] the last of the residence of Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, of North Smith. Quite a large number of [illegible] arrived, and after partaking of an excellent supper, spent the remainder of the evening most enjoyably. Strawberries and ice cream were in abundance, and the young ladies in charge of this department were kept busily employed. The Chemung Band was present and delighted the guests with choice and lively selections. About $60 was realized, which will be placed in the treasury of the North Smith Presbyterian Sabbath School. All returned home well pleased with their evening, and loud in their praises of the hospitality of their amiable entertainers.

LUMBERING.—The river in this locality presents a lively appearance owing to the large drives of logs which are passing through here. One hundred thousand logs belonging to the Dickson Co., under the management of Messrs. Johnson and Oakes, passed over the dam here during the last few days. The Gilmour Co., with a drive almost as large, are entering Otter Lake, and will be here in a few days. All the drives will be through early this season owing to the high water. Our local lumbermen, Mr. C. Young, is not idle either. The sawmill has been running for several weeks, and will continue to do so all season. Mr. Young had the contract for supplying the timber for the wharf of the Grand Trunk Railway Company to be built at Lakefield. The bill has been filled satisfactorily, an excellent quality of timber being used for the purpose.

SUMMER RESORT.—This village, with its beautiful surroundings, is rapidly becoming a very popular summer resort. Almost every day parties from Peterborough and elsewhere arrive to have a few day's outing. Fishing is the chief attraction, and many fine specimens of the finny tribe are taken from their native element. The sport is very exciting, and occasionally one of these ardent disciples of Izak Walton loses control of himself—or of his fish—and takes an involuntary bath.

DOMINION DAY.—The Foresters of Lakefield held their annual pic-nic at Jackson Island, and the "Mary Ellen" took a large party to Burleigh, but owing to the heavy rain they were unable to enjoy themselves as they otherwise would have done. Many of the excursionists (fortunately for themselves) spent the day at the Point, and captured many fish before the rains forced them to seek shelter.

Harvey.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Harvey council met at the clerk's office, June 30th. Members all present. Minutes read and confirmed. Communications read—From E. Pearce, county clerk, re grant to repair the Burleigh road. Laid over till next meeting. Also from the same, re tax instead of performing statute labour on roads. The council considered that Harvey was not ready for that yet, hence no further action taken. From Wm. Lee, requesting fences and obstructions removed off the new road surveyed by Mr. Dickson on lots 26 and 27, from Squaw river bridge west to the concession line between concessions 9 and 10. The clerk was instructed to notify Wm. Bennett and Wm. Spafford to remove their fences from the said road. The clerk was also instructed to notify George Fell to remove all obstructions off the road, from Gordon's bridge, on lot 18, to the concession line, and leave the road the same width as surveyed. The council formed a court of revision and finally passed the roll for 1890. Members resumed in council. Messrs. McIlmoyl, Shearer and Shaw were appointed to view the side line road between lots 10 and 11, concession 12, in order to open the road from concession to concession. Orders drawn on the treasurer as follows:—Thomas Flynn, to pay others for work done on roads, $20; Allen Irwin, for making crossway on new road, $10; James Richmond, as arbitrator in forming Union S.S. No. 5, $6; trustees S.S. No. 2, use of house at election for the Local, $4; Chas. McIlmoyl, and to pay others for work on roads, $23; Thos. Brumwell, for looking after timber cut on 12th concession line, $2. A by-law was passed, to adopt and confirm the award of the arbitrators, forming a Union S.S. of No. 5 and part of Smith. The council adjourned to the 4th day of August next.

A Fierce Fire Soon Spent.

BELLEVILLE, July 2.—Mrs. Emory, who was connected with the Davis tragedy, was married to a farmer named Gray, living near Roxborough, on Saturday, just eight days after Davis' execution. Davis and she became infatuated with each other, and the woman's husband was subsequently found shot in a field. When Davis was arrested Mrs. Emory declared she could not live without him, and followed Davis to Belleville. While he was in gaol, however, she met and fell in love with the Roxborough man, and allowed Davis to die without a sigh. Davis told a turnkey that he did not shoot Emory, but knew who did.

Our Story.

ERRANT IN THE ROCKIES.

BY JUSTIN H. MCCARTHY, M. P., AND ALBERT DELPIT.

"Tell me at once that you didn't mean to—that you will forgive me.

"Madame,——"

"If you keep up that severe look I shall never dare to speak. Don't be so cruel to a poor, nervous creature, who doesn't always know what she's about. Oh, I'm not trying to excuse myself, or to plead extenuating circumstances. I rely not upon your sympathy but on your generosity. Think of all the danger for me between here and the ranch. It would be cruel to desert me at a time when I have only your protection."

There was a short silence. "You must understand that I cannot tolerate any more such scenes with Miss Mellish" he said.

"You may be sure.

"It is not to your entreaties that I yield," he went on coldly. "In fact my interest in you has entirely disappeared. Kitty has made the same request."

The woman seemed lashed to fury. "And it is to her that I owe your indulgence!"

"Yes; and I will not have you—do you understand clearly?—I will not have you inflict indignity on this girl. I agree to remain with you upon the conditions named, but if you break your promise, no consideration shall keep me. Be reflect well."

"I have reflected. I need you. I must keep you as a friend if you could only gain some influence over me. I am not naturally depraved—only spoiled by my bad habits. Ah, if I only had met earlier such people as you and Kitty." She spoke slowly and sadly with the humility of the Slavonic people, who will always sacrifice their vanity to satisfy a caprice. "In future you shall have no reason to reproach me. I have always been indulged—who was there to find fault with me? But I will permit it, and, if necessary, beg you to be severe with me, and not allow any of my whims and caprices. Treat me like a naughty child; I should be so glad to find a master."

Was there a double meaning in these strange words, or was it merely the symptom of another hysterical attack? However, Kitty now appeared and they went to breakfast.

"I have been harsh, very harsh with you, Kitty," said Mrs. Rolitska; "but my friend, Talbot, has shown me my error. You must excuse me."

The girl muttered a few words. She knew by experience that the mildness would not last long, and her anger was less ominous than her season of repentance. During the meal she was unusually gay. She bent all her energies toward blotting out the memory of the misunderstanding.

The stagecoach journey was begun smoothly, but within twenty-four hours Mrs. Rolitska had forgotten all her promises, and was once more the capricious woman of earlier days. The prairie lands were of an exasperating monotony, and the sight of sundry ragged and dirty Indians irritated the invalid, who had recourse to a double dose of morphine. Then she began to be afraid of the possible consequences: if Talbot should undertake to leave her and take Kitty away too. Toward four o'clock in the afternoon of the second day they were approaching the station of Willow Creek, when the stage stopped short. In her alarm she hailed the driver.

"What has happened?" she cried in anguish.

She got in response the most desolating news that it was impossible to travel further that day. A gang of cowboys had possessed the road, and the coach was at the mercy of their caprices. Mrs. Rolitska uttered cries of alarm. "What was to become of her?"

"Be calm, Madame," said Talbot; "a little patience, and matters will right themselves. We can spend the night at this log-house; and as to the dangers that you fear, I think them purely imaginary. I am well armed, and will keep my eyes open."

In his own mind the young man was by no means reassured, but he would not alarm the women, especially the younger and dearer one. He had learned that twenty-five desperadoes, angered against the stage company, were assembled in the neighborhood, resolved to plunder everything if the management should not yield to their demands.

Her irritation increased still more when they offered her for a repast, bread, bacon, and beans. She said not a word, but Kitty knew her too well to be misled. At the sight of the pale face and glittering eyes, the disgust at the food, and the over excitement of the morphine, the girl expected a terrible scene.

The log-house consisted of a large kitchen on the ground floor, and several small rooms overhead. One of these Mrs. Rolitska and Kitty occupied, while Talbot took the garret with a single window opening on the prairie, from which he could watch the horizon, and warn the two women in case of danger threatening them.

In his restlessness and preoccupation he did not notice the Russian's abrupt manner. He suspected she would replace the missing dinner by whisky, but, being unable to hinder it, he feigned indifference, and soon shut himself up in his room and opened the window. The encampment of cowboys was insensibly closing in upon them, the only passengers in the coach, as if to shut off every means of escape.

Talbot did not for three hours move from his post. At last a movement arose outside, and he saw men going to and fro with lighted torches. What could be their designs? Did they mean to set fire to the house? Suddenly the men turned their backs on the log-house and walked off toward the enclosure where the cattle and horses belonging to the company were kept. Talbot saw that they meant to execute one of their favorite manœuvres, that of setting fire to the fences and buildings enclosing the animals. The latter, terrified by the flames, would break loose and dash frantically about, and while the people of the log-house were trying to catch them the cowboys would carry off all the baggage in charge of the stage company.

Just at this instant an outcry was heard from the room given to the women. Talbot grasped the situation, a disgraceful scene was being made there by the morphine woman. When he ought to be on the watch for the safety of his companions, he found himself obliged to save Kitty from the possible fury of a mad woman.

CHAPTER III.

The morphine taker combined with the drunkard is no longer a thinking creature, but is a brute, whose unbridled passions may lead to crime. Mrs. Rolitska was no longer a responsible person. She had forgotten all her promises to Talbot, and, after a struggle against herself, the wretched woman had come to the end of her forces. Kitty had not felt re-assured, and, far from sharing Talbot's confidence, had been expecting that their employer would make an outbreak. As usual, Mrs. Rolitska was seeking oblivion, and she doubled the quantity of whiskey just as she had doubled the dose of morphine. Wrapped in her shawls, she lay prostrate on the hard floor, with vacant, wide-opened eyes, and lost in a sullen reverie. The heavy silence was broken only by the shouts coming from the prairie encampment. The hours dragged slowly by; she did not move or speak. Was she going to fall asleep there? Suddenly she started up, throwing off her wraps.

"Kitty," she said hoarsely.

"I am here, Madame," replied the girl, who had not slumbered.

"Do you love Talbot?"

Kitty understood that complicities was wanted; but whatever hand trembled, or had grown cold with fatigue, in acknowledging the desired deed of complicity she happened to strike the Russian's forehead. Fortunately she was not long in following. Mrs. Rolitska turned her so rudely that she burst into tears.

"Instead of that stupid crying, you had better go to work again," she said.

But as Kitty kept on sobbing, the anger of the woman rose to fury. She threw herself upon the girl, clutching her in her frenzy.

Just at this moment Talbot appeared. He remained for an instant in motionless contemplation at the sight, although he did not then know that physical violence had been used. But his presence, far from calming the mad woman, heightened her fury, and seizing her victim by the hair she dragged her into the middle of the room, with a glare of defiance at the young man. In his indignation he sprang forward with such force that she recoiled. Then gently lifting the almost lifeless body of the girl, he raised her to her feet and conducted her to the door.

"Go to my room, Kitty. You shall stay no longer with this demon."

Kitty obeyed, and Talbot found himself alone with Mrs. Rolitska. "You heard me?" he went on imperiously. "We will both leave you. It would be criminal on my part to expose that poor girl to you any longer."

Mrs. Rolitska laughed. "So you imagine that I will go on tolerating your mastery? Who is master here?" and she approached him as if to brave him to his face.

"I am the master," he went on. "You—you are a mad woman and a drunkard. Lunatics and drunkards should be left to themselves, or be locked up."

In her exasperation she rushed at her adversary, and struck at him, but his patience was at an end. He seized her hands, which still had the strength to tear themselves from his powerful grip. Had she some intuition that she would be obliged to yield? Her haggard eyes looked about for some weapon of defence. Suddenly with a cry of joy, she seized a long knife which was lying in its sheath among her travelling outfit, and sprang forward. The sharp blade touched his arm and made a slight wound. Then the young Irishman lost his head. He seized the woman by the shoulders, and when she resisted, trying to stoop down and make her escape, his hands closed tightly about her slender throat. The struggle was short and violent, she resisting furiously, and he feverishly tightening his grasp. Suddenly she gave a short, choking sound, her eyes stood out, and her head fell backward by its own weight. It was all so hasty that Talbot started back in terror. Mrs. Rolitska swayed to and fro, and as if in a swoon, fell to the ground.

Life Insurance Policy Holders SHOULD READ THIS

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES

From this table we see that, while most companies on the Canada Life plan have actually decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the former companies have largely increased theirs, so that, out of one hundred policies issued by each company, fifty, and four-fifths above, the average percentage of lapses for the former was 70 per cent., against 24.70 per cent. for the Canada Life.

The only marvel we can draw from these figures is that the strongest and most widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will secure permanently as its honest, white-the weaker companies retain, perhaps, a large per centage of their customers to their many unneeded claims. Then we have a practical test as to the worth of policy holders should entirely abandon the performance of payment in case of death, payable in these days of popular education. We can scarcely say half such, for the public that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies were some form holds policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is to their credit of the stronger and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies showing the amount of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable ones, to their immediate competitors. By the aid of clever management and attractive contracts, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evident from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to secure a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that their mortality percentage will always be heavier.

Winding Up the Insolvent Estate of P. D. Doran.

The whole of the stock and furniture to be sold out at once as the store must be vacated in a couple of weeks. The stock consists of dry goods and fine ready-made clothing; the furniture consists of one large coal stove, table, desk, chairs, ladder, &c. 2dlw

Wedded in Toronto.

Wednesday morning Miss Ida Hunt, a young lady well known in Peterborough, was married at the College street Baptist church, Toronto, to Mr. Hooper, a young dry goods merchant doing business on College street. There were several guests from Peterborough present. Mrs. Hooper's friends in town will wish her every happiness in life.

Mightier than the Sword.

Just received at the Peterborough Bookstore a magnificent consignment of gold pens of all sizes and degrees of pliability, and gold pencils in great variety. These goods are artistically perfect in design, excellency of material and beauty of workmanship. Eminently suitable for wedding, birthday and other gifts. A magnificent stock at very reasonable prices at the Peterborough Bookstore. Drop in and take a look at them.

Peterborough Protestant Home.

The committee of management of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledges with thanks the following donations for June:—Miss Nicholls, black currant preserves; Mrs. Innes, mantle; Baptist Sunday school, flowers; Mr. Minore, biscuits; Mr. A. Watt, flowers; Mr. E. Pearce, sr., basket provisions; Mrs. Dr. Moore, milk daily; Miss Wallis, cake; Mrs. C. McGill, apples and beans; Mrs. Collins, basket of sundries; Y.M.C.A., papers; a friend, milk daily; Mrs. Ferguson, 3 lambrequins; a friend, 1 dozen bread tickets.

The Woes of Wheelmen.

The wheelmen of Buffalo to the number of fifty-four, were run in by the police on Wednesday evening for violation of a city ordinance preventing them from trundling their wheels along the sidewalks. The wheels and wheelmen were taken to the police station and next morning some thirty of the latter were fined. They were not charged with riding their wheels on the sidewalks but merely with pushing them a'ong while they themselves walked. The bicyclers protest they have as good a right to push their wheels on the sidewalks as the nurse girls have to push their perambulators.

Down West McGinty.

Messrs. Bant and Turner, of Hall, Innes & Co., were out in a canoe yesterday afternoon, and as up alongside a small steamer to converse with some friends. Something unexpected happened, as it generally does. The canoe and its occupants parted company, the latter taking a graceful plunge into the water, and after striking up a flying acquaintance with our old friend McGinty at the bottom of the sea, returned to the surface—bobbed up serenely, as it were—and got safely to shore. They have since been trying to discover what happened their craft.

The Garden Works.

The repairs to the press of the Garden Works, which met with accidental interference, arrived last night. Throughout the night workmen were busy putting the pieces together, and to-day work has been resumed and orders are being turned out. The press now in use is only intended to ride the works over till the new hydraulic press, for which an order was placed some time ago, is ready. The new press will be immensely strong, and will be sure to stand the great strain to which the proper pressure in house fruit cheese cutters, requires it to be subjected. When the new press is in position there will be little if any possibility of breakage and consequent derangement of work.

The Strawberry Social

The Union Christian Endeavor Society of the town gave a strawberry social at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Dixon on Tuesday evening. The handsome grounds were lighted with Chinese lanterns, and the house was thrown open to the people. The social was a gratifying success. Refreshment and flower tables were scattered about the grounds, and though the evening was rather cool for ice-cream and strawberries, all the stands did a good business. The ladies in charge of the flower tables were especially energetic and sold every bouquet they had in stock. The social brought together a large number of young people from the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches whose Endeavor Societies had amalgamated, and in consequence it was a very successful affair. During the evening the Y. M. C. A. band played at frequent intervals, and their music was much appreciated. About $47 was realized.

St. Peter's Picnic Appendix.

The "Overflow Social" on St. Joseph's Hospital grounds Thursday night was a fitting conclusion to a most successful picnic. The brilliantly lighted grounds were thronged with people, who liberally patronized all the refreshment tables. A large table was spread in the middle of the ground, on which an excellent cold supper was served. The ladies managed the tables in their usual business like style. In this connection it might be mentioned that an omission was made in the lists of ladies who conducted the tables at the picnic Tuesday. Among the most active representatives of No. One Ward were Mrs. Timbers and Miss Timbers, whose names were inadvertently omitted from the list. The Fire Brigade Band was present at the social and enlivened the proceedings with charming selections. Music was also provided for dancing, and this pleasant exercise was kept up till after eleven o'clock. A principal feature of the evening was the drawing for the parlor set. Dr. Moher was the lucky man. Miss Eso, of Ashburnham, sold the most tickets for the drawing and was given a gold watch. It is said the social netted about $200.

Burglary in Ashburnham.

There are some cool amateur thieves around Peterborough. Last night Mr. C. H. Moore's shop in Ashburnham was entered, apparently for very little else than the purpose of getting something to eat. About two o'clock this morning the noise of breaking glass was heard by a number of persons in the immediate vicinity of Mr. Moore's shop, but the only persons to take any trouble to find out the cause were a couple of sons of Mrs. Swanson, who got up and roused Mr. Mitchell, a neighbor. They saw a man in the store, holding either a burning match or a lantern in his hand. They went to rouse Constable Craig and Mr. Moore. When they returned the bird had fled. An examination disclosed the thief's manner of procedure. He first broke the glass in a back window, but did not enter. Then he took several strips off a side door, and passed on to the front window, where he broke a couple of panes, kicked off one of the bars inside and crawled through. He took down from the shelves a couple of cans of sardines, had a lunch, took several eggs on the half shell, put three or four more cans of sardines, two pounds of tobacco and, about 52c. in coppers (which he took from the till) in his pocket, and coolly left the store, and no trace of him has since been found.

A Terrific Storm.

The early part of this week was characterised by violent thunder storms in different parts of the Province. Perhaps none were more severe than that which visited Stony Lake on Tuesday. Campers say it beat anything they ever saw before. A cyclone passed over the west end of Clear Lake. A couple of men who were in a canoe sought shelter on the shore, and they say that the wind-spouts in the path of the cyclone lifted rocks as large as pails high up in the air, twirled the logs like chips and partly lifted them out of the water. The roof of a crib on the Dummer shore was carried into the lake. At the upper end of the lake, among the summer-houses, the residents were nearly frightened out of their lives. They caught only the side-wind of the cyclone, but the thunder and lightning were terrific. It seemed as if the flood-gates of heaven were opened, while the lowering clouds brought the awful crashes of thunder so close to earth that the ground trembled with the repeated shocks. A number of the cottages were occupied, but most of the residents came down on Wednesday to remain until the storm clears entirely away. A workman employed on Mr. J. G. Weir's new house had a narrow escape from death. A large cross-cut saw, which was lying on a rock, was struck by lightning. Mr. and Mrs. Weir and three workmen were on the island, and saw a sheet of fire envelop the rock for a moment, then disappear. One of the men, who stood pretty close to the place where the saw lay, was stunned by the shock. He was quite sick the next day. A large tree at Burleigh was splintered by the lightning.

Musical Review.

A Delightful Evening at the Convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame—The Music Pupils Perform to the Appletse of Admiring Parents and Patrons—The Programme—The Silver Medallists—Expressions of Appreciation.

Thursday evening a review of the musical pupils of the Convent at the close of the mid-summer term was held. It was a brilliant success. Those present on Thursday night were the fathers and guardians of the pupils. On Wednesday night the mothers of the pupils were delighted with the same programme as was presented last night. In addition to the parents of the pupils on Thursday night, there were present Rev. Father Whibbs, of the Cathedral; Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P.; Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P. P.; Mr. W. Clarton and others. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor was prevented from being present by slight indisposition, and Rev. Fathers Radkins and Dube were engaged in superintending the supplementary social at St. Joseph's Hospital grounds. Under the direction of Sister St. Aubert, who is at the head of the musical department of the Convent, assisted by Miss Annie Dube, who announced the various numbers, the following was very creditably presented:

ENTREE DUET—Overture to Tancredi—Misses E. Lynch, A. O'Connell, A. Aldridge, M. McAuliffe, A. Simons and M. Bagley.

SOLO AND CHORUS—"Welcome Song"—Solos by Misses McCabe and M. Bagley.

VOCAL SOLO—"Little Match Girl"—Miss Jennie Reily.

"LA MARQUISE"—Misses M. Muncaster, S. Kelly, M. Donohue and F. Brennan.

VOCAL SOLO—"Bird's Lullaby"—Miss Lily Jackson.

"IL DESIDERIO"—Misses M. Muncaster, M. Kelly, M. Reily and R. Kent.

SOLO AND CHORUS—"There's no one like Mother to Me"—Solo by Miss Annie Simons.

"LE CHANTE DES SIRENES"—Misses A. Aldridge, M. Bagley, L. McAuliffe and A. Simons.

VOCAL SELECTION — From Maritana, "Scenes that are Brightest"—Miss Dowling.

SELECTIONS FROM WEBER—Misses I. Mahoney, M. Doherty, M. Kelly, and M. Morrow.

CANTATA—"Flowers"—M. Reily, A. Simons, E. Lynch, L. Jackson, G. Sullivan, M. Griffin, M. Lynch and D. Jackson.

HAYDEN'S RONDO—Misses M. Smith, M. Butler, E. Hall and M. McCabe.

CHOPIN'S WALTZ—(in E flat)—Misses I Mahoney, M. Doherty, M. Kelly and M. Morrow.

SOLO AND CHORUS—"My Native Hills"—Solo by Miss Annie Dube.

EGMANCE—With Variations by Misses E. Calcutt, I. Mahoney, M. Doherty, M. Kelly, M. Morrow, M. McCabe, and Annie Dube.

THE VOTE EXPLAINED.

The silver medals given for application, were then presented by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, in remembrance, to the following ladies:—Miss M. Morrow, Miss Maud Kelly, Miss M. Doherty, Miss Ida Mahoney and Miss Katie Calcutt.

The medals were awarded by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Rev. Father Lynch, Mr. W. J. Morrow and the Rev. Mother Superior.

The medals of satisfaction, in the form of handsome plush albums, were presented for application in vocal music to Misses Annie Stinson, L. Jackson and May Reily.

At the conclusion of the programme brief congratulatory addresses were made by Rev. Father Whibbs, Mr. Stevenson, M.P., Mr. Clarton and Mr. Stratton, M.P.P. All agreed in giving most cordial praise of the proficiency which the pupils had shown through the evening and complimenting the musical department upon the efficiency of the musical instruction of the convent, which presented exceptionally excellent facilities for the acquirement of a good musical education, and at a very moderate cost.

The compliments paid by the speakers were no mere empty praise. Every word was well deserved. A special feature of the music was the presence of four pianos, two made and furnished by Jackson & Co.—excellent, rich-toned instruments. The concerted selections performed on these instruments—eight hands and sixteen hands, were worthy of all praise. In, especially, the selections from Weber, Hayden's Rondo, Chopins' Waltz, in E b and the Mars Rousseau—the first three with eight hands, and the last with sixteen—the time was perfect, and the attack steading and rythm, worthy of all praise. An individual performance of the same selections would have been meritorious, but that four or eight performers, with but few concerted practices, should all have performed as one, reflects the highest credit not only upon the youthful performers, but especially upon the excellence and thoroughness of the musical instruction they had enjoyed. Great praise is also due the choral contributions to the programme; the hearty, pure, expression and general ensemble were excellent, while some of the little soloists acquitted themselves with great credit. Altogether the evening revealed what excellent musical advantages are presented by the Convent. The performers in age and size represented the gamut, ranging from little tots who, one would think, could hardly span a fifth, to sweet sixteen—from C below the staff to F. The little folks performed exceedingly difficult music for children of their age and size, and in a very creditable manner, both as to strength of touch and concord of time. The musical department of the Convent has good reason to feel proud of the success of last night's "Musical Review."

Norwood.

The 200th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne is to be celebrated in Norwood this year in grand style. Some 20 lodges are expected to take part in the demonstration.

A couple of sons of Mrs. Boland, Asphodel and two other young men, while driving a team of horses and a wagon across the C.P. R. track on Thursday afternoon, were struck by the 5 o'clock express going west. Both horses were instantly killed and the wagon and its occupants scattered. Strange to relate, beyond a few bruises, no person suffered serious injury.

Mr. Archie Brooks, of Peterborough, formerly of Norwood, has been renewing old acquaintances during the past week. Mr. Brooks has just returned from a year's work in the Rainy River and Lake of the Woods District, where he was in the employ of the Ontario Government, acting as explorer and wood-ranger. He tells some interesting stories of his twelve months' stay in that wilderness.

Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock an interesting social event took place in the Presbyterian church. The Rev. J. Carmichael, M. A., performed the ceremony which united in marriage Mr. A. B Richardson, of the firm of Richardson Bros., and Miss E Kempt, daughter of the late Alexander Kempt. The bride was supported by Miss C. Finlay and Miss M. Nicoll, and Messrs. Frank Roxburgh and Alfred Finlay officiated as groomsmen. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple were driven to the C. P. R. station where they took the 5.10 express for Toronto and points west on a wedding tour.

The annual meeting of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held Wednesday. These officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT.—F. Birdsall, Esq.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—C O'Reilly, Esq.
2ND " " M. Knox, Esq.
SECRETARY—J. W. Clark, Esq.
TREASURER—P. Doherty, Esq.
DIRECTORS.—Messrs. Burrows, Blezard, Patterson, Murphy, Grover, English, Miller, Howson, Moore, Knox, Humphries, Scott, Comstock, Nicoll, Drummond, Brackenridge, Brown and Knox (John.)
AUDITORS—Messrs. R. Burgess and Hugh Drain.

On motion of Mr. O'Reilly, seconded by Mr. Knox, the thanks of the Institute were tendered the EXAMINER, Review and Norwood Register, for reports of meetings, and also Mr. H. Calcutt for courtesies extended. President Birdsall and Mr. R. Burgess were appointed delegates to the meeting of Central Institute. The Secretary was instructed to communicate with Prof. Mills and Sanderson with a view to securing their services for the winter meeting.—Register.

REFRESHMENTS EXTRA.

Dominion Day at Havelock.

Tuesday was Dominion Day and a big day for Havelock. Although the threatening weather in the morning presaged ill for the success of the demonstration, yet the clerk of the weather mercifully withheld the threatened downpour, and it was not until evening that the rain fell, and then it fell in torrents. The village was arrayed in its best holiday attire, and from an early hour in the morning the people from the surrounding country began to assemble and it was not long before the hotels, etc., were filled and thronged with merry fun-seeking lads and lasses. Precisely at ten o'clock the Norwood Brass Band formed up in front of the A.O.U.W. hall in Mathison's block and in a short time some 150 Workmen had fallen into line. After parading the principal streets the procession marched to the beautiful grove north of the C. P. R. depot and disbanded for dinner. The tables fairly groaned under the loads of tempting viands supplied by the good wives and friends of the Workmen, and your correspondent is rather inclined to think, judging from the matter in which the provisions disappeared, that a Havelock crowd know a good thing when they see it. Immediately after dinner the disciples of Terpsichore wended their way to the commodious platform in the western side of the grove and to the excellent music furnished by Profs. Freeman, Myles and Gilogly, "held the planks down" for the rest of the afternoon. About 2 o'clock the Caledonian games were commenced. Every event was keenly contested. The rendezvous in the evening, however, prevented the programme from being finished. The drawing for the gold watch took place after tea and a gentleman from Tweed was the holder of the winning ticket. The rain in the evening somewhat marred the day's proceedings, but, on the whole, the members of the committee have every reason to feel proud of the success which attended their efforts.—Register.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

The Baby.

Another little wave,
Upon the sea of life;
Another soul to save,
Amid its toil and strife.

Two more little feet,
To walk the dusty road;
To choose where two paths meet,
The narrow or the broad.

Two more little hands,
To work for good or ill;
Two more little eyes,
Another little will.

Another heart to love,
Receiving love again;
And so, the baby came,—
A thing of joy and pain.

How joyously the little soul is received in the household. Every possible precaution is taken regarding its comfort and welfare. Mother, father, brothers and sisters are united in one common effort—to make baby happy. Notwithstanding all these well directed efforts, mothers especially lose sight of one very important and vital question, viz, the proper and healthful nourishment of the little body committed to their care and keeping. It may be that mother is feverish from sickness, and knows she is not in a condition to nurse her loved one. Then arises the question as to what food will be best for baby. Some will resort to cow's milk, as the best substitute for the mother's milk. In large cities and towns during the warm months, it is almost impossible to procure cow's milk of proper quality for the weak digestive organs of the baby. In these emergencies, "Lactated Food," comes to the rescue as the great substitute for the mother's milk. The great dideratum is found in "Lactated Food," as climatic changes cannot affect its wonderful properties. It causes the baby to grow in bone, muscle and fat; allays peevishness and unrest, and fits it for the struggle of youth.

Mothers, try it; your physicians will recommend it as the best.

WHAT IS BEST TO WEAR!

Useful Hints for Home Dressmakers.

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY CONSIDERED.

UNDOUBTEDLY there isn't half the pleasure in buying gowns when one has plenty of money," says a shrewd woman with a pretty good notion of both sides of the subject. "The interest comes in when you have just enough to get what you want by drawing liberally on contrivance and taste. For myself I grow tired raving about opulence I cannot hope to have. Most fashion articles cater of the unlimited gorgeousness for anything below flashy gilt imaginative, who seldom find lights too extravagant to please them. I wish somebody would write for women who wish to look as well as the best on ordinary allowances."

It isn't impossible to look as well—not to dress as well absolutely, but to make as satisfactory an effect—on much less money than the extravagant spend, if one has strict taste, a command of shopping wiles, and is clever at her needle. Three-fourths the cost of dresses from first class houses goes for the making, not for the material. Every girl should be taught thoroughly how to plan a dress and finish it in correct style.

Not to tell the wearying novelties of style, but to select the best pattern is a pleasing matter. The gown for the street, rich or plain, is of wool, silk being left to the dowagers out of doors. A well chosen wardrobe will have a selection of the most useful and welcome of seasonable goods. Each material has its own special mode for making. Ladies who are studying economy this summer, and who are aiming to make the outlay for their dresses come within the most economical of figures, are advised to attend

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE PRINCIPALSHIP.

The resignation by Mr. Long of the position of Principal of the Collegiate Institute, was particularly unfortunate, coming as it did at the time, when, after the stormy experiences of the past, smooth selling had come for the Institution—when the staff was in good working order. This vacancy confronts the Board with a very important duty, upon the proper discharge of which the successful future of the Collegiate Institute, necessarily, very largely depends. This duty is the selection of a new principal. And it seems that a suggestion to the Board, to caution gently, is very timely. For several reasons the securing of an efficient supply for the term following the midsummer holidays is exceedingly advisable. It would not, it is respectfully submitted, be wise to permanently fill the position now. For teachers, qualified to fill it, could leave the position they now occupy at a moment's notice and in all probability, no teacher such as we require, is without a position. If a teacher were so regardless of the interests of the school he is in charge, as to leave his school in the lurch he is not the man we want. Most engagements date from the beginning of the calendar year. By making a temporary appointment for four or six months, the Board would have a corresponding time to look about them, and would be able to secure the best available man for the position of Principal. A town of the size and importance of Peterborough should not be satisfied with anything but the best. Compared to fitness and efficiency, considerations of cost, are of only secondary moment. The school is now on its feet, and it can only be kept so by the selection of a first-rate Principal. If the position is permanently filled at the next meeting of the Board, it is done at a risk, for, as has been hinted, the best teachers may not be available. The position demands a man of large and fruitful experience, a teacher of recognized ability and achieved success, a thorough disciplinarian. A Collegiate Institute Principal requires as much executive ability as a cabinet minister; and more, for he cannot, like the latter, relegate his functions to a deputy and go salmon fishing on the Restigouche. He must be a judicious combination of the diplomat and the despot, must have a wide and comprehensive literacy, and a sufficient social culture. A man combining all these and many other, unenumerated, qualifications cannot be encountered every day. He will be found holding an assured position, which he cannot resign without due notice. It is manifestly impracticable, therefore, to fill the vacancy in the principalship of the Collegiate Institute, offhand. The Board will consult, both the interests of the school and the good judgment of reflecting and right-thinking supporters of the Institute, by making an interim appointment, of sufficient length, to permit of the investigation necessary to secure the very best man for principal the country can supply. Any deterioration in the condition of the school, which might result from an interim appointment, can only be of a temporary character; while the injury to the school, caused by a hastily-made and, possibly, unfortunate permanent appointment, will resemble the appointment in being permanent.

NO PROTEST FILED.

During the weeks since the 5th of June there has been considerable talk of bribery and corruption in connection with the East Riding election and rumours of a protest being entered against Mr. Blezard's return. Mr. Blezard's opponents went so far as to canvass the situation thoroughly and hold a meeting to compare notes and decide whether there were grounds to warrant the entering of a protest. That the decision was adverse to such a course is shown by the fact that the time in which a protest could be filed has elapsed, and none has been filed, therefore, Mr. Blezard retains his seat unmolested for another four years. That Mr. Blezard has carried on to success four election contests, and in such a manner as to leave no grounds for a protest, is the best possible evidence that the weapons he employs and the manner of using them are fair and lawful. The contest in the West Riding was conducted by the winning party in so regular a manner, and the large majority presented such an overwhelming evidence of the popularity of the Government and the candidate, that no thought of a protest could be entertained. So far as our information goes, the election contest in West Peterborough was carried on by both parties in a very creditable manner both as regards the absence of personalities, and the employment of unlawful means were concerned. The people, we believe, gave a fair, square vote on the merits of the questions presented, and the result to the friends of fair dealing and honestly conducted government is naturally of a satisfactory nature.

A Trip to Manitoba.

A Letter From a Peterborough Man Now In Manitoba—His Observations of the Western Country.

A week ago last Tuesday a party of Peterborough men left for the Northwest. The party comprised Messrs. Jos. Picard, John Garbutt, F. G. Davidson, J. H. Sherwood, G. H. Sherwood, H. Sherwood, sr., and F. Pruner. Mr. Picard, in a letter to a friend, gives some interesting information concerning the trip. They did not reach Brandon till Friday evening, June 27th, at 10.30 o'clock. When they left Toronto their train consisted of nine coaches, and the Peterborough party was complimented as the jolliest of the lot. Mr. Garbutt was lively as any of them. F. G. Davidson was the lady's man, the letter recording the fact that he became acquainted with half a dozen handsome girls on the way out. There was a nice crowd aboard the train—no drunken men—and the jolly Peterborughians were sought after by everyone.

The writer of the letter reports being well pleased with the trip. After arriving at Brandon the party went on to Griswold, where a farmers' picnic was held. There were about fifty teams at the station waiting for them, all decorated with flags. They drove four or five miles through the country to the grove, and saw some magnificent farms. No one, the writer says, has any idea of these fine farms unless they have seen them. They passed through a thousand acre farm owned by a man named Hanna, of which 640 acres were growing wheat. It was a grand sight. Another man near Brandon owns 2,000 acres, all in wheat. The crop prospects are very bright, and it is predicted that there will be a great yield this year. "If I was a farmer," says Mr. Picard, "this is the place I would strike for. I don't think there can be a better country, judging from what I have heard. They say it is the place for a young man." There were about 500 people at the picnic, and it was surprising to see so many fine women and girls. One would wonder where they all came from, the farms are so far apart. Mr. Picard met on the ground two sons of the late Dr. Harvey and two sons from Port Hope. At Alexander station he also met G. Hilliard, whose house can be seen from the train. Allan McDonald, who is living at Brandon, was very glad to see the Peterborough party.

Concluding his country, the tone of the letter is most favorable. The air is bracing and though the days are very warm the evenings are nice. The sun does not set till half past nine o'clock and it is quite light till half past ten. The sun rises again at three in the morning. On the run east from Ontario the train passed straight acres fine country, particularly on the shore of Lake Superior. Some of the country is so rough that it is a wonderful how the railway was ever put through it. In places there are great rocks that one must look straight up to the sky to see the top of; they are hanging right over the track and look as if they would fall every moment. There are miles and miles of this scenery. The writer stood five or six hours every day on the car platform in order to get a good view of the route.

Rather Conflicting Opinions.

The Empire says:—"Toronto's celebration of the national holiday yesterday takes front rank in the list of Canadian demonstrations. The plan was extensive, the arrangements perfect and the success complete."

The Hamilton Herald drops in an antidote to the earnest of praise of the two big organs. The Herald says, perhaps, with more candidness than charity and possibly more truth than poetry:—

"The Toronto Carnival seems to be a good thing to stay away from. Reports from Toronto show it to be a fizzle and a fraud. The army of Hamilton people who went there yesterday returned completely disgusted with it. The hotels—with the solitary exception of the Palmer House—have doubled their rates for the carnival and, with their well-known greediness and respect for the Toronto hogs in every branch of life seek to do up every visitor to the city. The whole city seems to be on a hunt for what it can devour. The carnival is a weak and uninteresting imitation of Hamilton's big show. It is a fraud of the first water and not worth seeing. The people of Toronto should be ashamed of their inside show, and of the hogs who are after the pocketbooks of visitors. The man who goes to Toronto these days is lucky to escape with his life. And the carnival itself is so bad that it is apt to deprive him even of that."

After the lemon was squeezed dry the Empire has the hardihood to state, referring to the closing procession of the great show, "that in the opinion of thousands the carnival ended in the greatest fizzle that has ever been known in Canada."

BECAUSE OF THEIR POVERTY.

Supposed Suicide of a German Family—Mother and Babe Found.

HOBOKEN, July 3.—The body of Mrs. Franz Wentlandt was found in the river to-day and clasped tightly in the arms of the woman was a four-months-old babe. They had been dead only a short time. Wentlandt is missing and it is believed he and his wife committed suicide together on account of their poverty as Wentland sent a note to his pastor this morning saying such was their intention. Wentlandt was a German immigrant, but had been unfortunate.

Passage of the Lottery Bill.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 3.—The Lottery bill came up in the House to-day with the Senate amendment adding $250,000 to the amount of the yearly license fee. The amendment was concurred in by a vote of 68 to 25, two of the anti-lottery men voting for concurrence and the others against it. This fixes the yearly license fee at $1,250,000. The bill now goes to the Governor, the lottery people having decided that to be the proper course in order to prevent any question hereafter. They expect Governor Nicholls to veto it, but are confident that both houses will over-ride the veto. The Governor must return this bill by Monday next. The session ends July 12.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. It is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced Cough Cure. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

Our Story.

ERRANT IN THE ROCKIES.

BY JUSTIN H. MCCARTHY, M.P., AND ALBERT DELPIT.

Just then shouts were heard without, in the broad space between the house and the river. They were cries of joy, of triumph, and could bear only a sinister meaning. "Ah, I had forgotten—— they are coming to plunder us," thought Talbot. He ran to the window, grasping his revolver. The cowboys were surrounding the house.

The voice more than the words struck Talbot, for it was so like that of his cousin, Gregory O'Carroll, that he felt for an instant that the speaker must be none other than his relation and rival. The mob vociferated anew, and one, with a thoroughly brutal face, cried out: "I'll look after him."

This one lifted the muzzle of his gun toward the window, and before Talbot could draw back, the ball struck him in the right shoulder. With a hoarse groan he sank to his knees. Twice he tried to rise, but in vain. He was losing considerable blood, and his strength was exhausted by useless efforts. The struggle between will and strength could not last long. Finally he closed his eyes and fell backward.

He did not regain consciousness until midnight. A clot of blood, forming about his wound, had checked the flow which might have proved fatal. Then the events which, had passed so rapidly returned one by one to his confused memory. How did he happen to be still alive? A pale ray of moonlight crept through the open window upon the ghastly face of Mrs Reltska. Slowly and painfully he dragged himself toward her. She did not move: she was dead—killed! But by whom? By him Talbot, or by those men? He looked at her in horror, and asked himself if he could be a murderer? Impossible. She could not have succumbed so quickly. A struggle of a few minutes, however fierce it may be, does not end so tragically.

Traces of blood reddened her livid cheeks. Her ears were lacerated. Then, finally, Talbot gathered that the cowboys must have broken into the house, plundering everything, even to the jewels in the woman's ears. Dead! The robbers had thought her to be in a swoon, not knowing that the poor creature had ceased to breathe. So he, Talbot Power, a well-born Irish gentleman, was a murderer! With the extreme lucidity of fever he again recalled all the incidents of the evening. He had strangled her! He placed his hand upon her heart. It was no longer beating.

In withdrawing his hand he felt something stiff resisting beneath his touch. It was a square envelope pinned inside the dress of the Russian. Instinctively, and almost unconsciously he drew out the pins. What did this envelope contain? The last wishes, no doubt, of the dead woman. He tore open the paper, and was almost stupefied on perceiving four bank notes of 4,000 pounds sterling, equal to about $80,000, which he held in his trembling hand! A fortune acquired through blood one of which nobody knew, and which had by a miracle escaped the notice of the brigands. It was a horrible temptation. Twice Talbot's hand was outstretched to restore to the dead, her blood-stained money twice her evil genius stifled the last efforts of his weakening conscience. At last he closed the envelope, and pinned it beside his own clothes, with the pins which had served the owner. His heart was beating as if it would burst, and he had the consciousness of an irreparable downfall. Some hours before he had been an honorable man, with only chance to blame for his poverty. Now he was a thief and a murderer.

CHAPTER IV.

"How do you feel, Talbot?" It was Kitty Mellish's gentle, solicitous voice.

Talbot opened his eyes, rousing himself for the first time from his lethargy. His feeble glance wandered about the bare walls of a rudely furnished room.

"The doctor said that you would come to yourself," continued Kitty. "I hardly dared to believe him. No, no! don't talk: it is forbidden."

Talbot remained perfectly silent and motionless, though a burning anxiety was torturing him. He remembered everything—the violent scene in the log-house, the cowboys, and the tragic death of Mrs. Reltska. Did they know him to be a thief, an assassin? Again and again he tried to question Kitty, who had installed herself at his pillow. But she shrugged her shoulder with a smile, and refused to answer. Left to himself, he occupied his mind with one thought; what should he say if the authorities questioned him? Two hours later Kitty appeared, more cheerful than before.

"I see that you have had a good rest, sir," she said. "The ban is removed. Now we can talk."

"Kitty what has happened?"

Then the girl began the painful story. At dawn the people of the house had returned, accompanied by some friendly ranchmen, and had found the corpse of Mrs. Reltska, and Talbot's bleeding form. Kitty alone could explain how the cowboys had attacked the three travellers, shooting Talbot and strangling Mrs. Reltska when she refused to give up her jewels. Happily Kitty herself had made no resistance. As she proceeded, Talbot's anxiety decreased. Then they suspected nothing. Naturally everything was attributed to the cowboys, three of whom had been seized by inexorable justice and hanged from the nearest tree. The others had escaped, although one, an Irishman, was suspected to be hiding about the neighborhood. Of the money concealed under Mrs. Reltska's dress not a word was said. Doubtless Kitty was unaware that her employer carried so large a sum with her.

Eighty thousand dollars! Talbot felt a fine perspiration sprinkling his brow. What had become of the envelope? It could not be still pinned to his vest. It would have been folly of hope for such a miracle.

"You must rest now," Kitty said.

Then he suddenly recalled the voice resembling Gregory O'Carroll's, and also the mention which Kitty had made of an Irishman having been with the cowboys.

"Kitty," he asked, "how did you leave my cousin, Gregory?" She cast down her eyes, and he added: "He was a suitor of yours, and did he win your heart after I came away?"

"He was guilty of the most atrocious conduct toward me," she frankly answered, "after you left the neighborhood. He persecuted me with his attentions, and when I told him that—— this——" and the sentence died away in a blush.

"That your heart had gone away with me!" Talbot interposed.

"Well, yes. There—The doctor said you must not excite yourself. After I had told him that, he vowed vengeance upon you. He pretended to believe that I meant to join you here in America, and swore he would follow us."

"What if he had the attack on the log-house?"

Then he told her of the voice, like Gregory's, that had directed the shot which had wounded him. Could it be?

Kitty insisted that he must rest, and he silently mused: "If Gregory did try to have me killed, is he worse than I, for I am a murderer and a thief, too." Then he sought to find some explanation for the supernatural phenomenon which had suddenly altered him from an honest man into a criminal. He did not willingly struggle the woman; he was protecting her, a self-condemned victim, against herself. Worn out by exertion and weakness, the child had succumbed to physical exhaustion, excited [illegible] upon her [illegible] might [illegible] about other people? [illegible] he went on, "but I repeat, certainly not [illegible] the matter. It is [illegible] proper. It seems [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] proof here. I positively [illegible] [illegible] true, but when I was not in full command of my faculties. If I had been well in mind and body I never should have done that. But I shall never profit by it, so I am innocent." Hence, from that moment when he accommodated himself to this subtle reasoning, Talbot began to shudder at the idea of losing the fruits of his theft.

That night, during Kitty's absence, he called to the only other occupant of the prairie house—an old man—and asked: "Aren't my clothes just at the foot of the bed? I wish you would put them over me, for I feel a little chilly."

The man smiled. How could anyone feel cold in such extreme heat, in the very middle of June? Still, he humored the caprice, and then left him.

Talbot's trembling fingers sought the waistcoat. A miracle! The envelope was in its place. He could feel the banknotes crackling inside the paper. Rich? He was rich at last! His eyelids closed, and worn out by the moral conflict he fell into a profound sleep, full of delightful dreams. No more remorse, no more repentance. Henceforth he would look upon himself as neither a thief nor an assassin., but as a bold adventurer, taking his revenge upon all the world.

Next morning he awoke, upon the fifth day after the tragedy. He was still weak, but his brain was clear, and his first wide-awake thought was of the money. He was alone. He took out the envelope, and, when about to open it, saw that there was some writing upon it. The hand-writing, as he recognized at a glance, was that of Mrs. Reltska. It said:

"If I should be killed to-night, as I think Talbot Powers has been, and this money by any chance should escape the hand of the cowboy mob; I hereby bequeath it to Kitty Mellish. She is a good girl, whom I have abused and this reparation will wrong nobody else, because I have no relative. MIRA RELITSKA.

Talbot pressed his hands fiat on his eyes, as though to disabuse them of an illusion; but when he opened them again they read the inscription as before. A cry of joy escaped from their lips. He was not a murderer. The will had been written, as its language showed after the cowboys' attack, after she had dropped from his grasp in a swoon, and after he had been shot. She had died under the hands of the plunders, who had not found the hidden riches. So he was not a slayer of a woman. And Kitty was an heiress!

Where was she now? He was eager to tell her of the good fortune. It was daybreak, but not clear daylight, and he could barely see the writing plain enough to read it. A tap at the door interrupted his second slow perusal. In response to his "Come in!" a form with the outlines of a ranchman entered and stood in the shadow against the closed door. The hat, pulled well down over the forehead, would have hidden the face even in a less obscure chamber. For a hesitant moment the figure in the corner stood still and silent. Then it flung the cloak back, and pushed the hat up from the face.

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY CONSIDERED.

UNDOUBTEDLY there isn't half the pleasure in buying gowns when one has plenty of money," says a shrewd woman with a pretty good notion of both sides of the subject.. "The interest comes in when you have just enough to "get what you want by drawing liberally on contrivance and taste. For myself "I grow tired reading about opulence I cannot hope to have. Most fashion "articles treat of too unlimited gorgeousness for anything below flashy girls' "imagination, who seldom find flights too extravagant to please them. I wish "somebody would write for women who wish to look as well as the best on "ordinary allowances."

It isn't impossible to look as well—not to dress as well absolutely, but to make as satisfactory an effect—on much less money than rich women spend, if one has strict taste, a command of shopping sense, and is clever at her needle. Three-tourths the cost of dresses from first class houses goes for the making, not for the material. Every girl should be taught thoroughly how to plan a dress and finish it in correct style

Not to tell the wearying novelties of style, but to select the best points is a pleasing matter. The gown for the street, rich or plain, is of wool, silk being left to the dowagers out of doors. A well chosen wardrobe will have a selection of the most useful and welcome of seasonable goods. Each material has its own special mode for making. Ladies who are studying economy this summer, and who are aiming to make the outlay for their dresses come within the most economical of figures, are advised to attend

Life Insurance Policy Holders

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The Change Increase in the last report of this Insurance is what the weekly Chronicles complained and commented on largely during the past years, but somehow it escaped the attention of newspapers now. So unexpected and [illegible] as to amount to $6,700,000 in the amount of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period of [illegible] years, and [illegible] during business in this country amounted to [illegible] during [illegible] would not fail to excite comment; so that the figures have been eagerly studied to discover how such a misfortune as [illegible] was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by getting the [illegible] of businesses in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:

Canada Life	$40,684,376	6.07
Confederation	17,374,628	8.53
Sun Mutual	13,071,460	10.39
Ontario	20,044,267	10.55
Sun Life	11,870,577	10.59
North American	9,470,899	10.65
Temperance and General	2,264,573	17.34
Citizens	2,097,058	20.13
Manufacturers' Life	1,702,190	20.12
London Life	1,044,228	20.03

From this table we see that fifth rank companies as the Canada Life and Confederation based carefully developed the conduct of their lapses, some of the weaker companies have lapsed business in force, as then, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapse for the whole ten companies is 15.39 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons in well certain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies come, perhaps, whenever the dissatisfied of their customers in their more powerful rivals. When as large a proportion as 20 per cent. of policy holders should patiently abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies come as we know from their policy holders abandoning their obligations elsewhere. It is a fact that the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies command the confidence of the permanent business, and leaving only the [illegible] and [illegible] risks, to their weaker competitors. By the aid of clever [illegible] and [illegible] the weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evident from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customers in the long run, and thus their [illegible] of lapses will always be heavier.

Decoration Day.

The joint Oddfellow's committee met last night and furthered arrangements for the annual Decoration Day ceremonies to take place on Friday. Invitations have been extended to Hastings, Campbellford, Lindsay and Port Hope lodges to be present. The Oddfellows will parade at the usual hour, and it is probable the Mayor will be asked to declare a half holiday next Friday.

Mightier than the Sword.

Just received at the Peterborough Bookstore a magnificent consignment of gold pens of all sizes and degrees of pliability, and gold pencils in great variety. These goods are artistically perfect in design, excellency of material and beauty of workmanship. Eminently suitable for wedding, birthday and other gifts. A magnificent stock at very reasonable prices at the Peterborough Bookstore. Drop in and take a look at them.

The Peterborough Man Won.

The three-mile foot race that was to take place between Ostrander, of Owen Sound, and M. Bird, of Peterborough, at Mount Forest, July 1st, did not take place owing to the rain, but was run at Grand Valley, Ont., Thursday morning. It was a good race from the start. Ostrander led Bird for two miles, but Bird then took the lead and kept it to the finish, winning in 16 min., 35 sec. The race was for $50 stakes.

Fourth of July Picnic.

The employes of the Lock Works and their friends, to the number of nearly 200, celebrated the American national holiday by an excursion to Jubilee Point on the "Golden Eye." A most pleasant day was spent, the weather though rather cool for a picnic being just the thing for dancing. Dennett's orchestra supplied excellent music, and dancing was kept up unremittingly on the barge and at the grounds. The steamer reached town a little after nine o'clock, everyone thoroughly delighted with what they were unanimous in proclaiming the best excursion of the season.

A Lively Runaway.

A team of horses owned by Mr. Jas. Storey, Monaghan, ran away from the lower end of the town this forenoon. The waggon was left headed at Spaulding's Bay, and as the C. P. R. station the horses, frightened by a locomotive, deviated from their course and ran behind the Bridge Works along the spur line. On reaching the trestle-work they fell through and were rescued, after half an hour's work, not much the worse for their escapade. One of the horses was pretty badly cut about the legs. Mr. Storey had a horse killed in a runaway about a year ago.

Wiped It Out.

The Hastings Post says:—Mr. Wm. Simpson, of the Simpson House, purchased from Mr. Ed. Brown of Peterborough, on Wednesday, the little chestnut pacing mare, Maud B. Mr. Simpson will attribute his new purchase as a driver, and will no doubt be ever ready to "contest the right of way" with any of the local flyers. Keep an eye on the "side-wheeler," boys.

Equal Rights.

The topic of the day and that which we all want is not only Equal Rights in a political sense of the word, but in many others. Here are people throwing away their hard earned money, with ungrudging hands who do not so much as thank them for it. Why should they do it? Why not call on W.J. Marrow, where you are received courteously, your money placed to a good advantage and you are placed on a solid basis in future for buying cheap groceries. dw

The Bandsmen's Thanks.

The members of the 57th Batt. band are desirous of returning their heartfelt thanks to the bandsmen of the Queen's Own Rifles, for the princely manner in which they were entertained during their recent visit to Toronto. From the time of arrival in the city, till the very minute of departure, the boys in green took the redcoats in charge, and the watchword word was "Nothing is too good for Peterborough."

A Mid-Day Blaze.

A few minutes before one o'clock to-day an alarm of fire was rung. The fire was in the bake shop occupied by Mr. John Casey, in rear of Mrs. Parker Davis house, Aylmer street. Mrs. Davis owned the building. Mr. Casey has been in business only about a month. One end of the bake shop was used as a stable, while in the loft overhead was a quantity of hay. The firemen speedily extinguished the flames. The damage will not exceed $400. It is thought the fire started at the oven, as Mr. Casey had not been long gone to dinner when the fire was observed.

Ladies' Aid Lawn Social.

Despite the shivering atmosphere last night there was a good attendance at the lawn social held on the spacious grounds surrounding Mr. A. I. Davis' residence under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street church. The grounds are among the handsomest and best kept of any private lawns in town, and under the brilliant illumination of four electric lights their beauty was greatly enhanced. Several refreshment and flower tables were distributed about the lawn, and though ice-cream and lemonade were at a discount, the hot coffee and flower stands did a good business. The ladies will net a handsome profit as the result of their enterprise. The Fire Brigade Band was present and rendered a number of charming selections, among them being a medley of American melodies out of compliment to several visitors from the United States who were present. It might also be mentioned that the carbons used in the electric lights were made as the Peterborough manufactory, and were the first to be used here.

Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Weir.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—In the Review and EXAMINER I have seen three letters from Mr. John Graham Weir respecting the late election in this county, and, as Mr. Weir has introduced my name in his last letter, I consider it my duty to reply. I never was more surprised than when I learned that Mr. Weir had written a letter denying that he had supported Mr. Blezard, and would not believe the statement until I went to the EXAMINER office and saw the letter in Mr. Weir's handwriting. It is a mystery to me why he should make that statement, for during the campaign I saw him several times, both in my office and on the street, and in all our conversations he professed to be a warm supporter of Mr. Blezard's and anxious for his re-election. In our first conversation he told me that he voted against Mr. Blezard at the last election; that he would do all he could for him this time; but that he would do everything in his power against Mr. Stratton. I remember the day Mr. Blezard went to that section of Otonabee where Mr. Weir resides to canvass, and the next time I saw Mr. Blezard he told me that he met Mr. Weir and he told him he was supporting him without even being asked. Mr. Moore also told me the conversation he had with Mr. Weir, in which he told him that he was supporting Mr. Blezard and opposing Mr. Stratton, and asked if I knew what Mr. Weir had against Mr. Stratton. Mr. Weir was in my office some time after the election and expressed his regret that Mr. Blezard had not a larger majority. If Mr. Weir's conversation with me that day was printed side by side with his last letter, it would show him to be one of the most inconsistent men on the face of the earth. Had Mr. Weir told me in confidence that he was supporting Mr. Blezard and did not wish it known, I never would have mentioned it, but when he was so outspoken and had told so many that he was supporting Mr. Blezard I did not consider it a secret. I cannot understand why a man in Mr. Weir's position would want to play a double game and notwithstanding that now in his excitement he denies he voted for Mr. Blezard, yet I prefer to take his word when in his sober senses and believe that he voted for Mr. Blezard rather than believe that he was a Judas. I feel half inclined in this letter to lay the lash on Mr. Weir a little lively for all the falsehoods he told in his letter as it might do him good in the future, but for two reasons I will refrain. One is, that after the severe thrashing he has received from the EXAMINER he must feel rather sore, and I might be indicted for cruelty if I was severe on him. Another is that I see his letter is dated from Stony Lake. If Mr. Weir was at home in Otonabee, where he could obtain cold spring water, he would not be likely to write such a letter; and I have often seen men who are strong supporters of one of the leading questions of the day, get a little off and not act like rational beings, when they had to drink Stony Lake water.

Hoping Mr. Weir will have courage enough in future elections to let it be known publicly on which side he is for every man admires a manly and honest opponent, while he has only contempt for the man who attempts to play a double game, I remain

Yours truly,
J. B. MCWILLIAMS.

Mr. Moore's Reply to Mr. Weir.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—With reference to Mr. J. Graham Weir's letter published in the Review of July 4th, I wish to say a few words. First, I regret that my name has been brought before the public in connection with this matter, but since such is the case, I have simply to say, and most decidedly, that Mr. Weir did say to me that he would oppose Mr. Stratton's candidature but would support Mr. Blezard. This took place at the post office on the day Hon. Mr. Hardy addressed a meeting of the electors in Peterborough. Mr. Weir voluntarily, and without any suggestion or solicitation on my part, assured me of his determination to support Mr. Blezard in the East Riding. There can be, and is, no mistake about this. With reference to the portions of his letter relating to others, I have only to say that these parties are fully competent to protect their own interests in the matters in question, which Mr. Weir will doubtless find out to his cost.

Yours, etc.,
D. H. MOORE.

Cricket and the Local Club.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Allow me to say in your valuable paper that I am very pleased to see that the Peterborough Cricket Club works by such a high standard. The match next week will be well worth seeing, and I hope that the ladies, to whom so much is due, will turn out in full force and show that the Anglo-Saxon game is at home in Peterborough. It must not be forgotten that the local club holds high rank in Canada, and this is due to there skill and enterprise. In England many men join the clubs merely for the grand old game's sake, and it does seem to me that people who do not encourage practically such manful and excellent games understand neither the advantage nor philosophy of out-door sports.

Yours, etc.,
AN OLD CRICKETER.

A Masonic Send Off.

Past [illegible] Board Rowan Presented With an Address by His Brethren of Peterborough Lodge.

As soon as it became known among the local Masonic fraternity that Mr. David Spence, one of the most faithful and esteemed employes in the moulding department of the Williams Manufacturing Co., was about to take a holiday trip to his native home in England, his brethren determined to give him a Masonic send off. Accordingly, at the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge held on Friday evening, 4th instant, after the general business had been disposed of, the following complimentary address was read and presented to Bro. Spence:—

Wor. Bro. D. Spence, I. P. M., of Peterborough Lodge No. 155, A.F. and A.M.

DEAR SIR AND BRO.

Your brethren of Peterborough Lodge, learning that you were about leaving them for a brief holiday visit to the home of your happy boyhood days in old England, desire to avail themselves of the opportunity for uniting in wishing you a safe voyage and a pleasant reunion among relatives and friends at home.

We also desire to convey to you our congratulations on the marked unanimity of kind feeling and fraternal regard which prevails for you in the hearts of every one of your brethren of the mystic tie, without exception. Almost continually is the tongue of good report being heard in your favor.

We desire on this occasion, therefore, to emphasize the individual esteem of your brethren, by this united testimony of your sterling worth as a man and a Freemason. The constant regularity of your attendance on your Masonic duties; the readiness and ardour you have manifested in discharging these duties, and the faithful devotion you have shown for the Craft in general, and this Lodge in particular, has furnished a theme for admiration to all your brethren.

Yet, while it gives us unalloyed pleasure to put on record your unswerving faithfulness in the discharge of the duties appertaining to the numerous positions of rank and honour in the gift of your Masonic brethren, it is none the less pleasing to remember the modest bearing and singular unconsciousness of your own abilities with which your Masonic career has been characterized.

Be pleased, therefore, to take with you, in your journey across the ocean, this spontaneous token of the friendship and good-will of your Peterborough brethren, as they wish you adieu for a brief interval, and "May God be with you till we meet again."

Signed on behalf of the members of Peterborough Lodge

W. HAMILTON, JR., W. MARTIN, Sec. W. M.

MASONIC HALL, Peterborough, July 5th, 1890.

The address was presented by R. Wor. Bro. Benj. Shortly, P.D.D.G.M., who took occasion to express the pleasure it afforded him of doing honor to the worthy Brother. Wor. Bro. Rank and others also spoke in testimony of the zeal for the interest of the craft which Bro. Spence had always manifested, after which a resolution was passed ordering the address to be engrafted in the minutes of the Lodge.

Bro. Spence expressed his surprise at this new token of brotherly love which had been suddenly sprung upon him. He declared, in his own unassuming manner, that he knew no reason or merit of his own for the kindness—that as a Mason he had only tried to do his duty, and nothing more. He could not thank them sufficiently for such warm expressions of their good will towards him, but he assured them that he would cherish their address as a memento of the enduring friendships of the Freemason's heart. He did not intend to be long away from them—in fact, he did not wish to be long away from them—and hoped to return again about the beginning of September.

At the close of the Lodge, the brethren adjourned to the refreshment rooms for further felicitations. R. Wor. Bro. Shortly was called to the chair. The toast of "The Queen and the Craft" was duly honored, followed by "God Save the Queen" by the whole company. Wor. Bro. Brandrette, in an appropriate and eulogistic manner, proposed the health of "Our Parting Guest". Bro. Spence was again called to his feet, and expressed his pleasure and gratitude to the brethren for their cordial good wishes. Wor. Bro. Chas. Cameron, and Bros A. V. E. Young and Geo. Schofield added a few suitable remarks, and Bros. Alex. Gibson and Chas. Main contributed each a song. Wor. Bro. Paterson gave the J. W's toast, "Happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again," when the company all joined hands around the table and sang "Auld Lang Syne" in their usual expressive manner.

Willow and Wicket.

A Close Game of Cricket at Toronto.

The Peterborough cricket club played a return match with the Toronto team on the latter's grounds Friday, and were defeated by only three runs on the first innings. The scoring was slow on both sides owing to the heavy crease.

The Peterborough team went up to the city a man short, one of the players who had promised to be on hand failing to connect. A sub. was secured. Toronto went first to bat, and but for Boyd's 30, secured by steady, chanceless batting, they would have made a poor showing, though they had their strongest eleven on. Attewell's bowling was too much for them, while Stratton and Rogers also bowled well.

Peterborough could only roll up 56 runs, Ray, Rogers, Stratton, Attewell and Hamilton batting steadily. The finish was exciting. Peterborough wanted only five runs to win with four wickets to fall; but the tail-end was unequal to the task and all went out for a single run. The bowling of Toronto was too strong for any except first-class bats. Their whole bowling strength was put on and the game pulled out of the fire.

In Toronto's second innings they made 84 runs, for which the loose fielding of the Peterborough eleven was mainly responsible. It was even worse than in the first innings. Weak fielding has always crippled the Peterborough team. More time should be given to fielding practice.

Peterborough had not time for a second innings and the match was decided on the first. Following is the score:—

News Nuggets.

—The Board of Education meets next Tuesday night.

—Rev. W. C. Bradshaw preaches in St. Luke's church Sunday morning, and at St. John's in the evening.

—Mr. J. Fraser, of Peterborough, took part in a Scottish concert at Norwood last week and gave a couple of highly appreciated accordeon solos.

—Mr. Peter Hamilton, of Peterborough, the Lindsay Post says, has rented one of Mr. Fremont Crandell's cottages at Sturgeon Point, and his family will take up residence shortly.

Terrible Tramps.

The professional tramp frequently becomes very bold in the outskirts of the town—far away from police interference. Yesterday morning a tramp who had been begging at several doors for a bait, at a house in the south ward, became very bold. A lady on going up stairs, was nearly frightened to death, by seeing from the hall, the two evil eyes of Mr. tramp looking out from behind the folds of a dress hanging on the wall, with which he had on her approach covered his person. With true feminine coolness and presence of mind, she set up a screaming, that roused the neighborhood, and fled. While the neighbors were coming to see who was murdered, the tramp escaped through the back door. If he could have been caught just then, he would have got, not only a bat, but a head, put on him. Nothing was stolen, however. Ladies should be very careful, not to permit this sort of gentry to enter the house when they (the ladies) are alone, and not leave the latch string out when they are about.

Passed with Honours.

Corporal Thomas Carveth, No. 5 company, 57th Rangers, has returned home from Toronto, where he took the short course in the Royal School of Infantry. At his examinations he took the highest marks in the written examinations. After passing so successfully he was attached to the C Company and was at the annual military camp at Niagara, where he acted as drill instructor to the volunteers in camp. While here Corp. Carveth and others visited the American fort on the opposite side and fraternized with their friendly enemies, the Yankee regulars. Mr. Carveth is to be congratulated upon his success, and his ardor and interest in military matters mark him out as a very probable subject for promotion.

Magnificent Flowers.

Mr. Thos. Warren, gardener to Mr. A. I. Davis, is justly proud of his beautifully kept lawns and beautiful flowers. He now shows a magnificent collection of dahlias, over forty varieties, in full bloom, all of the flowers fine, and some of them of mammoth dimensions. It is probable they are the finest collection of dahlias, in one of the best kept gardens in town.

The shattered nerves and [illegible] receive fresh [illegible] at once, the physical and mental [illegible], tired and [illegible] restored, and the general weak and debilitated condition, [illegible] that Palmer's Celery Compound and disease cannot exist. This medicine is a scientific discovery. It is not a compound [illegible] a blend. It is entirely vegetable, and [illegible] to the taste [illegible] spring regulates [illegible] action. Pure blood, strong nerves, clear heads, and the glorious feeling of the most [illegible] follow its use.

Palmer's Celery Compound is a medicine that especially meets the needs of this age. Nervous people live too fast and work too hard for their own good; they exhaust the quickly, grasp old age fast, die too soon. The strain on the nerves, the pressure on the brain, of winter's life has exhausted nerve force and vitality. There is only one medicine that can build up the nerve tissue and renew the brain force, and that medicine is Palmer's Celery Compound. When you feel tired and weak with a lack of ambition or relish for work, you do your cold an injustice if you do not commence the use of Palmer's Celery Compound at once. While it is a place filled by no other medicine especially valuable at this season, and complete in the treatment of spring sickness and debility, it is also the most wonderful modern discovery for the relief of all nervous disorders, weaknesses and complications. Neuralgia, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, paralysis, headaches and other forms of nerve and brain disorder yield readily to its unequaled curative power. Almost everybody is using it, and it well merits its great popularity.

BRITAIN AND THE STATES

UNCLE SAM MAY GO TOO FAR IN BEHRING SEA.

Our Rights Will Be Maintained by Force if Necessary — An Eminent Military Authority Talks—Indignation in England Over the McKinley Tariff.

LONDON, July 5.—That important instructions have been sent to the British naval squadron in the Pacific is a matter of well authenticated report, but the nature of the instructions cannot definitely be ascertained. It is understood that the flagship Warspite has been ordered to the Pacific coast of British-America, and that a formidable array of men-of-war is to be gathered there to defend vessels sailing under the English flag against American attack. How far the English may be prepared to go is not stated, but American cruisers conveying prizes to San Francisco will be very likely to encounter English ships of war on the voyage, and probably be asked for explanations. It is stated that the American naval force on the Pacific is insignificant compared with the British squadron and that the English will have no difficulty in asserting England's rights, as they are called, in those waters. A hostile encounter between British and American warships would not of necessity involve war, but would certainly tend to provoke it.

In this connection Lieut.-Gen. Henry Brackenbury of the British Army, Director of Military Intelligence and brother of the late eminent Maj.-Gen. Brackenbury, is quoted as commenting on the recent assertions of certain American Senators that Canada would fall a ready prey in the event of a war between the United States and Great Britain. "It took the Northern States," General Brackenbury says, "four years to conquer the States of the South, and that with every advantage in the way of climate and knowledge of the country invaded, as well as the great and unusual advantage of the presence of several millions of a slave population in sympathy with the invaders, and from whom many valuable recruits were obtained for the Northern army. The United States would find the invasion and conquest of Canada even a more formidable task. Winter campaigning, which was far from difficult in the warm climate of the Confederacy, would be impossible there, and an army caught in the winter snows would either be beamed in, with imminent risk of destruction by an energetic and tireless enemy, or would have to retreat under circumstances not dissimilar as to weather from Napoleon's disastrous retreat from Moscow amid the snows and piercing gales of a Russian winter. Besides, the ports of Canada would not be blockaded, as were the ports of the South during the war, and the supply of men and material would be abundant. The Americans of British and Irish stock are undoubtedly, with proper discipline, soldiers equal to any in the world, but it is to be remembered that of emigrants from the continent of Europe a very large portion are fugitives from military service."

The General added that war between Great Britain and the United states was a calamity not to be contemplated without the most serious provocation; but that in the event of such a war an invasion of Canada would not be a holiday campaign.

The aggressive action in regard to Behring Sea is somewhat complicated in popular opinion here with the rising indignation on the subject of the American tariff. Thousands of skilled English workingmen will be thrown out of employment, should the tariff be adopted, in Sheffield alone from 2000 to 2500 persons being employed solely on American work. The manufacturers in certain lines regard the proposed tariff as prohibitory, and are casting about for some method of relief. Their action takes the form of petitions to Parliament and personal appeals to members of that body. Just now the Tories are looking around for a new issue that may be popular enough to divert attention from a series of pitiful legislative failures, and the Conservative cheers which greeted the proposal of Col. Howard Vincent, that the House should consider "whether a free market should be longer given to the competing productions of a foreign State putting prohibitive duties upon British goods," are significant of the growing feeling in the Government ranks.

Col. Vincent is regarded with high respect among all parties. His social position is excellent, and he has the ear of royalty and its representatives, as well as of eminent statesmen on the Opposition benches. He is in enthusiastic favor, not of absolute protection, but of reciprocity, and he holds that only those nations should be admitted to unrestricted commerce with England which extend equal facilities to the trade and commerce of Great Britain. His sentiments are spreading rapidly, not only in Parliament, but among the working people of the country, many of whom find themselves threatened with loss of employment by the American Tariff bill, while many others are out of employment through the free competition of Germany and other countries, who pour their products into Great Britain, while presenting a tariff barrier to British manufacturers.

TO SHUT OUT AMERICAN CORN.

The French Senate Votes in Favor of a Prohibitory Duty.

PARIS, July 5.—The Senate this week has shown its hand plainly in regard to American questions. After a long debate it finally voted in favor of a duty of three francs on corn, and supplemented this by imposing a duty of six francs on cornmeal. During the closing debate it was distinctly avowed that the duty on corn was to be considered only a continuation of the nine-year-old policy toward American pork. Comte Foucher de Careil declared that the importation of American pork was only another mode of importing American corn, and French farmers could not maintain themselves against it. The prohibition of pork was right and ought to be maintained, and the duty on corn should also be made prohibitory. M. Milland called attention to the fact that American pork is only prohibited on the ground of its alleged unhealthfulness. He declared that this was merely a pretext. Other members replied that it was all right and that the prohibition ought to be maintained. An article published in The Temps, which is thought to reflect the views of the Government, suggests that there might be circumstances under which it might be desirable to withdraw the prohibition against pork.

Reprisals Favored.

VIENNA, July 6.—Austrian and Hungarian merchants, through the Export Society, are preparing a petition to Count Kalnoky to take reprisals in the event of the McKinley Bill becoming law.

CANADIAN NEWS NOTES.

THREE MORE ELECTION PROTESTS FILED SATURDAY.

The Minister of Education's Seat Attacked —Attempted Suicide at Toronto—Lockjaw for a Buffalo Assassin—Kidnapped a Senator.

TORONTO, July 7.—Three more election protests were entered on Saturday in the Court of Appeal, making a total to date of seven. Mr. W. R. Meredith, Q.C., acting on behalf of John Raymond of Strathroy, filed a petition against Hon. G. W. Ross, M.L.A. for West Middlesex. Mr. Ross defeated John Morgan, Conservative. The charges against the Minister of Education were procuring people to vote who were not entitled to the franchise, bribery and corruption and treating and giving away liquor.

Johnston & Ross, acting on behalf of James M. Nestor, St. Catharines, filed a petition against the return of James Hiscott, Conservative, for Lincoln. Mr. Hiscott is accused of bribery, treating and polling illegal votes. He defeated William Garson, Reformer.

James S. Fullerton, Q.C., acting on behalf of Albert F. Stevenson, West Toronto Junction, filed a petition against the return of John T. Gilmour, Reformer, who defeated Mr. Clendenan, Equal Righter. The charges are of a similar nature to those pressed against Mr. Ross.

In the case of each protest the $1000 guarantee for costs was paid into court.

The protests to date now stand:
North Essex—Ind. Conservative.
Frontenac—Opposition.
South Norfolk—Government.
North Renfrew—Opposition.
West Middlesex—Government.
Lincoln—Opposition.
West York—Government.

A. F. Wood, M.L.A. North Hastings, has been appointed by the Dominion Government a commissioner to enquire into alleged irregularities in the management of the Grenville canal.

Baker Bartholomew Fowler attempted to commit suicide Saturday night by taking strychnine. He was pumped out and may recover. Domestic troubles, his wife having separated from him, are assigned as the cause of his act.

The Toronto police are looking out for Vita Gialelli, who shot Thomas Wilson in a Buffalo saloon July 4, and is now supposed to be in Canada.

FIRED ON THE FLAG.

A Caucus Held at Mount Hope—Another Lucky Hamiltonian.

HAMILTON, July 5.—Undertaker Joel Smith of Mount Hope hoisted the Stars and Stripes over his residence yesterday in honor of the "glorious." A deputation of the neighboring farmers requested its removal, but Smith declined, whereupon the flag was riddled with bullets and divided among the crowd. A second flag raised by Mr. Smith met a similar fate.

At 1 p.m. to-day Constable Watson arrested three boys named John Slaughtery, Lee Slaughtery and Robert Young on the charge of being sneak thieves. The boys were dressed in new clothing from head to foot and were at the ticket office purchasing tickets for Buffalo when arrested. It is alleged that they entered Mr. R. Daw's wood office in Main-street west yesterday morning and extracted $60 from the safe, also that they stole $12 from the safe in Mr. George Luxton's flour and feed store in York-street on Monday last. The police found $23 on them when arrested.

George Harvey and Stanley McNider, two students at Hamilton Art School last year, have returned to the city from Cornell University, Ithaca, for the vacation. Mr. Harvey took first place with 95 per cent. of marks obtainable for mechanical drawing, and Mr. McNider second place with 90 per cent. These are exceptionally high averages.

Edward Mitchell, formerly of the Bank of Commerce, held one-twentieth of ticket No. 58843, which drew the first capital prize of $600,000 in the drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company on June 17. Mr. Mitchell has gone to Europe to escape his numerous friends.

KIDNAPPED A SENATOR.

Twenty-five Residents of Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere Arrested.

QUEBEC, July 5.—Judge Murray and High Constable Gale returned to town last evening from Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere. The result of the preliminary inquiry into the charge of kidnapping Senator Pelletier has been the issuing of warrants for the arrest of 25 residents of the parish, including a merchant and a professor of agriculture, for having illegally detained in custody for seven hours Hon. C. A. P. Pelletier, C.M.G., on June 16. The hearing of witnesses and further proceedings in the case have been adjourned till Thursday next.

An Infected Bark at Grosse Isle.

QUEBEC, July 6.—The bark Saratoga, from Marseilles for this port May 7, is detained at Grosse Isle with smallpox on board. She was towed as far as Grosse Isle by the tug Beaver. Two of the Saratoga's crew died of the disease on the passage out and were buried at sea. Another is still down with the disease. The Beaver was permitted to return to port, but not until after all her crew had been vaccinated.

Accidental and Foolish.

OTTAWA, July 5.—The inquest on the girl Mabel Biehler, who was shot by young Leggatt on Thursday morning, was finished to-day. The verdict was one of accidental shooting, coupled with a comment on the folly of allowing such youths to handle loaded firearms.

Leggatt was subsequently rearrested on a warrant issued by the County Crown Attorney, who considers that the verdict of the coroner's jury does not absolve the boy from blame.

Orillia's Preparations for the 12th.

ORILLIA, July 6.—Preparations are being made here for celebrating July 12 on a larger scale than ever before. It is expected that there will be between 7000 and 10,000 Orangemen in Orillia that day. Several are expected from the Old Country.

His Friends Have Arrived.

WINNIPEG, July 6.—The friends of the late J. J. Hocken, who committed suicide, have arrived from Toronto for the purpose of looking after the affairs of the deceased. Hocken was a bookkeeper and was a native of Chatham, N.B. It is understood that he is worth a good deal of money inherited through his grandmother, Mrs. Samuel of Richibucto. He went from here to Chatham

A STORM IMPENDING.

LIKELY TO BURST FORTH IN THE BALKANS AT ANY MOMENT.

Holiday Vacations of Berlin Foreign Office Officials Cut Short by the Gravity of the Situation—A Momentous Change in Germany's Policy.

BERLIN, July 5.—There are growing signs of an impending storm in the Balkans. The situation is so grave that the holiday vacations of the leading officials of the foreign office here have been stopped. Herr von Radowitz, the German Ambassador at Constantinople, who was about to start for Kissingen, has been requested to remain at his post. Sir W. A. White, the British Ambassador to the Porte, who was just beginning at Gastein a furlough to last several months, hurried back to Constantinople, after having a long interview with the Emperor of Austria. The Czar has also countermanded the congé of M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador.

A momentous change appears to have occurred in Germany's policy in the Balkans. Instead of pursuing the semi-neutral diplomacy of Prince Bismarck the Emperor has directed Herr Radowitz to take the initiative in advising the Porte how to meet the contending claims of Bulgaria. The Emperor's scheme of settlement, according to the accepted report in diplomatic circles, involves the displacing of Prince Ferdinand, and the substitution of Prince Karl of Sweden as ruler of Bulgaria in his stead, and also an arrangement of the Russian indemnity by capitalizing the amount through the international council of administration which now controls the Turkish loans.

A general explosion in the Balkans may occur before the powers have time to consider Emperor William's proposal.

Greece and Servia have added to the general imbroglio by each presenting notes to the Porte, stating that any concessions to Bulgaria would require similar concessions to the Greek and Servian nationalities.

Bow-Street Cops on Strike.

LONDON, July 5.—Last night the policemen of the Bow-street station refused to go out on duty, because a constable who had taken a prominent part in the agitation for the improvement of the condition of the police force had been removed to another district. Eventually this constable was re-instated and the Bow-street men returned to duty. To-day 40 of the recalcitrant policemen were suspended. The others went on duty to-night. As the men left the station house for their respective posts they were hooted at by a crowd which had gathered outside.

At the Trade Centres.

LONDON, July 6.—On the Stock Exchange the past week business was very dull. Syndicates possessing masses of new securities kept offering them to an unresponsive market, thus adding to the general depression. Central American bonds closed very heavy yesterday over reports of troubles in Costa Rica. American railway securities were stagnant, yet prices were fairly maintained. The Paris Bourse was irregular and weak, that at Frankfort quiet. Only a limited amount of business was done at Berlin, realizations being the prominent feature.

Cable Flashes.

The condition of Count Kalnoky is reported to be worse.

The German Federal Rifle meeting opened at Berlin Sunday.

Baron Wissmann denies that he has tendered his resignation.

A new cabinet has been formed at Madrid headed by Senor Canovas del Castillo.

Montenegrins have crossed the Turkish frontier and have been victorious in several encounters.

It is officially denied at Rome that the Italian Government has demanded the cession of Suakim to Italy.

A rumor is current at Paris that Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria has notified Prime Minister Stambuloff of his intention to abdicate.

A MISSIONARY MURDERED.

Persia the Scene of the Crime and the Victim a Woman.

ROCKVILLE, Ind., July 5.—Letters received here from Persia give details of the murder of Mrs. John L. Wright, an American Presbyterian missionary, at Salmas, Western Persia, in April. A native school teacher, half American and half Syrian, killed her with a dagger in her own home in revenge for her discharge from her employer. Mrs. Wright was a historian and was beautiful, well educated and accomplished. Her father was a teacher of Ancient Syriac in American colleges. She was married to Mr. Wright four years ago. They were in this country last year. Wright was a native of Ohio. The murderess is in custody.

The Continent's Wealthiest City.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The books of the commissioners of taxes and assessments just completed show the total assessed value of real and personal estate in this city is $1,096,978,390 for 1890, an increase over last year of $98,130,277.

But He Stopped The Horse.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Count Sala, first Secretary of the French legation, had his right leg broken this afternoon while stopping a runaway horse which was dashing towards some women and children a short distance away. He stopped the horse.

Six Nihilists Sentenced.

PARIS, July 5.—The trial of the Nihilists here resulted in the conviction of Reinstein, Makachiize, Katchintseff, Laurenius, Levoff and Orlowski, each of whom was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of 200 francs. Anna, the wife of Reinstein, and a female physician named Fronberg were acquitted.

These 24 Chinese Must Go.

TUCSON, Ariz., July 5.—Commissioner Hughes yesterday gave judgment in the case of 24 Chinese charged with violating the Exclusion Act, and ordered that the United States Marshal deliver them to the collector at San Francisco to be returned to China. Counsel for the Chinese urged that they be returned to Sonora, Mexico, they having entered the United States from Sonora. He has applied for a writ of habeas corpus.

Kalakaua Has a New Cabinet.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Honolulu advices state that owing to a tie vote in the Legislature June 18 on a resolution impeaching Attorney-General Ashford the Cabinet resigned. June 17 the King appointed a new Cabinet with John Adams Cummins as Minister of Foreign Affairs and Arthur P. Peterson as Attorney-General. During the proceedings of the Legislature previous to the resignation of the Ministry, it was charged that a conspiracy was on foot to depose Kalakaua and erect a republic.

Levy's Lost Lucre.

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—Joseph Levy of New York, who arrived here Thursday, reports while eating a lunch at Bradford, Ind., his train left him, taking with it his satchel containing $2000 in bank notes. He telegraphed the conductor, who reported he would find his baggage at Indianapolis. Levy found it there but the money had been stolen.

Favor the St. Lawrence Route.

MONTREAL, July 5.—Reports received by the Canadian Live Stock Association say that the boards of trade in Scotland and the North of England are moving to have American cattle shipped via the St. Lawrence.

To Honor Their Dead Heroes.

LIMA, Peru, July 5.—Great preparations are being made here to receive the remains of the Peruvian heroes who lost their lives during the late war with Chili. They are being brought from different points by Peruvian men-of-war and will be re-interred here. The Peruvian man-of-war Lima brought to Iquique yesterday the remains of Vice-Admiral Grau and others. She was escorted from Valparaiso by the Chilian man-of-war Esmeralda.

Why He Resigned.

MONTREAL, July 6.—Mr. R. N. King, inspector of the Ontario Bank here, has been appointed local manager in place of Mr. W. A. Chipman, who has resigned. It is stated that Mr. Chipman's resignation was due to the unfair way in which he considered himself treated by the head office at Toronto in the preparation of the annual report, which stated that $800,000 had to be taken from the rest account during the year to meet losses incurred in the Montreal and Toronto offices. As the losses sustained in the Montreal office did not exceed $10,000, the balance being sustained at Toronto, Mr. Chipman thought that if the Montreal office was mentioned at all there should have been a specification of the losses in each place.

BULLETS WILL FLY.

And Something Will Keep If the Gang in Bear Overwhelmed.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., July 5.—Horse thieves have made a grand round-up in Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho during the past few days. The method of their operations indicates that they have regularly organized bands with a leader and numbers sufficient to cover a large area of country. Saturday and Sunday they undiscovered near this city and hastened away with 300 horses toward the British Columbia line through the Flathead Indian country in Northwestern Montana. A. L. Smith's ranch was visited Sunday night and several fine animals were stolen, including a valuable roadster owned by Dr. C. S. Penfield, city physician. A Walla Walla farmer reports the loss of 30 head which were traced to within a few miles of Spokane Falls. William Lewis of Cheney lost a stallion for which he recently paid $1200.

A large number of ranchers are here organizing for pursuit of the thieves, but with little hope of success, as the villains have several hundred miles start and doubtless are thoroughly acquainted with the country, which is very rugged and little traveled. Some of the thieves are known to the police as desperadoes who would not halt at the sacrifice of human life rather than submit to capture. A small posse started out Thursday night under Deputy United States Marshal Warren, and telegrams have been forwarded to various points in Montana requesting reinforcements. A battle is sure to occur if the pursuers overtake the thieves.

DOLLY IN HARD LUCK.

To be Re-Arrested on the Completion of Her Term in Brantford Jail.

BRANTFORD, July 5.—Miss Mary S. Besley, who is now in jail serving a sentence for defrauding Rev. Dr. Cochrane, will be released on Monday, only to be re-arrested by an officer from Belleville, who has a similar charge to prefer against her. She has been ill during the greater portion of the time she has been in prison, but she is better to-day and little dreams of the Belleville surprise in store for her. She has put on smokeloth and ashes evidently, judging from this letter sent to Rev. Dr. Cochrane:

BRANTFORD, July 5, 1890.

DEAR SIR,—I wish to ask your forgiveness for the wrong I did you, and also Mrs. Cochrane's. If it is ever in my power I will repay you. I have been very ill and perhaps I may never get well, and I should like to feel that you do forgive me, not only the loss, but the trouble and anxiety as well. Please excuse this scrawl.

M. S. BESLEY.

Dr. Cochrane says he has not a particle of faith in her repentance. When the doctor was in Ottawa two weeks ago he was told by Dr. Warden of Montreal that she had got Miss Crawford, the head of the ladies' college in Ottawa, to become security for a bill of goods and that in Montreal she succeeded in getting $30 from Miss Watson.

LOOKS LIKE A FARCE.

Pugilist Girard Exonerated By the Jury—No More Sparring in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 5.—The coroner's inquest into the cause of death of Billy Brennan, the pugilist who was killed in a sparring match with Frank Girard Thursday night, was held to-day. Police Captain Louis testified as to the facts of the sparring match. In the fifth round Brennan clinched Girard and they fell together, Brennan underneath and his head striking the floor.

The jury returned a verdict that Brennan came to his death from shock and injuries received from falling while sparring with Girard. The prisoners were released from custody.

Mayor Cregier has announced that no more sparring matches will be allowed in this city.

That Alaska Boundary.

OTTAWA, July 5.—The report that the United States surveyors have established the boundary line between Canada and Alaska 26 miles further east than it was supposed to be, is not regarded as important at the Geological Survey Department here, as the fixing of the boundary is an international matter to be determined to the satisfaction of both countries—or failing in that, by arbitration—and has been under consideration by both countries. Against the conclusions of the United States survey, Canada has the observations of William Ogilvie of the Canadian survey party which explored the Yukon district in 1888. Ogilvie spent the winter in making astronomical observations for the purpose of ascertaining the position of the 141st degree of longitude, which he finally placed about 90 miles from the boundary line as run on United States maps.

Died From Sunstroke.

BERLIN, Ont., July 6.—Word has been received from a coroner at Lake City, Ind., of the death by sunstroke of Charles Votier, formerly bookkeeper at Nelson's foundry. He left town suddenly some two months ago and his whereabouts were unknown until this message was received. His disappearance from Berlin is a mystery as his books all showed to be in correct condition. He leaves a wife and family, one a baby about five days old. He was up to the time of his departure a member of the I. O. F. of this town and insured for $2000, lately suspended on account of non-payment. An effort will be made to grant his family a portion of it.

Old "Joe Bones" in Trouble.

CORNWALL, July 6.—Joe Lebeau, commonly dubbed "Old Jos Bones," a Cornwall rag picker and bone collector, is threatened with trouble by a Montreal woman who arrived in town yesterday noon and claims to be his legal wife. She says she left him fifteen years ago, but that she is willing to return to him if he will forsake the woman who now passes as his wife. He does not incline to do so and she has threatened him with legal proceedings.

Counterfeit $2's at Exeter.

EXETER, July 6.—Some counterfeit $2 bills on the Dominion Bank are afloat, one of which was exhibited on Saturday. One of the easiest points of difference to detect is that in the genuine the figures are printed in blue ink—that is, the number of the bill—and on the counterfeit it is done in black ink, and a poor black at that. The vignette of Lord Dufferin in the centre is somewhat blurred, and there are other differences which it would take a bank clerk to detect.

Freak of Lightning.

COLUMBUS, S.C., July 5.—A negro woman was sitting in her house at Martin's Point Thursday with a 2-year-old child in her lap. Her husband was standing on the opposite side of the room. A thunderstorm was in progress and a stroke of lightning descended upon the house. The child was instantly killed, its father fatally shocked and the mother was not injured or even shocked by the stroke. The same bolt of lightning killed a workman in a field.

The Abandoned Benguella.

LONDON, July 5.—Captain Spratly of the British steamer Biela, at Liverpool from New York, reports that he boarded the abandoned steamer Benguella on June 24 in lat. 40 north long. 49 west, and found twelve feet of water in her hold. Some of her sails were set. The yards were adrift and the hatches off. The passengers' luggage was on the deck. Breakfast was on the table in the saloon. Capt. Spratly would not risk towing the vessel.

NEWPORT, R.I., July 5.—This morning D. Tindall of Canada, and his grandson, Edward Baker, the latter 13 years of age, of Fall River, were found in a room which they occupied together last night at the Groves House, in Bath-road, with the gas burners open. The boy was dead and at noon the condition of the man was precarious, although he had roused somewhat from his stupor.

Poor Portugal.

LISBON, July 5.—The Chamber of Deputies by a large majority passed a bill providing for a gamer al increase of six per cent. in taxation.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, JULY 7, 1890.

STATISTICS presented at a convention recently held in Chicago show that in the past ten years the waterworks systems of the United States and Canada have nearly trebled in number. In 1881 there were 600 of them; now there are 1,800. The capital invested is $500,000,000 and the annual revenue $60,000,000; the aggregate length of mains is 20,000 miles, and they have 2,000,000 taps. The great majority of the systems are owned by the people and operated by municipal authorities. Water is evidently a popular liquid still.

THE Monetary Times calls attention to the fact that from the beginning of 1880 to the end of May, the emigration from Great Britain and Ireland to the United States was 97,186, to Canada 14,507, and to Australia 8,078. It is thus plain that the United States has taken more than four times as many of the people of the United Kingdom as Australia and Canada. Discussing the reasons for this significant fact a Maritime Province exchange says that, "doubtless the "greatest influence was the fact that they "were leaving one independent country to "go to another. Men who have lived a "national life do not care as a rule to become "colonists."

Nurse-Proud Preston.

Secretary of the Provincial Reform Association Rewarded and Honoured:

Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Secretary of the Provincial Reform association must be a purse-proud man to-day, the circumstances under which he was presented with a purse of $1000. justifying a feeling of pride. A gathering of the Liberal party assembled at the Reform Club Toronto, on Friday for the purpose of presenting a testimonial to Mr. W. T. R. Preston, in recognition of his valuable services during the recent campaign. The testimonial took the form of an illuminated address, a magnificent gold watch and chain and purse containing $1,000. Mr. Preston's able, energetic and indefatigable exertions, both as a platform orator and as an organizer, have borne ample fruit in all the general elections in which he has taken part, and it must have been exceedingly gratifying to him and to his friends to see the spontaneity, the readiness and even the enthusiasm with which the movement has been supported by the Liberals in all parts of the Province.

Orangemen at Church.

A Big Turn Out of Orange Bodies—Sermon by Rev. Mr. Locke in the George Street Church.

There was some misunderstanding amongst the Orangemen as to which church they were to attend on Sunday. It was announced that Rev. Mr. Parker was to preach a sermon in St. Paul's at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and another announcement stated that they were to attend the George street church in the evening. Considerable confusion resulted, but the parade took place at half-past six to the Methodist church, the afternoon arrangement being cancelled. The near approach of the twelfth of July was the occasion for the Orange parade. Next Saturday the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne will be celebrated by the lodges in this district at Cobourg.

Sunday evening's parade was an imposing one. There were about 150 men in line, headed by the band and decked out in the full regalia of the Order. In the afternoon the brethren of Nassau and Lakefield lodges and a few from Peterborough attended church at Bridgenorth, in the evening the Nassau men joined with Peterborough. The order of procession from the Orange Hall was as follows:

The Band.
Juvenile True Blues. Rising Sun, No. 9.
Loyal True Blues No. 43.
Prentice Boys No. 7.
Nassau L O L. No. 469.
Peterborough L.O.L. No. 45.

Arrived at the church, the sermon was preached by Rev. J. E. Locke (a chaplain in the Order), who chose for his theme that part of the second chapter of Acts describing the Pentecostal scene. His address was a purely Gospel one. After dwelling upon the different qualities attached to the blessing which descended upon the 120 in the upper room at Jerusalem, the speaker urged his congregation to renew the pleadings of Pentecost, and all its great blessings would be repeated. Speaking to the Orangemen, Rev. Mr. Locke said he regretted the short time at his disposal prevented his preaching a sermon specially to them, but hoped for the opportunity at some future time. He, however, knew their principles to be sound and good, and, if carried out, such as would make them loyal and Christian citizens. He welcomed them to the church and wished for the spread of their principles and the success of their aims.

During the services the choir rendered splendid assistance. An anthem was sung, "Onward Christian Soldiers," to new and charming music. The choir has made a great improvement since Mr. Seward has taken charge. After the sermon a tenor solo was sung by Mr. Bowman. A collection was taken up in aid of the Protestant Home.

Upon returning to the lodge room votes of thanks were passed to the church officers, minister and choir, for the different services rendered the Orangmen by them.

Ten Cents a Day.

Some cotton cloth has been shipped from Canadian factories to China and Japan, but it is not believed that any profit could have been made upon it, for the reason that the Canadian cotton must have been sold in those Asiatic markets at prices to compete with the prices of English cotton, and the Canadian manufacturers contend that they could not hold their home market without a protective tariff against English cotton. In short, it amounts to this: If Canadian cotton manufacturers cannot undersell English manufacturers in Canada, how can they send their goods across a continent and an ocean, and there undersell English manufacturers? Another view of the case is this: Japan has cotton mills of its own, which ought to be able to compete with those of Canada. There are 100,000 cotton spindles in the town of Osaka, Japan, and the mills in course of erection will hold 50,000 spindles more. Ten years ago there were only 4,000 in the place. A Japanese cotton mill is thus described: "The mill is in operation both night and day, except from 5 p.m. on Saturday to 6 p.m. on Sunday night, when the night shift comes on; with about six other holidays in the year. There is no Factory Act here, nor any half-timers, children of 10 working just the same hours as adults. The working hours are from 6 a.m. till 5 30 p.m., with three rests and meal times of 20 minutes' duration. The engine only stops at 12 for half an hour, and so on every sixth hour, one-half the hands going to their meals the other half keeping the greater part of the machinery going. The yarn is all spun weft way, and varies in counts from 10s to 28's, spun from Japanese, ordinary Chinese and Amamite cotton, the Japanese being short and harsh and rather dark colored, the Chinese rather longer and a good deal whiter, but rather harsh; the Amamite, same as Chinese, but softer. It all comes loose in bags, with very little sand, but plenty of broken leaf and a good deal of oil from the crushed seed. The gins in China must be very bad. There is very little Indian or American cotton used. The Japanese and Chinese is about equal to Surat, but a great deal cleaner cotton. This year the cotton crop in Japan and China has been very bad, through too much rain, and a few have mixed a little cheap American and some a little Indian to make it workable. There are no English or European managers, carders or overlookers in Japan. The people are determined to do without them, and there are many places where they have put up their own machinery and steam engines. There is a large technical school in Tokio, and the Government send students to every place in the country where any machine or engineering work is go on, no place being without them. The wages paid to females are far better than in any other industry in Japan, there being a great dearth of employment for females, but as 10 cents per day is about the maximum, it can easily be realized how cheap mill labor is."

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

WEATHER NOTES.—June, with its bright flowers, waving fields, and charming landscape, has passed away; but it was a month which will often be remembered for its hot wave on its two last days. The two first were nothing particular, but on the 3rd three days of thunder and rain commenced, doing a large amount of damage throughout the country, and only finishing on the morning of the 5th. On the 5th, from 1 p. m. to 6 a. m., it fell 1 inch and 10-100 of an inch, while rain fell on 11 days to the depth of 2 inches and 46-100 of an inch. Some hot weather occurred during the month. At 2 p.m. on the 4th the thermometer stood at 89° in the shade, on the 16th at 90°, on the 17th at 87°, on the 22rd at 90°, on the 26th at 85°, and as a member of your readers to his pleasure in my weather table, and might not see them regarding the hot wave on the 29th and 30th, I will take the pleasure of again reporting them. On Sunday, the 29th, at sunrise, the thermometer stood at 64°, at 8 o'clock up to 80° in the shade, at 10 to 86°, at noon to 90°, at 2 to 95°, at 4 to 90°, at 6 to 90°, and at sundown at 80°. On Monday, the 30th, at sunrise 66°, at 8 o'clock up to 85°, at 10 to 92°, at 12 to 94°, at 1 to 95°, at 2 to 96°, at 4 to 92°, at 6 to 86°, and at sundown to 80°. What do you think of that for Canada? On the morning of the 5th we had frost, with the thermometer at 34°, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 62 22-30°, being a high average. Six days thunder and three fog. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, respectively, namely: North-west 8 days, north-east 2 days, south-east 4 days, west 2 days, south 2 days, south-west 7 days, east 2 days, and north 3 days. Clover was in bloom on the 7th, fall wheat and timothy headed out on the 14th, barley on the 15th, and spring wheat on the 3rd of July.

ALMOST A LYNCHING.

Outbreak at an Ohio Town After an Inhuman Brute.

ALLIANCE, July 5.—The other night Leonidas L. Aray enticed Edith Ringer, a five-year-old girl, the daughter of a widow, into a wagon, gave her candy, took her to a vacant house, locked himself and her in an upstairs room and outraged her person in a beastly manner. Centifying the terrified girl to silence on pain of death, and promising her a new dress if she returned the following night, he released her. The little victim, reaching home, became deadly sick and nearly died, at last telling her mother the cause. The relatives at first shrank from publicity, but on Saturday a rumor reached the police, who investigated, and the city became aroused. On Sunday Humane Officer Dr. James Bates, by desire of Mayor Stillwell, made an examination of the little victim and swore out a warrant. Aray was arrested at home and committed for examination without bail. An excited crowd gathered and threats of lynching and tar and feathers were rife. He was hustled by three stalwart officers from the Police Court to the city prison, through a throng that constantly yelled, "Hang him, hang him!" and until late at night the prison was surrounded by a howling mob.

Aray is a man of 55 years, long a notorious character. He has terrorised his neighbors for many years. Many acts of inhuman brutality have been laid at his door.

LAKE MICHIGAN ON A TEAR.

Much Damage Done to Shipping—Several Lives Lost.

CHICAGO, July 4.—Lake Michigan was rocked from surface to bottom last night and to-day by a gale that damaged shipping and upset the program of aquatic sports arranged here for the Fourth. Old vesselmen pronounce it the severest storm for this season of the year within their memory. The vessels that braved the threatening indications during the evening and put out to sea labored outside the breakwater trying to make port. Some were successful. Others tried to save themselves by dropping anchor. One vessel capsized and her captain was lost. About midnight the steamer City of Chicago with 1000 passengers aboard lay on her beam ends outside the breakwater. She left Chicago a few hours before for Grand Haven. She was 25 miles on her course when her captain was obliged to put her about and run for Chicago. After a terrific experience in the heavy sea rolling and plunging, and at times shipping some water. She finally reached her dock without accident.

The schooner Gladiator, loaded to the rails with wood, labored terribly in the trough of the sea seven miles off Gross Point. Soon she sprang a leak and took water rapidly. A portion of her deckload went by the board and her waterlogged condition was eased for awhile. But the leak enlarged and she was caught by a wave and turned keel up. Captain Torton and his crew were carried by the waves some distance from the schooner. The captain was drowned. The crew caught the wreckage and managed to float until the life-saving crew at Evanston came to their assistance.

The schooner Naiad was caught in the blow some miles out to sea and after a hard struggle arrived just outside the breakwater, where a number of vessels were anchored. The Naiad was suffering badly from her encounter with the wind and waves. She had lost a man, Harry Berkley, and her forward rigging was carried away. She dropped anchor but the soft bottom refused it a place and the vessel drifted with a crash against the schooners Surprise and White Cloud. These vessels had barely resisted the force of the sea and when they received the Naiad they pulled their anchors and the flotilla drifted out to sea. Signals of distress were displayed by the Naiad and the crew of the life-saving station put out to her assistance. Before they could reach her a tug steamed out and took the Naiad in tow. The collision cost the White Cloud her jibboom, fore-topmast and cathead, and the Surprise was but little less fortunate. The Naiad was damaged forward. The propeller Wisconsin and a number of other staunch vessels were also among those more or less damaged by the storm.

Save Your Carpets.

A sheet of stick fly paper will do more damage to carpets and furniture than any thing ever invented. No careful housewife would have one about. Wilson's Fly Poison Pads will clear the house of flies more quickly and surely than any other means. When placed near the light where the flies are thickest, Wilson's Pads will kill pints every day, and clear the house in short order. At all druggists. dw

What Say They?

Its popularity increasing. Its reliability the standard. Its merit the first. In fact the best remedy for summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera infantum, etc., is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All medicine dealers sell it. 2w27d

A Canadian Favorite.

The season of green fruits and summer drinks is the time when the worst forms of cholera morbus, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints prevail. As a safe guard Dr. Fowlers Extract of Wild Strawberry should be kept in the house. For 35 years it has been the most reliable remedy. 2w27d

The Beginning of Death.

Disease is the beginning of death, its approach should be met at once with appropriate remedies. No better means exists than the use of Burdock Blood Bitters whenever symptoms of any disease of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood appear. B.B.B. is the best life preserver. 2w27d

Our Story.

ERRANT IN THE ROCKIES.

BY JUSTIN H. MCCARTHY, M. P., AND ALBERT DELPIT.

"Who the devil are you?" he asked in amazement, peering in the dim light, eagerly at the face.

As it came nearer he saw that the visitor was Kitty Mellish.

"There's short time for explanation," she said. "The house is going to be attacked by cowboy bandits. The woman told me—the woman who has been doing the housework here—and then she ran away to save herself. The scoundrels have an idea that Mrs. Relitska left money with us, and they're bound to get it."

"So she did, Kitty," Talbot replied. "It is here. She wrote a will bequeathing it to you."

"And I have news as startling. Who do you suppose was the leader of the mob that murdered Mrs. Relitska, nearly killed you, and is now coming to finish its work? Your cousin, Gregory O'Carroll. He came to see me two days ago. I didn't tell you of it yesterday, because I wished to keep you quiet.

He said he loved me—hated you—had followed me to America—and would not leave me to you. He declared he would trump up a charge that you had murdered Mrs. Relitska, and bring a gang to lynch you. He will be here soon."

"I will fight it out to the last."

"We will fight it out. You are weak yet, but together we will equal your usual self. I've put on these clothes so they will mistake me for a man, and not think a girl is your only companion. I will be a man for an hour, Talbot, or at least half a man."

The invalid's eyes shone very brightly.

"Do you mean it?" he said, and the girl

She quitted the room for him to dress. He went to the window, opened it, leaned out, and whistled, at a lump of darkness on the road. It took shape and showed itself to be a boy.

"Go to the railroad station with all speed," said Talbot. "Run as if the devil were after you, and back again with every fighting man you can muster. They'll know what they're wanted for when they're here. Be off."

The shadow vanished and Talbot, after making a crude three-minute toilet, let Kitty in.

"It will take the best part of half-an-hour before we can have a man here," he said. "The later Cousin Gregory and his crew of cut-throats come, the worse for them."

"Hush," she said. "I hear something."

They listened. On the road, nearer and nearer, came the clatter of horses' hoofs.

"There's enough of them," said Talbot. "For the last time, be off before it's too late."

"Talbot, I will be a happy girl to die with you."

A great light of pity and passion shone in his eyes. "Well, well," he said, "if you say that, you mean it, and if ever I have the chance to tell you what I think of you, I shall be the happy man. But now we must make all snug."

He bolted the front door. Then he came back, and in a moment he had bolted and locked the door of the room, had swung the table up against it, and piled a couple of chairs on the top. Then he examined, too, the chambers of his pistol, and took Kitty's from her belt and looked at it.

"Fourteen shots," he said softly to himself. None of them must miss."

"None of them shall miss," said Kitty.

He took her hand and held it for a second, while they looked into each other's eyes. There was a second's pause, which seemed endless, and the clattering of hoofs stopped outside.

There was a beating at the door, and, naturally enough, no answer. Then Gregory O'Carroll's voice rose on the air.

"Are you there, Talbot Power? Are you ther?"

Talbot stepped to the window, opened it, and leaned out into the dim light. He could discern a little knot of horsemen huddled together, and one looked up at the house.

"Is that you, Gregory?" said Talbot, tauntingly. "And did you think we should be such poor company together—and we of kin, too—that you brought your fine friends to cheer us?"

"Come down, murderer," answered Gregory.

"If you want me you must come and take me." And with that Talbot slammed down the window, and reaching out his hand, caught Kitty's hand, and pressed it.

"We shall have the wasps about our ears in an instant," he said; "let us pray we escape stinging."

Then came a great clashing at the door below, and in a few seconds the listeners heard it swing back. There was a moment's silence as the invaders reconnoitered the empty rooms. Then there came the sound of feet trampling up the stairs, and the glare of light under the door, and somebody caught the handle and shook it violently.

The door was straining and groaning, under shoulder thrusts and kicks. Suddenly there was a crash as it reeled in, and half a dozen men came stumbling after it. Instantly from Talbot's revolver went a bullet, and one man fell on his face and lay still. A second shot, this one aimed by Kitty, sent another staggering back on to the landing and thence down-stairs, with a dismal thud. In another moment the room was empty again, and the assailants grouped themselves on the stairs out of sight and shot.

Outside there was a hurried muttering, and the voice of Gregory came hoarsely: "Now boys, now." Then the enemy came in again.

From behind the intrenchments two gleaming pistols confronted them.

"There are two of them," yelled Gregory. "Down with them!" and the mob pushed forward.

There were some quick exchanges of shots, and then the mob rushed back again. Gregory with a hole in his shoulder, one of his companions with a hole in his heart, which stretched him by the side of the first victim. Out of sight men, three were shot, and Gregory was wounded with one other.

"Come on, Cousin Gregory," shouted Talbot cheerily. "Don't be bashful, come."

The attacking element, which had counted, having two of their number disposed of too badly to keep up the fight. There were only four now to fight, including Gregory.

"Have you had enough?" asked Talbot, jauntingly, and from his side Kitty echoed him: "Have you had enough, Mr. O'Carroll?"

Gregory's face grew livid.

"You, Miss Mellish——you——you shall pay for this. Then turning to the others, "Come," he said. "It's only a woman."

The four men advanced warily; but there was a noise outside and trampling on the stairs, and half a dozen men rushed in and took the lynchers in the rear. In ten seconds they were disarmed and driven away. Gregory has not been heard of since.

After the fight Talbot turned to Miss Mellish, who was leaning, pale as death, against the wall.

"Kitty," he said. "I have never met with a woman like you in my life, and never shall again. Shall we fight the world together again a little longer? What do you say to your becoming Mrs. Power?"

"With all the pleasure in life," said the young lady simply.

PRETTY MISS CLARK.

And Her Wicked Pen She Secured Scores by Forgery.

NEW YORK, July 5. Miss Nettie Clark of Providence, R.I., was arrested as she stepped from the Boston express at the Grand Central Station last night on a charge of forging the name of J. L. Tourtellot to a note for $2000, on which she procured the money at the Mechanics' Savings Bank in that city. When taken to police headquarters she broke down and confessed her guilt. She said that she had borrowed $3000 from a gentleman some three months before, and had taken a visit to the South, where she had spent it. When she returned she found that her note, upon which she had borrowed the money, was almost due, and she knew of no way to meet it. In her desperation she had forged Mr. Tourtellot's name.

Miss Clark moved in the most fashionable circles of the exclusive Rhode Island semi-capital. She is an accomplished pianist, having received a European musical education. On account of her beauty, taste in dress, social position and education she was a general favorite. She sang in a leading choir. Her father, Hollis E. Clark, is wealthy. He is president of the Rhode Island Butchers' and Marketmen's Association. He has been the Prohibitionist candidate for Mayor of Providence and for Governor of the State.

The mother claims that the girl was deranged when she conceived the idea of raising the money fraudulently. Mrs. Clark says that her daughter's mind has been greatly disturbed for some time, although it was not noticed by her intimate friends.

The real secret of the forgery is believed to be found in the fact that Miss Clark is completely fascinated with a medical student named Simon Smith and sought to advance him money. It is now thought that the various sums which Miss Clark has borrowed have gone to Smith.

WHAT IS BEST TO WEAR!

Useful Hints for Home Dressmakers.

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY CONSIDERED.

UNDOUBTEDLY there isn't half the pleasure in buying gowns when one has plenty of money," says a shrewd woman with a pretty good notion of both sides of the subject.. "The interest comes in when you have just enough to "get what you want by drawing liberally on contrivance and taste. For myself "I grow tired reading about opulence I cannot hope to have. Most fashion "articles treat of too unlimited gorgeousness for anything below flashy girls' "imagination, who seldom find flights too extravagant to please them. I wish "somebody would write for women who wish to look as well as the best on "ordinary allowances."

It isn't impossible to look as well—not to dress as well absolutely, but to make as satisfactory an effect—on much less money than rich women spend, if one has strict taste, a command of shopping sense, and is clever at her needle. Three-tourths the cost of dresses from first class houses goes for the making, not for the material. Every girl should be taught thoroughly how to plan a dress and finish it in correct style

Not to tell the wearying novelties of style, but to select the best points is a pleasing matter. The gown for the street, rich or plain, is of wool, silk being left to the dowagers out of doors. A well chosen wardrobe will have a selection of the most useful and welcome of seasonable goods. Each material has its own special mode for making. Ladies who are studying economy this summer, and who are aiming to make the outlay for their dresses come within the most economical of figures, are advised to attend

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, JULY 7, 1890.

MR. J. GRAHAM WEIR.

The first word necessary is a word of apology to the public, for troubling them with a matter which, upon its merits, is not of general interest, but the EXAMINER, as a public journal, having been attacked by Mr. J. Graham Weir, it is in self defence, solely, that the matter is referred to. In a letter to the EXAMINER of the 19th of June, Mr. Weir incorporates this sentence:

"Until a few years ago I was a constant reader of the EXAMINER, but its course in regard to th Riel execution and its subserviency to the Church of Rome, opened my eyes to its base and untruthful manner of dealing with public questions."

Now here are two distinct statements. In regard to the first, the EXAMINER's own record on the subject of the Riel execution should be a sufficient answer to Mr. Weir's insinuation that the course of this journal in that matter aroused his hostility. Here is the position the EXAMINER took upon the question of the execution of the sentence passed upon Riel, an extract from an article printed in the issue of August 4th, 1885:

"Riel has had a fair trial and has been found guilty. Considering the directness of the complicity—say more than that—his being the head and front of the rebellion, with a strong determination to overthrow the Queen's authority in the Northwest, hardly any other result could have been reached." * * * * * "Now Sir John has his case to deal with again, but under different circumstances. There can be no doubt of Riel's blood-guiltiness this time, nor any doubt that he appreciated the position he was assuming in the late rebellion, and it will be interesting to note what course will be taken. Simple justice demands the execution of the sentence of death against him. A wise public policy demands that an example be made to the end that the still rebellious Indians of the North-West may be shown that resistance to constituted authority cannot be made with impunity. Such a lesson is needed. Only yesterday news was received of the inauguration of a guerilla warfare in the Northwest, in which the lives of several whites were sacrificed. Now, if Riel and the promotors of the late rising are allowed to escape condign punishment; the savages will be encouraged in indulging their atrocious instincts and bloody massacres will be of frequent occurrence."

Is this position taken by the EXAMINER what "disgusted" Mr. Weir? Is this a "base and untruthful" attitude to assume. Is their anything in it to open Mr. Weir's eyes? If not what was it? If Mr. Weir did not desire the execution of Riel, would he have preferred the EXAMINER to advocate his free pardon? If a demand for justice displeased Mr. Weir, what in the world did he want, anyway? This one ground of Mr. Weir's hostility to the EXAMINER is no less peculiar than his other. Now Mr. Weir what about the EXAMINER'S "subserviency to the Church of Rome?" You have been doing a good deal of street talk and corner caucus slandering on this subject. Now it is time that there should be a little proof of your assertion and in default of proof a good deal of retraction. The EXAMINER, after all you have said, has a right to demand from you a single iota of proof of its "subserviency to the Church of Rome," or any other church. The public will be very reluctant to accept the assertion of Mr. Weir and others of his class, who make slanderous statements, which, in his case at least, as proven by the signed statements of three reliable persons, are utterly at variance with the truth. Mr. Weir's course is unworthy of as much attention as has been given it, but as he is the only person who has had the effrontery and callous impudence to make reckless misstatements over his own signature, it is but due to the interests of truth, not only to demand proof, but to furnish proof of the perfectly reckless, untruthful and baseless nature of his charges and insinuations. This has been done. It has been shown that he has been utterly regardless of the facts in regard to every position he has assumed against the EXAMINER, and if he has the least remnant of manhood, the least he can do is to make retraction as ample and broadcast as his statements have been.

A very few words will suffice for Mr. Weir in regard to his position in the recent East Riding election contest. Over his own signature he denied that he promised to support Mr. Blezard. The EXAMINER asserted that he had done so, and Mr. Weir, in a letter dated June 23rd, says:—

"I refused to support Mr. Blezard, and, although I did not promise Mr. Kidd, either my vote or influence, I voted for him and threw my influence in his favour. Now, sir, if you are the honest man you claim to be, and have the proofs, bring them forward. Otherwise apologize for your base motives. I don't take back any part of my former letter."

In response the EXAMINER furnished the names of three gentlemen to whom Mr. Weir gave his word that he would support Mr. Blezard. The proof of his double dealing and untruthfulness, that Mr. Weir demanded, has been given by the EXAMINER, which published on Saturday letters over the names of Messrs. Moore and McWilliams, (and one over that of Mr. Blezard appears to-day,) all asserting, unequivocally, that Mr. Weir promised his support to Mr. Blezard. Thus we have the word of three witnesses to prove that Mr. Weir promised his support to Mr. Blezard, a statement which he not only denied, but endeavored his denial by asserting that he voted for Mr. Kidd. He therefore appears in the character of an untruthful person, and a traitor to his trust, after promising one candidate, to not only vote for an opponent, but boast of his treachery. If Mr. Weir has had an itching for notoriety he has it with a vengeance. He now enjoys a reputation, of a man who will stick at no statement, however far from the truth, to gain his point—as utterly unreliable in statement and destitute of principle. His base betrayal of Mr. Blezard, and his quibbling and dishonest reasons for his hostility to the EXAMINER, are an index to the possession of motives and a certificate of character that will, in the estimate of his neighbours, disqualify him from ever the respectable position of pathmaster or pound-keeper.

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

"A sound mind in a sound body" is the proverbial expression of a truth that cannot be gainsaid. Symmetrical manhood or womanhood requires that physical and mental culture should be progress pari passu. If this is true of adult life, it is emphatically true of infantile and adolescent life. The cultivation of the mental, at the expense of the physical, in the former, means merely deterioration in the latter, it means both deterioration and arrest of healthy development. The importance of physical culture to the young and growing, and its extremely beneficial effects upon the pupils of the Collegiate Institute, are freely admitted. That the bodily powers and conditions are improved by regular and systematic exercise of all their parts, is not only not denied, but eagerly conceded, and while the body is benefitted, the intimate connection of mind and matter must necessarily involve the improvement of the mental conditions and processes. While proper physical culture improves both mind and body, it has a very important moral effect. Habits of obedience, prompt action and regularity, are its accompaniments. All this tends to fit the child for the pursuit of school studies, under conditions that give assurance of the best of mental and physical, and excellent moral, results The money spent upon the drill, calisthenics and gymnastics practised in the Collegiate Institute is well invested, and will yield abundant dividends in the future lives of the benefitted. Now, what is good for High School pupils is, of course, good for Public School pupils. We understand that Dr. Tilley, Inspector of Public Schools, is strongly in favour of the introduction of drill, calisthenics and gymnastics into the Public Schools of the town. There seems to be no good reason why this should not be done. An excellent instructor is available in the person of Sergt.-Major Randle, who is, as once, an enthusiast and an expert in physical culture. Our Public School pupils are drilled as to the head, till the wearied mind reacts on the body, and evil results to both. Instead of keeping pupils perpetually, in a figurative sense, standing on their heads, give them an opportunity of standing on their feet—give their bodies a chance for gaining strength, and their minds will be brisker, and capable of accomplishing more and better mental work. If physical culture is good for school pupils, is it just to deprive the juniors of their share of the benefit to be derived from it?

Mr. Blezard Corroborates the "Examiner."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—In a recent issue of the Review there appeared a letter over the signature of J. G. Weir, in which he says: "I cannot believe the statement of the EXAMINER (that Mr. Weir had promised Mr. Blezard his (Mr. Weir's) support in the East Riding election) unless I see it over Mr. Blezard's own signature." To satisfy the public in connection with the matter I will here supply the confirmation that Mr. Weir demands. I did say that Mr. Weir was supporting me, and my authority for saying so was the assurance of Mr. J. Graham Weir himself. About three weeks before the election I met Mr. Weir on the Keene road, and without any solicitation on my part, he told me he would support me. From my acquaintance with Mr. Weir, I had no reason to doubt his word. I expected from what he then said, and from what I had heard from other quarters, that I should have Mr. Weir's support. If men making the profession of Mr. Weir are not to be believed, then I should like to know whose word can be depended upon.

Yours very truly,
THOS. BLEZARD.

Coming Excursions.

A List of Outings in all Directions—Plenty of Picnics this Year.

The season for perspiration and picnics is upon us. In the hot summer weather we like to get away from town, if only for a day at a time, and enjoy the beauties of nature and get a breath of fresh air. The excursion epidemic has set in strong, and within the next two weeks there will be a dozen or more society and Sunday school outings to the different watering-places in our immediate vicinity. Here is a long list to choose from:

TUESDAY, July 8.—S.O.E. Lansdowne Lodge, excursion to Jubilee Point. St. Paul's Sunday school to Jacob's Island.

WEDNESDAY, 9th.—Mark Street Church Sunday school to Jubilee Point.

THURSDAY, 10th.—George Street Church Sunday school to Hastings. St. John's Sunday school to Chemong Park. Baptist Sunday school to Hale's Bridge.

TUESDAY, 15th.—Excursion from Millbrook to Bobcaygeon.

WEDNESDAY, 16th.—St. Luke's Sunday school to Jubilee Point. Port Hope Methodist Sunday school to Chemong Park.

THURSDAY, 19th.—Charlotte Street Sunday school to Chemong Park. I.O.G.T. excursion to Lakefield and Stoney Lake.

TUESDAY, 22nd.—Foresters' excursion to Sturgeon Point.

AUGUST 12th.—'Prentice Boys to Belleville.

AUGUST 14th.—Peterborough lodge, S.O.E., to Toronto and Niagara Falls, and the C.M.B.A. to Belleville.

Springville.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—The North Monaghan Elmdale Mission Sunday School gave a strawberry festival at the residence of Mr. James B. Fowler on Friday evening. The beautiful grounds were lighted with Chinese lanterns, and the handsome and spacious residence was thrown open to the people. The social was a gratifying success. The refreshment tables were well supplied with the luscious fruit, lemonade and cakes, which the ladies of North Monaghan are specially noted for supplying in abundance on such occasions, and of extra good quality. Those in charge were apparently well satisfied with the patronage they received. The social brought together a large number of the most respectable people of the vicinity, and a number from Peterborough acted for their good social qualities. The usual games and amusements on such occasions were entered into with much zest by all. Mr. H. Williamson, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Roach, of Peterborough, Miss May Campbell and Miss Fowler favored the company with some well selected music and songs. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler were untiring in their efforts to entertain those present, and the success of which was largely due to their efforts. About eleven o'clock the visitors began to disperse for their respective homes, thus ending one of the most pleasant social events that has been held in the locality for some time.

Why allow your life to be made miserable by burning insects when Wilson's Fly Pads will annihilate them and give you peace? Try them. Sold by all druggists. dw

LOCAL NEWS.

From Trades.

Mr. G. Campbell is in town. Orders may be left at Bowes, Taylor & Hancock's or Mr. A. L. Davis' store.

A Sergeants' Mess.

All the non-commissioned officers of the 57th Battalion are requested to meet at the shed after drill to-morrow night to discuss the question of establishing a sergeants' mess in connection with the regiment.

Signs of Improvement.

Foreign capital investing heavily in Peterborough real estate. T. Hurley reports the sale on Saturday last of a second parcel of ten dwellings to F. W. Reynolds, Esq., of Norwood, who is a shrewd, wealthy, self-made man, and whose action denotes confidence in the future of our town. 1d

To Toronto and the Falls.

A cheap and comfortable trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls will be provided by Peterborough lodge, of the Sons of England, on the 14th of August. This excursion offers a number of special advantages. Keep the date open for the excursion. The posters, or any member of the lodge, will supply you with full information.

Winnipeg vs. Peterborough.

The following team has been chosen to play against the Manitoba and all-Northwest eleven, on Wednesday and Thursday: Stratton, Attewell, Burnham, Rutherford, Rogers, Ray, Cameron, M. Hamilton, Logan, W. Hamilton, Scahler, Goldsmith spare man. This team ought to make it "hot" for any eleven.

The Twelfth of July.

The Orangemen in this district will celebrate the 12th of July at Cobourg next Saturday. All the Orange lodges and True Blues will take part in the demonstration. The 'Prentice Boys, however, will not celebrate till the 12th of August, the anniversary of the relief of Derry, when an excursion will be run from Lindsay and Peterborough to Belleville.

A Holiday Number.

Toronto Saturday Night's holiday number has been issued, and it is scarcely necessary to say that it is a charming production. Filled with original and thoroughly Canadian writings, profusely illustrated with Canadian views, and containing choice literary matter, Saturday Night's holiday number "takes the cake" over anything else in its line. It will doubtless have a large sale.

Too Free With a Knife.

There was a disturbance in the Italian quarter on Aylmer street to-day. A man and woman quarrelled, and the latter states that the former assailed her and cut her head with a knife intentionally. The man on the contrary says that the woman tried to slash him with the knife, and in taking it from her it was drawn through her hands and the cuts resulted accidentally. It is probable the fracas will be ventilated in the police court in the morning.

Picnic.

The annual Sabbath school picnic in connection with St. Andrew's church will take place on Friday, 11th inst., at Chemong Park. Train leaves G.T.R. depot at 8.30 a. m. for Mud lake, from whence the party will be conveyed to the park by boat. A cordial invitation is extended to strangers, as a really enjoyable time is anticipated. The rates are, adults, 40c.; children, under twelve, 20c. Tickets may be obtained on the platform before train time. Don't forget the date, Friday, 11th inst. Come all. 1d

To Sturgeon Point.

Court Peterborough No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, holds it annual excursion to Sturgeon Point on Tuesday, 22nd inst. Sturgeon Point is a first-class picnic ground and a popular Ontario summer resort. Train will be taken to Lindsay, thence by boat to the Point, where several hours will be allowed excursionists. The Foresters always have successful excursions, and as this will probably be the only cheap trip to Sturgeon Point this summer, the public should avail themselves of the opportunity. d5ef

Trouble in the Regiment.

The 15th Argyle Infantry, of Belleville, is in a state of mutiny. The regiment visited Toronto during the carnival, and now the men are loudly protesting against the action of the officers in withholding their full year's pay, $6, to meet expenses. The trouble threatens to result in the disbandment of the battalion. The men refuse to drill unless assured of their pay, and as annual inspection is to take place next week, things do not look very promising. It seems there was no arrangement made between the officers and men concerning the expenses, hence the difficulty. They should have adopted the course followed out in the Peterborough battalion, every man signing a paper agreeing to the withholding of 4 days' pay, $2, as his share of the expense. The trip certainly should not cost the Belleville men $6.

Church Chimes.

Rev. Principal King, D.D., of Winnipeg, preached in St. Paul's Church Sunday morning.

At St. Peter's Cathedral His Lordship Bishop O'Connor announced that the proceeds of the Dominion Day picnic amounted to about $1,200, which was to be devoted to the furnishing of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Rev. W. C. Bradshaw conducted the services in St. Luke's Church Sunday morning, and in St. John's Sunday evening. His old parishioners were delighted to hear him again, as well as the large congregation which welcomed him at St. John's.

Rev. Jas. H. Locke assumed his new duties in connection with the pastorate of the George street Methodist church Sunday, preaching morning and evening. At both services he spoke a few words to the congregation, asking their co-operation and sympathy and soliciting their acquaintance. Rev. Mr. Locke created a favorable impression. His countenance bears the stamp of spirituality and he is evidently an earnest, industrious minister. He places much importance upon prayer meetings, and requested a full attendance Wednesday evening.

News Nuggets.

—Port Hope's postponed Dominion Day races take place on the 23rd.

—Mr. T. M. McFadden, contractor, has just finished the brickwork of the new church, 4th Line Smith.

—John O'Brien, an old resident of Ashburnham, was arrested Saturday night for being drunk. This morning he was remanded for a week.

—"Doc" Crevier has one of the nobbiest equipages in town. It is thoroughly "English, you know," and is altogether a swell turn-out.

—The Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, excursion to Jubilee Point to-morrow will be one of the best of the season. The Golden Eye leaves the wharf at 8 o'clock.

Personal.

Miss Hughson, of Orangeville, sister of Mr. A. A. Hughson, barrister, is visiting with Mrs. John Fraser, Douro street.

Mr. D. Spence leaves at 11.30 on C. P. R. express this evening for Montreal where he will embark on the Circassian of the Allan Line, for England.

Mr. Wm. Beckley and wife, of Philadelphia, Pa., are on a visit to their brother-in-law, Mr. J. H. Primrose, Driscoll street, Ashburnham, enjoying the cool, pleasant breezes of the Otonabee River.

Joy for Mothers!

Mothers weary, and full of grief,
We come to you with sweet relief;
Tidings of hope to you we bring,
As you beside the cradle sing.

Baby is fretful, peevish, cross,
You see your darling wildly toss
From side to side; you cannot tell,
Why baby is to-day unwell.

Dear mothers, have you ever thought,
Some foods they are with danger fraught;
That to your darling one you give
A food on which it cannot live.

Cow's milk, quite often so impure,
Cannot to sweep your dear one lure;
Colic it brings and other ills,
And pain your lov'd one's body fills.

Again, you think you'll try with care
Some other relish to prepare,
With which to nourish and relieve
The little one for whom you grieve.

You find 'tis useless and despair;
You sit down with a load of care,
And see dear baby waste away,
From pain and crying day by day.

Dear Mothers there is now a balm
To nourish baby, and to calm
Its restless feelings, weary frame,—
Lactated Food's the joyful name.

'Twill strength impart, sweet rest will give;
Your darling baby then will live,
And like a vine will flourish—grow;
And you will joy and comfort know.

"Lactated Food" the mother's joy,—
"Lactated Food" will soon destroy
The troubles cares, and burdens great,
Which often mar the married state.

THE LONDON BOBBIES.

A STRIKE THREATENED BUT IT FALLS THROUGH.

Crowds of Toughs Gather in Bow-street in Anticipation of Trouble—A Wineshop Sacked by the Mob—The Prince of Wales on the Scene.

LONDON, July 7.—The agitation among the police force is increasing. The constable attached to the Bow-street station who was transferred to another division attempted to make a farewell address to his comrades in the station house to-day, but was ordered to desist by an inspector. A disorderly scene followed and the assembled constables ejected the inspector from the room. He was then seized by some of the men and thrown over a balustrade and narrowly escaped being killed. While Inspector Hanson was parading a number of men in the yard a heavy spittoon was thrown at him from a window. The missile narrowly missed his head.

This afternoon Chief of Police Bradford had a conference with the Bow-street officials. He afterwards summoned before him singly men who had refused to do duty Saturday and instantly dismissed each of them from the force. The men of the Bow-street station house were indignant. They alleged that only a portion of the number of men who refused to do duty were dismissed. They all went to the street and the news of the dismissals spread rapidly. Policemen in uniform and civilian clothing assembled and special messages were telegraphed to all the other police divisions.

Delegates from the other divisions reached Bow-street later in the day and it was declared by those present that a strike of the entire Metropolitan police force would occur to-night. The constables telegraphed to Home Secretary Matthews as follows:

"At a meeting held on Saturday it was resolved that you be respectfully asked to reply to-day to the moderate demands of our petition. If the answer is in the affirmative a disastrous strike will be avoided. All the divisions await your reply and trust that all the men who have been suspended will be reinstated."

This dispatch was signed by delegates from 21 divisions. It is stated that Sir Edward Bradford, the new Chief of Police, has adopted an unusual mode of procedure. Ordinarily reports of offences against discipline are submitted to the Scotland Yard authorities and the men implicated appear when their cases are to be settled. But now it is alleged such cases are handled hastily and the men are not given a fair opportunity to make explanations. The Scotland Yard people are making vigorous efforts to meet the emergency, but it looks as if nothing but an immediate reply from the Home Secretary will avert a most serious strike.

The men, it is said, propose to follow the course pursued by the dock strikers. The leaders will go to their respective stations at 9½ p.m. When three-quarters of the night force have arrived the men will form three deep and await the appearance of the men inside the station houses. When the latter come out they will be called upon to join the movement. This process it is expected will induce all who may be doubtful to cast their fortunes with the strikers and the night men will then await the arrival of the morning relief's and endeavor to persuade them also to join the strikers' ranks. Afterwards all the various contingents will hold a mass meeting in Bow-street. There is much uneasiness among merchants in the Strand and West End streets. Tradesmen are guarding their shops and in the banks clerks will remain all night to protect the property of their employers.

In anticipation of a strike a riotous mob of roughs blocked up Bow-street and vicinity this evening, preventing the constables from reaching the station. The crowd becoming turbulent mounted officers endeavored to clear a passage and were received with hoots and pelted with bags of flour, sticks, etc. In one instance the constables had to rescue a fellow-officer who was attacked by the crowd. At 9 o'clock the Prince of Wales escorted by the Life Guards arrived at the Opera House. The crowd thickened and the turbulence continued until a late hour. A few persons were injured. The majority of the police returned to duty as usual.

The Strand and other thoroughfares were better policed than usual owing to the drafting of men from suburban divisions to meet an emergency. The Prince and Princess of Wales and daughters left the theatre at 11½ o'clock and were loudly cheered, the crowd singing: "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Further drafts of Life Guards arrived to preserve order.

A tavern which was closed in consequence of the excitement was wrecked by the mob and the windows of the tavern were broken. At midnight the crowd was undiminished and the hooting unabated. A steady rain was falling. Reports from all the suburbs state that all of the night police are on duty.

LONDON, July 8, 1 a.m.—The Home Secretary, the Chief of Police and other high officials met at the Bow-street station last night to discuss the situation. It is reported that the constables evinced much repugnance to going on duty, but yielded to the pressure of their officers.

At this hour the streets are quiet and the military have been withdrawn.

[The Metropolitan Police Force has a total of 14,957 men and 800 horses. There are 39 superintendents, 638 inspectors, 1, 369 sergeants and 12,090 constables on the rolls. Col. Sir Edward Bradford, who succeeded Commissioner Monro the other day as the head of the force, was the political and secret secretary of the India office. He acquired some reputation as a commander of men in India.]

THE DOCTORS DISAGREE.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN THE M'GILLIVRAY STORY.

Dr. Alice Re-Abducts Little Gladys and Her Husband Causes Her Arrest—Some Hamilton Experiences of an Unhappy Medical Family.

HAMILTON, July 7.—To the long story of the unhappy conjugal relations of Dr. T. Shannon McGillivray and Dr. Alice McGillivray, his wife, two interesting chapters were added yesterday and to-day.

The Doctors McGillivray separated some time ago, Dr. Alice going to Chicago and engaging in the practice of her profession in the Windy City with a view, it is said, of acquiring a residence in Illinois, which is an essential preliminary to a Snicker State divorce. Four-year-old Gladys, the only visible remnant of the affection which once made these two medical hearts to throb as one, was left in the care of her grandmother, Mrs. Skimin, who resides in this city. Dr. T. Shannon McGillivray last Wednesday by a clever ruse obtained possession of the little girl, and Dr. Alice hastened to the village under the hill with all the speed of the Grand Trunk to regain the custody of her offspring.

At 9 o'clock last night King-street west was thronged with people returning from church who were startled on hearing sounds of strife issuing from 155. This unsabbatic behavior caused a crowd to hover around the place. The spectators saw Dr. Alice rush out with a child in her arms and hand it through the window of an adjoining house; then she went in by the door, and Detective Littlehales walked quietly away from No. 155. For a few minutes there was much excitement, the police were telephoned, the patrol wagon dashed up, and constables came in due course.

The affair was the result of a scheme on the part of the mother to get possession of her child.

Dr. Alice came at 8½, bringing Miss Nell Skinin with her. They went upstairs and Mrs. McGillivray took the child in her arms and walked up and down the room with it. The door bell rang and a man came in to see the doctor. He gave his name as John Thomas and was ushered in to the consulting room, where he engaged Dr. McGillivray in conversation. A gentleman named Fox recognized the "patient" as Detective Littlehales, and told the doctor, who thereupon had an altercation with him. While they were thus engaged Dr. Alice attempted to steal downstairs with the child, but two or three women in the house intercepted her and a scuffle for the possession of the child occurred on the stairs. The husband rushed out of the consulting-room, bolted the front door and put his back against it. Littlehales followed him out, and going to the foot of the stairs he drew what appeared to be a pistol (he says it was only a pipecase) from his pocket, and pointing it at the man threatened to shoot if they did not let the mother and child pass. The women were alarmed and beat a speedy retreat. Then Littlehales rushed at Dr. McGillivray, flung him aside and unbolted the door; the mother skipped out, and the detective covered her retreat while she ran to Mrs. King's house, next door, and handed the child through the window to people who were waiting for it.

At an early hour this morning Dr. Alice and Detective Littlehales were arrested on a charge of abduction. When the case was called later at the Police Court it was agreed between counsel that the hearing be postponed until Wednesday in the hope of an agreement being reached, bail in $300 each for the prisoners being accepted.

Dr. Alice McGillivray was formerly a Miss Skimin of this city and taught school here. She subsequently studied medicine, and has attained considerable eminence as a specialist. She is 28 years of age and of prepossessing appearance.

Dr. T. Shannon McGillivray is a practitioner of considerable ability. They were in practice in Kingston when they separated. Dr. Alice was sub-dean in the Women's Medical College

Dr. Alice was seen by a reporter this morning. She said: "I would not accept a United States divorce. What I allege, and am prepared to prove, took place in Canada, and I will have a Canadian divorce. We are both Protestants. There is no question of religion in the case. I regret the proceedings exceedingly, but must vindicate my honor. My husband must be responsible for his own misdoings. We first met in Ottawa when I was 16 years of age and at school. We were married at Brantford and lived happily together and practised our profession in Kingston. I don't think," she added, "there is any chance of a reconciliation. The law courts must decide."

DROWNED FOR SPORT.

A Brutal Affair at Parry Sound—A Verdict of Manslaughter.

PARRY SOUND, July 7.—William O'Donall, a sailor from the schooner L. W. Drake, was drowned here at noon Saturday. He went in bathing with two other sailors belonging to the same vessel, and it is stated that the two men kept pushing O'Donall off the plank until he appeared to be exhausted and called to them to stop, but they went on until the poor fellow sank to the bottom. The men departed on the schooner very shortly afterwards for Tonawanda.

The harbor was dragged and the body of the drowned man was found some hours afterwards. An inquest was held and the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter against the two sailors, whose names are unknown.

Mr. Emlie Withdrawn.

MONTREAL, July 7.—For some time past it has been known that a change was to be made in the management of the Canada Bank Note Company. This change has now been effected, and it consists in the permanent withdrawal of Mr. W. C. Emlie, the president, from the engraving business. All the skilled workmen have returned to New York. The company has been organized on a new basis.

Messages for Bermuda Taken To-day.

HALIFAX, July 7.—Advices from Bermuda say great difficulty has been found in laying the cable owing to the deep water and the ragged and uneven nature of the coral reef, but the shore end will be spliced with main cable by noon to-morrow, when the work will be completed.

Sawmill at Sundridge Burnt.

SUNDRIDGE, July 4.—W. B. Anderson's sawmill with all the machinery was burned to the ground last night. No insurance. Loss about $4000.

The cholera epid emic in Valencia has slightly increased: 11 new cases and 5 deaths are reported at Bolbera and 1 new cases and 5 deaths at Gandia.

THAT VICTORIA STORY.

IT IS NOW SAID TO BE A PURE FABRICATION.

No Privateers Fitting Out in the Pacific Province for Behring Sea—The Sealing Schooners Carry Only Their Usual Hunting Outfit of Rifles.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The World's Victoria (B.C.) special says: The sensational reports published through the Eastern press asserting that privateers are fitting out in this province for Behring Sea, with the object of bringing on a conflict, are fabrications pure and simple, without the faintest semblance of truth in them. They are manufactured out of whole cloth by some sensational correspondent outside of Victoria. Those of our citizens who are interested in the sealing industry are highly indignant over the circulation of such untruthful reports. They declare that it is done to injure their cause. There are no sealing schooners here now, all being by this time in Behring Sea, or entering that disputed body of water.

The schooners have orders to hunt fur seals and to keep out of the way of cutters if possible. If they are captured, unless there is a sufficient prize crew put aboard to overmaster the old crew, the vessels will repeat last year's performances and return to Victoria. Nowhere can I find anybody interested who anticipates an armed resistance by sealers, though it is quite possible that some exasperated captain may fire upon the boarders. The talk of schooners being fitted out with swivel and other guns is arrant rubbish. The schooners merely have their regular hunting outfit, consisting of rifles.

Developments in Behring Sea are anxiously awaited here, and news will be had of seizures, if any be made, by about the 1st of August. A fleet of five war ships lies in Esquimalt refitting. Admiral Hobson, on his flagship the Warspite, will reach here in a few days. On his arrival H.M.S. Amphion, and probably some of the others, will depart. Their destiny is but conjecture. If it is Behring Sea they will be just about too late to protect British schooners from seizure. The British Naval officers are as silent as clams and news is hard to get from them: yet it is known that the general opinion on the Amphion is that she will proceed to Behring Sea. In the meantime the American public can rely upon one thing, and that is that the reports of privateers fitting out in this province for Behring Sea are downright falsehoods.

KNIGHTS IN PERIL.

A Smashup on the Illinois Central—Only One Person Killed.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The Journal's Kankakee (Ill.) special says: The most serious wreck that the Illinois Central has experienced for several years occurred at Manteno at 5 o'clock this morning. A special excursion train of 14 cars, carrying 600 Knights of Pythias and ladies to the biennial Supreme Lodge at Milwaukee, was derailed at the switch while entering the village at a speed of 35 miles an hour. The accident was caused by a loop switch bolt being shaken out of its place by the passage of the train. The four forward cars kept the main track and the remainder of the train ran upon a siding. When the train broke a chair car occupied by the St. Louis contingent turned upon its side and the occupants numbering 50 were hurled with great violence against the side of the car. The sudden stopping of the train prevented a long list of casualties. J. P. Crowler of Waco, Tex., aged 30, was standing on the platform of one of the cars and was killed. Five others were seriously injured.

NO CYCLONE ABOUT IT.

But This "Straight Wind" Killed a Lot of Children and Tramps at Fargo.

ST. PAUL, July 7.—The Walpeton (N.D.) correspondent of The Pioneer-Press telegraphs: A straight wind from the northwest struck Fargo at 9¼ a.m. Great damage was done the city. Electric light towers were blown down, whole blocks were unroofed, dozens of small houses were raised and almost every plate glass window in Front-street and Broadway was broken.

Seven children were instantly killed. Two unknown tramps stopping in a box car were killed.

No. 1 passenger train on the Northern Pacific had just pulled out of the yards and had stopped at the Milwaukee crossing. The train was made up of three baggage cars, nine coaches and sleepers, private car containing a party of Chicago & Northwestern officials and Superintendent McCabe's car. All the coaches and the tender were blown from the track but no lives were lost. The lights had been put out, so that there was no fire or steam. Nearly 20 passengers sustained slight injuries.

A CITY IN THE AIR.

Chicago Produce Men Have a Unique Scheme in Contemplation.

CHICAGO, July 7.—That a city in the air is possible will soon be demonstrated by Chicago, where it is proposed to build a city of business houses high in air, a city with streets, sidewalks, alleys and perhaps shade trees. This enterprise is in contemplation by the South Water-street commission produce men. Ten acres of land north of Randolph-street, literally covered with railroads and owned by the Illinois Central, is to be set apart for the purpose, and 100 houses, 20x20 feet and two stories high, are to be built upon high street posts. Viaducts will run in front of these buildings. The stores will be supplied with cold storage rooms, electricity, heat and all modern appliances. The railroad will lose none of its ground and Chicago will gain a business city. The plan, which is decidedly unique, has the approval of architects and engineers. It is declared to be feasible, and while providing the commission men with just what they want at reasonable prices will yield the company a handsome income.

THE WORK OF THE STORM.

TAMWORTH, July 7.—A severe storm passed over this place this afternoon doing considerable damage. The house and barn of Henry Richardson were struck, the barn being set on fire and burnt with all its contents. Loss about $1000, partially insured. The grist mill of Keech & Vanzant was also struck, the roof being badly damaged.

Killed by Lightning.

NORWOOD, July 7.—During a thunderstorm this afternoon George Howson, a farmer living about three miles from Norwood, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Clockmaker Gilbert's Will.

WINSTED, Conn., July 6.—The will of William L. Gilbert, Winsted's millionaire philanthropist, who died the other day near Toronto, Ont., gives $400,000 to the Gilbert Home for the Friendless at Winsted. Mr. Gilbert founded this home three years ago, upon which he has spent $100,000. He also bequeathed $40,000 to the Gilbert School for colored girls at Winsted, La.; $200,000 to establish and maintain a public school of high order in the eastern portion of the town of Winchester, now East Winsted. A clause in the will provides that each of his nineteen nieces and nephews receive $1000 and another provides that the town of Winchester have $40,000 for the purpose of tunnelling the mountains at the west end in order to obtain a better water supply from the lakes. Should the town for five years fail to perform their share of the necessary work on this improvement, which will cost the town $20,000, the money is to be added to a fund for a public school.

The Lottery Bill Vetoed.

BATON ROUGE, July 7.—Gov. Nicholls today vetoed the Lottery Bill.

The Tyne at Halifax.

HALIFAX, July 7.—H. M. troopship Tyne and two other torpedo boats arrived this morning from Plymouth after a rough passage.

Death of Alexander Jacques.

OTTAWA, July 6.—Mr. Alexander Jacques, familiarly called the "Old Man," died here yesterday after a long illness aged 70.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Protest Against Mr. Skinner's Discharge to Float To-day.

TORONTO, July 8.—The protest against the election of Mr. Skinner, M.L.A., was put down last night and will be filed to-day.

The 2-year-old son of R. Smith, 15 Hamburg-avenue, east of Dufferin-street, obtained possession of some kerosene Saturday and set fire to a pile of shavings on the boulevard in front of his father's house. The flames ignited the dress of the little one and before two men were witnessed the accident could extinguish the blaze the victim's legs and body were so frightfully burned that he died twenty-four hours afterwards.

The 6-year-old daughter of George Hagin, Dundas-street, ran along Claremont-street Sunday afternoon with her clothing ablaze and screaming for help. A man whose attention was attracted by the outcries smothered the flames with his coat. The victim stated that she was playing with a number of other little girls when a couple of boys came along, one of whom threw a quantity of coal oil on her and his companion set fire to it. The police are investigating the story of the child, who was not badly burned.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

TORONTO, July 8.—Eggs and butter are unchanged in prices, the former at 14c to 16c and the latter at 17c to 18c. Pork is $6.25 to $6.50 and potatoes $1. Baled hay is quiet at $10.50 to $11. No. 2 spring wheat is 95c on the Midland and 96c here, goose 60c on Grand Trunk west. Oats are firm at 41½c mixed here and 42c white outside. Peas are firm at 61½c to 62½c.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Bradstreet reports: Floating cargoes—Wheat, strong; corn, steady. Cargoes on passage—Wheat, firmer, held higher; corn, firmer. Mark Lane—Wheat, very strong at extreme prices; corn, steady; flour, turn dearer; good cargoes. No. 1 Cal. wheat, off coast, 36s 9d, was 36s 3d; good mixed American corn, off coast, 18s, was 17s 9d. London—Good shipping No. 1 Cal. wheat, prompt sale, 36s 3d, was 35s 9d; ditto, nearly due, 35s 9d, was 35s 3d. French country markets—Firm. Weather in England unsettled. Liverpool—Spot wheat hardening; corn, quiet and steady. India shipments—Past week to U.K., 48,000 qrs.; to continent, 7500 qrs.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Liverpool reports: Wheat, firm; demand, poor; holders offer sparingly. Corn, steady; demand, poor. Spring wheat, 7s 1¾d; red winter, 6s 11d to 6s 11½d; No. 1 Cal. 7s 1d to 7s 2d. Corn, 3s 7½d. Peas 5s 8½d. Pork, 54s 3d. Lard, 39s. Bacon, long, clear, heavy, 28s 6d; light, 29s 6d; short, clear, 26s 6d; tallow, 24s 3d. Cheese, white, new, 43s 6d; colored, new, 42s 6d.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Utica reports: The cheese market was substantially a repetition of that of a week ago. The offerings were about the same and the prices remained at the same figures. Transactions 1902 lots, 19,015 boxes, ruling price 7¾. Transactions same date last year aggregated 20,770 boxes, ruling price 7¾.

Little Falls reports: The quantity of cheese sold is nearly 2000 boxes less than last week, while the prices remain about the same. The demand for home trade cheese is very light. The stock is sold off very close and if the present policy is pursued there will be no surplus of summer stock to interfere with the fall made cheese. Transactions, 8894 boxes at 7¾c to 7¾c. The sales of farm dairy cheese amounted to 1040 boxes, and the prices are 7c to 7¾c, with the bulk at 7¼c. Thirty-five packages of creamery butter sold at 15c, and 14 packages of dairy butter at 15c to 17c.

IT'S HOUR HAS COME.

The International League Smashed Into the Original Fragments.

EAST SAGINAW, July 7.—Saginaw-Bay City to-day dropped out of the International League. A league meeting was held in Detroit, at which it was claimed Grand Rapids and Saginaw-Bay City were not treated fairly. Toronto, Detroit and London lost a large amount of money on the Buffalo Club, and it is believed that they are trying to bleed the rest of the clubs to meet this loss. The management of the Hypens has in the two months of its existence been assessed $720, which is far in excess of the requirements. The outstanding indebtedness has all been paid and the players received their salaries to-night. This team is anxious to stay in the League, but believing that they cannot get a fair show want to disband. Stein, as did Clarkson, will go hence to Anson's Chicago Club. It is thought the rest of the players are well provided for. The Grand Rapids Club arrived here to-day to play as per schedule, but no game was contested. The two clubs may play exhibition games to-morrow to secure personal funds.

The Cricketers Collapse.

LONDON, July 7.—The directors of the Tecumseh Baseball Club have withdrawn from the International League. The players will arrive from Detroit in the morning, be paid off and the club disbanded. This means the collapse of the league. The directors evidently have reached the conclusion that the longer they keep the team together the heavier will be their loss. As it is they are several thousand dollars out of pocket. It is reported that most of the players took advantage of Manager Fessenden's absence and had a grand old time with themselves in Detroit. They will likely know what this conduct costs on pay day.

First Frost of the Season.

HOLLAND, Mich., July 7.—A light frost was observed Friday morning on tomato and melon vines. The fall in temperature is unprecedented for July.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., July 7.—A cold wave reached here last week, the mercury going down to 38° above Friday morning, and slight frosts are reported in low places.

Missed by His Bondsmen.

ARTHUR, July 7.—A short time ago Station Agent Armstrong was requested to send in his resignation. He did so. He was then charged with embezzlement by the express company. He appeared before the magistrate, but the case was adjourned, Armstrong furnishing bail. When the case was again called the accused was not on hand and his bondsmen are still looking anxiously for him.

An Electric Railway in Ottawa.

OTTAWA, July 7.—The special civic committee to-day decided to recommend to the City Council the offer made by Mr. W. H. Howland of Toronto to build an electric railway. Citizens will retain one-fifth interest in the company, which will be stocked at $250,000.

The City Council to-night, by a vote of 9 to 18, decided to submit to a vote of the ratepayers the scheme.

Has He $50 About Him?

BUFFALO, July 7.—Duk See, the Chinaman arrested at Ferry-street Saturday night for the importation of his own valuable self into the United States without having previously resided in the country, was this evening escorted back into Her Majesty's Dominions by Deputy Marshal Watts.

'Coughs, Colds, Croup.
Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, JULY 8, 1890.

How the Jingoes would howl, says the Ottawa Free Press, if a Liberal ministry undertook to give away British territory to continental powers, as Lord Salisbury is doing. He has given Heligoland to Germany, Zanzibar to Italy, and France is to get some West India islands and have a protectorate over Madagascar recognized. Spain will no doubt be tempted to ask for Gibraltar, China for Hong Kong and Russia for Cyprus. This is the "vigorous foreign policy" of the Tory party of Great Britain.

Mr. Erastus Wiman has been interviewed and has given it as his opinion that before the present congress expires on the 4th of March next either the Butterworth bill or the Hitt resolution looking to reciprocity of trade with Canada will have been adopted. He speaks confidently and enthusiastically of the prospect in the United States for free trade with this country and calls pointed attention to the fact that at the coming general election for the Dominion the people here will have a chance to settle the trade policy of Canada.

Toronto is thoroughly ashamed of her carnival and regrets having undertaken it. Yet the wicked newspapers of rival cities wont leave her alone in her humiliation. The Ottawa Free Press condoles with the Queen City in this soothing strain :—"It is "admitted even by the Toronto papers that the recent attempt to hold a summer carnival in that city was a deplorable fiasco. How could it be otherwise! The idea of a lot of people who believe that the sun rises out of Lake Ontario at Scarboro and sets behind Massey's mowing machine factory, attempting to get up a carnival!"

Bishop Dowling, formerly Bishop of Peterborough, the prelate who presides over the Roman Catholic diocese of Hamilton, is, says the Mail, an earnest friend of temperance. At his recent confirmations he has asked the young people to make the following promise:—"I promise, with the help of God, to abstain from all intoxicating liquors, unless given me by a doctor or my parents as medicine, until I am twenty-one years of age." It is stated on good authority that if a child is trained in the way he should go, when he is old he will not depart from it. Dr. Dowling's training bids fair to give him a temperate flock.

Now that there has come the inevitable subsidence of the cries and the clamour raised over Principal Caven, the presiding genius over the Equal Rights movement, for refusing to allow the agitation to be used to the destruction of Mr. Mowat, it will be interesting, remarks the Dundas True Banner, to observe the course of those who threw mud at the professor when the general elections for the larger parliament shall be announced. Will they throw mud at Mr. McCarthy and his Conservative fellows when these disinterested gentlemen decline to take the war-path against Sir John Macdonald and seek to shield the Chieftain from the assaults of his foes? Not a bit of it. They were willing enough to destroy Mr. Mowat, who was in no way responsible for the Jesuit legislation, and they will be equally ready to protect Sir John, who was responsible.

The New York Standard, the single-tax organ, has a grimly humorous plan for calling attention to the awful problem of riches and poverty. It prints a column of society notes, which, instead of being made up exclusively of gossip about the doings of the rich, is a sort of literary sandwich in which items about the wealthy alternate with items about the poor. One paragraph tells of the starvation of an unfortunate family, the next of an extravagant dinner; in one note appears the description of a squalid tenement, in the next the lavish display of wealth in a millionaire's stable. No comment is used to point the moral or enforce the lesson, the record from the daily papers of the two extremes of society being allowed to appeal to the sympathies as it may.

The Burden of the Tariff.

As we have been rebuked for not explaining to the poor man that the greater part of the Federal taxes are levied upon silks, wines, carriages, jewellery, gold and silver plate, etc., we publish a list of the duties collected on these articles in 1888-9 :—

Carriages	$ 137,472
Fancy goods	420,220
Furs	139,493
Silks	898,151
Spirits and wines	2,125,483
Tobacco	2,222,670
Gold and silver	68,291
Jewellery	95,635

Sugar and molasses	$3,816,297
Woollens	1,283,937
Iron and steel	2,951,220
Cottons	1,193,415
Provisions	681,794
Dried and green fruits	418,6[illegible]
Kerosene and other oils	524,599
Books, periodicals and paper	681,130
Flour, meal and grain	698,020
Coal and coke	773,250
Drugs, dyes and medicines	257,625
Leather and its manufactures	823,430
Manufactures of wood	925,[illegible]
Manufactures of glass	236,[illegible]
Gutta-percha and India rubber	263,000
Earthenware and china	220,641

This is only a partial list of the [illegible] on which duties were paid, but it [illegible] the "luxury theory" pretty effectually.

The Work of the Jugglers.

The Philadelphia Press suggests as another name for the McKinley Bill, "An Act to prevent the reduction of the wages of American labor to a European basis."

Now wages are to be "protected" by compelling wage earners to pay more for all they buy.

Whether a man works in a factory or in the field is determined by the price of farm labor. The American manufacturer bids, not against the European manufacturer, but against the American farmer.

Why is it that to-day, after thirty years of a protective tariff, it is necessary to go to Congress to get a law passed to "prevent the reduction of the wages of American labor?"

Plainly the depression of agriculture.

When, in America, agriculture prospers, wages advance; when it is depressed, wages in every factory in the land decline.

In 1877, 1878 and 1879 farm products commanded profitable prices, and every section had a "boom."

But in recent years the tendency has been otherwise; the chief agricultural crop has been the crop of mortgages, with the result that wages have declined in all industrial centres, and strikes have multiplied.

Now, we are to have "a bill to prevent the reduction of wages of American labor to a European basis." How is it proposed to do this? Simply by increasing taxation.

Here is an illustration. A farmer sends some early strawberries to his city merchant and tells him to send in exchange twelve dozen tin cans for pouches, tomatoes, etc., etc. Heretofore the Government would take for revenue 35 per cent., the farmer would get nine cans instead of a dozen. He finds the tax has been increased to five, leaving only seven cans in a dozen, or seven dozen in a gross.

It does not matter what the farmer asks in exchange for his products, the effect of the McKinley Bill is the same. If he wants a suit of clothes, a carpet, household utensils, farming implements, knives, gun, fertilizers, anything or everything, he finds that in exchange for his trade and capabilities, for wheat or corn, for cotton or for cattle, by an increase of taxation in some measure he can get more money.

This is the way here wages are "increased." Under the influence of the tariff, agriculture has declined, and wages in the factories and mills have followed. Labor has to be imported and is to-day imported. Not of any kind, but so long as the poorly paid immigrant and the poorly paid farmer, the labour in the cities finds that the wages and the wages of the English operative approach every year nearer and nearer to a level.

Wages come not from capital; they come from the products of labor. They are highest when and where production is highest per hand.

Any natural or artificial impediment to the highest production; any friction, any taxation, any tariff, lessens the productive power of labor and reduces its rewards. Taxation is always an evil; it is tolerable only when imposed to meet the requirements of the government. When imposed to enrich the rich, to add to the accumulations of the Forty Thieves, it is an outrage on every person, and an especial insult upon American labor in the field or the factory. Deny it as our Republican friends may, the tariff is a tax.—Louisville Courier Journal.

NOT DEAD YET.

Vice-President Hobbs Says the International Will Stick.

Detroit, July 6.—While the Londons were being treated by the Detroits yesterday the directors of the International League were having a meeting in the directors' box at Recreation Park. There were present: Vice-President T. S. Hobbs of London, W. A. Pottinger of Saginaw-Bay City, H. W. Boecker, Grand Rapids, and President Mills and Director Chittenden of Detroit. It was generally thought the meeting would wind up the affairs of the league, but to the surprise of all the directors came out smiling and determined.

"Yes, sir, we intend to stick," said Vice-President Hobbs. "There is a general understanding that expenses are to be cut. Detroit has shown the way in which to do it. Selling high salaried players, their places have been filled by lower salaried men, who have, nevertheless, played just as good ball. The other clubs will follow suit.

"If Hamilton gives up it is likely the team representing that city will be transferred to Port Huron, which had the promise of the first vacancy in the International. The question of disbanding the League was not discussed. There is no such intention."

The Detroits were scheduled to play in London Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, but have decided to stay in Detroit and play on those days.

United States Crops.

Washington, July 6.—The weather the past week in Minnesota and Dakota has favored the growing crops, although localities in South Dakota need rain, and several reports of rust come from Southern Minnesota. Wheat, oats and barley are heading and corn is reported in good condition. Throughout the principal corn-producing States, including the States of the Ohio, Central Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, the weather was especially favorable for harvesting, which is well advanced. The condition of corn is generally reported as excellent, but small grains have been somewhat injured by drought. Reports from the entire cotton region indicate that this crop continues to improve, although other crops, especially corn, in the south Atlantic and Gulf states need rain. The weather was generally favorable in the middle Atlantic states and New England. Harvesting is progressing with a prospect of a large hay crop throughout these districts. The oat crop is poor, but has improved slightly in the middle Atlantic States. New York reports apples not half a crop, while corn and hops were improved and potatoes good. All crops are growing finely in New England except oats, which are rusting badly, and potatoes and corn show signs of blight; in the southern sections the fruit crop will be short.

An Awful Country.

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 5.—The fourth destructive storm of the week passed over this locality yesterday, flooding cellars, damaging streets and sweeping away crops. The sudden heavy rainfall deluged the Kanawha and Muskingum Valleys. An unofficial estimate places the damage in the Muskingum Valley at $800,000. Much of this is to the Government works for the improvement of [illegible]

What Say They?
In popularity increasing. In reliability the standard. In merit the first. In fact the best remedy for summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera infantum, etc., is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All medicine dealers sell it. 2w27d

A Canadian Favorite.
The season of green fruits and summer drinks is the time when the worst forms of cholera morbus, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints prevail. As a safe guard Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry should be kept in the house. For 35 years it has been the most reliable remedy. 2w27d

The Beginning of Death.
Disease is the beginning of death, its approach should be met at once with appropriate remedies. No better means exists than the use of Burdock Blood Bitters whenever symptoms of any disease of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood appear. B.B.B. is the best life preserver. 2w27d

Save Your Carpets.
A sheet of stick fly paper will do more damage to carpets and furniture than any thing ever invented. No careful housewife would have one about. Wilson's Fly Poison Pads will clear the house of flies more quickly and surely than any other means. When placed near the light where the flies are thickest, Wilson's Pads will kill pints every day, and clear the house in short order. At all druggists. dw

This easy quiet way in which T. A. Slocum's Oxygenized Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil has won its way into public favor speaks volumes for its merits. At the office of the company, Toronto, Ont., can be seen scores of valuable testimonials, while any druggist will tell you that for all pulmonary difficulties it stands unrivalled. w26-w-s

A ten cent piece was found on the main street the other day. This was just enough to buy a packet of Wilson's Fly Poison Pads and could not be put to better use. For exterminating flies, ants, cockroaches, &c., nothing equals Wilson's Pads. Sold by all druggists. Take no imitations. dw

Our Story.

A DOUBLE LIFE.

CHAPTER I.

If a man wished to bury himself in oblivion, while yet retaining many of the enjoyments of life, he could not find on earth a spot to suit him better than Nelson at the head of Blind Bay, in the Middle Island of New Zealand. Sleepy Hollow is the name it goes by, from its tranquil, sunny, dreamy climate, and the total indifference of its inhabitants to all that is going on in the outside world.

Nelson is divided into two distinct parts, the Town and the Port. The Town consists of two or three old-fashioned, slumbrous streets of shops, merging into rows of pretty houses in blooming gardens and orchards, with a background of wooded hills and snowy peaks. The Port is a mile and a half from the Town, and is if possible, even more picturesque and slumbrous. The colors are so bright, everything is so spick and span, and such perfect stillness reigns, that it always reminds one of a newly painted drop scene at a theatre. On the cliffs above the quay, overlooking the glittering bay, are a number of charming houses, each enclosed in a little paradise of flowers and fruit, and all embowered in passion vines, and honeysuckles and climbing roses, which blossom all the year round.

The residents of the Town are mostly retired military men, and civilians in easy circumstances, while the Port is the favorite abode of sea captains and the nautical fraternity generally. To have a snug home of his own at the Port of Nelson is the life's dream of every master mariner in these tempest-tossed waters.

In one of the prettiest houses at the Port there dwelt, some years ago, a family named Hayes, consisting of father, mother, and two children. Nobody knew exactly where Capt. Hayes came from, but his wife was the daughter of a well-to-do farmer in the province, and he made himself so pleasant to all his neighbors that they did not trouble themselves much about his antecedents. He was a big, jolly looking fellow, with rather a foolish face, and he was known everywhere for his good nature. He was always ready to oblige a friend, or even a stranger, and his simplicity in money matters was a standing joke at the Port.

Just as nobody knew where he came from, so nobody knew exactly how he got his living, though, in a little place like that, it is everybody's business to find out everybody else's business. He always had plenty of money, and he never had any debts, two things which allay impertinent curiosity more than anything else. Yet he was not known to be in any employment or to have an interest in any vessel trading to that port. He owned a little yacht, the Lily; but she was a mere pleasure boat, and his excursions in her seldom extended beyond the numerous inlets and small harbors within a couple of days' sail of Nelson, where splendid fishing is to be got. His neighbors remarked, however, that the Captain often went away on long journeys, sometimes lasting for months, and that when he returned he was more sunburnt than is usual in the temperate climate of New Zealand. It was surmised from this that he was in the habit of visiting Australia, a belief which was strengthened by his commonly paying for everything in gold, especially those light colored Sydney sovereigns, which were the universal medium of trade among the islands of the Pacific, but were not often seen in New Zealand. His hands were hard and rough, showing that he worked at something; and the prevailing theory was that he had a share in a mine, and took his turn with his partners in working it, not an uncommon practice in those days. Mrs. Hayes never talked about her husband's affairs; but from casual remarks which she made, it was gathered that they drew their income from abroad, though never a shilling was known to come to them through the Post Office or the banks.

Capt. Hayes was a very pious man, attending church regularly, and sometimes reading the service when the clergyman was away up in the country. He had a magnificent tenor voice, and was of great assistance in the choir.

In short, the Hayes family were looked upon as one of the most respectable in the place, and the Captain, especially, had a high reputation for benevolence and integrity.

There were two people, nevertheless, who, though they never said anything openly, were known to dissent from the general estimate of Hayes's character. One of these was the resident magistrate, John Poynter, an old English lawyer, who, for reasons best known to himself, had settled down with a poorly paid Government appointment in that remote corner of the world, and was rather a mystery to his neighbors. The other was Dr. Tweed, a young practitioner who had come to Nelson about the time of Capt. Hayes's marriage, and had always attended him and his family. The Doctor was on friendly terms with Hayes, and was much under his influence, but Mr. Poynter never had anything to do with him beyond giving him a nod when they met in public. It was known that when returning from his journeys, Hayes had several times been confined to his room with serious illness for a long time, nobody being allowed to visit him but the Doctor. On one of these occasions Mrs. Hayes and the children were sent away on the night of his arrival, and were not even allowed to see him for weeks. It was after this that a change was noticed in the Doctor's manner when the Captain or his virtues were praised.

The Doctor, however, made a rule of never gossiping about his patients, while as for Mr. Poynter, he was such a strange man himself that nobody thought much of his coldness to Hayes. The resident magistrate's official position, moreover, isolated him a good deal from the rest of the little community.

Years had passed on in this way, without anything to ruffle the smoothe surface of life at the Port, when a catastrophe occurred which woke up Sleepy Hollow as it had never been awakened before.

Some thirty miles from Nelson, on the eastern shore of Blind Bay, there is a miniature harbor, dotted with lovely islets, which D'Urville, the early French navigator, named the Croixelles, universally pronounced Croaks by the colonists. There are no habitations in the neighborhood except a few huts, which are only tenanted at some seasons by fishermen or by brushmen cutting spars in the surrounding forests; and it is separated from the settled districts by a barrier of rugged hills. For three parts of the year Croaks Harbor is in absolute solitude, unless for some small craft running there for shelter, or, at rare intervals, some yachting or picnic party from Nelson.

One day toward the end of June, which is midwinter in that latitude, the only living creature at this lonely spot was a half-caste named Peri—Maori for Perry—a whaler who had settled there away back in the savage days and taken a native wife. Peri was a fisherman, when not too lazy to work, and on this occasion he had gone alone in his canoe from a Maori settlement near Nelson, where he lived, in the hope of making a haul of mullet, which sometimes abound at the Croaks. The weather, however, was very stormy, and Peri, glad of an excuse for doing nothing, had drawn up his canoe on the smooth, shelly beach and made himself comfortable in one of the deserted huts, to wait for the wind to go down.

The day entered heavily mood of gloom, a kind of sheet lay which the hills have a very obscure appearance, and it seems If his pipe and tattered garments, the occupancy of the hut would suggest the poet brooding on the murky duties of the tribe and sending up columns of feathery spray.

To his astonishment, he observed a small vessel entering the harbor under a heavy spread of canvas. She looked a merchantman, and Peri, wondering what could have led her to such a shift in such weather, went down to the landing place and squatted on the sand to see her come in.

The first thing he noticed was that the boat was being sailed in a very peculiar way, as if by somebody who knew nothing about sailing or about the place. Whoever the yachtsman was, he was carrying a great deal too much sail to boat into such a narrow entrance with safety, and Peri felt sure that he would come to grief if a squall struck him when he lost the shelter of the island at the mouth of the harbor. Suddenly the boat went about to tack past the island, and Peri then saw that it contained a woman and two children, besides the man who was steering. Knowing they were in great danger, he ran to his canoe and hauled it down to the water's edge, to be ready to render assistance. The only chance they had was to let go the sheet, and lower the jib, before they came out into the open channel, where the tide was running like a sluice and the wind was lashing the troubled waters into foam. But no, they came right on with all sails full. The next moment the boat shot out from the lee of the island, lay over, until her starboard dipped in the water, righted again, cleared the channel and was almost in safety, when, just as a squall came up, the man deliberately steered her right across the wind and over she went, not a hundred yards from the island.

Peri jumped into his canoe and paddled with all his might and main, but the wind and the tide were dead against him and the driving spray blinded him. He was compelled to return, and he had hardly reached the beach when he saw a sight which riveted him to the spot. The yacht had sunk so near the land that her mast and sail were sticking up above the water. It would have been quite easy for the whole party to have got ashore. Yet the man and the woman seemed to be struggling with one another in the water, while the two children were clinging to the rigging.

The half-caste ran round the rocks till he got abreast of the boat, sprang into the water, waded out until he was lifted off his feet, and then, swimming on his side, covered the remaining distance with half a dozen strokes.

The woman was nowhere to be seen, and the man had already taken one of the children and started for the shore swimming very strongly. Peri seized the other child, a boy of five or six, and holding him by the collar of his jacket with his teeth, like a Newfoundland dog, landed him without any difficulty.

He found the man on the beach weeping and praying aloud and holding the child in his arms. With an exclamation of anger he pulled him by the arm and called him to come with him and try to save the woman, but as the man seemed too stupefied or too frightened to understand him he returned alone.

Useful Hints for Home Dressmakers.

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY CONSIDERED.

UNDOUBTEDLY there isn't half the pleasure in buying gowns when one has plenty of money," says a shrewd woman with a pretty good notion of both sides of the subject.. "The interest comes in when you have just enough to "get what you want by drawing liberally on contrivance and taste. For myself "I grow tired reading about opulence I cannot hope to have. Most fashion "articles treat of too unlimited gorgeousness for anything below flashy girls' "imagination, who seldom find flights too extravagant to please them. I wish "somebody would write for women who wish to look as well as the best on "ordinary allowances."

It isn't impossible to look as well—not to dress as well absolutely, but to make as satisfactory an effect—on much less money than rich women spend, if one has strict taste, a command of shopping sense, and is clever at her needle. Three-tourths the cost of dresses from first class houses goes for the making, not for the material. Every girl should be taught thoroughly how to plan a dress and finish it in correct style

Not to tell the wearying novelties of style, but to select the best points is a pleasing matter. The gown for the street, rich or plain, is of wool, silk being left to the dowagers out of doors. A well chosen wardrobe will have a selection of the most useful and welcome of seasonable goods. Each material has its own special mode for making. Ladies who are studying economy this summer, and who are aiming to make the outlay for their dresses come within the most economical of figures, are advised to attend

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by purely Canadian companies, and terminated by surrender or lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of insurance men. Of unexpired and surrendered insurance to $1,795,813 in the amounts of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period three months longer than a calendar year, the following shows a partial return. Another comparative dating backward to this company showed a fraction under this heading of $210,204, would not fail to confirm assurance [illegible] that this System have been eagerly accepted to counteract how much a conditions of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Canada Life	[illegible]	3.97
Confederation	[illegible]	13.21
Ontario Mutual	[illegible]	15.29
Federal	[illegible]	16.35
Sun Life	[illegible]	16.36
North American	[illegible]	16.68
Temperance and General	[illegible]	17.34
Citizens	[illegible]	20.15
Manufacturers' Life	5,725,100	20.19
London Life	1,242,250	20.61

From this table we can see that while each companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have naturally decreased the amount of their lapses, many of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.76 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the strongest and most widely known a company is, and the more of its policies it will retain [illegible] on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, witness the desertion in a greater proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. There no longer a question as to [illegible] of policy holders should carefully abandon the advantages of insurance in case [illegible] is hardly preferable in three days of panicky [illegible]. We can therefore only hold [illegible] as the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies went either [illegible] rubber transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of clever management and attractive contracts, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is obvious from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

A Sudden Death.

The EXAMINER records with regret the sudden death of Mr. Geo. Bick, jr., of Bobcaygeon. Mr. Bick and his father, Mr. Geo. Bick, sr., were returning home from a visit to Deseronto, and yesterday morning the son started to return home by train and boat, the father remaining in town and intending to go home in the evening. However, before the time of his train had arrived he received a telegram announcing the sudden death of his son. It seems that the young man accidentally fell off the steamer "Maple Leaf" while it was lying at the Indian village wharf, but was rescued without apparently having sustained any injury. About half an hour afterwards he put his hand quickly to his head as if in pain, and became gradually unconscious, dying in half an hour. The deceased gentleman was about 35 years of age and was married to a daughter of Mr. John Stinson, of Verulam, who, with a family of young children, is left to mourn the loss of a faithful husband and affectionate father. Death was caused by the bursting of a bloodvessel in the brain.

The Knife Case.

At the police court this morning Frank Anthony, the well-known street vendor, was charged with assaulting Mrs. Caroline Tomeson Monday afternoon. It seems that Mrs. Tomeson and her husband live in the same house with Frank Anthony on Aylmer street, Tomeson having a share in the peanut stand. Some time ago they quarrelled over some movement on Tomeson's part to leave the house, and the difficulty was smoothed over by Tomeson and his wife remaining. According to the evidence, Frank Anthony Monday afternoon entered the house, talked for some time with Mrs. Tomeson, who is in a delicate condition, asked her for a kiss, and taking her in his arms threw her on the bed. Catching up a case-knife from a basket he flourished it about, and the woman in putting up her hands to keep him off was cut on the finger. The assault however went no further. Mrs. Tomeson screamed and some of the neighbors rushed in. Anthony stated through his counsel that it was the woman who got angry and seized the knife, and in the scuffle consequent upon taking it away from her, the woman was accidentally injured. On the evidence a conviction was stated. On the evidence a conviction was made, the defence entering no demur, and a fine of $10 was administered. Mr. W. H. Moore for the prosecution; Mr. A. P. Ponsford, Q. C., for the defence.

Monday's Severe Storm.

A Number of Fatal or Serious Casualties with the Result Reported—Knox Presbyterian Church Unroofed—Several Minor Mishaps.

The severe storm of Monday, though Peterborough did not get the severest portion of it, did considerable damage in the vicinity. The storm seemed to burst at that town, the weight of it going south and south-easterly north.

One of the most painful results of the storm was the death by lightning of Mr. George Hawman, of Asphodel, youngest son of Mr. Thomas Hawman, of Harwood. The deceased, who is a farmer, living in Asphodel, midway between Harwood and Millbridge, was in his farm yard at the time of the storm in company with a lad. A bolt of lightning struck the two, prostrating them. The lad, who was only severely stunned, recovered promptly, and noticing Mr. Hawman lying prostrate still, ran for assistance. He returned with a brother of Mr. Hawman. Examination showed that the unfortunate man was dead. The course of the lightning appears to be a broad burn on the side of the face and the roots of the hair on the forehead were scorched. The deceased gentleman was a highly respected member of a numerous family of Hawmans, some of whom reside in Otonabee and in the town, who will have the sincere sympathy of the community in the very sad bereavement that has befallen them. Mr. Hawman leaves behind him a wife and young family.

MINOR ACCIDENTS.

A number of minor casualties are reported as the result of Monday's storm. In town no accidents occurred, the only evidences of the storm being a tree in the Merry street school grounds, which was splintered by the lightning, and the blowing down of the end wall of the Wm. Hamilton Works which was left standing after the fire. The wall in its descent buried a number of pumps which were placed inside.

At Lower the wind nearly unroofed the new Presbyterian church. The north-east corner was torn off as neatly as if bitten out by giant teeth, and the detached segment buried down over the apex of the roof and dropped on the lower below. Other incidental damage also resulted to the church.

At Burleigh the Holmes's House was struck by lightning. There were 25 guests in the house at the time, but, fortunately, no one was hurt. The electric current struck the head of the verandah, flashed up the posts to the roof of the building, tore up the shingles in its passage over the top, and ran down the other side into the ground.

A narrow escape from death is reported in Dummer. Mrs. Spence, the wife of the cheese maker, was walking towards the house with a pail of water, when the lightning struck and stunned her. Mrs. Spence was whirled round by the force of the shock. No serious results followed.

Mr. Clarke, living on the boundary between Eastmore and Emily, had a calf struck by lightning and killed.

The C.P.R. telegraph wires east of Peterborough were damaged by the storm. Some trees were blown down on the wires.

An Old Man's Mishap.

Mr. John Haggarty Struck by a Moving Train and His Legs Broken.

Mr. John Haggarty, an old and respected resident of the town, met with an accident this forenoon which may result in his death. Mr Haggarty is 85 years old, and, at his age, a mishap of this nature is a serious matter. Both his legs were broken below the knee, but the exact extent of his injuries cannot be ascertained on account of the swelling.

Mr. Haggarty was walking along the west side of Bethune street about ten o'clock this forenoon, and undertook to cross the tracks to the Grand Trunk station just as the Chemong train came along. The old man is quite deaf and could not of course hear the approaching engine, and as he kept his eyes on the ground to avoid stumbling he was probably not aware of his danger at all until too late. The train was fortunately moving very slowly, and just as the locomotive struck Mr. Hagarty the driver, Mr. Taylor, observed the accident and reversed his engine instantly. It did not move a yard after the brakes were put on. Mr. Hagarty had his right foot inside the rail and was stepping over with his left, when the pilot caught his right leg and both legs were drawn under, though not so far as the wheels. Both legs were broken. Mr. Hagarty was picked up and conveyed to the Nicholls Hospital, where he received the best surgical attendance, Doctors King and Bell being speedily summoned. The patient is too weak, however, to attempt any operation.

A Large Offering.

The Largest Board of Cheese Ever Offered Here.

At the meeting of the cheese board to-day 4061 boxes of cheese were boarded—3,116 Peterborough section and 945 Victoria. The following cheese was boarded:—

PETERBOROUGH.

Keene	194	Warminster	222
Shearer	261	Nesmith	250
C Smith	150	Cherry Grove	225
Warsaw	120	Westwood	200
Norwood	220	Melrose Abbey	96
S Dummer	235	Pine Grove	120
Otonabee Union	56	Maple Leaf	120
Peterborough	99	Myrtle	65
Lakefield	167	Missing Link	120

VICTORIA.

Minden	87	Stanhope	60
Haliburton	50	Dysart	24
Fenelon Falls	156	Roseboro	60
Scotch Line	120	Downeyville	116
Lorneville	56	Cambray	30
Mariposa	76	Kirkfield	100

After considerable bidding Mr. Cook got Norwood and Westwood for 8½c; Mr. Cluxton bought Keene, Warminster, Shearer, North Smith, Centre Smith, Cherry Grove, Missing Link, Warsaw and Maple Leaf for 8¼; Mr. Wrighton bought Peterborough, Lakefield, Pine Grove and Myrtle for the same figures; Mr. Flavelle bought Fenelon Falls, Scotch Line, Downeyville, Cambra and Mariposa for 8¼c. His further offer of 8¼c for the balance of Victoria was refused. Mr. Cook bought South Dummer for 8¼, but Otonabee Union, the only one left of the Peterborough board, would not sell at that price. The unsold factories were given permission to sell off the board.

Roseate Remembrance.

Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald is a very successful culturist of the queen of flowers, the rose. He is intelligently devoted to the pursuit, and his beautiful residence grounds are admirably suited to the culture of the most beautiful of nature's prodigal floral gifts to man. Mr. Fitzgerald is not, by any means, selfish in the enjoyment of his rich-petaled pets. He seems to act on the spirit of quaint Christopher Marlowe's "Passionate Shepherd"—"I will make thee beds of roses." The EXAMINER office has reason to be grateful that Mr. Fitzgerald gives practical expression to his belief in the sentiment—

——"Earthlier happy is the rose distilled
Than that which, withering on the virgin thorn, Grows, lives and dies."

The sanctum has been sweetened and brightened by Mr. Fitzgerald's floral liberality. And this suggests a duty and a pleasure to those who are the fortunate possessors of roses and other flowers. It is a waste of God's bountiful gifts to let our roses and flowers waste their sweetness on the desert air, when properly distributed they would be twice blessed, a blessing to him that gives and him that takes. Many a weary sick-bed pillow would be sweetened and softened, and many a wasted cheek and disease-dulled eye would flush with pleasure and brighten with delight at the sight of a bouquet of flowers, fresh with morning dew, and breathing of the sweet light of heaven and the sweet fresh air, both too often, strangers to the dingy squalor and ever-present discomfort of poverty's sick-room. The great Master's "cup of cold water to one of these little ones" can hardly take a more grateful form than the modest bouquet of flowers. Don't let happiness go to waste by letting your flowers wither on their stems, when they can carry so much pleasure and happiness in their fragrant depths to the chamber of the invalid or the home of poverty.

News Nuggets.

—The pupils of the Separate Schools and Convent are holding a pic-nic at St. Joseph's Hospital ground to-day.

—Three small boys, charged with stealing apples from an orchard, were let off with a warning by the magistrate.

—The C.P.R. train to-day was a couple of hours late, on account of having to wait at Toronto Junction for the Chicago express, which was delayed by a broken wheel.

The Late Mrs. Ambrose.

A letter received from Mr. Thomas H. Ambrose gives particulars respecting the death and burial of Mrs. Ambrose, which will prove very distressing to the friends of the deceased. The funeral services were held at [illegible] on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 10th, the remains being interred in Mount Green Cemetery. The following sympathetic letter from Mr. Ambrose's former fellow-passengers, which will be of melancholy interest to many friends of Mr. Ambrose and Mr. Chesney's family, will have read in Port Hope:—

"We are sorry to announce the death of Ada, the beloved wife of Mr. Thomas Hillis Ambrose, a member of Copestone Lodge, which took place on Lansdowne on June 5. Mr. Ambrose with his wife and child were returning from New York, and were days after embarking, when Mrs. Ambrose was seized with an illness, which completely prostrated her during the rest of the voyage. On landing at Liverpool, Dr. Edward Living, a professional London physician, was immediately summoned by telegram, and upon his arrival found Mrs. Ambrose suffering from typhoid fever, and a complication of other diseases. He pronounced her case as hopeless, and the unfortunate lady died on Monday night. The body was brought to London, and interred in Kensal Green Cemetery (the resting place of Mr. Ambrose's parents), on Saturday last. The mourners comprised Mr. Thos. H. Ambrose (the widower), Mr. Geo. W. Bowren and Mr. F.C.Cowan (brothers-in law), Dr. Edwd. Living, Mr. Edwin Watts, of Colmworth (the family medical attendant), Mr. Oliver John Williams, and Mr. Edgar Lingwood (who represented the tenantry of the estate). The coffin was covered with handsome wreaths, sent by Major Ambrose (whose officers' duties precluded his personal attendance), Mr. Geo. Bowren, Mr. Cowan, Dr. Living, and Mr. Watts, and a very handsome one from Mr. Courtney Thorpe (the celebrated actor), who was a fellow passenger on board the steamer with the family. The deceased lady, who was universally beloved, and who was only 26 years of age, leaves one son, aged 10 years, who is progressive heir to the Copford Lodge Estate, and was being brought home to England by his parents for an English education.

Ashburnham Council.

All the members of the Ashburnham council were present at the meeting Monday night, Reeve Burnham in the chair.

A communication was read from Messrs. Chas. S. Brownlee and Wm. R. Ernest, stating that they proposed to establish a weekly newspaper in the village and asked the council's assistance. The council decided to give Messrs. Brownlee and Ernest the village printing when the paper was established.

On motion of Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Wand, the following accounts were ordered paid:—E. B. Bart, $3 00; Peterborough Publishing Co., $12.25; Pay sheets 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, respectively, $23.00, 113 18, 212.85, 64.25 and 29 25; J. Croke, salary, $25.00; J. Agnew, salary, $43.75; W. Fitzgerald, balance of account, $119.00; C. H. Moore, $4.00; refund to Chamberlain estate, over-paid taxes, $6.26; G. Liquet 75c; total $260.53.

Moved by Mr. Throop, seconded by Mr. Calcutt, that the culvert on the corner of Robinson and Lake streets be rebuilt from the street line east side of Lake street to the permanent part of the culvert, and that the same be done under the supervision of Mr. Wand.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Wand, seconded by Mr. Calcutt, that with reference to Mr. Tite, he not being a resident of the municipality, no action be taken.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Throop, seconded by Mr. Calcutt, that the Street Inspector expend $35 on the road between Ashburnham and Doare.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Throop, seconded by Mr. Adams, that Mr. Wand be instructed to negotiate for a gravel pit.—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

Avoid Sunstrokes.

In such weather as the people are now enduring, no great exertion should be made except under the pressure of dire necessity. Men and women require to be careful and methodical in their habits. Each year medical men not only give public warnings on the subject, but supplement their utterances with simple hints, which if heeded, would prevent much sickness, especially among those people who are compelled to remain in the city during the heated term. In a recent contribution to a medical journal, Dr. Edwin C. Mann, of New York city, has this to say on the avoidance of sunstroke:—

To avoid sunstroke, exercise in excessively hot weather should be very moderate; the clothing should be thin and loose, and an abundance of cold water should be drunk. Workmen and soldiers should understand that as soon as they cease to perspire while working or marching in the hot sun, they are in danger of sunstroke, and they should immediately drink water freely and copiously, to afford matter for cutaneous transpiration; keep the skin and clothing wet with water. Impending sunstroke may often be warded off by these simple measures. Besides the cessation of perspiration, the pupils are apt to be contracted, and there is a frequency of micturition. If there is marked exhaustion, with a weak pulse, resulting from the cold water application, we should administer stimulants. The free use of water, however, both externally and internally, by those exposed to the direct rays of the sun is the best prophylactic against sunstroke, and labourers and soldiers and others who adopt this measure, washing their hands and faces, as well as drinking copiously of water every time they come within reach of it, will generally enjoy perfect immunity from sunstroke. Straw hats should be worn, ventilated at the top, and the crown filled with green leaves or wet sponge. It is better to wear thin flannel shirts in order not to check perspiration. We may expose ourselves for a long time in the hot sun and work or sleep in a heated room and enjoy perfect immunity from sunstroke if we keep our skin and clothing wet with water.

To Sturgeon Point.

Court Peterborough No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, holds it annual excursion to Sturgeon Point on Tuesday, 22nd inst. Sturgeon Point is a first-class picnic ground and a popular Ontario summer resort. Train will be taken to Lindsay, thence by boat to the Point, where several hours will be allowed excursionists. The Foresters always have successful excursions, and as this will probably be the only cheap trip to Sturgeon Point this summer, the public should avail themselves of the opportunity. d6d

A Nervous Passenger

Nearly Lost his Life Getting Used to the Railroad.

To a certain section of the country one finds people who never saw a railroad track, or heard the piercing shriek of the locomotive whistle, and never travelled faster than a mile an hour. To those the first railroad journey is an experience never to be forgotten.

A conductor on the C. P. R. tells this interesting story. When the train stopped at one of the stations an old man got on. His clothes showed that he knew nothing about railroad travelling. The starting of the train frightened him so that his hair fairly stood on end. When the whistle blew, his cheeks turned pale, and any sudden noise seemed to choke up with fear.

The conductor and passengers mostly said him idle fun, for when the train of the morning where he wanted to stop was called out, he walked to the door and would have jumped from the moving train had not the conductor held him back. It would have been all one's existence rested on if another passenger went in the business and could see of this city. They are so terribly nervous that the slightest noise startles them. They have frightful fears of fires even. They are not afraid to die, and do not understand it, and sometimes their fears drive them to shorten the months will be less of health or remain.

Just a friendly word guide you. If your nerves are weak, as the use of Paine's Celery Compound. This is the friend that will save you from illness; it will give you healthy sleep, good digestion, rich blood, elastic step, and cheerfulness. Pale skin, very clothes, and buoyant spirits will return. At this season of the year its special invigorating power are needed by almost every one. It will put you in such vigorous health that spring diseases, which is so alarmingly prevalent, will not affect you.

It is strange how little a thing will change the whole course of a person's life. Let us hope that this article, which shows how terrible results may be surely averted, will lead you to treat aright the first symptoms of nervousness, and thus prevent its fearful outcome.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY.

Four Arrests Growing Out of the Strike on The Montreal Herald.

MONTREAL, July 7.—In connection with the strike of The Herald's printers President W. Kydd of the Typographical Union and three of The Herald's printers, T. W. Rennie, Charles Beattie and Silas Read, were arrested this afternoon on a charge of conspiracy. The complaint is made by Manager W. S. White of The Herald, who makes affidavit that he believes the defendants conspired to prevent one Stephens and one Greenway from working for The Herald by inducing Stephens to go to Boston and offering to send Greenway west. The accused were admitted to bail in $200 each. The trial was fixed for Aug. 9.

The Herald people are advised that they can cause to be arrested the whole of the job room printers who were engaged by the week and who left their work without notice, but they are unwilling to do this at present, as the majority of the job room men were unwilling but were compelled to go out.

REFUSED TO SHOVEL COAL.

Trouble Among the N. & N.-W. Brakemen —An Octogenarian Drowned.

HAMILTON, July 7.—Saturday a crew of brakesmen on the N. & N.-W. Railway were laid off because they refused to shovel coal at Georgetown. The crew which went up today say they will refuse to do any shovelling if ordered to do so. If they refuse they will be laid off; if they obey it is likely that the first crew will be discharged. The brakemen say that if the railway authorities persist in requiring them to shovel coal they will make a union matter of it and appeal to the International Brakemen's Union for support.

C. N. Axworthy, Cleveland's ex-City Treasurer, has bought an island in Muskoka. It is said that the city's claims against Axworthy have all been settled and that he has a comfortable remnant. He will build a summer residence on the island.

Patrick Earles, aged 83, was drowned in the slip at the foot of James-street Saturday night. It is thought that he accidentally walked into the water, the end of the street being unguarded.

Equal Rights.

The topic of the day and that which we all want is not only Equal Rights in a political sense of the word, but in many others. Here are people throwing away their hard earned money, with unprincipled houses who do not as much as thank them for it. Why should they do it? Why not call on W.J. Morrow, where you are received courteously, your money placed to a good advantage and you are placed on a solid basis in future for buying cheap groceries. dw

Lard.

If you want to live well in summer, eat clear oily fat in the morning and, whilst the dew is lying, climb the mountain or walk to the bay and go rowing or swimming. Work or bustle as you have never done through the entire business hours, and after the morning meal all you can. Go to bed early. These things mean sound sleep, an active liver, and a healthy, contented, united mind and body. But all you want to, especially foods. Fruit is at its best and does more good early in the morning. It should invariably precede breakfast. Don't be afraid of it. Eat plenty of it. And don't fry to eat it.

THE WORK OF THE STORM.

AN UXBRIDGE FARMER KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Another Fatality in the Township at Reach—Capt. Andrew Upcot in a Squall on the Bay and Drowned—Other Casualties.

UXBRIDGE, July 8.—The heaviest thunderstorm ever known in this section passed over between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon, doing considerable damage. Daniel Munroe was churning in the cellar accompanied by his wife, when he was struck by lightning and instantly killed. He was a prosperous farmer and was married last fall. The lightning also struck the house of A. Spears and set fire to the telephone office. The flames were pluckily extinguished by Miss Hamilton, the attendant.

Another Fatal Bolt.

UXBRIDGE, July 8.—During the storm today lightning struck the barn of Joseph Watson, in the township of Reach, about five miles from here, killing his hired man Norman Davidson, and seriously injuring Davidson's brother, who stood beside him. The bolt set fire to and burnt the building, together with eleven head of thoroughbred young cattle. Loss $4000; no insurance.

UPSET BY A SQUALL.

Capt. E. B. Andros Drowned in the Bay at Barrie.

BARRIE, July 8.—Capt. E. B. Andros, an English gentleman living on the bay shore here, was drowned this afternoon. He was coming up the bay in a small sail boat when a squall struck the boat, upsetting and throwing him into the water. Parties on the shore saw the accident and used every effort to rescue him but without avail. His body has not been recovered.

A Hotel Blown Into Lake Champlain.

SARATOGA, July 8.—Reports received here give no particulars in regard to the reported storm, but the rumor at the railway station here is that Bluff Point Hotel on the Lake Champlain shore, owned by the Delaware & Hudson Company, was blown into the lake this afternoon and several persons lost their lives. Port Kent is the farthest point north that can be reached by railway or Western Union wires. That place reports a terrible blow in that section.

The first reports were that 16 lives were lost, but later accounts say only one person is missing.

Heavy Losses in New England.

BOSTON, July 8.—Despatches from various sections of New England report that a disastrous storm swept the country to-day doing incalculable damage.

HENRY SHARON BOBS UP AGAIN.

He Invades the House of His Chicago Brother-in-Law and is Arrested.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Henry Sharon, whose varied marital experiences have made some stir in Chicago, has been getting into trouble again. Saturday night he visited the home of his wife's brother-in-law, George W. Salter, No. 1220 West Adams-street, in company with N. J. Thompson of the law firm of Bangs & Thompson and another man, and asked to see his (Sharon's) wife. Salter told him she had gone on a visit to Ingersoll, Canada. Sharon impugned his veracity and a fight followed. The clothing of both men suffered more than their persons. Sharon and his friends then retreated to their carriage. Sharon was arrested, but gave bail.

It seems that Sharon is desirous of having his wife sign certain papers, but just what they are no one seems to know. Mrs. Sharon is here for the purpose of securing a legal residence with a view of beginning divorce proceedings. She married Sharon three years ago in Ingersoll much against the wishes of her parents—in fact, it was a runaway match. She is but 19.

About a month ago Sharon forced his way into the Salter residence, and his wife forced him out again at the point of a pistol. Sharon had also quarreled with Salter on several occasions.

Down by the New Brunswick Coast.

DALHOUSIE, N.B., July 8.—The weather is very fine here. The Inch Arran House has been refitted and under the management of Mr. Hale, an experienced American, is rapidly filling with the best families from Canada and the United States. The Governor-General's fishing lodge is about 30 miles from here on the Cascapedia, where he is having very fine sport. It is reported that the British North American fleet, in which Prince George of Wales commands one of the gun boats, will stay here several days when on his way to Quebec next month.

Vanderbilt's Latest Acquisition.

CHICAGO, July 8.—A paper here says: The Chicago Stock Yards will henceforth be controlled by the Vanderbilts. These eastern money kings have secured control of them and the concern is to be capitalized for $30,000,000 and the stock placed upon the market. It is understood Chauncey M. Depew will be president of the company.

Fate Cannot Harm Me, I've Dined To-day.

KINGSTON, July 8.—John McGlynn, aged 58, died suddenly yesterday while taking an after dinner nap. McGlynn had been suffering from an abscess behind his left ear, but yesterday felt easier and ate a hearty dinner. Strange to say before sitting down to his meal he said to his wife: "I want a good dinner. If I do die I won't die hungry." Within an hour he was dead.

Drowned at Paris.

Davis' Confession.

BELLEVILLE, July 8.—Peter Davis, who died on the gallows on June 20, is said to have stated to a fellow-prisoner that he did not fire the fatal shot, but that Mrs. Emory did the deed.

A Kingston Rumor.

KINGSTON, July 8.—The Whig says it is rumored that the election of J. H. Metcalfe, M.L.A. for Kingston, is to be protested. The time for entering a protest expires Friday.

MUST HAVE OUR BARLEY.

A GRAND KICK BEING MADE BY UNITED STATES BREWERS.

They Object Strongly to the McKinley Bill, Which Will Shut Out the Dominion Product and Prevent Them From Making Good Beer.

PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—Philadelphia brewers, together with those of Oswego, Buffalo and other beer making cities of the United States, are just now considerably agitated over the proposition in the McKinley tariff bill now pending in the United States Senate to raise the import duty on barley from 10 to 30 cents a bushel.

The number of bushels of barley imported yearly by the extensive system of breweries in Philadelphia is close to a million. All of this comes from Canada, which raises a grade of barley, it is said, superior to any produced in this country, and a grade the place of which no American raised barley can take.

The consequence, therefore, of such an increase as that proposed would be, so the brewers of Philadelphia unanimously say, merely to make them purchase the Canada barley, which they must have, at an exorbitant rate and stand the loss. Another direct effect will be to make the brewers, who may prove unwilling to suffer this loss, flood the market with an inferior quality of beer. The Times prints several interviews with prominent brewers who kick against the proposed duty.

A. W. Woebken, secretary of the Bergner & Engel Brewing Company, has some decided opinions on the matter and spoke them very freely. The Bergner & Engel company have about the largest brewing establishment in this city. They have a plant worth about $4,000,000 and import every year about 300,000 bushels of Canada barley. Mr. Woebken said that in saying what he did he voiced the opinions of the other members of the firm and of many city brewers.

"The effect of an increased duty on barley," said Mr. Woebken, "will be just this: If we are to brew the same quality of beer as we are now doing we shall be forced to pay the advanced price for imported barley and stand the loss. We do not buy Canada barley for fun. We have no particular interest in sending our money to Canada, but the point lies just here—we can never get along without it. Canada barley yields much more malt than western barley, and what is more important, in order to make our finer beers and fine grades of Tannhauser we absolutely must have it, just as in order to give the fine delicate flavor to these beers we must have German hops.

"There is one thing which shows pretty conclusively how absolutely necessary Canada barley is. Even the western brewers, especially the better brewers of St. Louis, Milwaukee and Chicago, use Canada barley. Wisconsin is a great barley-growing state, and the brewers there, who could buy their grain right at home and save transportation, certainly would not use Canada barley if it were not necessary.

"It will be the better brewers, those who have a reputation to maintain and something at stake," Mr. Woebken continued, "who will suffer. Of course we all use great quantities of western barley, but it is inferior stuff and we have to use it in connection with the better quality, which is imported. There is a certain amount of the Canada barley which we will use anyhow. Unless we should stand the loss we should have to drop the better grades of beer. We would make the best we could out of the American barley and say, 'Here, you've got to take this.'"

In conclusion Mr. Woebken said: "If the duty on barley is to be increased as a means to raise revenue I think it will be very successful, but as a protective measure I don't think it will work very well. There is one sure thing about it anyhow, and that is that it will benefit nobody but the United States treasury. It would not benefit so very much our western producers, for there is a certain amount of Canada barley which we must have.

"The duty should not be more than what it is now, 10 cents a bushel, or at the most 15 cents a bushel."

Albert Baltz, of the J. & P. Baltz Brewing Company, was seen next. He said: "If the duty is raised on barley of course we will lose by it. We use about 100,000 bushels of Canadian barley every year. The competition at present is so great that it would be hard to raise the price of beer, and consequently there would be a great loss to us.

"Canadian barley," Mr. Baltz said further, "is decidedly of better grade than western barley, and we could not make the same quality of beer without it."

Mr. Baltz said he did not think the increased duty would lead the brewers to buy a bushel more of American barley. The only ones who would get any benefit would be the Government.

Max Elbe of the brewing firm of Elbe & Herter at Thirty-third and Thompson-streets said: "If the advance is made we have to do either of two things—pay more money for our barley or raise more western barley. Last year we used 60,000 bushels of Canadian barley, but if this advance is made I don't know that we shall use as much as we used to. It is just the same in the case of the proposed advance in German hops. If the duty is put on we won't use the German hops, but the beer won't be as good. Still I ought to say that no matter what it costs we must have some Canadian barley and some German hops."

Charles Schoening, a member of the Bergdoll Brewing Company, stated that if the duty was increased all they could do would be to pay the increase. They could not do without Canada barley altogether.

A number of other brewers, when questioned as to the probable effect of the passage of this clause of the McKinley bill, stated their opinions substantially the same as those given above. All gave emphatic endorsement of the view that the only result of the proposed change will be to entail loss on the brewers, or cause an inferior article to be furnished the consumer.

AT THE FLOUR CITY.

Rochester Brewers Say They Must Have It at any Price.

ROCHESTER, July 8.—The proposition in the McKinley Tariff Bill now pending in the United States Senate, to raise the import duty on barley from 10 cents to 30 cents a bushel, is the cause of considerable anxiety among the brewers and maltsters in this city, and is the leading topic of conversation just now.

William Bartholomay, manager of the Bartholomay Brewing Company, is also the head of the combined breweries and malt houses under the new deal, and is, without doubt, the man who has larger financial interests in this business than any other in Rochester. "The effect," said he, "of the proposed tariff on barley will be simply to force the brewers and other dealers in barley in this country to pay 20 cents more for barley than at present. Canadian barley is indispensable for certain fine grades of beer, and no matter how high the tariff is placed we must have it. There are certain beers which we cannot make with domestic barley. The McKinley bill will not protect the farmers here, but simply force the brewers to pay more money into the treasury. The barley raised in Canada is nearly always paler kind of a better color than any we can buy here. The domestic grain is almost invariably stained, as in the case in the present year. In our own establishment, we use each year 800,000 bushels of barley, which makes 1,600,000 bushels of malt. Buffalo malts 600,000 bushels of Canadian barley every year. It is impossible to buy more than 300,000 bushels of New York State barley, so we are forced to go to Canada for more."

John Kiley, secretary of the E. Bloss Furnace Malting Company, thought the proposed duty little short of prohibitory.

Mathias Kendel, president of the Genesee Brewing Company, said: "There is never enough good barley raised in this country to supply the demand. The western barley is poor stuff for our business. Even the Western folks go to Canada for a good deal of their supply, although they have a great plenty at home—such as it is. Barley seems to need a cooler climate than we have. Canadian barley not only makes a better malt, but it yields more malt to the bushel than the barley raised here."

FROM ONE JAIL TO ANOTHER.

HAMILTON, July 8.—Dolly Bosley, the notorious confidence woman, who completed her term of two months in Brantford jail Monday, is now a prisoner in the Hamilton jail. Chief McKinnon went to Brantford and found that the fair Dolly was sick. He got there ahead of the officers from other cities, where she is wanted to answer similar charges of fraud, and brought her back here. She complained about feeling sick, but she recovered when she arrived here. Dolly swindled Mrs. Imboden out of $5 about eighteen months ago, and she got ahead of Miss Colmans, formerly of the hospital. There are other charges against her. She will remain in jail until Thursday, when she will be brought before the magistrate. Governor Ogilvie told a reporter that the woman was not very ill.

On the early train that swung into Hamilton from Buffalo at 3 o'clock this morning was a party of ten non-union printers. As the train left the Buffalo station at midnight a crowd of union printers made night hideous with cries of, "Good-bye, rats," "Good riddance to scabs." The men are bound for Montreal, where they have been engaged by The Herald to fill the vacancies in that office. Their fares from Buffalo to Montreal were advanced to them.

This morning Detective Gates arrested James F. Bennett, who is wanted in Orangeville for stealing a watch.

The T., H. and B. workmen have struck a very extensive bed of quicksand in the Caroline-street gully, and it is liable to give them lots of trouble. One team sank into it and was with difficulty extricated. No more property has been secured lately.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

An Eloping Couple in the Toils of the Law After Many Months' Search.

MONTREAL, July 8.—The last act but one in a domestic drama of infidelity, which had its first scene in Montreal, is taking place in Sherbrooke. Some four years since a young man named Morin married a young lady at St. Jean Baptiste church, Rev. Father Auclair performing the ceremony. For some time the young couple lived happily together, but one day the husband met on the street a Miss Emma Beaulieu, with whom he had been acquainted before his marriage. A few weeks later he disappeared in company with Miss Beaulieu, leaving his wife almost penniless. For some weeks her husband's whereabouts were unknown; then word came that he and his paramour were living at Springfield, Mass. Thither his sorrowing wife went, in the hope of inducing her erring spouse to return, but when she arrived the birds had flown. She returned here only to spend many months in lonely sorrow. Last week she entrusted the search to Detective Cinq-Mars and he traced the couple to Sherbrooke. There he secured the services of High Constable Moe and Deputy High Constable Reed and they found the Beaulieu woman living at Lennoxville and having in her arms a child of her union with Morin. She was arrested and then the party returned to Sherbrooke, where Morin was found working in an iron foundry. The couple were brought before Judge Rioux and were remanded until Saturday next, bail being accepted.

MONTMORENCY ELECTION.

Nominations Will Take Place July 18 and Polling July 25.

OTTAWA, July 8.—The writ for the new election for the House of Commons in Montmorency County has been issued. Nominations will take place July 18 and polling July 25. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of Mr. Charles Langelier to enter the recent provincial contest in Quebec.

Mr. H. H. Killaly, who is talked of as the probable successor of the late Mr. Page as Chief Engineer of Canals, is here.

It is understood that the candidates will be Messrs. Desjardins and Joseph Turcotte.

Nova Scotia's New Governor.

OTTAWA, July 8.—Mr. M. B. Daly, ex-M.P., Halifax, will be the next Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia. Mr. Daly is a prominent lawyer and sat for Halifax in the Parliament of 1878-'82. He was born at Marchmount near Quebec in 1836. His father, Sir D. Daly, who belonged to an old Irish family, was for 25 years colonial secretary and represented Megantic in the Canadian Legislature. He was also Lieutenant-Governor of Tobago and Prince Edward Island and Governor-in-Chief of South Australia. Mr. Daly was private secretary to his father during the six years he was Lieutenant-Governor of Prince Edward Island. He was also private secretary to Governor Macdonnell of Nova Scotia, and to Sir Hastings Doyle.

Mr. Masson Is Better.

MONTREAL, July 8.—When Mr. J. A. Masson, M.P. for Richelieu, was so seriously ill a couple of weeks since, a cablegram was sent to his sister, Madame Gustave A. Drolet, in Paris. She, in consequence, left at once for Canada and arrived here yesterday morning in company with her sons, Messrs Gustave, Rene and Bolleau Drolet. Happily she found that her brother was, although still under the care of Dr. Brodeur, much better, and it is hoped on the high road to recovery. Madame Drolet and her sons will remain here until Mr. Masson is out of danger and may be joined before returning home by Chevalier Drolet.

Two Americans Murdered in Bolivia.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Department of State is informed by the Minister of the United States to Bolivia that two Americans, Leonard Thompson from Ohio and Mr. Kedman from Illinois, on their way to the mining regions, were murdered May 10 last by Revolutionists. Every effort is being made to apprehend the murderers.

The South American Panic.

BUENOS AYRES, July 7.—The Monte-Video Bourse is closed. The crisis there has caused increased anxiety here.

Serious rioting is reported at Iquique, growing out of a strike. Commercial and shipping operations have been suspended there.

Merely Postponed.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Senate to-day refused to take up the Tariff Bill. This means merely a postponement for the purpose of considering the River and Harbor Bill this week.

The coroner's investigation into the Hill Farm mine disaster discloses the fact that the assistant mine boss, who had practical charge, was incompetent.

DOMINION NEWS NOTES

MR. AYKROYD MAKES AN ATTEMPT ON HIS OWN LIFE.

The Strange Freak of a Well-known Toronto Bondholder—Hard Trouble to Have for Police Magistrate Denison a the Queen City.

TORONTO, July 9.—The Police Court Investigation Committee has unanimously decided to report in favor of requesting the Attorney-General to look into the various complaints against Police Magistrate Denison with relation to alleged absences from his post without leave, failure to make return of fines and fees and his refusal to treat with the committee as to remedying defects in the present system.

The protest against the election of Mr. T. H. Stinson, M.L.A. for Hamilton, did not materialize yesterday, but one was lodged against the return of Mr. Nicholas Awrey for South Wentworth.

The Police Commissioners decided yesterday to at once place a cover on No. 1 patrol wagon, and if the test is a success the remaining patrol wagons will also be covered.

"My God, boys! I've done it!" was the cry which startled A. Lockhart and a companion in a boat house on one of the islands east of the Gap at 10½ last night. The water was very high, and simultaneous with the cry a boat shot half way into the boat house. Seated in the centre was an old man 65 or 70 years of age, each hand grasping an oar, and the startled boatmen observed blood oozing from a gash in his throat. The man was recognized as Henry Aykroyd of Aykroyd & Son, the well-known boatbuilders of the Esplanade, at the foot of York-street. As soon as Lockhart and his companion came towards him Aykroyd dropped his oars and picked up an open razor which had been lying in a small pool of blood in the bottom of the boat. Lockhart took the razor from the would-be suicide and threw it in the stern, and with the proprietor of the boathouse rowed Aykroyd across the bay to Thomas Saulter's boathouse at the foot of Sherbourne-street, arriving there at 10¾. Saulter summoned the ambulance and Aykroyd was conveyed to the Hospital. An examination showed that the wound in his throat was not serious, none of the arteries being severed. He had lost considerable blood, however.

On the road over Aykroyd explained his attempt on his life by stating that he had been out of his mind for several days; that he went for a row on the bay, and started for home, and discovered some time afterwards that he was about 1½ miles out in the lake, and becoming despondent had cut his throat. He did not explain, however, how he happened to have the razor in his possession.

Mr. Aykroyd and his son "Mat" have been boatbuilders here for years, and are well-known.

MR. JOHN KENLY DEAD.

The Well-Known Hotel Man at the Capital a Victim of Cancer.

OTTAWA, July 8.—Mr. John Kenly of the firm of Kenly & St. Jacques, proprietors of the Russell House, died at 3 o'clock this afternoon, aged 56. He was a native of Fifeshire, Scotland, and came to Canada when two years old. Before coming to Ottawa he was in the hotel business at Tadousac, Murray Bay and Caledonia Springs. Three years ago signs of cancer appeared on his tongue, and Mr. Kenly underwent a serious operation. The disease was stayed but not eradicated and after a tedious and painful illness, borne with the greatest patience, he passed away to-day. He married about 36 years ago Miss Maggie Cairns of Niagara, who survives him.

Disasters Come Not Singly.

GRIMSBY, July 8.—The home of Lewis L. Hager, a wealthy Grimsby farmer, has been darkened by two tragedies within a year. Early last fall his little son Roy fell under the wheels of a heavily-loaded grain wagon and was crushed to death. Yesterday morning the lifeless body of another son—Charles, a boy of 10 years—was carried home. The lad was bathing in the lake, off Ed. Hunter's farm, about two miles west of the village, when he got beyond his depth and was drowned. Mr. Hunter got the body out of the water.

The Vreda in Quebec.

QUEBEC, July 8.—This morning the pleasure yacht Vreda from England, cutter rigged, of about 35 tons register, arrived in port and is at anchor in the stream. The Vreda, which is known as a fast sailer, was purchased this spring in England by Commodore Boswell of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. She is on her way to the Quest City in charge of a crew.

The Inquest at Locust Hill.

LOCUST HILL, July 8.—The inquiry into the cause of the C.P.R. disaster was continued to-day. The evidence of Sectionmen White and Shepherdson and Section Foreman Roche was taken, but there were no new developments in the case. The monotony and oppressive heat were forgotten during some lively passages between Crown Attorney Farewell and Hon. R. M. Wells, the C.P.R. solicitor.

D. B. Nighswander, one of the hands on the ill-fated train, has partially recovered from his injuries and was present, but Coroner Ferrier adjourned the inquest at 7¼ p.m. without having taken his evidence.

The investigation will be resumed Monday morning at 10½ o'clock.

Was a Tragedy Buried There?

BROCKVILLE, July 8.—While digging for mould on Mrs. Meighan's property in Perth, the men came across the remains of a body evidently buried many years ago. It was only two feet under ground, and the bones, when lifted fell to pieces. There was no trace of a coffin, but there were the remains of a pair of long boots, and a silver military button, and the letters "S.C." on either side. It may be the record of some old tragedy, but the oldest inhabitant knows nothing of it.

Loud in the Lobster.

MONTREAL, July 8.—A young woman named Maria Saubs from St. Leonor, Montcalm county, who has been an inmate of Notre Dame Hospital for three weeks past, has died from eating some canned lobster which contained lead, probably from the solder used in fastening the tin.

A Grand Trunk Brakeman Killed.

GUELPH, July 8.—Patrick Dooley, a Grand Trunk brakeman, was accidentally run over and killed by a shunting train in the freight yard here last night.

Beach Mr. Masson.

QUEBEC, July 8.—A new paper entitled L'Association has just made its appearance here. Mr. Masson is the gentleman who committed the rash act.

THE BUFFALO FIGHT.

Connors Knocked Out by the Belfast Spider in Three Rounds.

BUFFALO, July 8.—The much talked of prize fight between Ike Weir, the Belfast Spider, and Prof. James Connors, the instructor of the Buffalo Athletic Club, came off this evening. No such crowd has ever before attended a pugilistic entertainment in his city. The fight was for a purse of $1750, of which $250 went to the loser. Two-ounce gloves were used. The fight only lasted three rounds. The first two were tame. In the third Weir landed a blow on Connors' jaw that knocked the professor flat. Connors did not rise until the 10 seconds were over. But Weir waived his claim. Connors advanced and was floored again and did not re-appear.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.
Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

TREES AND TEMPESTS.

The Province of Hanover has set the world a good example in the matter of forest cultivation. By an extensive and thorough system of encouraging those who will engage intelligently in increasing the forest wealth of the province, Hanover has increased her wooded area by 25 per cent. within the last 30 years. The increase is still going on. It would be most gratifying if the same could be said of this country. On the contrary it is to be feared forest waste is still the order of the day. And at the rate forest destruction has been going on for years the face of the country will be denuded of their protective covert of trees, and our fertile, plains, valleys and hills be reduced to the condition of a desert. Inhabitants of Ontario of only middle age can notice the marked and continuous change of climate for the worse. Less than forty years ago the violent storms, disastrous freshets and distructive meteorological disturbances were unknown or of the most infrequent and phenomenal occurrence. Now we can count on our annual crop of floods and freshets, wind- bursts, thunder-storms and hail storms, all generally due to the changes effected by the distruction of defensive forest barrier that shielded us from the one or saved us from the other. There are now no wide stretches of forest to receive the rains, and hold the water, gradually giving it forth; no, or very few, lofty clumps of forest trees to influence the rain fall and bring regular, steady liquid refreshment to meadow and grain field. Instead, we have it rarer, and irregular and violent, pounding the standing grain into the soil, or with its accompaniment of high winds, that have the full sweep of the comparatively treeless country, gaining strength as they go, wreaking destruction on fruit and grain crops. Scientific and practical observers assure us that, with a proper distribution of forest growth, we should have a steady, equably distributed and sufficient rainfall, a comparative absence of violent storms, far fewer high winds, both summer and winter, a more abundant and constant fall of snow, in fine, a much less changeable and, therefore, far healthier, climate, and one better suited to the growth of fruit and grain crops. Popularly, forest culture and preservation have practically no existence. There are a few wise-headed men who do to preserve existing forest areas and enlarge them, and the Ontario Government gives practical encouragement to tree planting; but there is no general movement in this direction. On almost every farm in the country there are waste places, barren of trees and untillable, which if planted would be a protection to growing crops, and be growing into a source of wealth in the way of firewood and timber. It would seem that the Hanoverians are more progressive than we are, and it would pay the country well to take a leaf out of their book.

PROSPERITY.

The taxationist politicians tell us that the country is prosperous. This is a subject for congratulation, and a wide meaning attaches to such a national condition. It means that labour is plentiful and wages good—that workingmen and labourers have steady employment at high wages. It means that capital yields good returns, that the pulse of trade is strong, money plentiful, and trade and barter brisk. It means that real estate has a good sale, that transfers are lively, that building operations are active. It means that the farmer gets high prices for his produce, and pays the lowest prices for the goods he gets in exchange. It means that the burden of taxation rests lightly on the people in general; that the industrial and natural produce markets of the country are the nearest, cheapest (as to transportation and accessability) and best. But have we all this? If not, then we have not prosperity. When the busiest class of the community are the note-discounters, the money-lenders and the mortgage-brokers, it is a little doubtful if the country is enjoying the rampant prosperity the taxationist statesmen give us assurance of.

PAYING TOO MUCH RENT.

The Collegiate Institute Should be Assessed Lower.

Mr. Dumble Says it Owns the Central School Grounds—And this Ought to be Considered as an Offset Against Rent—The Estimates Brought Down and Referred Back—The Next Principal Will Get a Higher Salary—Inspector Tilley's Valuable Report—Commencement Exercises to be Held.

There were present at the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday evening Messrs. Boucher, Deane, McKee, Ferguson, Hamilton, Wrighton, Kendry, Corkery, English and Dumble. In the absence of the chairman Mr. Deane was called to the chair, Mr. Thos. Morrow acted as secretary.

The Canadian Office and School Furniture Company sent in a communication to the board, expressing thanks for payment of their account, and offering to remedy any defects in the rubbers connected with the desks, as soon as notified.—Referred to the Property Committee.

Miss Annie W. Smith applied for a position on the Public school teaching staff.—Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

Mr. J. H. Long, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, notified the secretary of his resignation, which he wished to take effect at the end of the past term.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were referred to the Finance Committee:—

Pay sheet, work on N.W. school	$30 00
T M G Deane	1 75
E G Rundle, 36 wands for gymnasium	9 70
G W West, repairing clock	1 25

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The following reports of school attendance in June were read:—

	On Roll	Ave Att'd
Collegiate Institute	144	122
Central School	290	261
North Ward School	139	117
South Ward School
West Ward School	189	157

The receipt of $2 fees from the kindergarten class was acknowledged.

WHO OWNS THE GROUND.

Mr. Dumble read the estimates for the year, the chairman of the Finance Committee, Dr. Burnham, being absent. Last year, Mr. Dumble said, the expenses of the Collegiate Institute were $7,800 as against $3,044 this year; and the amount required last year $4,900 as against $5 544 this year. The expenses for public schools in 1887 were $11,000 as against $14,015 in 1889; and the demand last year $10,140 as against $21,895 this year. The total amount required this year is $17,503, as against $15,040 last year. There was one item in the estimates, regarding the $1,160 rent from the Collegiate Institute, which Mr. Dumble thought would necessitate the referring back of the statement to the Committee. Mr. Dumble held that the block of land on which the Central school buildings were situated belonged to the high school. He produced the copy of the following letter, which he said he had procured from old files in the Department:

TORONTO, Oct. 3, 1857.

In the matter of the application of the Joint Board of the Grammar and Common schools Trustees of the town of Peterborough for a patent for certain lots in Peterborough assigned by Orders-in-Council of 16th August, 1853, to the district Grammar School of Peterborough.

In my opinion the patent cannot issue to the Public Board as prayed. It can only issue to the Peterborough County Grammar School, which is a corporation under 16 Vic., cap. 186, sec. 15.

(Sgd.) JOHN A. MACDONALD.

Application made by Rev. Alex. Gilmour, Rev. M. Boyce, Mr. W. C. Scott, Rev. Mr. Ryerson, Rev. Mr. Roberts, Wm. Hall, Jas. Hall, W. B. Conger, Robinson Rutherford, Fred. Ferguson, Thos. Fortye, Jas. Stevenson.

In view of this letter, Mr. Dumble thought the Collegiate Institute, which was the grammar school referred to, should not be entrusted for such high rent values to give the common school the free use of all these grounds.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry,—That in view of the fact that this Board has learned that the deed compiled by the Central School buildings is Grammar School property, and this fact has not been considered by the Finance Committee in fixing the proportion of expenditures to be borne by the Collegiate Institute and Public School, respectively; also report of the Finance Committee on building the estimates for the year be referred back to that committee for reconsideration and a new report, and that this Board meet this day week to receive the report.—Carried.

FILLING VACANCIES.

Mr. DUMBLE suggested the advisability of taking immediate steps to fill the vacancies caused by the withdrawal of Mr. Principal Long and several teachers who purposed attending the Normal School, Misses Peters, Rutherford, Wrighton and others. Mr. Dumble urged the necessity of a careful selection in the choice of a Principal. He did not think a $1,200 salary would be sufficient for a first class man.

Mr. KENDRY supported Mr. Dumble's views and thought the Committee on Appointments should take the 9th. Board into its confidence in making this appointment.

Dr. BOUCHER also thought Mr. Dumble's remarks most judicious, and said he was prepared to vote for paying a better salary to a good Principal. He said Mr. Dumble had been indefatigable in his efforts to procure a good teacher, and had consequently communicated with the Department upon hearing of Mr. Long's resignation. Mr. Dumble was in possession of valuable information which would assist the Board in making a good choice. Dr. Boucher won the approving smiles of the several teachers present by stating that he thought all the gentlemen were underpaid as well as the Principal.

Mr. FERGUSON said he supposed they would have to pay a good price for a good man, but he thought the Principal's salary was already too high.

Mr. Hamilton moved, seconded by Mr. Fergeson, that the Committee on Appointments is hereby authorized to secure a Principal for the Collegiate Institute, and as soon as they are able to report that this Board be called together to receive their report; and that they be authorized to fill the vacancies on the public school staff.—Carried.

THE INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The report of Dr. Tilley, Public School Inspector, was read. It was a comprehensive and valuable document, giving a detailed criticism of the school as a whole, and of each room and its teacher. The report, or at least portions of public interest, will be published to-morrow.

Mr. DUMBLE said the report was most satisfactory. Since Dr. Tilley had taken charge of the schools there had been a great improvement. He hoped the suggestions in the report would be carried out.

Dr. TILLEY emphasized the recommendations he had made for ventilation, and suggested other improvements in the halls and seats. He believed the staff of teachers had put forth every effort to excel the past year, and the result was most gratifying. Very good work had been done, all things considered, and he looked confidently for still better results in the future.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. English, that the Inspector's report be referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Fergeson, Boucher, McKee and the mover to report at the next meeting of this Board on such matters referred to therein as they may deem necessary to be dealt with by this Board.—Carried.

OTHER MATTERS.

Mr. Kendry moved, seconded by Mr. McKee, that the Committee on Appointments consider the matter of re-adjusting the Inspector's time and salary.—Carried.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Fergeson, that the interests of the schools would be advanced by a public commencement at the close of each scholastic year, and that the Principals of the High and Public schools be requested to arrange for such commencements.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned for one week.

What Say They?

In popularity increasing. In reliability the standard. In merit the first. In fact the best remedy for summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera infantum, etc., is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All medicine dealers sell it. 2w27d

A Canadian Favorite.

The essence of green fruits and summer drinks is the time when the worst forms of cholera morbus, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints prevail. As a safe guard Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry should be kept in the house. For 36 years it has been the most reliable remedy. 2w27d

The Beginning of Death.

Disease is the beginning of death, its approach should be met at once with appropriate remedies. No better means exists than the use of Burdock Blood Bitters when over symptoms of any disease of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood appear. B.B.B. is the best life preserver. 2w27d

Our Story.

A DOUBLE LIFE.

Diving beside the sunken boat, he saw a dark object swaying about in the current, and succeeded in bringing it to the surface. It was the woman, pale and rigid, and apparently lifeless. The brave half-caste, however, finding that there is even a hope of restoring life after it seems to have fled, lost no time in getting her ashore, carrying her to the fire he had made in the hut, and applying such means as he knew of for reviving animation.

In all this he received no help from the man, who was raving as if demented, sometimes kneeling down to pray and sometimes walking up and down on the sand with the two children in his arms. Finding his efforts useless, however, Peri went to the man, and seizing him firmly by the arm, told him the woman was dying or dead, and urged him to come to her.

He came, but still in the same helpless state, and, instead of assisting the half-caste in his attempts to restore life, he threw himself on his knees by the woman's side, kissing her hands and calling her by name and praying for her. It was evident that she was past all human help.

Peri then proposed that he should go in his canoe to the nearest settlement, which, by keeping close to the shore and taking advantage of the currents, he might have reached in a couple of hours, to send word of the accident into town and obtain assistance.

To his astonishment the man declined his offer and angrily refused to allow him to go when he insisted. Peri, however overcome by that superstitious feeling to which all Maoris are liable, and having a strong suspicion of the man, made an opportunity to slip out of the hut and was soon far away from the Crozels in his little canoe.

When the news reached Nelson, inquiries were made and it was learned that Capt. Hayes had left the house the morning before with his wife and children, and had been seen sailing out of the port in his yacht, the Lily. The harbour master at once dispatched a whale-boat with eight men and a supply of blankets and restoratives to the Crozels. They arrived there at daylight on the following day.

Not a soul was to be seen. The yacht was no longer at the spot where the half-caste had described her, and the hut was untenanted.

The conclusion, of course, was that the whole story was a fabrication of Peri's, and some people even entertained some very unfavorable surmises regarding him.

Captain Facts, however, came to light which not only cleared the half-caste of all suspicion of foul play, but gave the worthy folks at the Port a good idea of Capt. Hayes' character.

The house where the family had lived was found locked up, and the authorities decided not to open it for some days, at all events, on the chance of the captain returning. On the third or fourth night after the disaster, however, the house was seen to be on fire. The flames were extinguished before they had got much hold of the building, and then unmistakable evidences were found that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Moreover, all Capt. Hayes's valuables and private effects were gone, not a single thing being discovered in the house which could give the slightest clue to his antecedents, his profession, or anything else connected with him.

The police thereupon made further inquiries, and one of the people whom they applied was Dr. Tweed. The Doctor, considering himself no longer required by professional etiquette to keep silence, made this astounding statement:

Three times he had been sent for to attend Capt. Hayes on his return from abroad, and each time he found him suffering from terrible wounds, caused either by a sword cut or a pistol shot. Once he had extracted a bullet from his neck, and it was then that the wife and children had been sent away until the wound was healed. On the latest of these occasions Mrs. Hayes, who had long been very uneasy in her mind about her husband, refused to leave the house, and insisted on seeing him. This resulted in a bitter quarrel between the two, with threats of exposure on her part, and of vengeance on his.

The Doctor had acted as peacemaker for the time being, but he feared that a crisis of some sort was approaching. He knew that Mrs. Hayes had discovered her husband's [illegible], which she could almost only suspected.

What was the secret! Mr. Poynter, the re[illegible]magistrate, now disclosed it. He had received, shortly after Capt. Hayes came to Nelson, a private communication from a person in the confidence of the British Admiralty informing that a mysterious criminal, a private and slaver of the most desperate description, whose murders and robberies, committed under various names and disguises, were the terror of the Western Pacific, was believed to have a haunt somewhere in that part of New Zealand, and asking him to keep a watch and report anything that came to his knowledge. The magistrate had all along believed that Hayes was the man; but his conduct had always been so exemplary, and his domestic surroundings were so creditable and happy that Mr. Poynter had never felt justified in even reporting upon him.

The Hayes family were heard of no more in Nelson, and the common supposition was that the Lily had gone down at sea with all on board.

It had been well for humanity if such had been the case.

CHAPTER II.

For some years after the events just described, the state of affairs in Polynesia was such a scandal to civilisation that the attention of the European powers was called to it with very important results. The Fiji Islands, one of the finest groups in the Pacific, had become an Alsatia for all the vagabonds and desperadoes in what has been called the fifth quarter of the globe. Thither resorted every fugitive from justice and every broken adventurer from all the British colonies or the French penal settlements, certain to find there plenty of kindred spirits among the reckless characters who at that time carried on the island trade. Under the pretence of establishing law and order, a number of these worthies had banded themselves together under a native chief named Thakombau, whom they proclaimed King of Fiji, and established what they were pleased to call a Government. The only effect of this was to [illegible] honest traders to extortion under the form of duties and taxes, while enabling the [illegible] to shelter themselves under a shadow of responsibilities by flying the Fijian flag.

This unique piece of buntings was designed with grim irony by a man who, having been dismissed from the royal navy to evade the [illegible] lead a disgraceful career, had [illegible] appointed himself Minister of Marine to the king of Fiji. It consisted of a white flag with a dove carrying a palm branch in its beak, surmounted by 13 crows in the centre. It was supposed to represent the Christian peace that prevailed under Thakombau's benign rule, but in reality it was the symbol for rapacity, ferocity, and treason, which put the worst vices of savages to shame.

The great development of the sugar trade in Queensland and of the cotton, coffee, and copra industry in many of the islands, necessitating the employment of coloured hands, had, about the same time, given a sudden impulse to labor traffic, more commonly known as "black birding," and in many instances not distinguishable from slavery. The ordinary practice among the more regular traders was to make arrangements with the tribal chiefs in the groups where the raw laborers are found, to supply a certain number on fixed scale of payment, with an understanding sometimes made by threats that when they [illegible] required of any tribe could be had [illegible] to defend a settlement or any particular [illegible]. But there were numbers of traders, or rather [illegible] traders, who cared little for dealing on an [illegible] party and massacring all the people in a village as the quickest means on hand to their cargo by murder rather than [illegible], and having got them down below, sailing away with them. These raids were often accompanied by blood-curdling atrocities, and the men who were guilty of them were among the most depraved and callous wretches that ever disgraced the human form divine.

Such was the position [illegible] affairs when the [illegible] of the house of Godefroi, the great German trading company in Apia, in Samoa, that one of their vessels, named the Karl, a smart brigantine of [illegible] tons, had committed a raid on one of the islands of the New Hebrides and carried off a large number of men and women after a fierce engagement and a sickening slaughter. It was one of the boldest and most brutal crimes of the kind that had yet been committed, and a loud complaint having been made by the missionaries and the respectable traders, the British Commodore had sent a cutter in search of the Karl, and [illegible] indignant remonstrance to her owners.

The Godefrois were thunderstruck. They had long established at Samoa for many years and had the highest standing in the Pacific for fair dealing with both whites and natives. Moreover, they were in no way concerned in the labor traffic, and the masters of all their vessels had instructions not only to carry no labor on account of the firm, but never to have any dealing, however profitable, with that unsavory trade. The Captain of the Karl was a trusted servant of the company, a man of excellent judgement and of [illegible] probity.

[illegible] could only reply to the [illegible] that they deeply regretted what had occurred, and [illegible] gladly assist in [illegible] the culprits to justice. The only expedition they could [illegible] was that some [illegible] anxious to get hands on all sorts [illegible] had made such tempting offers to the Captain, or perhaps to the crew of the Karl, as had overcome all scruples and made them forget both the instructions of their employers and the dictates of humanity.

With all their experience of the island trade, they little knew what dangers and surprises they had to contend with.

When the Karl left Apia with a cargo of copra, that is to say, dried cocoanut, for Sydney, her crew consisted of twelve men of all nationalities, three or four Samoan boys as deck hands, the German Captain, and two mates. All went well for some weeks. The brigantine sailed from group to group on the way to Sydney, picking up shipments of copra at the various trading stations, and was already over nearly half her voyage when she fell in with a small vessel flying the Fiji flag. She appeared to have been in very bad weather, and as the Karl approached her she hung out a signal of distress. As the sea was not at all rough and the two vessels were close together, the Captain of the Karl sent a boat under the charge of the mate to ask what was the matter. The mate reported that the little vessel had been caught in a hurricane and lost all of her crew except two men and a colored boy, and was in such a bad condition that her Captain feared he must abandon her, unless the Karl would stand by him until he could reach some place of safety.

WHAT IS BEST TO WEAR!

Useful Hints for Home Dressmakers.

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY CONSIDERED.

UNDOUBTEDLY there isn't half the pleasure in buying gowns when one has plenty of money," says a shrewd woman with a pretty good notion of both sides of the subject.. "The interest comes in when you have just enough to "get what you want by drawing liberally on contrivance and taste. For myself "I grow tired reading about opulence I cannot hope to have. Most fashion "articles treat of too unlimited gorgeousness for anything below flashy girls' "imagination, who seldom find flights too extravagant to please them. I wish "somebody would write for women who wish to look as well as the best on "ordinary allowances."

It isn't impossible to look as well—not to dress as well absolutely, but to make as satisfactory an effect—on much less money than rich women spend, if one has strict taste, a command of shopping sense, and is clever at her needle. Three-fourths the cost of dresses from first class houses goes for the making, not for the material. Every girl should be taught thoroughly how to plan a dress and finish it in correct style

Not to tell the wearying novelties of style, but to select the best points is a pleasing matter. The gown for the street, rich or plain, is of wool, silk being left to the dowagers out of doors. A well chosen wardrobe will have a selection of the most useful and welcome of seasonable goods. Each material has its own special mode for making. Ladies who are studying economy this summer, and who are aiming to make the outlay for their dresses come within the most economical of figures, are advised to attend

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by general Canadian companies, and anticipated for surrender on lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of insurance men. The unexpected and unwelcome on demand of $1,220,625 in the amount of lapsed policies confined to Canadian companies during a period which, considering the number in force at the same [illegible] showed a lapsation under this heading of $24,000,000 and not $10 to the company, we think Canadians have every reason to deserve [illegible] for such a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the per centage of lapsation to [illegible] on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies, and the companies [illegible] figures and proportions which are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Canada Life	$[illegible]	3.27
Confederation	17,374,000	5.21
Ontario Mutual	10,977,000	10.29
Federal	10,000,000	10.29
Sun Life	11,670,917	10.88
North American	8,470,000	10.89
Temperance & General	3,054,272	17.64
Citizens	2,927,000	20.13
Manufacturers' Life	3,723,100	30.12
Equitable	1,844,295	30.61

From this table we can see that while such companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have actually decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the number companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.79 per cent.

The only cheerful we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its policies it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, submit to the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. That as large a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should accidently abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies arise from their policy holders [illegible] their [illegible] elsewhere. It is a [illegible] fact of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies withstanding the storm of the [illegible] [illegible] and bearing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The new club house is now completed and with the united co-operation of the members will soon be clear of the small debt which is now upon it. 2d

Watered Stock in Heavier.

Mr. John Doherty, market clerk, was able to make a useful and interesting experiment the other day. Just before the severe thunderstorm came to a climax he weighed a load of hay, which tipped the scales at 4,310 pounds. Before the hay could be placed under shelter the rain fell, and the load was pretty well saturated. Out of curiosity Mr. Doherty afterwards re-weighed it, when the scales showed a weight of 4,630 lbs.—an increase of 320 pounds. This may serve as a precedent in the purchase and sale of hay. As a usual thing about fifty pounds is allowed if the hay is damp.

The Fragarian Fete.

St. John's church grounds looked at their best last night. The spacious, sloping lawn was blazing with light, thronged with people and ornamented with a couple of handsome tents. In the large marquee as well as the smaller canvass refreshment and flower tables were managed by the ladies of the congregation, whose receipts at the close of the evening were most satisfactory. The display of flowers was particularly good. The grounds were illuminated by a number of large torches. The church and school-room were also thrown open to the public. The strawberry social was a success, though the air was rather too cool for a rapid sale of cooling drinks and refreshments.

Decoration Day.

The annual ceremony of decorating the graves of deceased brethren will be celebrated by the Oddfellows of the town Friday afternoon in the usual elaborate manner. The parade of Oddfellows will be large, and the Canton and band will also turn out. An important feature of these ceremonies is the floral display, in which the Oddfellows seek the assistance of friends of the Order. For years it has been the custom for the general public to donate bouquets and floral tokens for this purpose, and the Oddfellows look for the usual kindly interest to be manifest this year. Flowers may be left at either A. Mercer & Co.'s or H. Long's, with instructions as to which lodge the gift is intended for. The route of march to the cemetery is to be well watered, so that the processionists, as well as the general public, will have a comfortable walk.

The Peterborough Rangers.

The 57th Battalion held its last drill of the season Tuesday evening. Further drill will not take place till September. Some of the clothing and helmets were handed in last night.

After drill the non-commissioned officers held a meeting for the purpose of considering the establishment of a sergeant's mess. After discussing the project a committee was appointed to gather further information on the subject and report at a meeting to be held next Tuesday night. Votes of thanks were passed to the non-coms. of the Q.O.R. and Grenadiers for the friendly interest they took in the entertainment of the battalion during its visit to Toronto.

The appointment of Dr. Halliday as Surgeon to the 57th Battalion will be gazetted shortly.

Excursions Galore.

Yesterday's Outings Interfered With by Rain—Three Picnics To-Morrow.

There are excursions galore this week. Yesterday there were two, the St. Paul's church Sunday School to Jacob's Island and the Sons of England to Jubilee. To-day the Mark street Sunday School went to Jubilee Point. To-morrow the George street Sunday School goes to Hastings, St. John's to Chemong, and the Baptists to Hales' Bridge.

About 250 persons went on to the St. Paul's Sunday School excursion, and an otherwise pleasant day was marred by the severe rainstorm which fell just after dinner, preventing the carrying out of the contemplated sports and interfering with the comfort of the picnickers. Some few who delayed too long in getting under shelter paid the penalty of a thorough drenching. The covered scow afforded ample protection from the rain, and on the trip home a number of children's races were run on the deck, to the great delight of the little ones. Some nice prizes were given the winners.

With the Sons of England.

The "Golden Eye" took down a good crowd to Jubilee Point under the auspices of Lansdowne Lodge of the Sons of England, and despite the storm an enjoyable time was spent. The trip down the river and back again was enlivened by the music of the orchestra, to which the merry dancers kept time with tireless feet. Much of the success of the picnic was due to the indefatigable efforts of the committee, among whom Messrs. Thos. Gunn, R. Warnn, R. Tivey and W. Taylor were prominent.

Childs' race.—Gordon Butcher.

A prize to the newest married couple on the grounds was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. W. Stocker.

Tug of War—Married vs. Single. Single men won.

Committeemen's Race—1st, T. E. Stevenson; 2nd, W. Stocker.

Fatal Results.

As was expected from his extreme age and natural infirmity, the injuries sustained by Mr. Patrick Haggarty at the Grand Trunk station Tuesday ended fatally at the Nicholls Hospital a little before five o'clock. His aged and grief-stricken wife arrived just in time to receive the last embrace of the husband who had been the sharer of her joys and sorrows for many, many years. The deceased gentleman was a most exemplary and highly esteemed citizen, obliging and generous, and well liked by all who knew him. He was a native of the County Limerick, Ireland, and came to Canada about forty years ago, living at first in Kingston, and afterwards removing to Peterborough. Mr. Haggarty leaves behind him a widow of the venerable age of 85 years, and four daughters and one son—the latter, Mr. M. Haggarty, of Saginaw, Michigan, who arrived in town to-day; Mrs. Edward Harley, Mrs. M. McFadden, sr., and two unmarried daughters, Misses Ellen and Bridget. The funeral takes place to-morrow at 9 30 o'clock from the late residence to St. Peter's Cathedral and the R. C. Cemetery.

Important Concession.

The following letter has been received by the Secretary of the Board of Trade, who kindly allows us publication of it:—

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA,
TRAFFIC MANAGER'S OFFICE,
MONTREAL, July 7th, 1890.

J. Hampden Burnham, Esq., Secretary Board of Trade, Peterborough Ont:

DEAR SIR.—The minute of the meeting of the Board of Trade of Town and County of Peterborough of 18th June, a copy of which you sent to our General Manager, have been sent to me, and I have pleasure in advising you that the rates on import traffic to Peterborough will be placed on the same footing as the rates on the same traffic to Toronto. The steamship lines connecting with this company at Montreal have been so advised, and they in turn have so advised their correspondents in England and the continent of Europe.

Yours truly,
L. F. SERGEANT,
Traffic Manager."

The EXAMINER is much pleased to see that the burden which, in the matter of freights, the merchants of Peterborough have borne for so many years has at last been lifted. That our merchants should have been compelled to pay freight rates the same as London, Ontario, and other western points was an absurd injustice, but the remedy was not forthcoming. The discrimination against us badly handicapped our merchants. Competition with Toronto was carried on with difficulty and loss, but now we have a "fair field and no favour," and the Grand Trunk have the thanks of the business community for their successfully overcoming the difficulties of adjustment of rates, and giving Peterborough simple justice.

A Sunbeam for the Manager.

Mr. Hill, of the Sun Life, and His Bride Handsomely Remembered—The Entertainment Scenes In Congratulations.

The Sun shone in all its splendor last night. The brilliant rays of this highly successful insurance company were reflected from the beaming countenance of the assembled district representatives, who had gathered to do honor to their chief on the occasion of the most important social event of his life. Mr. W. H. Hill, Manager for the Sun Life Assurance Company in Central Ontario, has returned home with his bride and taken up residence at 467 Bethune street. Whilst receiving the hearty congratulations of his many personal friends, Mr. Hill was remembered in a most substantial manner by those associated with him in business. Last evening the following district representatives assembled at the Sun offices:—J. L. Margach, general agent for Port Hope; Jas. Little, for Belleville; Wm. Thompson, for Whitby; Rev. R. B. Danks, for Campbellford; F. S. Dunnigan, R. A. Hamilton, A. E. Scott, and F. H. Dixon, of the Peterborough office. The party proceeded to Mr. Hill's residence, where after the usual formalities the following address was read by Mr. A. E. Scott:—

To W. H. HILL:

DEAR SIR.—We the agents of the Sun Life Assurance Company under your jurisdiction, desire to signalize the occasion of the most important step of your life, by offering you our most cordial congratulations and giving you our best wishes for the happiness of yourself and your bride, and to offer you a slight memento which will serve as a tangible reminder of the pleasant—mutually pleasant, we hope—associations it has been our pleasure to enjoy. While our business relations with yourself have been marked by harmony, and on your part a hearty appreciation of honestly directed efforts for the promotion of the interests it has been our duty to advance, it is our pleasure to bear the most emphatic testimony to the invariable personal kindness which has marked your bearing towards us. As you have worked faithfully, intelligently and successfully to make the "Sun" shine, you have done all in your power to make pleasant the duties of those who have been associated with you.

In extending you our congratulations and good wishes, we would not forget the act on your part that has added to you another and better self. The circumstances suggest that our warmest felicities are mutually due to both yourself and Mrs. Hill. We unite in asking you to accept for yourself of this slight token of your regard, and for Mrs. Hill this little gift, that will, it is hoped, be the adjunct to many happy seasons of domestic felicity that we trust and pray may mark the course of a long and prosperous married life.

Signed on behalf of the agents of Central Ontario district,

A. E. SCOTT,
Secretary.

Accompanying the address was a handsome gold-headed cane, inscribed "Presented to Mr. W. H. Hill by the staff of Central Ontario District, June 25, 1890"; and a beautiful and valuable silver tray and Japanese five o'clock tea set for Mrs. Hill.

Mr. Hill expressed his own and Mrs. Hill's gratitude for the kind evidences of good will in a neat reply. He, however, prized the harmony which ever existed among the staff far more than any rich gifts, and hoped the present pleasant relations between himself and the Company's agents would always continue.

After the party had withdrawn Mr. and Mrs. Hill were further surprised by a visit from the 57th Battalion Band, which serenaded them about ten o'clock. Mr. Hill is the first captain of the regiment to be married since the band has been attached to the Battalion.

Womans' Work.

The Peterborough Presbyterial Society Hold Their Half Yearly Meeting in Lakefield.

The semi-annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial Society was held in the Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, on Thursday, July 3rd. The following delegates were present:—Peterborough, Miss Roger, Mesdames Henderson, White, Paton, Isaac, Alexander, McWilliams, Misses Dickson, Roger and Edmison; Port Hope, Mrs. Craick; Cobourg, Mrs. McNachton, Mrs. Hagerman; Centreville, Misses Fair, Mrs. Waddell; Coldsprings, Miss Bowman; Vernonville, Mrs. Robertson.

The morning session was occupied chiefly with reports from delegates and interchange of ideas as to the best means of promoting the work in the several branches, coupled with suggestions from the President and Secretary regarding the quantity and quality of the clothing to be sent from this Presbytery to the Indians at Portage la Prairie.

There were present at the afternoon session about 150 ladies, among which were thickly sprinkled representatives from the other Christian denominations of the place. The President, Miss Roger, occupied the chair. Mrs. W. M. Graham, Lakefield, in a few words, welcomed the delegates, on behalf of whom Mrs. McNachton, Cobourg, eloquently responded. Mrs. Craick, secretary, presented her report with her usual painstaking accuracy. While reviewing the work of the half year, she portrayed the possibilities of greater and more efficient service in the line of mission work in the time to come.

Mrs. W. M. Graham, associate secretary, gave a verbal report of the work in connection with the literature department.

Greetings were presented on behalf of the Methodist Womans' Missionary Society, by Mrs. J. C. Sheris, and on behalf of the Baptist Mission Circle and Mission Band, by Miss Wallace and Miss Sarah Gordon, respectively.

The feature of the afternoon session was a paper on "Practical difficulties to be encountered in the work," prepared and read by Mrs. Shortread, Toronto, Home Secretary of the General Society. It was characterized by its especial fitness and application to every branch and every member in the Presbytery, both by its sympathy in encountering difficulties and wise counsel as to the best means of overcoming them.

Apart from those already mentioned the following ladies assisted in the exercises:—Mrs. Paton, Peterborough; Mrs. Hendren, Mrs. B. Hunter, Mrs. Allan and Miss Waltona Nelson, Lakefield.

The members of the "Pansy" Mission Band entertained the delegates, friends and resident ministers at tea on the manse lawn, the house being kindly thrown open by Mrs. McEwen for the use of the guests.

Rev. J. McEwen presided at the evening meeting, which was earnestly and acceptably addressed by Rev. Norman H. Russell, Toronto, missionary-elect to India; Rev. F. Johnston, Methodist; and Mr. Norman, Baptist, assisted in the exercises.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Our hotels seem well on the boom.

Regular morning of arrival and departure of steamer Wenonah at 8.7. Boat will be commenced in a few days.

Hetters' hotel, Burleigh, was struck by lightning during the storm Monday afternoon. Considerable damage was done to the kitchen and the cook was stunned for a time.

Nellie and Clarence Ball returned from Toronto on Saturday evening to spend their holidays, and are now enjoying themselves at "Elm Nook," the Doctor's cottage on Stony Lake.

Your correspondent took a run up the lake on the "Mary Ellen" Saturday evening and was struck by the attention and courtesy shown by Capt. Scollard and his crew to all on board. It seemed a pleasure to them to oblige their passengers.

Police Magistrate Masdon held court in the Town Hall, Lakefield, on Tuesday morning, to try Mr. Jas. Charlton for shooting a hound belonging to Mr. Geo. Baptie, which, it was claimed, had been hunting sheep. Verdict—$1 and costs, and $20 for the dog, to be paid in ten days. W. A. Stratton appeared for the plaintiff and R. B. Edwards for defendant.

If any of your readers want a good day's fishing let them try Young's Point, and stop at McFarlane's. "Bill" will give them a welcome, show them the best fishing grounds, give them a good dinner, a square drink; in fact use them as well that they will be glad to call again when they want a day's outing.

The past ten days have been full of thunder storms in this vicinity. Your correspondent witnessed the storm and whirlwind which swept over Clear Lake last Wednesday morning, and was only too glad that he was ashore before it came. It was a beautiful sight to see the water as it was thrown, or drawn, many feet in the air, white as snow, until it joined the dark, funnel-shaped cloud overhead. Large stones, limbs of trees, etc., were carried up almost out of sight, and fell half a mile from the Douro shore, where it struck, and when all was over the lake was covered with leaves, branches, wood, etc. On Monday afternoon we had another severe storm, with a heavy down-pour, which washed the streets clean, and again to-day (Tuesday) we have been favoured with one not much less severe, but, so far, we heard of no damage being done.

Births, 20, deaths, 8 and marriages, 2 were the total number registered with the village clerk for the half year ending June 31st.

One of the finest drives of sawlogs to pass Lakefield this summer, is that of Messrs. Gilmour, Trenton, which is now waiting to run over. Foremen, men, cook and grub are all like the logs, first class.

Lovers of flowers will have an opportunity about the end of the week to see a specimen of "cereus grandiflora" night blooming cactus in bloom, in Carter's Green House. It has several buds, but the first promises to be larger than usual. As it starts to open in the evening and only lasts one night, those wishing to see it should not neglect to call.

Some of our citizens, who are pleased with the manner our new constable is performing his duties, stubbed together and advanced a sum to purchase him a full uniform, so that in a short time we may expect to see a full-fledged city "cop" on our streets, a terror to all evil-doers.

Important Notice.

It is a well known fact that there is a certain waste and decay that takes place continually in the human body, and it therefore follows that if the body is to be sustained and nourished—if provision is to be made for its growth and increase—new material must be as constantly furnished as the old tissues waste.

It is to provide this new material to supply the place of the destroyed structures that food is taken into the body.

With infants the tissues waste as well as with older people, and the infant body requires a properly prepared, and easily digested food for its growth and nourishment.

It is generally conceded by the medical profession that the mothers' milk, when pure and healthy, is the safest and most nourishing food; but unfortunately circumstances frequently occur, which prevents the mother nursing her child; and at times, even where the mothers' milk in all that could be desired as an element of nutriment, it happens that the digestive organism of the child is in such a condition, that the giving of nature's food is a positive injury.

To obviate these grave troubles, "Lactated Food" was prepared, and is acknowledged by physicians to be the only properly prepared food for weak and impaired digestion, and for general infantile nutrition.

It is now well known that "Lactated Food" is of great value and benefit not only to the infant, but to the young and old generally who have weak stomachs, and whose organs of digestion are at times unable to digest strong foods and meats.

The best medical authorities have freely given an opinion to the effect—that it would be impossible to devise a food more nourishing and strengthening, and at the same time so well adapted for defective assimilation.

PRISON REFORM INQUIRY.

OPENING SESSION OF THE COMMISSION HELD AT HAMILTON.

The Chairman States the Scope of the Investigation—Many Sheriffs and Jailers Present—Governor Ogilvie's Evidence as to the Hamilton Jail.

HAMILTON, July 9.—The Prison Reform Commission, consisting of J. W. Langmuir (chairman), Hon. Timothy Anglin (Secretary), Hon. Charles Drury, Dr. A. M. Rosebrugh and A. F. Jury, met here to-day.

The commission was appointed by the Ontario government in consequence of resolutions passed by the Prison Reform Conference held in Toronto last November requesting the selection of "a commission to investigate and report upon the question of prison reform, with the view of suggesting improved methods of dealing with the criminal classes," and their first session was held in the court house here at 11 o'clock this morning.

There was a large attendance of witnesses including Sheriff T. C. Dawson and Jailer Hamilton of St. Catharines; Sheriff James Smith and Jailer John Coulson of Welland; Sheriff McKellar and Jailer Ogilvie of Hamilton; Rev. T. Geoghegan, Rev. Father McEvay, W. C. Barnes and Rev. J. S. Ross.

The chairman explained that the commission had a large scope, but would make enquiry especially on these points: 1, the cause of crime; 2, any improved means for providing and conducting industrial schools; 3, improved means of rescuing destitute children from a criminal career; 4, improvements in the management of county jails and the management of prisoners; 5, the most fitting practicable employment for prisoners in the province; 6, the question of indeterminate sentences for offenders against provincial laws; 7, improved way of dealing with tramps and habitual drunkards. The commission had chosen Hamilton to open in, not on account of its prominence as a criminal centre, but simply because it was near Toronto.

Governor James Ogilvie of the Hamilton jail was the only witness this morning. He gave a long statement of the treatment and classification of the prisoners in his charge. He could not keep t ose awaiting trial separate from the sentenced offenders. He never knew of any boys being corrupted in his jail, in fact the boys used much worse language than the men. He had never heard old prisoners recounting their crimes to the younger men; on the contrary, they are very careful about talking of previous crimes, though they frequently tell how often they have done time. The Central Prison takes the worst prisoners away, and sometimes even the 30-day men are sent when they are short of labor at the Central.

The establishment of a municipal workhouse would reduce the number of prisoners in the jail, enable them to improve the classification and discipline of the jail. It would be an impossibility to adopt the cellular system in the Hamilton jail, because all the inmates of the cells in one corridor can speak to each other. He thought the isolation of prisoners would be cruel, would weaken their minds by brooding and injuriously affect the morals of prisoners.

Last year 401 prisoners were sent down for being drunk and disorderly, of whom about one-fifth were confirmed drunkards, and they were hardened rather than reformed by the committals. He could not say that he knew one case where a committal to jail has had a deterrent effect on them. Drunkenness among women has largely decreased in recent years, due in his opinion to fear of the Mercer and also to the excellent work of Christian societies. Habitual drunkards may generally be looked upon as a charge on their families, not as supporters of their families. He would favor sending them to an inebriate asylum where they would be subject to medical treatment, especially for men under thirty.

In his opinion the chief cause of crime is intemperance, with ignorance a good second. Illiterate children are usually the children of drunken parents. One of the grandest institutions for the prevention of crime among boys is the field sports instituted by the clergy of St. Matthew's, where the boys can assemble in the evenings and amuse themselves under supervision.

In answer to Mr. Drury the witness said that prisoners should have hard labor, and that it should be real hard. The jail here always has a large supply of stone on hand for this purpose. There was only one month in five years when there was no stone at the jail, and the news spread about so quickly that the jail was immediately overflowed with tramps.

A BAD MAN OF BERLIN.

The Number of His Wives Is "Estimated" at Seven.

BERLIN, Ont., July 9.—High Constable Kippert yesterday arrested a man named Conrad Ortwein, charged with polygamy. It is claimed that he has now the seventh wife, the last one living in this town. He is a well-dressed German with a large amount of glib talk, and it appears found no trouble in gaining the affections of the gentler sex. He had a mania for widow women. The charge was laid against him by a Mrs. Rosko, a widow living in the north ward, to whom he proposed at first sight. She was interviewed by a reporter and told a rather amusing story, which is as follows:

About a month ago Ortwein visited Mrs. Rosko and made a proposal of marriage to her, but as she was not willing to accept without taking the matter into consideration and counselling her family he gave her two weeks' time. At the end of the two weeks he called again and told her a silver-lined story about owning a fifty-acre farm near Stratford, and said he was shortly to inherit $1000. His prepossessing appearance and the offer to clear the debt on her property was too much for her and he soon won her affections, and the date for the marriage was fixed, which took place a week ago Sunday.

After they had been made one, Mrs. Ortwein No. 7 became suspicious, and on enquiry found that she only possessed a seventh part of his affections. Yesterday morning when he made his appearance she accused him of infidelity and polygamy and belabored him with a broom. Soon after this he was arrested. He will be tried on three charges, which will be made against him by Mrs. Wolf, Wellesley township; Miss Gildner, Wellesley township, and Mrs. Rosko, Berlin. He is about 30 years of age and is said to have married children living near Stratford. It is estimated that he has seven wives and about thirty children.

He Smoked Cigarets.

AMSTERDAM, N.Y., July 9.—Michael Rocke, aged 15, died here to-day, the result of excessive cigaret smoking.

THE TORONTO BUDGET.

A PROTEST FILED AGAINST MR. STINSON'S ELECTION.

Immigration to Ontario—Mr. Manley's Body Found at Lewiston—Another Bather Loses His Life in the Don—A Fatal Scaffolding Accident.

TORONTO, July 10.—A petition against the return of Mr. Thos. H. Stinson to the Ontario Assembly from Hamilton was filed yesterday with the registrar of the Court of Appeal. The protest was accompanied with the necessary deposit of $1000. Mr. J. V. Teetzel, Q. C., of Hamilton, filed the document through his Toronto agents, Messrs. McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman. Mark J. Patterson, the petitioner, is described as a gentleman. He is an ex-landing waiter in the Hamilton Customs House. Mr. Stinson and his agents are charged with a variety of offences against the election law: with betting money on the result, bribery, intimidation, aiding personation and with violating the License Act.

Captain Fred Manley and his brother Hubert returned from Lewiston last evening on the Chicola, bringing over the remains of their father, who was accidentally drowned in the Niagara river on Monday evening. It is supposed that the old gentleman, after leaving his home in Maitland-street Monday, went to the wharf to take a boat for the island, as he had expressed such an intention to his daughter earlier in the week. It is also supposed that his mind being unsettled by his recent severe illness he got on the Niagara boat instead of the ferry and did not notice his mistake until the steamer was far out. On arriving at Lewiston he walked up to the vicinity of Brock's monument. He was very much exhausted at the time. He spoke to a man on the road and seemed to be suffering greatly. Shortly after his body was found in very shallow water. His hat was on his head. It is thought that he tumbled off the bank, and being so weak was unable to save himself.

For the six months ended June 30 there arrived at the five agencies in the Province of Ontario 32,502 immigrants: 6130 came via the St. Lawrence and 26,372 via the United States: 24,436 went to the United States, 68 to Quebec, 976 to Manitoba and 6525 remained in Ontario. The nationality of the latter is: English 3720, Irish 928, Scotch 978, German 297, Scandinavian 96, American 389, other countries 28. The totals for the same period of 1888 and 1889 were 54,319 and 48,319, of which 12,746 and 9016 remained in Ontario.

While several men were at work on a scaffold on a building in course of erection at Ulster-street and Euclid-avenue at 4½ yesterday afternoon the supports gave way and the workmen were precipitated to the ground, a distance of 35 feet. John Boyle of 37 Brunswick-avenue sustained serious internal injuries. The ambulance was summoned and he was conveyed to the Hospital. It is impossible as yet to say whether his injuries will terminate fatally.

William T. Humphrey, aged 13, son of Thomas R. Humphrey, contractor, 3 Queen-street east, went bathing in the Don above Winchester-street bridge yesterday with a companion named John Schaefer. He either waded beyond his depth or was seized with cramps and sank to the bottom. Young Schaefer gave an alarm and the body was recovered an hour afterwards by Superintendent Bulmer of the Necropolis and conveyed to his father's residence, 301 Church-street. The funeral will take place to Mount Pleasant Cemetery to-morrow.

Ontario Government Appointments.

TORONTO, July 10.—At a meeting of the Ontario Cabinet, held yesterday afternoon, A. W. Thompson of Port Arthur was appointed Sheriff of Thunder Bay; James Meek was made Clerk of the District Court and W. C. Dobbs police magistrate, vice Thompson. Sir Alexander Campbell, Lieut.-Governor, leaves on July 16 for a trip to England and during his absence the administration will devolve upon Chief Justice Sir Thomas Galt.

A NORTHUMBERLAND MURDER.

Killed by a Blow—A Dog Prevents Another Tragedy.

BRIGHTON, July 9.—On June 25 Charles Gereau went into the blacksmith shop of Franklin E. Minor of Haldimand, Northumberland County, on a run, caught hold of Minor and gave him a squeeze, let him go and exclaimed, "I'll show them. I have had too many of these things." He went to the door just as Robert Lockhart was coming in, who said, "Hello, Charlie." Gereau picked up an oak scantling three feet long and three inches square and struck Lockhart over the head and knocked him senseless. Gereau helped to take him into the shop and said, "Now that I have done it you can go and bury him. I have killed him and I'll kill another." It appears that all this must have been premeditated.

When Miss Lockhart was in the field calling her brother she saw Gereau coming towards her. She ran for the house and he ran after her with a club in his hand. Just as he was about to strike her over the head Lockhart's dog came out and kept him at bay and saved the poor girl's life.

After this Gereau was tied by his neighbors, taken before a magistrate and sent to jail for trial.

Lockhart lingered in an unconscious state until July 3, when death put an end to his misery. A jury is now considering the case.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Two Men Killed in a Riot at West Superior—Lake Seamen's Strike.

MILWAUKEE, July 9.—A special from West Superior says striking dock laborers attempted to prevent all work in the city this afternoon. A riot ensued. Two men were mortally shot and others wounded.

CHICAGO, July 9.—The recent strike of lake seamen tying up the commerce of this port for several days has brought about "a state of things" between the Sailors' Union and the Vessel Owners' Association. The latter met yesterday afternoon and resolved that after Aug. 1 they would employ only non-union men and that in default of help of that sort they would tie up their vessels. It was also decided to advertise for men on the Atlantic coast.

TOLEDO, July 9.—A strike of the freight handlers on all the leading railroads of the city took place this afternoon. The men want an advance of from 13 and 13½ cents per hour to 15 cents. About 200 men are out.

An Elevator Wanted at Kingston.

KINGSTON, July 9.—The Board of Trade has decided to request the Dominion Government to erect a grain elevator here.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND DELEGATES SAIL FOR HOME.

It Is Reported That Bulgaria's President Has Been Shot by a Woman—Fatal Epidemic of Influenza in China—The Congo State Bill.

LONDON, July 9.—The delegates appointed by the Government of Newfoundland to lay before the Home Government the claims of Newfoundland in the fisheries matter sailed from Liverpool for St. Johns to-day. The delegates expressed the conviction that the fishery dispute would be satisfactorily settled.

Five hundred persons attended a Postmen's meeting in Clerkenwell Green this evening. The Postmen's Union has decided to strike in the morning unless "blacklegs" are dismissed.

One hundred postmen concerned in an attack upon "blacklegs" have been dismissed.

There was a mild renewal of the rioting in Bow-street this evening.

Belgium and the Congo State.

BRUSSELS, July 9.—Premier Bernaert introduced the Congo State Bill in the Chamber of Representatives to-day. Belgium will loan the Congo State 25,000,000 francs, of which 5,000,000 francs will be advanced immediately, and 2,000,000 francs will be advanced annually for ten years, the loan to be free from interest. Six months from the expiration of the ten years Belgium can annex the Congo State and all its properties and rights in conformity with the acts signed in Berlin Feb. 26, 1886, and in Brussels July 1, 1890. Belgium assuming all responsibility toward other parties, and King Leopold renouncing his claims for indemnity for sacrifices made by him. If on the expiration of the term Belgium does not desire to annex the Congo State, the loan will bear interest at 3½ per cent., and re-payment can be demanded on the expiration of a further ten years. The bill was referred to a committee. King Leopold's bequeathal of his entire rights in the Congo State to Belgium, dated Aug. 11, 1889, was read and was greeted with loud applause.

Bulgaria's Premier Assassinated.

LONDON, July 9.—It is reported that a girl shot M. Stambuloff, the Bulgarian Prime Minister, with a revolver at Sofia to-day. The report comes by way of Bucharest and Vienna.

The Bulgarian Throne.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 9.—The report that Russia would soon propose the Duke of Leuchtenberg for the Bulgarian Throne is semi-officially denied. It is held the present condition of Bulgaria does not favor Russian intervention.

Mousa Boy to Be Tried Again.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 9.—The public prosecutor has appealed against the acquittal of Mousa Bey and a new trial has been ordered.

The Tennis Championship.

LONDON, July 9.—At Wimbledon to-day Hamilton of Dublin won the tennis championship, defeating Renshaw with the score of 27 games to 18.

Restless Russia.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The Japan Mail states that a rumor is prevalent that Russia has seized an island off the coast of Corea.

The Grip in China.

PARIS, July 9.—Despatches and letters from China report an extraordinary epidemic of influenza, which has spread with terrible rapidity throughout the empire. Half the population of Pekin and of several other large cities have been attacked by the malady. A large number of cases proved fatal. Trade is suspended and public business interrupted.

Princess Henry Ill.

BERLIN, July 9.—Princess Henry of Prussia is ill. It is rumored she is suffering from diphtheria.

Emperor William has arrived at Bergen, Norway, where he met with a hearty reception. He will remain there one week.

GEN. MIDDLETON'S FAREWELL.

An Address to the Militia to Appear in The Gazette Saturday.

OTTAWA, July 9.—Gen. Sir Fred Middleton has written a farewell to the militia of Canada. He expresses in the first place his acknowledgment of the manner in which they have always responded to the call of duty, for the interest they take in their work, for the efficiency displayed and for their reception and treatment of him. He assures them that he shall always look forward to their fulfilment of the great future before them with intense interest. The address will appear in The Canada Gazette Saturday.

The section of the B.N.A. Act affecting the commander-in-chief for the Canadian forces reads: "There shall be appointed an officer who holds the rank of colonel, or superior rank thereto, in Her Majesty's regular army, who shall be charged under the orders of Her Majesty with the military command and discipline of the militia and shall be paid at the rate of $4000 per annum in full of all pay and allowance."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Hon. S. H. Blake, Q.C., Slightly Injured by a Boiler Explosion.

MONTREAL, July 9.—A tourist party composed of Hon. S. H. Blake, Q.C., Toronto; George T. Brown, manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, London, and Edward Cronin of London arrived in town to-day by train after escaping from a serious accident. The party left Toronto on Monday in a steam yacht for Murray Bay, where they intended spending the summer. They experienced very heavy weather. Opposite Gananoque yesterday the boiler exploded and the yacht took fire. The party was rescued by a tug attracted by the sound of the explosion a mile distant. They continued their journey this evening by train. Mr. Blake was slightly burned.

The Northern Atlantic Railway.

QUEBEC, July 9.—Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Bender returned from England yesterday. Mr. Bender says that in about three or four weeks English engineers will come to Canada and enter at once on the task of surveying the ground for the Northern Atlantic Railway. Mr. Bender is hopeful of seeing his scheme carried through. This railway, when built, will reduce the Atlantic navigation to four days. The track will run from Quebec across the Saguenay district to a point on the Labrador coast, probably St. Charles Bay, where a port will be opened.

OTTAWA, July 8.—Ten-year-old Harold Leggatt, who accidentally shot Mabel Berthier, aged 13, was bailed out to-night. Judge Lees placed the bail at $500 for the prisoner and two sureties of $250 each.

The K. of P. Parade at Beerville.

MILWAUKEE, July 8.—The parade of the Knights of Pythias here to-day was an imposing spectacle. There were 10,000 knights in line and the number would have been larger but for the heat.

Montreal's Queer Police Record.

MONTREAL, July 8.—A strange entry in the police records yesterday was that one "C" had been fined $45 and costs for an infraction of the license laws. The clerk of the court apparently did not know what "C" stood for, or if he did chose to keep that knowledge to himself.

Yesterday's Ball Games.

NATIONAL—Boston 19, Pittsburg 7; New York 2, Chicago 3; Philadelphia 6, Cincinnati 1; Cleveland 3, Brooklyn 5.

AMERICAN—Columbus 8, Rochester 7; Toledo 9, Brooklyn 3; St. Louis 5, Syracuse 12; Athletics 1, Louisville 3.

Protection in Spain.

MADRID, July 9.—The new cabinet has issued a circular outlining the policy. It announces its intention to give decided and sincere protection to national productions by a revision of the tariff.

RUN ON THE FAILED [illegible]

A New Bank Stopping Payment Assisted by the Police.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The [illegible] raided the "Mining Stock Exchange" on 44 New-street and captured [illegible] and a large amount of [illegible]. George W. Rankin, the president of the "Exchange," and James W. Wadsworth, broker who is interested in the business, were taken into custody. The people connected with the place and a number of stock speculators escaped.

The "plant" of the "game" consisted of a good-sized room, a big blackboard containing the names of alleged California mining stock, a little cubby hole labelled "Clearing House," a "fly" young man who acted as spokesman for the faro game and seven "shoal pigeons," who posed as members of the exchange. These were the principal actors. In addition there was a youth who chalked up bogus quotations, a cashier hidden in the recesses of The "Clearing House" and an elderly gentleman, apparently president of the exchange, who explained the modus operandi to customers.

The names of the stocks dealt in at this exchange are the Maple, Zenia, Mak-saw-ba, Alpena, Orange and Yorke. A chalked up notice on the blackboard declares that these compose the well-known Orange group of mines, six in number, located in Southern California, and which produce from $4000 to $6000 a day.

The prices of these stocks fluctuate rapidly. Alpena, for instance, frequently falls or rises a half-dozen points in as many minutes, and Mak-saw-ba is a regular [illegible] to those who deal in it on small margins. The stock in the Orange mine with [illegible] collar in July, even when the mine is at its acme of prosperity. Often when the Maple is shut down and has produced nothing for months she soars away above par, just as if she were a dividend payer.

These remarkable ranges are caused by the fact that chance and the "fly" young man at the rostrum of the Exchange dictate the prices. There are a lot of cards in a box, on which are written such remarks as "Advance Mak-saw-ba three-eighths," or "Lower Alpena one-half." Then the "fly" young man draws out one by one at the rate of about two a minute. As he reads the legends they are transferred to the blackboard. They become the duly authorized quotations on Alpena or Mak-saw-ba until the fare has knocks them out by making a new figure.

When I entered the place yesterday afternoon a bull movement in the Yorke stock had just been started. It looked a tempting thing just then to try a "flyer." It was not many minutes, however, before there was another turn of the cards, and that poor stock was smashed until there wasn't enough left of it to pick up.

The "fly" young faro dealer kept at it, however, with an imperturbability that was amazing. One moment he was the leader of a powerful bull campaign. The next he was the worst bear uncaged. Maple rose and fell. Zenia tumbled three-eighths at a time, but the faro cards leaped from the box with clock-like regularity, and the dealer was unmindful of the fortunes won or lost by his drawings.

STORM ECHOES.

Maine a Disastrous Cyclone—Fatalities in Northern New York.

LEWISTON, Me., July 9.—Specials from Somerset, Waldo, Oxford and Franklin counties indicate that last evening's cyclone was one of the most disastrous that ever visited Maine. The Sandy River railway bridge near Phillips was blown from its abutments into the river. Many barns were blown down all through Franklin county. At North Anson the bridge across Carrabassett river is so twisted as to be unsafe. The Maine Central institute at Pittsfield is damaged. Capt. Goodrich's cottage at Madison was blown flat. The barn and stable of Hamilton Marston was struck by lightning and burned. At Thorndike a store was demolished. In various parts of Maine nearly 00 barns were blown down or unroofed.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., July 9.—Reports received from towns in this county show that yesterday's gale did considerable damage. Fruit and shade trees were blown down in great numbers and many were torn up by the roots. Several barns were unroofed and some orchards were destroyed.

TROY, July 9.—Despatches from Willsboro and Westport show that the cyclone there, while severe in its force and doing considerable damage to barns and crops, did not destroy any lives. So far as learned the three persons drowned at Rouse's Point and the man drowned at the Bluff Point Hotel were all the persons who lost their lives during the storm.

ROUSE'S POINT, N.Y., July 9.—The tug Little Nellie, towing a pile driver from this place to Albany, Vt., was struck by the storm about ¾ mile south of Windmill Point Lighthouse at 4½ o'clock yesterday afternoon and at once sank to the bottom. Captain George Clark of Keeseville, the owner of the steamer, his son George Hill, the engineer of Rouse's Point, were drowned. The pilot escaped, as did several men, upon the spile driver.

A LIMIT ON DRINKS.

MILWAUKEE, July 9.—An unpleasantness exists in the ranks of those Knights of Pythias who wear red and gold-embroidered uniforms. The trouble has all grown out of the iron-clad rules laid down for the regulation of the Milwaukee Encampment by Major-General Carnahan, the head-centre of the Knights of the Uniform Rank. Gen. Carnahan is a temperance man from way back and he has issued an ultimatum to the effect that not one drop stronger than pop shall find its way into camp. In addition to this he has declared the camp shall be governed on the strictest military lines. The purely civic lodges are pleased as they will shift for themselves at Milwaukee, the camp being occupied solely by the warriors, who will be forced to go dry or form a skirmish line every time they want a draught of the Cream City's famous beverages.

The regiment from California, already in quarters at Milwaukee, brought along a carload of the output of the Pacific coast vineyards. The Knights were in ignorance of their Chief's order and proceeded to roll their wine into camp. It was ordered out, and a row ensued. The Far West men said they would camp beside their grape-juice outside the walls. This they have done, and the regular encampment is minus a stalwart regiment.

U.S. Consuls Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The Senate to-day confirmed these nominations: Consuls—W. F. Galloway of Indiana at Stratford, Ont.; G. B. Jocelyn of Michigan at Windsor, Ont.

Montreal's Population 277,000.

MONTREAL, July 8.—By the report of the assessors, who have nearly finished their work, it appears that the population of Montreal is 277,000. In 1889 the city and suburbs were supposed to contain 230,700 inhabitants and the gain for the four years is 47,000, or at the rate of nearly 12,000 per annum.

U. S. Census Notes.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The rough official count of the population of St. Louis by the census office was completed to-day. It shows the city's population to be 448,194. The result of the official rough count of the population of Baltimore by the census office here shows a total of 435,628. St. Louis will be fifth in the list of large cities.

CHICAGO, July 9.—The revised estimate of Census Supervisor Gilbert puts the population of Chicago at 1,100,000; possibly a few more than that number.

Requisition for Nettie Clark.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Governor Hill has granted requisition papers to Rhode Island authorities for the return to Providence of Nettie Clark, who forged a $2000 check and fled to this city.

STONY LAKE CAMPERS WILL FIND AT
JUNIPER ISLAND STORE
A full assortment of Groceries, Canned Goods and Campers' Supplies generally—a first class stock, fresh and reliable, and at Peterborough prices. The popularity of this store last year and the favor with which it was received has induced us to enlarge the building and lay in a much larger stock this season so that campers may be saved the trouble and annoyance of bringing their supplies from town and other places, as they can be equally as well served by us. Being centrally situated, it is easy of access—the steamer passes close to the Island both entering and leaving Stony Lake.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.
Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, JULY 10, 1890.

ANDREW CARNEGIE, the Scottish-American millionaire, warns young men against three great rocks which are ahead of them. The first is drunkenness; the second, speculation, and the third endowing. Of the first he says there is no use in wasting time upon any young man who drinks liquor, no matter how exceptional his talent.

THERE were few Separate Schools in the country districts at this Province, says the Hamilton Times, previous to the Tory agitation on the French and Separate Schools during the recent campaign. In fact, previous to the last election nearly 70 per cent. of the Catholic children were attending the Public Schools, their parents being quite satisfied to have them educated there. Now, however, we learn, the Catholics have taken alarm at the attitude assumed by the Mowatt gang and are forming Separate School districts wherever they are able. The great majority of the schools in the French-Canadian districts of Prescott, Russell, Essex, Kent and Glengarry have hitherto been Public Schools. But in those districts steps are now being taken to organize Catholic Separate Schools, and where the Catholic ratepayers are in the majority the Public Schools suffer. As was predicted long ago, this shameful outcry of the fanatics has only borne evil to the Province and to Protestantism.

Public Debts.

This, the census year of the United States, is notable for the fact that the net debt of the country is reduced to a figure below a billion dollars, for the first time since the war. On July 1st, 1890, the gross debt was $1,008,903,230, and the net debt $908,176,-172. The assets are made up of such solid items as $221,612,423 gold and $317,634,822 silver in the treasury.

We have not the figures of the Canadian debt at July 1st, but at May 31st the gross debt was $262,127,430 and the net debt was $223,749,236, the assets of $49,406,102 being made up of sinking funds $24,066,947, other investments $6,166,314, Province accounts $9,416,213 and miscellaneous and banking accounts $9,734,627.

At June 30th, 1889, the outstanding debt of the United States was $6,611,667,-851, against which there was $130,834,426 cash in the treasury, leaving a net debt of $6,480,833,413. The debt per capita was $97.10, and the interest per capita was $3.48. The total interest charge last year, 1889-90, was $30,123,918, or about 57 cents per capita on a population of 64,600,000.

In 1868 the gross debt of Canada was $86,396,484, and the net debt $75,757,134, the net interest being $4,563,992.

In brief, during 22 years the United States debt has been reduced from $2,480,853,413 to $908,176,176, while the Canadian debt has been increased from $75,757,134 to $223,749,-236. The United States debt is a little more than one-third of what it was 22 years ago. The Canadian debt is a little more than three times what it was 22 years ago. The change of condition is as 9 to 1. When, relative populations are considered, the showing is even worse. How long can Canada compete with this sort of thing going on? Does Sir John Macdonald know, or does he care?—Hamilton Times.

The Old Homestead.

Every now and then some tired out farmer takes it into his head that he will sell his farm and go to Dakota or the North-west where he thinks he can do better. He hears of old neighbors who have gone out to the new land, doing well, and he imagines that he would be better off some place else than he is at home. It is the old story: far away hills look green. The farmer of to-day has to work hard, and he does not get a great deal in return for his labor. And not only does the farmer have to work hard, but the farmer's wife and the farmer's boys and girls. There is no room on the farm for boy folks. Yet it is doubtful if the farmer of to-day has to work any harder than his father did in clearing the land and tearing out the stumps, and it must be borne in mind that the farmer of thirty or forty years ago did not have the implements to work with that are within reach of the farmer of to-day, from mowing machines down. They were sturdy men, these early pioneers, and the work they did in fitting the land for the plough was worthy of them. But one thing that many a farmer is apt to overlook is that after a man gets up in years he cannot stand as much as he could in his younger days, and that to begin life over again in a new country is a very different thing from carrying on farming operations on the old farm. It may be well enough for young men to speak of going to newer lands, and many of them have done so and have met with great success, but for a farmer who has lived on the same farm for forty or fifty years to speak of selling the old place and pulling up stakes is too much like tearing an old tree up by the roots and trying to transplant it in another soil.

Besides, the old farm has associations which it would be painful to shake off. There is not a hill or a big tree which is not familiar to the farmer's eyes, and the cattle which have been about the place for years, like the trusty watchdog, have become everyday objects. The fields themselves have grown to be almost a part of the lives of those who have toiled in them, year after year, and there is not a room in the old homestead which is not full of associations, some of them tender enough. Here a life went out, there a new life came in, and in another room two hands were joined, to stay firm "in sickness and in health, for better and for worse." It would almost seem like sacrilege to let the walls of the old homestead echo to the voices of strangers, in rooms in which was heard the hunting of the wings of the Angel of Death and loved ones went home. Now and then the crops turn out badly and the farmer thinks that hope is dead and that things will never come right again. He imagines that he could do better somewhere else, forgetful that the frost and drought do their baneful work in other countries as surely as they do in his own. True it is that for every one "some days must be dark and dreary," and into every life some rain must fall. Perpetual sunshine makes the desert. It would never do if life were one long, happy day, else we would not half appreciate the brightness of it. Stick to the farm. The merchant has his notes to meet and his payments to make, and the end of it all to many a one is bankruptcy. What's he'tside the farmer he has always a home and enough to live on. And nine times out of ten his life is happier and freer from care than the lives of those who toil in the busy centres of commerce.—Dundas True Banner.

Obituary.

After a tedious illness of several months Mrs. William Wareham died at the family residence Water street on June 13th. Mrs. Wareham had been very ill all winter, having been confined to her bed about four months. She suffered much, but she bore her sufferings with patience and resignation to the Divine will. The maiden name of the deceased lady was Sarah Mosely, the youngest of six sisters and one brother. Three latter are gone the way of all the earth many years ago. She was born in the parish of St. Issey, County of Cornwall, England, on Feb. 21st, 1826, and was consequently 64 years of age. On the 21st of March, 1850, she was married to Mr. Wareham. In October, 1854, they came to Canada with eight children and settled in the township of Smith. On the May following their son John with a wife and one child came to Smith to live. About 27 years ago, John with four of his brothers removed to the United States. Twelve years ago Mr. and Mrs. Wareham removed to Peterborough, where three of their children also reside, George, Mrs. Shera and Miss Wareham. Mary still resides in Smith with her husband, Mr. Richard Waram. Mrs. Wareham, the subject of this sketch, was the mother of eleven children, eight sons and three daughters. Two of the children died in infancy. Her married life covered the long space of sixty-one years, two months and twenty-two days. Mrs. Wareham was a kind wife, as God designed, a true help meet for her husband, a true friend and good neighbor, every heaven is now a loser, as indeed it was on earth. A short time before her decease, Mrs. Wareham's last days were cheered by a visit from her sons John and William, and Matthew and Richard came on the funeral. Jackson, before about 2000 miles away, found it impossible to come. Mrs. Wareham leaves behind her, mourners, descendants, nine children, thirty-three grandchildren and seventeen great-grandchildren, in all fifty-eight descendants. The husband and family desire to take this means to thank their kind friends for their many kindnesses, sympathy and help rendered during their sad affliction.

Dear Father, thou hast left us,
And thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God that has bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.

Who can retrain the tender tear,
Or think to wrong for one so dear;
But the great God that gave us breath,
Commands us to submit to death.
'Tis hard, but patience must endure,
And sanctify the wounds it cannot cure.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

More Disorderly Scenes in New Street-The Police Strike Collapses.

LONDON, July 9.—The chairman of the Committee on the Procedure of Business in the House of Commons to-day submitted a resolution to the committee embodying a standing order prolonging bills from session to session. The Liberal members of the committee, who composed the minority, protested against the action of the chairman and declared the order was uncalled for. They then withdrew from the committee and the majority thereupon passed the resolution.

The Bobbies Weakening.

LONDON, July 9.—Two members of the police force who were taken into custody for assaulting superior officers yesterday have each been sentenced to 40 days' imprisonment. The men are weakening. They have no organization, and it is not likely they will attempt to enforce their demands by a general strike. It is probable, however, that further isolated disturbances may occur. The constables who were dismissed from the force for their connection with the present troubles are petitioning for reinstatement.

The Bow-street mob last night tore down railings, shutters, boardings, etc., and used them as missiles. Several persons were injured by being hit with stones, and three were taken to the hospital.

Another disorderly mob gathered in Bow street to-night and there were several ugly rushes during the evening but the mounted police sufficed to preserve a semblance of order. The shops were closed early. The night police went on duty punctually. At 10 o'clock the police cleared and occupied taverns about Bow-street, arresting 16 persons. The mob made furious attempts to rescue the prisoners, and four constables were badly injured with missiles. It is estimated 800 constables were on duty in the vicinity, but the majority were withdrawn after mid night when the excitement subsided. The Prince and Princess of Wales visited the opera again to-night.

Stuck to Their Stories.

PARIS, July 8.—Eyraud and Gabrielle Bompard were confronted to-day at the scene of the murder of Gouffe. They adhered to their previous statements.

GOLD GALORE.

The Richest Find on Record Just Made in Colorado.

DENVER, Col., July 8.—A special from Tincup, Col., gives an account of what is claimed to be the most wonderful discovery of gold ever reported. The find is six miles from Tincup on Cross Mountain, and is owned by McCormick & Lewis. Between the two lines there is ten feet in thickness, the lower six feet iron manganese, the upper four gold-bearing quartz of free gold. The lowest assay from the rock is $440 per ton, and there are specimens which put through a common mortar, return $30,000 in gold to the ton. Two men are now taking $75,000 per day. If this streak is only one yard in depth and extends the full length of the claim, 1500 feet, there is $563,000 worth of gold in it. If the dip goes down 1000 feet it is worth $187,479,000. The average value is placed at $1000 per ton. The excitement over the discovery is intense, and thousands of miners are rushing into the camp.

The McGlynn Case Over Again.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The announcement that the Pope had personally ratified the sentence of the Propaganda directing the Rev. Dr. Burtsell to obey the orders of Archbishop Corrigan, transferring him from the Epiphany to a country parish, promises to cause quite as much of a disturbance in Catholic Church circles as the case of Dr. McGlynn. Practically speaking, it is the McGlynn case all over again and it remains to be seen whether Dr. Burtsell will abide by the decision made in the case by the highest authority in the church, or whether he will bid it defiance and incur the full force of the discipline of the church as was applied in the case of Dr. McGlynn.

100 in the Shade.

NEW YORK, July 8.—To-day has been the most insufferably hot day that New Yorkers have experienced in a long time, and by 8 degrees the hottest this season. At 3½ o'clock p.m. the mercury stood at 100 degrees in the shade.

A DOUBLE LIFE.

There was an island at no great distance which afforded excellent shelter for small craft in a little bay within a coral reef, and the Captain of the Karl undertook to convoy the stranger there. This offer was thankfully accepted, and six of the Karl's men were sent on board the Black Diamond, as the Fijian was called, to relieve the exhausted remnant of her crew and help to repair her standing gear.

The two vessels then held on their way a cable's length or so apart, the Karl going under easy sail for the sake of her crippled companion, and also on account of her own diminished crew. The night set in dark and gusty, and nothing could be seen of the Black Diamond but the occasional glimmering of a lantern hung in the fore-rigging.

It was about 3 in the morning, the darkest hour of the twenty-four, when the lookout man on the Karl sang out: "Ship on the weather bow!" The mate, whose watch it was, ran forward and saw what he knew must be the Black Diamond apparently bearing right down on the Karl. He shouted to the steersman, "Helm aport!" and hastened aft to take the wheel himself.

The next moment he was astonished to hear the sound of oars in the rowlocks, close alongside the vessel, and before he could recover himself or give the alarm below a crowd of men had clambered over the side of the brigantine, and he found himself overpowered and flung down on the deck.

The Captain, hearing the noise, rushed up the companion ladder armed with a revolver, and the second mate, followed by the whole of the crew, came running aft with boarding pikes and handspikes.

In the melee that ensued the second mate and twoof the Karl's men were killed, while the Captain succeeded in disposing of several of the assailants before the revolver was knocked out of his hands, and he himself made fast.

In a very few minutes the Karl was in the hands of the enemy. When daylight broke the Captain had the mortification of seeing his ship under the command of a tall, stout man, with a most amiable expression of face, whom he recognized as having seen through his glasses on board the Black Diamond; while some twenty or thirty villainous fellows, armed to the teeth, were posted about the vessel.

The Black Diamond was lopping about, apparently under no sort of control, at a little distance on the starboard bow, and the coral island, where she was to have sought a haven, was full in sight a few miles ahead.

The big man with the mild countenance introduced himself with great politeness:

"My name is Hayes," he said. "Bully Hayes some people call me. I dare say you have heard of me before."

He was right. The name of Bully Hayes was a sound of terror throughout the Pacific, and Capt. Mensdorff had heard of it only too often.

"I am sorry to put you to any inconvenience, Captain; but the fact is I want this smart little ship of yours for a very particular purpose. Still, I'll do the fair thing by you, as you were ready to stand by me in distress. Exchange is no robbery, and you shall have the Black Diamond. To tell the truth, you have as good a right to her as I have, for the only part of her that's mine is the name. I gave her that instead of her own. But you may call her what you please. You'll find your men all safe down in the fore hold, and I dare say you'll manage to refit somehow in this sunny little place you've brought us to."

Arrangements were at once made for transferring all of the Karl's people to the schooner, Capt. Mensdorff being compelled, in fact, to comply with Hayes's terms. Both vessels entered the little harbor and the Black Diamond was moored inside the reef. She proved to be quite unseaworthy, and the condition of her hold and the bullet marks on her bulkheads bore evidence of some ghastly tragedy, having been enacted in her not long before.

Capt. Mensdorff and the crew of the Karl preferred to take their chance on shore, where food and water were plentiful, and the dead having been thrown to the sharks and the decks washed, Bully Hayes and his merry men sailed off gayly with the German brigantine.

The deeds that were done in the respectable name of the Goddefrois for some months after that aroused a feeling of horror throughout a part of the world where people at that time were not easily shocked. The very fact of the firm's high standing, and of the freedom of their people from the stain of outrages made both white traders and natives an easy prey to the pirates, who, on the other hand, were allowed to pass unquestioned, with a courteous dip of the ensign, when they met a British cruiser at sea. On one occasion, immediately after committing a shameless robbery on a trading station, and with all his plunder on board, Capt. Hayes, who changed his name and nationality with obliging ease, had the pleasure of entertaining the Lieutenant-Commander of H.M.S. Sandfly at dinner on the Karl, and of concerting measures with him for the detection of the scoundrels who were destroying the island trade!

His next meeting with a naval officer was rather more exciting, but not less triumphant for Bully Hayes. It arose out of this same affair at the New Hebrides, for which the Goddefrois got the blame.

The Karl, with her well-known white hull and trim rigging, came to an anchor one day off one of the most popular villages in the island of Malliculo. The natives had often seen her before and had no occasion to regret her visits, soon swarmed around her in their canoes. They were rendered all the more confident by seeing on her deck several men in the black silk coat, and soft black felt hat which are commonly worn by the missionaries in those seas. Hayes was always well provided with these disguises, and on this occasion he chose to wear one himself and to play the role of a new Bishop coming to establish a mission station on the island. Meanwhile his mate, who was acting as Captain, appealed to the cupidity of the natives by offering to buy all the produce and curiosities they could get together at a price which seemed fabulous to them.

He had no inducement to be economical, as he was never going to pay. The next day but one, was fixed for a great gathering in the village, both to meet the missionaries and for purposes of trade, the "bishop" especially requesting that all the young men and women might be present to hear him preach to them in their own language.

At the appointed hour the largest building in the village, an immense shed built of light timbers and the leaves of the cocoanut, was crowded with the very flower of the population, only the old people and the children being left in the neighboring settlements, or the other houses in the village. The produce which had been brought for sale had already been taken on board the brigantine, and payment for it was to have been made at the meeting.

Bully Hayes's money however, was on a par with his religion. The first thing the unhappy natives knew, a volly of bullets and slugs was fired through the fragile walls of the building, killing and wounding a great many, and striking terror into the rest. Taken entirely by surprise, and being quite unarmed, they were unable to offer any effectual resistance, and through the people in the village made a gallant struggle, wounding several of Hayes's men and killing more than one of them, fully a hundred of the finest young men and women were driven or dragged down to the boats, and carried off to the Karl, while probably double that number were left dead or wounded by the murderous fire and awful slaughter that ensued. The prisoners were immediately placed under hatches, and the Karl was away before the terrified natives could gather in sufficient numbers to surround her in their canoes with bows and arrows.

When the news of this atrocious deed reached the Commodore, he commissioned a young officer named Fremantle, who had already distinguished himself by his activity against the divers, to take the swiftest cowrain on the station and go in pursuit of the Karl, which, it was surmised, would make for some port on the coast of Queensland, where alone so large a number of laborers could safely be disposed of. Capt. Fremantle accordingly kept a course which he calculated would bring him on the track of the brigantine somewhere among the islands of the Arafura Sea, feeling easy about overtaking her by his steam power, if once he could ascertain which way she had gone.

Sure enough, before he had been out ten days, he got news of just such a vessel having touched at one of the islands and taken in provisions and water for a large number of people; and from what he could learn she was as full as she could hold of labor, having probably made other raids since leaving the New Hebrides. Highly elated at the prospect of making such a prize, the gallant officer put on every pound of steam, and every stitch of canvas, and drove the Rosario as she had never been driven before, taking a course among those channels which he knew was the only one a vessel of the Karl's tonnage could take.

On the evening of the third day of the chase, when among the islands off the coast of New Guinea approaching Torres Straits, he came in sight of a craft sailing to the north-west with everything she could carry. As he overhauled her he saw she was a brigantine with a white hull, flying the German flag, and sank very deep in the water. She could be no other than the Karl, and the commander of the Rosario felt his Captain's commission in his pocket.

At sundown the brigantine was not two miles distant, but she was cracking on every inch of sail before half a gale of wind, and was boldly steering close to the edge of the reef, where the Rosario, with her iron plates and her heavy draught, did not dare to go. Capt. Fremantle tried the effect of a shot from the Armstrong pivot gun which served for a bow chaser; but the only response the Karl made to that was to dip her German ensign three times in derision. When night came on the brigantine vanished among the islands, where the corvette could not follow her in the dark. Captain Fremantle, however, thought nothing of that, being certain of picking her up a few hours after daylight next morning.

When dawn came, the Rosario was still in the channel between the islands, and it was impossible for any vessel to pass her without being seen, or to escape her a she steamed ahead. She no sooner cleared the group of islands among which the Karl had been lost sight of the night before, than she descried a vessel standing to the eastward, crossing the course previously taken by the Karl.

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY CONSIDERED.

UNDOUBTEDLY there isn't half the pleasure in buying gowns when one has plenty of money," says a shrewd woman with a pretty good notion of both sides of the subject.. "The interest comes in when you have just enough to "get what you want by drawing liberally on contrivance and taste. For myself "I grow tired reading about opulence I cannot hope to have. Most fashion "articles treat of too unlimited gorgeousness for anything below flashy girls' "imagination, who seldom find flights too extravagant to please them. I wish "somebody would write for women who wish to look as well as the best on "ordinary allowances."

It isn't impossible to look as well—not to dress as well absolutely, but to make as satisfactory an effect—on much less money than rich women spend, if one has strict taste, a command of shopping sense, and is clever at her needle. Three-tourths the cost of dresses from first class houses goes for the making, not for the material. Every girl should be taught thoroughly how to plan a dress and finish it in correct style

Not to tell the wearying novelties of style, but to select the best points is a pleasing matter. The gown for the street, rich or plain, is of wool, silk being left to the dowagers out of doors. A well chosen wardrobe will have a selection of the most useful and welcome of seasonable goods. Each material has its own special mode for making. Ladies who are studying economy this summer, and who are aiming to make the outlay for their dresses come within the most economical of figures, are advised to attend

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by purely Canadian companies, and maintained by surrender or lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of numerous men. As unexpended and unwithdrawn on December 31, 1889, the amount of deposit policies credited to Canadian companies during a period about four years greater policy holders in this country than it is thereon under this heading of $218,204, would not fail to excite amusement; yet that the figures have been eagerly entered by thousands have such a conclusion of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed (still unremembered guidons they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Canada Life	$40,894,776	3.07
Confederation	17,674,628	4.31
Ontario Mutual	14,971,470	10.22
Federal	10,966,227	10.35
Sun Life	11,670,617	12.28
North American	8,470,620	10.09
Temperance and General	2,000,072	17.64
Citizens	2,000,000	23.19
Manufacturers' Life	2,750,000	32.17
London Life	1,042,000	39.61

From this table we can see that while such companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have naturally decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.76 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, witness the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. That so large a proportion as 39 per cent. of policy-holders should voluntarily abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the weakling and the more widely known (some—if not more progressive) company absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of clever management and admirably contrived, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is unlikely from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to interest a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

Shipping Bricks.

No surer evidence is required of the first class quality of the brick turned out by Messrs. M. Curtis & Son than the fact that they are shipping large quantities to outside places. This week a carload goes to Ottawa; last week a large quantity was sent to Uxbridge. And so it goes. Messrs. Curtis & Son have a reputation for brick-making which extends far beyond the town and district. They get orders for far more brick than they are able to supply.

The Twelfth at Cobourg.

The Orangemen of the town and district are making preparations for the Twelfth of July celebration at Cobourg, and anticipate a most successful demonstration. The True Blue's fife and drum band is practising diligently for the occasion. A special train will leave Peterborough at half past eight Saturday morning, on which the Peterborough, Nassau, Lakefield and Smith Orange bodies will embark for Cobourg. Orangemen from all the towns and villages along the front between Kingston and Bowmanville are expected to participate.

To-morrow's Proceedings.

To-morrow afternoon has been declared a civic half-holiday by the Mayor, and the townspeople will have an opportunity of witnessing the imposing ceremonies in connection with the Oddfellows' Dominion Day. The brethren of the two lodges will assemble at half past one, and march to the Central Park, where order of procession will be formed, the Centre and head leading, after which the entire body will proceed to the cemetery, where the usual rites will be performed. Flowers for decoration purposes may be left at A. Mercer & Co's or H. Long's.

Sunday School Excursions.

The Sunday school of the Mark street Methodist church picnicked at Jubilee Point Wednesday, and enjoyed a delightful day. Nothing occurred to mar the day's pleasure. The "Golden Eye" was comfortably loaded with the children and their friends, to the number of about 600.

The Grand Trunk station was this morning besieged by an immense gathering of young people. Two excursion parties were to leave at about the same time, the George street Methodist school taking train to Hastings, and St. John's Sunday school proceeding to Chemong Park. The "Golden Eye" was also engaged to carry the Baptist Sunday School to Hale's Bridge. The day promises to be all that could be desired for picnic purposes.

He is Deserving of Sympathy.

This afternoon a young man, a deaf mute, who makes a livelihood by selling packages of court plaster, was arrested on what afterwards proved to be a trumped up charge. The young man's name is H. C. Lewis, and he comes from St. Catharines. He entered a store on lower George street, presented a paper setting forth the circumstances of his condition and offered a 10c. package of court plaster for sale. He was met with a rebuff and was forcibly ejected. In the tussle he received three or four bruises on the face and head. His assailant then telephoned the police and asked that the deaf mute be arrested, which was done. Upon finding out the facts of the case, however, the chief immediately released him. Lewis returned good for evil and declined to lay an information against the man who assaulted him, and wrote on a bit of paper that he bore no hard feelings but perhaps his assailant would be sorry for it some day. Lewis bears a certificate of character from several reputable citizens of St. Catharines.

The Late Malcolm Campbell.

One of the oldest and most respected residents of Otonabee township died at Keene on Sunday, June 29, after an illness of only one week, in the person of Mr. Malcolm Campbell. Death resulted from a general breaking down of the system, deceased being 84 years of age. A native of Argyleshire, Scotland, he came to this country about the year 1826, settling in Otonabee township on the farm near Keene where he spent the most active years of his life. After acquiring a competence he moved to the village of Keene seventeen years ago, where he has since lived with and been tenderly cared for by his daughter. The members of the family have the deep sympathy of the entire community. A family of four children survive him—two sons, Duncan and Colin, living in Dakota, Mrs. D. McIntyre, of Otonabee, and John Campbell, of Keene. Deceased never entered the public or political arena, but passed a quiet, industrious and useful life, beloved by his neighbors and ever regardful of the duties expressed to "do unto others as them would have done unto thee." The funeral took place to Keene cemetery Tuesday, July 1st.

The State of the Schools

Inspector Tilley's Interesting Report Upon the Condition of the Public Schools

The following is Dr. Tilley's report on our Public Schools. It is well worthy of careful perusal by the general public, as it deals with our schools and school system in a most complete and interesting manner:—

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith submit for your consideration my annual annual report on the condition of your Public schools for the year ending [illegible] day of June, 1890.

ACCOMMODATION.

Your Public school accommodation has been much improved during the past year. The Model School building has been erected in the South Ward. Both these schools are handsomely and thoroughly fitted up with the latest styles of single desks. Some rooms in the West Ward and the Central have been remodeled, and the principal's room has been remodeled. The old board room has been nicely fitted up and refurnished, and is now used for the kindergarten school.

The school grounds in the different wards have been levelled and rendered much attractive, and in various ways the school premises and surroundings have been made more suitable for effective work on the part of both the teachers and the pupils. The ventilation in the West Ward and the Central is much inferior to what it is in the North and South Ward schools. In the Central, especially, there are rooms which call my about for severe air, more light, and better desks for the little ladies. With these few exceptions, however, your Public school accommodation ranks in my opinion among the best in the Province.

CLASSIFICATION.

The changes made in the classification at the Central, after my report a year ago, tending to lessen the number of rooms to be gone through in the public school course, and by bring the grading of the Central and the Ward schools more into harmony with one another, have worked satisfactorily, and will no doubt be productive of even better results when the changes become more accustomed to the management of two classes, and one with some keep the one actively and profitably employed at desk work while the other is receiving instruction. There is perhaps no greater weakness in our schools to-day than the tendency to toss to the utmost the patience and ability of the pupils to give close attention to the words of the teacher, rather than to take advantage of the endless variety that may be had by allowing the pupils to think and to do for themselves, thereby thinking and doing being of course interspersed with encouraging hints and wisely considered helps from the teacher.

ORDER AND DISCIPLINE.

The order generally is very good. As a rule the pupils are prompt in standing to answer questions, in passing from their seats to their classes, in entering their rooms or in leaving them, and in many ways show that they have been carefully trained to habits of obedience and politeness. A lack of this delicate training was, however, quite noticeable in some cases, especially in the early part of the first term.

The noise and confusion in the halls at the Central is still a source of annoyance to the adjoining rooms; perhaps a system of monitors might be used that would lessen the trouble, but I fear it cannot wholly be removed so long as the two institutions are in the one building. If Major Rundle could take charge of the pupils who go out for drill from the time they leave their rooms until they return to them again, it would be a decided improvement. I am of opinion also that the public school pupils would be greatly benefitted in both discipline and school work if some arrangements could be made to give them a little drill occasionally. It might also be well to give some attention to fire drill at the Central school.

SCHOOL WORK.

The work in your public schools has shown marked improvement in nearly every department during the year, and especially in this the case in such subjects as reading, writing, drawing and junior arithmetic. As might be expected, the improvement is most noticeable in the junior departments of the schools, but fair progress has been made in most, if not all, the departments. At the examinations held on the 26th and 27th of June the senior III's and the junior IV classes did not do as well as they should have done. La Grippe, the changes in the staff at Christmas, an attempt to cover too much ground without being sure of the foundation laid, a disposition to put off close, searching work and careful reviews until toward the close of the term, many each or all have played a part in bringing about these somewhat unfavorable results. Certain it is that teachers must share with their pupils the responsibility of their failures as well as the credit of their successes since sympathetic, painstaking, efficient instruction on the part of the teacher, seldom fails to leave its impress on the pupil in such a way as to be responsive to just and proper tests, even though these tests be searching. I believe your teachers recognize this, and while they may not be prepared to work harder the coming year than they have during the past one, they are, I feel assured, prepared to put forth an honest effort to work, if possible, more skilfully.

During the past year the teachers have several times assembled at the Central building to talk over school work, and these in the different schools have had meetings among themselves with a view to assisting one another in their work. Last December the whole staff paid a visit to the public schools at Port Hope, that they might have the benefit of the comparison of the work done in their own schools with the work done there. These meetings and the visit have had a beneficial effect on your schools, and it is intended with your permission to convene similar efforts to foster a spirit of professional zeal in the future. The members of your staff, without an exception, so far as I know, are in active sympathy with every effort tending to increase their own efficiency or to promote the welfare of your schools. With your school buildings completed, your principal restored to health and at his post, and your staff somewhat settled, we may reasonably hope for more effective work and more gratifying results in the future, than we have witnessed in the past; and from my knowledge of your schools and your staff, I feel sure that this hope will be realized.

REMARKS ON INDIVIDUAL ROOMS.

The remarks that follow, on the individual rooms, are intended strictly for the benefit of the board and the teachers interested.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

Kindergarten, Central—Miss M. Rose Warner, teacher. Room neat and comfortable and suitably furnished. Teaching effectual, pleasant and effective. School life in this room has all the charm of a busy, active world. The songs tend to make the little ones, in an easy, natural way, good and obedient; the occupations to make them wise and skilful; and the free, pleasant intercourse between the pupils and teacher to make them considerate and polite. The best influences of the home, the school and society are brought to bear on the little ones who are in attendance at the kindergarten.

News Nuggets.

—Port Hope's rate this year will be 22½ mills.

—There was a slight frost on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

—Hail accompanied the severe storm which visited Stony Lake Tuesday.

—Port Hope is talking of becoming a cigar factory. The scheme will probably end in smoke.

—A couple of drunks were dismissed by the police magistrate this morning with the advice to keep sober in future.

—The new moulding shop of the William Hamilton Company is in use, and is very satisfactory, the moulding capable being exceptionally so.

—The leaves as well as citizens were thirsty to-day, the water being shut off the mains to admit of tapping the 16-inch main to connect with the Inverlea and Downtown avenue new service.

—A party comprising Messrs. H. LeBrun, Jas. Dolan, R. Fortye and J. Charest left this morning for Stony Lake, well supplied with fishing tackle and a determination to have a pleasant outing.

—Mr. W. A. Sanderson has just received a parcel of superior umbrellas and parasols, with gold and silver-headed sticks. These goods are a comparatively new thing in Peterborough, and are rich and tasty in appearance.

The Winnipeggers' Walk-over in the First Heat.

The result of the first day's play between the home team and the Winnipeg visitors is disappointing to the amour propre of local cricketers, but the public who were fortunate to witness the game yesterday afternoon were rewarded by seeing some excellent cricket. The visitors against good bowling piled up the respectable score of 103. It was pretty generally agreed, too. The bowling was well on and the fielding prompt and sharp. However, one or two easily missed catches would be fairly made responsible for the addition of a good many runs to the score. The visitors gave good bowling to the home team in their batting adventure. Sam Roy redeemed the innings from being a veritable wipe out. He went in first and carried his bat for a patriotic and well-played-for 23. But the remainder of the team went to pieces, the total contributions of the other ten coming two runs short of equalling the veteran Sam's figures. There were four extras in the total score of 48. This little result is not due to bad play, it was a run of hard luck that sometimes takes the stumps of an eleven en masse.

TO DAY'S PLAY.

Play was resumed at 11 a.m., the Winnipegers finishing their second innings for a total of 126, of which Rokeby got 36, Page 18, Frost 29 and Campbell 22. Peterborough's fielding was very loose, several easily muffs contributing largely to the Winnipegers' score. Peterborough had now to make 122 in its second innings to win—a heavy undertaking. Roy and Rutherford went first to bat, but parted when 14 runs had been scored, Roy being bowled for 9. Rogers then joined Rutherford and the two made a splendid stand. At three o'clock, the last moment for receiving reports, they were still piling up runs, and the score had reached 85. This splendid showing gives the home team some chance of winning what appeared to be an almost certain defeat.

Personal.

Alderman Murray Turner, of Belleville, died Wednesday. He was a prominent man in the Bay City.

Mr. J. J. Rooney, at present staying at Shelburne, Ont., is in town for a few days visit.

Mr. T. S. Cole, travelling secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, is in town to-day, and will be present at the meeting of the board of directors in the parlour of the rooms at 8.30 this evening.

Mr. T. A. Rowan, B. A., barrister of Toronto, formerly Modern Language Master in the Collegiate Institute, was in town to-day en route for the Thousand Islands, where he hopes to leave the remnants of a rheumatic attack from which he has been suffering.

The Salida Church Guide, Colorado, has the following in reference to Jarvis Hall Church School, of which Rev. W. C. Bradshaw is warden: "Jarvis Hall was never in a more prosperous condition than it is, and has been ever since the Rev W. C. Bradshaw accepted the wardenship of the institution. We feel safe in saying that a better school for boys cannot be found anywhere."

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Peterborough held its regular meeting Tuesday in the Walton-st. hall of the First Presbyterian church, Port Hope. Besides the moderator, Mr. Gilchrist, Baltimore, there were present Revs. Messrs. Hay, Cobourg; Lord, of Grafton; McLeod, of Brighton; Ross, of Bethesda; Bennett, of Springville; O Bennett, of Minden; McMillan, of Havelock; McWilliams, Cleland, Jones and Cosgrove, of Port Hope. A call from the First church, Port Hope, was placed in the hands of Rev. R. C. Jones and accepted by him. The induction was appointed to take place on July 22nd, at 3.30 p. m., in the First church. Rev. Jos. Cleland was appointed to preside, Rev. J. A. Gilchrist to charge the people, Rev. Jos. Hay, to charge the pastor, and Rev F. Duncan, of Colborne, to explain the Presbyterian Law of Ordination. Rev. Dr. King, President of Manitoba College, was present in the morning and addressed the Presbytery upon the work of his college. Dr. King is one of the leading men in the Canadian Presbyterian church at the present time. His first charge was at Whitby and he then preached in Port Hope during Dr. Cassie's ministry, forty years ago.—Guide.

CANADIAN NEWS NOTES.

DOLLY BEELEY PLEADS GUILTY AT HAMILTON.

A Fatal Accident at the Ambitious City—A Butter and Egg Dealer Accused of Swindling—Another Election Protest Filed at Toronto.

HAMILTON, July 10.—Alfred Hannaford, aged 16, attempted to board a Hamilton & Dundas train en route to the picnic of the James-street Baptist Church about 1 o'clock this afternoon. He failed to make the step and was swung under the car. The wheels passed over his body diagonally from his shoulder. Death must have been almost instantaneous, as the bones over the heart and lungs were crushed in.

Dolly Beeley pleaded guilty at the Police Court this morning to the charge of swindling Mrs. Eliza Imboden out of $5 on Dec. 9, 1889. Sentence was deferred.

Robert Beesey, a butter and egg dealer on the James-street market, is under arrest charged with obtaining about $70 worth of butter from Mr. Richards, Mr. Clarke and several other Caledonia merchants, saying he would sell it in the market and pay them for it. He has disposed of a large quantity of the butter, but no money was forthcoming to the Caledonia men.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Fined for Publishing Lottery Advertisements—Another Protest Filed.

TORONTO, July 11.—The charges against C. W. Bunting, manager of The Mail, and George Darby, manager of The News, of publishing advertisements of the Louisiana lottery in their respective newspapers, were finally settled yesterday, Magistrate Denison imposing a fine of $20 each. There will be no appeal.

James Malcolm of the Four Brothers Club won the Bell champion quoiting medal yesterday. The Four Brothers Club is the only Canadian organization in the Grand National Curling Club now in session here.

Vicar-General Vincent, Provincial in Canada of the religious order of Basilians and Principal of St. Michael's College, has been retired from both positions. His successor as provincial has already been chosen though he will not arrive for some weeks to take up his charge. He is Rev. Father Marfon, a Parisian Frenchman by birth and education. He is some 40 years old and the past six years of his life has been spent in England. Rev. Father Teefy will succeed Father Vincent as principal of St. Michael's College.

The tenth protest was filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday. The last victim is Richard Tooley, the Conservative member for East Middlesex. Mr. Frank Love of London filed the protest and the necessary $1000.

PRISON REFORM.

The Commission Working Long Hours—An Abundance of Evidence.

HAMILTON, July 10.—The Prison Reform Commissioners are full of zeal and are working long hours these hot days. They sat yesterday till 6 o'clock and resumed their duties at 9 this morning.

The jailers of Welland and St. Catharines told pretty much the same tale as did Governor Ogilvie, and the sheriffs of Lincoln and Welland counties contributed their experience. Dr Rosebrugh was profuse in details of what he had seen in Hamilton jail, and abundant in suggestions for reform.

This morning the evidence was very amateurish. Mr. Barnes eulogized the work of the Rescue Home, and Rev. Thomas Geoghan condemned unnecessary police interference and said some strong things about starvation wages and its connection with crime.

Chief McKinnon, however, spoke with authority and characterised the second-hand storekeepers who buy stolen goods from boys as the greatest curse of the country.

On Tuesday the commissioners will start for Kingston and Ottawa, and afterward will proceed to Boston and New York, returning to Toronto about the end of the following week.

Canada's Trade with Britain.

OTTAWA, July 10.—The Imperial blue book, containing the statement of Great Britain's trade with the different countries of the world during the year 1889, has just reached the Customs department here. The statistics are made up to the end of December. The exports from Canada to Great Britain are given as follows:

1887	$10,088,888
1888	8,915,088
1889	11,765,988

The value of Canada's imports from Great Britain during the three years was:

1887	$6,761,188
1889	8,916,979

Those who have carefully watched the Canadian monthly statement as published by the Customs department will see that the above figures tell the same story as ours, viz., that while the imports from Great Britain continue to be of a satisfactory character, the exports from this country to the motherland show an extraordinary increase, indicating that Canadian products and Canadian trade routes are beginning to assert themselves.

Lost in the Woods.

OTTAWA, July 10.—Baggage-master Galt, in the employ of the Canadian Pacific at Chapleau, Ont., is reported lost in the woods near that station. On Saturday he went out fishing with a couple of friends on one of the lakes near the station. As they were rowing back in the evening they heard the whistle of a train, and knowing that they could not be far from the track Galt asked to be put ashore as he wished to go home through the bush. This was done, the other two returning in the boat. Galt has not been seen since, and it is thought that he must be wandering in the woods that cover the country for miles around. A search was carried on all day Sunday, but no trace of the missing baggageman was found. Monday a large party were out, aided by a number of Indians, all looking for Galt.

A Horse Thief Punished.

SEAFORTH, Ont., July 10.—Frank Booth of Toronto was tried here before Judge Lacourse on a charge of horse stealing. The horse was stolen near Lindsay and Booth brought him to Galt and offered him for sale. He was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Suicide at Bracebridge.

BRACEBRIDGE, July 10.—Mrs. Hugh Morrow is missing and it is thought she committed suicide by drowning. No reason is known, but it is said she had been acting strangely for some time.

BEHRING SEA DISPUTE.

NO TRUTH IN THE WARMED-OVER WAR RUMORS.

The Question to Be Submitted to Arbitration—Wyoming Admitted as a State—July Report Of The U. S. Department Of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Senate has adopted the conference report on the Silver Bill, yeas 39, nays 21.

The President this afternoon approved the act for the admission of Wyoming as a state.

The House Committee on labor to-day reported the bill constituting eight hours a day's work.

The July winter wheat report of the Department of Agriculture represents the crop as harvested in all but its more northern latitudes. The general average is 76.3 against 78.1 last month and the reduction is mostly in the non-commercial districts, the commercial supply states taken together making nearly the same average as in June. The spring wheat average has advanced from 91.3 to 94.4. Taken together, the winter and spring wheat makes an average of 83.1 instead of 83.4 last month. The returns from the south are very unfavorable, indicating scarcely more than half a full crop. The vitality of the crop was greatly impaired by March frosts. The aphis has been very prevalent on the Atlantic coast and saturating rains have been injurious. These causes have produced a shortening of the straw and shrivelling of the grain, with an unusual prevalence of rust. The fly and chinchbug appeared in some districts. After the injury from frosts that followed the lush growth of a mild winter the crop fell an easy prey to all the plagues that infest it.

A small increase in the area of corn is reported of about 6-10 of one per cent. The largest proportional extension is in the Northwest. There has been nearly one per cent. increase in the south. The condition of corn averages 93.1 per cent.

There has been a severe decline in the condition of oats, which has fallen from 89.8 to 81.6. It has been heaviest in the cotton states and is quite severe in the Ohio Valley. In the South, where winter oats are grown, rust has greatly injured the crop. In the west the aphis has sapped its vitality and rust has followed, straw is short and the head chaffy.

The condition of rye is 92; nearly the same as that of last report.

Barley has advanced from 86.4 to 88.3.

The acreage of potatoes has not appreciably increased. The average condition is 91.7.

The condition of pasture is high, averaging 95.

An increase of about 3 per cent. is reported in tobacco. The condition is relatively low, averaging 88.2.

Seeking Light.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Another important step in the Behring Sea controversy was taken yesterday. The House of Representatives adopted a resolution reported by Chairman Hitt, from the Foreign Affairs Committee, calling upon the President to transmit to Congress, if not incompatible with the public interests, the correspondence between the United States and Great Britain on the subject of the Behring Sea negotiations. The resolution was presented by Mr. Hitt, and a sharp debate ensued. The resolution was adopted with few dissenting votes.

To Be Arbitrated.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—There is nothing in the Behring Sea stories published in The New York World and warmed over in some Canadian papers. The matter will be submitted to arbitration.

A Republican Caucus.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Republican senators were in caucus for three hours to-night discussing the order of business. The outcome was a decision to conclude consideration of the shipping bills and then to take up the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill. There was a prolonged debate respecting the places to be assigned to the Tariff Bill and the River and Harbor Bill as well as the expediency of considering the National Election Bill this session, but no decision was reached.

To Inspect American Cattle.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Department of State at Secretary Rusk's request has arranged for the appointment of three veterinary inspectors to inspect all American cattle landed in Great Britain. One will be stationed at Liverpool, one at London and one at Glasgow. They will sail for Europe at once. Secretary Rusk said to-day the restrictions of the British Government upon the importation of beef cattle from this country upon the plea of contagious cattle disease in the United States were unjustifiable. He proposes to prove to the British authorities that no disease exists in this country to warrant these restrictions.

LOSSES CAUSED BY FLAMES.

A Cincinnati Tobacco Warehouse in Ashes—Fatal Fire in Russia.

CINCINNATI, July 10.—The smaller of the buildings known as the Globe Warehouse, belonging to Brooks, Waterfield & Co., was burned to-night. In it were stored 1000 hogsheads of tobacco valued at $125,000. All these are a total loss. Loss on building $10,000.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 10.—Two hundred and fifty houses have been burned at Makiau. Six lives were lost.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

THE IRISH LAND PURCHASE BILL WITHDRAWN.

Mr. Smith Announces that the Government Has Decided to Drop the Tithes Bill and the Order Relating to Hanging Bills. The Postmaster's Gratuities.

LONDON, July 10.—In the House of Commons to-day, W. H. Smith stated that in view of the late period of the session the Government had decided not to proceed with the standing order relating to the postponement of the consideration of bills from one session to another. It had also decided to drop the Irish Land Purchase Bill and the Tithes Bill during the present session, but to again introduce them at the next session, which would open in November. In consideration, Mr. Smith said he trusted that before the House was prorogued it would pass the bill providing for the cession of Heligoland to Germany, the Local Taxation Bill, the bill providing for the housing of the working classes and the Census Bill.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt said he hoped the Government would consult the House about holding a meeting of Parliament in November.

Mr. Gladstone expressed a similar wish.

Mr. Smith said the Government was satisfied as to the convenience of a session in November.

At a meeting of 2000 postmen at Clerkenwell this evening a general strike was still talked of. Mr. Mahon, the secretary of the union, declared that between 200 and 400 men had been dismissed.

Lord Salisbury moved to second reading the Heligoland Cession Bill in the House of Lords to-day. He said the island for strategic purposes was worthless. There was no harbor and the roadstead was untenable in northwest winds. Commercially it was of little value. The inhabitants were related by the closest bonds of language, race and religion to the Germans. Regarding Zanzibar he urged that an exclusive English protectorate would assist in suppressing the slave trade and develop the commerce of England and India. There was no ground for apprehending a difficulty over the Anglo-German convention with any European power. It was erroneous to allege that England had as much power in East Africa before as after the conclusion of the agreement. It was impossible for England to affect to lock up the whole of Africa. The agreement was a necessity if only to prevent the dangers of a conflict between the English and the Germans. The bill passed the second reading without division.

Cuba's New Governor.

MADRID, July 10.—Gen. Polavieja has been appointed Captain-General of Cuba.

She Confessed.

LEIPSIC, July 10.—At the Anarchists' trial to-day the Rheinhold woman confessed that she was implicated in Anarchist plots and was therefore sentenced to six years' imprisonment. The court held that the evidence against the men was not sufficient for conviction and they were released.

Boulanger Cries Peccavi.

PARIS, July 10.—The Soir says that Gen. Boulanger has asked the Government to grant him a pardon.

Postponed for a Month.

PARIS, July 10.—By a vote of 289 to 161 the Chamber of Deputies to-day decided to postpone for a month the debate on the Anglo-German agreement.

CARTER GETS HIS DIVORCE.

The Concluding Chapter of Chicago's Famous Divorce Case.

CHICAGO, July 10.—The appellate court handed down a decision in the famous Carter divorce case this morning. The decision of the lower court is affirmed. Mrs. Carter is defeated and Leslie Carter retains possession of the children. Judge Moran delivered a dissenting opinion in favor of Mrs. Carter.

The Carter case is one of the causes celebres of recent date in the Chicago divorce courts. Leslie Carter holds a high social position in that city, and Mrs. Carter, born Dudley, who lived in Dayton, is well-known there, having visited some of the best families previous to her marriage. The young couple lived in a fine house and spent money lavishly for a while, until trouble arose over the attentions Mrs. Carter was receiving from several gentleman friends. Some of those whose names were linked with Mrs. Carter while visiting in New York State were ex-State Senator Pierce of Cooperstown and Dr. James B. Gilbert of New York city. She went abroad for her health, and her dashing behavior and reckless extravagance were the talk of London and Paris. Without the knowledge of the husband she returned to this country with Kyrie Bellew, the actor, of whom and herself most compromising stories have been printed.

Mr. Carter began suit in 1889 for divorce and custody of his children, which was granted him in the spring of that year. From this decision Mrs. Carter appealed, claiming to have been cruelly treated by her husband, and it is this appeal which was denied to-day by the appellate court.

FASTED FOR EIGHT WEEKS.

GALENA, Ill., July 10.—John Roth, a pauper in the county hospital, is the greatest rival of the illustrious Tanner that has come to the front of late. This remarkable faster, according to the testimony of the county physician and of Superintendent Byrne, has not tasted food, solid or liquid, in eight weeks, and his remarkable period of abstinence has reduced him physically to a slight degree only. He is a native of Switzerland and for some years has made his home at Scales Mound, this (Jo Daviess) county. On May 28 last he was brought to the county house and since that time not a morsel of food has passed his lips. As his fast began a week before he was brought to the hospital he has existed under these remarkable conditions for the seemingly impossible period of eight weeks; yet he has not reduced greatly in flesh, and seems as well as when his fast began. He suffers with paralysis, which, while not preventing his swallowing, seems to affect the other digestive organs. He has not even drank water, but his lips are kept moist by applying water to them. It is a remarkable case, and one that seems to throw all similar ones into the shade.

A Virginia Hotel Burnt.

LYNCHBURG, Va., July 10.—The Buenavista Hotel, recently erected here at a cost of $60,000, was burned to-day. The house was filled with guests, but all escaped safely.

THE LOTTERY BILL.

Louisiana's Legislature Dogtos the Governor's Power of Veto.

BATON ROUGE, July 10.—At a late hour last night the House received a message from the Senate returning the Lottery Bill and veto thereon in accordance with the report of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which was likewise transmitted.

Mr. Shields of New Orleans offered the following: "The Senate having refused to consider the veto message of the governor on House Bill No. 214, which bill is an amendment to the constitution passed by the requisite two-thirds majority of all the members elected to both houses, and as the action of the Senate denying the right or authority of the Governor to veto a constitutional amendment is in entire accordance with the views of this House;

"That we heartily agree and concur in the action of the Senate and adopt their reasons as ours, and that the clerk of the House be instructed to deliver to the Secretary of State for promulgation Enrolled House Bill No. 214, with a certified copy of the proceedings of the House on the said bill, and to take the receipt of the Secretary of State for the same."

After fifteen taring by the ears until 12½ a.m., the above was finally adopted, 61 to 37. This disposes of the lottery question, as far as the Legislature is concerned.

THE ST. CLAIR TUNNEL.

Workmen Affected by "The Bends"—A Number of Fatal Cases.

SARNIA, July 10.—The shield under the Canadian side of the river has now begun to approach the end of the Sheppardville inlet leading, where the trouble with gas was encountered which caused Sheppardville & Co. to give up the work. As the shield was advanced and the mass of gravel and gypsum material was being penetrated, it was found necessary to put on a very heavy pressure of compressed air in the drift to prevent the inflow of gas or water. The motor which draw the train cars, and which had stood the weaker pressure very well, could not stand the heavy pressure, and on Wednesday one of them died.

The men also in many cases found themselves seriously affected, the symptoms of the disorder, called by the men "the bends," being very much like that of a combination of severe cramps and acute rheumatism. Usually the person being brought out to the outer air and kept in motion recovers in a short time and is able to resume work, but in some cases the effects of the compressed air apparently being confined to cases where the pressure affects the internal organs.

David Turner, a young man about 22 years of age, was formerly employed on the American side, but came across some time ago and began work on the shield on this side. On Thursday he became ill, and on Friday morning was taken back to his home in Griswold-street, Port Huron. In Saturday's Port Huron papers it was reported that he died that morning, but The Times says that this report was untrue, and that he is now recovering and will soon be able to resume work.

A case occurring on Sunday involved a fatal termination, the victim being George W. Culley of Davis-street, a well-known and respected resident. Mr. Culley, who was a carpenter by trade and had been in employ of the tunnel company almost since the commencement of the work, went into the bulkhead on Saturday night to do some carpenter work that might be needed—it being the practice to have a carpenter always in attendance in case any of the woodwork of the shield should give way, and have it instantly repaired. On emerging from the tunnel he had just reached the top of the bank when he fainted and he was taken to a neighboring house. He recovered consciousness shortly afterwards and hopes were entertained of his recovery, but he did not rally, and died about 12 hours after coming out of the tunnel. Deceased was a man of 30 years of age and leaves a widow and family. He belonged to the Independent Order of Foresters, in which order he had an insurance of $1000. His funeral, which took place yesterday, was conducted by the officers of the lodge.

Samuel Thayer, aged 23, who had been employed for some time on the Canadian side, died at the Exchange Hotel in Butler-street, Port Huron, on Monday night. He had been working under compressed air on Sunday, and the physician who attended him attributed his death to the effects of the air pressure.

The tunnel has been completed through the worst part of the faulty material, and it is found practicable to moderate the pressure day by day. When the shield was in the worst of the gravel vein a pressure of 30 pounds to the square inch was carried in the heading. By yesterday the pressure had been lowered to 26 pounds. It is expected that the shield will be through the gravel and sand and into hard clay again this evening or to-morrow, when the pressure can be lowered to the usual average of 15 or 16 pounds.

KNIGHTS ON PARADE.

MILWAUKEE, July 10.—The Pythian parade was a military pageant rarely equaled. Ten thousand uniformed Knights marched in divisions and regiments from Camp Carnahan, west of the city, down Grand-avenue to the centre of the business district. Half as many ununiformed Knights followed under a military escort. The day was excessively hot and many succumbed along the line of march, but no deaths are reported. Had the weather been milder nearly all of the 15,000 uniformed men in camp at Cold Spring Park would have turned out. The threatened mutiny over Gen. Carnahan's temperance order has blown over, and brotherly love again reigns supreme. The prohibition against the sale of liquor at the camp was modified so that it might be sold in the camp restaurants—in original packages.

The report of the Supreme Keeper of Records and Seals shows the order to be in a prosperous condition. The number of members Dec. 31, 1889, was 263,847 and the number of subordinate lodges 3794, being a net gain during the calendar year of 33,593 members and 431 lodges and a gain during the last two years of 54,866 members and 708 lodges. The aggregate amount in the treasuries of the Grand Lodges was $715,962.06 and in those of the subordinate lodges $1,755,303. The amount paid for relief during the year reached the magnificent total of $789,495, and for the two years $1,497,435.

The largest gain in membership has been in Ohio, amounting to 5582, and Indiana next, with 3940 new members. South Carolina gave the largest percentage of net gains during the year 1889, being 47.97 per cent, with Colorado next, at 46.05 per cent.

Indianapolis will make a strong effort to secure the next conclave. Kansas City, St. Paul, Omaha and Lincoln are all after it.

The Pythian Supreme Lodge elected George B. Shaw of Eau Claire, Wis., Supreme Chancellor and W. H. Blackwood of Kentucky Supreme Vice-Chancellor.

The Deadly Grade Crossing.

BINGHAMTON, N.Y., July 10.—A special train on the Southern Central road carrying Superintendent Titus struck a carriage containing five ladies at the grade crossing two miles north of Oswego about 6 o'clock this evening. Three of the women, Mrs. Cleveland, widow of ex-Sheriff Cleveland of Tioga county, Mrs. James Shay and Mrs. A. Whitmarsh, were instantly killed. They were thrown 50 feet from the train by the force of the collision. Mrs. Belson and Mrs. Van Dusar were caught on the pilot of the locomotive and carried some distance. They were badly injured, but it is thought they will recover.

A Ghastly Find.

BROCKVILLE, July 10.—There was found yesterday on the north shore at Point Peninsula, near Cape Vincent, a body badly decomposed with a fracture of the skull near the left temple. The clothing is a red under-shirt, blue flannel shirt laced in front, light drawers, dark pants with fine light stripe, dark stockings, fine shoes and rubber overshoes. The flesh is so fallen away from the face that the remains could not be recognized.

Freddie Fortner Dies.

LONDON, Ont., July 7.—Freddie Fortner, the youth who was so mysteriously shot at Woodland cemetery on the Queen's Birthday, has succumbed to the effects of the same. He was thought some three weeks since to have recovered from the shock, but on Thursday last was again taken seriously ill and died on Friday night. No additional light has been thrown on the identity of the person who fired the shot, but presumably it was done quite unintentionally.

Betrayed and in Jail.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Miss Nettie Clarke, whose arrest for a $5000 forgery was reported the other day, is now in Jefferson Market prison. Dr. S. A. Smith, for whom himself she committed the crime and with whom she was in love, was married July 1 to Miss Nellie Clark King of this city and they are now on their wedding tour. On the morning of the wedding Smith received a telegraphic money order for $1400 from Miss Clarke, part of the proceeds of her forgery.

TURNBULL'S
BARGAIN COLUMN.

Our Print Department is now unusually attractive, having received about one hundred mid-summer patterns. The colors are very attractive, resembling all the latest shades in wool dress goods. We are also showing a choice range of Mourning Prints, in new designs, such as diagonal cords and crape patterns that have the appearance of silk crape.

The warm weather is creating a demand for plain and fancy Challies, which have the combined qualities of being cool and light, as well as very ladylike.

There is nothing takes the place of dark seersucker for boys' coats. We have them in good qualities, as well as the lighter weight for children's dresses.

Our stock of Flannelettes is varied, having imported an extra good cloth, which washes better than Canadian makes usually show.

We are offering now a full range of Oxford Checks, 5c. a yard. Do not fail to see them.

New opened Ladies' Belts in new styles.

Our Glove department contains all the latest makes in silk taffeta, and lace gloves and mitts. See our silk gloves with kid finger tips. Our gloves are from a manufacturer who studies to make the fingers long enough for a well proportioned hand.

Keep in rememberance our special line of Ladies' Hose.

We have also the all-over Jet Material for making Dolmans; any shape or pattern selected. Any garment turned out of our mantle department always guaranteed perfect fit.

A GOOD SOLID BRICK HOUSE, now vacant, with [ill

The Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1890.

A Coroner's jury at Woodstock has just censured the county authorities for permitting an old man to die in the county jail whose only offence was his poverty. The jury recommended that a poor house be erected immediately. The county should take advantage of Mr. Mowat's offer to advance $10,000 for the purpose.

Mr. M. B. Daly, ex-M.P., Halifax, and formerly Deputy-Speaker of the House of Commons, has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia. Mr. Daly is a prominent lawyer and sat for Halifax in the Parliament of 1878 82. He was born at Marchmount, near Quebec, in 1.36. His father, Sir D. Daly, who belonged to an old Irish family, was for twenty-five years Colonial Secretary and represented Megantic in the Canadian Legislature He was also Lieutenant-Governor of Tobago and Prince Edward Island and Governor-in-Chief of South Australia Mr. Daly was private secretary to his father during the six years he was Lieutenant-Governor of Prince Edward Island. He was also private secretary to Governor Macdonnell of Nova Scotia, and to Sir Hastings Doyle.

The Dead Hand.

A reporter who has been investigating the Newfoundland trouble on the spot writes as follows: "The colonial fishermen are a lot of big, strong, good-natured fellows, inured to every sort of privation and hardship. They are two nationalities—English from the west country, and Irishmen from the south of Ireland. The present generation of them is native-born. Immigration ceased fifty years ago. The families of the greater part have been in Newfoundland for more than a century, and have never moved from the granite cliff, or the sheltered cove, where their forefathers first made a home. A braver people could not be found, but their simplicity, utter lack of ambition and their long continued wedlock with poverty have taught them to suffer the extremes of misfortune with patience. The evils of which they complain to-day have existed for fifty years, but it is only within the last six months that they have begun to use the language of menace. Now they speak up frankly. They have gradually acquired a knowledge of what the old treaties contain, how they came to be made and what the interpretations are which the contending politicians put upon them, and they do not hesitate to say that they will endure them no longer. One of the fishermen, and intelligent old chap, with a frame of iron and a face as gentle as that of the great black dog which lay on the 'flake' beside him, put the case in this way: 'It were all well enough, sir, in them days begones before me an' me fourteen childer was borned at all, for them two auld kings to patch up their quarrels by slicin' up Nuffanlon' betwixt 'em Ay, it were all right thin, dye see? But now, me an' me fourteen childer is here, an' we couldn't help bein' here, none of us, an' bein' here, we're our livin' to met, and we don't give a dom about them dead-an'-gone kings, nor what they said."

We confess to a strong sympathy with the sentiment of the concluding sentence. Too much respect is paid to the sayings and doing of old dead-and-gone kings. "The evil that men do lives after them." King Charles presented great estates to his illegitimate children, and the people of England two hundred years later, pay large sums every year to the progeny for permission to use a portion of their native land. King William was equally generous to his Dutch crony Portland or Bentinck, and the terms of the gift keep Englishmen poor two centuries after William's death. What right had Queen Anne to compel men, who were not born when she died, to hand over a large portion of their earnings to the descendants of the Duke of Marlborough, as a perpetual pension? In the early days of Upper Canada, the Crown Lands were granted lavishly to men who had political influence. Who has not read of the old documents—"I, Peter Russell, Administrator of the Government of Upper Canada, do grant to you, Peter Russell, gentleman, that portion of land," etc. By virtue of that performance, the Toronto Baldwins have been able to live in luxury without labor. The payments by Canada to the Hudson Bay Company, and to the Canada Company—something for nothing—betoken our respect for the doings of dead-and-gone kings. How much better and nobler is the Jeffersonian idea that the land belongs in usufruct to the living. The people who want to use it should have easy access to it. The rent of the land should go to the government for current public expenses. The men of a past age were at liberty to rule in their day, but what a farce it is that they should continue to rule and hamper the men of this age. Was wisdom buried with them?

The Eastern Question.

The everlasting "Eastern Question," which is the memory of the oldest man living was as acute and as unfailing a subject of discussion when they were children as it is now, has again come to the front after a period of quiescence. It would seem that the dogs who surround the Sick Man's palace are getting hungry again and beginning to growl. Bulgaria is in a ferment again, Russia is pressing her demands for settlement of the war indemnity, Greece and Servia are presenting their notes, the troubles in Armenia are increasing, and the general situation is summed up in the words that a general explosion in the Balkans may occur before the powers have time to act. In all this the hand of Russia is evident, and it may be taken as an answer instigated by Russia to the recent arrangement between England and Germany. The truth of the whole matter is on the surface. Russia will only permit the Balkans to have peace on one condition. That is her own occupation of Constantinople and protectorate over the principalities. To this England and Austria will never consent. War, and a terrible war it will be, can only decide who shall control the Dardanelles.

COQUETRY AND BEAUTY.

SUSCEPTIBILITY OF MEN TO FRIVOLITY AND SIMPLICITY.

A born coquette is more dangerous than a beauty. She inherits a better legacy than wealth, for while money gives life its cushion beauty gives it color and coquetry makes it sparkle. The coquette will go on with her conquests while there is a man left in the world with a heart in his bosom. There is a woman in New York who keeps a big boarding-school for the education of coquettes, and instead of walking on rose leaves she treads on golden eagles. Seats at her performances are secured two years in advance, and to make the application you pay a handsome deposit. There are no graded courses of study, no exhaustive examinations, no tedious memory lessons, and no incessant, eternal, and intolerable smashing of pianokeys. Aspirants for degrees can go to the Harvard annex. Would be grenadiers are directed to Holyoke and Columbia, and blue stockings are advised to enter local high schools and universities for intellectual force. Here coquetry is fostered and no secret made about it, either. Square shoulders are rounded into De Milo grace; flat soles are raised by judicious foot coverings; high foreheads sheltered by kiss curls; harsh voices lowered a whole tone; angular elbows turned in; stiff joints loosened and every symptom of a strong mind rigidly suppressed. The pupil is sweetened, softened, and curved, she is carefully instructed to know nothing and to do nothing that will rob a grace or mar a smile.

And does she pay?

Doesn't she.

Drop her in the village lane or quiet promenade of her native city, and see if she is not picked up by the most promising young lawyer or most prominent bachelor in the town.

This is a serious, angular old world. Men are sick and tired of shrewdness, logic, argument and brains. They want to be amused, distracted, diverted. Good sense is tedious after the market closes, and the woman who talks profit and loss, supply and demand, premium and discount, in evening dress, in the moonlight or at a dinner-party, is a nightmare in petticoats to be eluded at the first turn in the lane. Change is rest, and while we hate giggling, we love gabble. There is where the coquetry of woman wins.

I remember riding in an elevated train beside a grizzly man of 50 and a breezy, chatty girl enveloped in fluttering ribbons, dreamy lace, and the scent of wild olives, who was pouring society chat into her companion's ear. When a lull came in her recital do you think he sighed restfully? Not a bit of it. His only remark was; "Tell me some more."

Coquetry is to the wine of life what the sparkle is to champagne, and there are women who can no more help being coquettish than that delicious draught can help bubbling.

A pretty lot of nonsense, too, brothers preach against rice powder, curl papers lip rouge, and sweet scent. It is a matter of comment that these dear protected sisters receive more than a liberal allowance of home, while the veriest Dolly Varden in the set has her fill of the play, the dance, and the tennis court.

No, dear, strait-laced, prim-frocked, hair-brushed sisters, coquetry is the very best investment a girl can make. The coquette has a seat in a crowded car and receives the civilities that make her glad that she is a woman.

The coquette is helped over dangerous crossings, her packages are picked up and brushed when she drops them. The first place at a bank window and the first considerations in the shops are hers. The coquette gets the loveliest flowers, the most delicious candies, the newest books, and the latest prints in the market. The coquettes receive the idolatry of men. Their hearts, their names, and finally their worldly goods.

She need not make a showcase of herself nor play the flower garden to be captivating. A girl can be absolutely irresistible in a 15-cent cambric. Innocence, youth, beauty, sentiment are associated with a girl in a white dress. Plenty of men shrink from brocade and passementerie as fabrics beyond their income, but the white cambric, the white mull, the white anything is a raiment that blots out arithmetical calculation.

The coquette may be as wise as Maria Mitchell, Susan B. Anthony, or Abigail Dodge, but she will never let a man find it out. She knows too well how they hate things didactic. And so she smiles sweetly, talks gayly, and lives to please. Here's luck to the little coquette. Long may she wave and never waver.—N.Y. World.

How the Other Half Lives.

How true it is, the remark that one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives. Take, for example, the woman who plays the orguinette on the street corner. An old sun-bonnet is pulled well down over her shrunken and shrivelled features—for the feminine instinct which shuns a revelation of unlovelines lingers all through life, and outlasts hunger and humiliation. And the tune she plays is "Home, Sweet Home." From time to time the rhythm halts where notes have been worn away by use, and the memory-laden melody seems to be broken every now and then by a sob. Crouched down behind the instrument, with her face almost buried in the calico apron across her knees, she doesn't seem to even hear the jingle of the coin that is dropped into the tin cup before her. Alone in the street, without the slightest prospect of a friendly nod or a kindly greeting, she plays—"Home, Sweet Home."

One asks himself how she lives, and when he figures it out that during the day fifty people would be likely to give her coins, averaging not less than ten cents each, he concludes that at $5 per diem she ought to have a seven-room house in a good neighborhood with hot and cold water and pie for dinner whenever she wants it.—New York Press.

What Say They?

In popularity increasing. In reliability the standard. In merit the first. In fact the best remedy for summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera infantum, etc., is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All medicine dealers sell it. 2w27d

Our Story.

A DOUBLE LIFE.

Capt. Freemantle, thinking the enemy had redoubled on him, in the hope of leading him astray among the perilous reefs which abound in these waters, cautiously changed his course to cut him off, studying the chart closely and keeping the lead line constantly going. The way seemed clear enough, and the Rosario was soon under a full head of steam once more. By ten o'clock she was near enough to the sailing vessel to see that she was a brigantine of much the same size and build as the Karl, but painted black, and flying the detested black and white rag of the kingdom of Fiji.

These were tricks which every naval officer was quite prepared for, and Capt. Freemantle bore down on the brigantine as hard as he could go, convinced that her living freight would prove her to be the Karl. He was rather surprised, however, to see that she made no effort to get away, but kept on an easterly course, as if she were sailing from some North Queensland port to the islands of the Pacific.

He signalled to her to heave to, and she hove to immediately, at the same time saluting the British flag. Capt. Freemantle lowered his launch, and, taking a Lieutenant and twenty-four men, he went off himself to the brigantine, which now lay right under the guns of the Rosario. The commander was received in the gangway by a fine looking gray-haired man, who saluted him respectfully and welcomed him on board. He placed his men in charge of the deck, and ordered the other to produce his papers. These showed that the vessel was the Annie Woods of Levuka, bound from Townsville to Tonga. Everything seemed quite in order, but that proved nothing, for forged ships' papers were a very common device. Capt. Freemantle asked how many men were on board, and was told that there were thirty, including fourteen men who had been taken off their own wish from Thursday Island, where their ship had been left disabled. The crew were mustered on deck and answered all questions satisfactorily.

Capt. Freemantle was not at all deceived. He merely admired the way in which the thing was done. He now sent the crew of the brigantine to the forecastle and ordered his own men to open the hatches of the main hold. The Captain of the Annie Woods made not the least objection, and for a very good reason. The hold contained nothing but barrels of water and a quantity of bananas and pineapples. The bulk-heads were newly whitewashed and the deck scrubbed down, and there was not a sign throughout the ship of her having carried labor for months.

What was a naval officer, bound by rules and regulations and the decisions of vice-admiralty courts, to do? The law said that slavers were only liable to be seized on the high seas when actually found with unlicensed labor on board. Here there was not a trace of a laborer, licensed or unlicensed. If Capt. Freemantle seize the brigantine and was unable to prove anything against her, he would be liable to heavy damages and would certainly be reprimanded by the Commodore for excess of zeal.

Most reluctantly, but most politely, he handed the ships' papers back to the Captain of the Annie Woods, together with a certificate from himself of having boarded her and found her all in order. The Rosario steamed her way, and the Annie Woods sailed hers.

When the Commodore received Capt. Freemantle's report in his own stateroom on board the Challenger, at Sydney, he asked him what he thought of the affair.

"I am as certain as that I'm sitting here, sir," replied Freemantle, "that the Annie Woods was the Karl, painted black in the night."

"How about the hundred and fifty laborers?"

"That sanguinary scoundrel consigned every one of them to the sharks between the time when I lost him in the evening and the time when I found him again next morning."

"I've no doubt you're right," said the Commodore kindly, "but you only did your duty in letting him go."

He was right, and many a time afterward Bully Hayes boasted of how he had been one too many for the smartest naval officer on the Australian station.

CHAPTER III.

A time came when the success of Bully Hayes, and other desperadoes encouraged by his example and impunity, reached the limit of endurance of the European powers interested in the Pacific. The Goddefroix had failed, with liabilities amounting to more than five millions of dollars, mainly through the state of insecurity caused by these villains; and their trading stations had fallen into the hands of all sorts of unscrupulous adventurers. The most beautiful and delightful portion of the globe, in short, had become a veritable pandemonium.

Half measures having utterly failed, the British at length took the bold step of annexing the Fiji Islands, expelling the impudent impostors who called themselves the government, pensioning the King and appointing an officer of great ability as Governor with the additional title and almost unlimited authority of High Commissioner of the Western Pacific.

In order to meet the slavers and pirates on their own grounds, or, rather, in their own waters, a number of small steam cruisers and swift-sailing schooners were built in the navy yards at Sydney and fitted out under the command of young officers who had already seen service among the islands. The exceedingly elastic terms and boundaries of the High Commissioner's jurisdiction, gave these officers power to deal with suspicious vessels in any way they thought best, and the sea rovers soon found the climate of the Pacific becoming unpleasantly warm. Not a few of them got long sentences of imprisonment in the terrible stockades of New South Wales, while others, against whom no indictable offence could be proved, under the civil law, were detained in jail at Levuka, the seat of government of Fiji, by the High Commissioner's authority. A few, who were clearly proved to have stained their hands with blood, were hanged.

Bully Hayes met with his usual luck during these trying times. He was three times captured, invariably through treachery; but twice he obtained an acquittal, partly through his wonderfully able defence of himself, and partly through the sympathy of the jury with a bold adventurer in a disordered state of society. On the third occasion, when things looked uncommonly bad against him and everybody thought the game was up, he mysteriously escaped from custody, and remained in hiding until the affair had blown over.

After that things settled down rapidly in the Pacific, and Bully Hayes, cleverly adapting himself to the new regime, became quite a respectable trader, and was even of great assistance to the authorities in detecting and following up the slavers. His fine appearance and mild manners prepossessed everybody, and among the merchants and even the naval officers he came to be regarded as a much maligned man.

The pirate, however, still survived under that smooth exterior, and before very long the old Adam got the upper hand.

Like most adventurers and dishonest people generally, Hayes was always a comparatively poor man. Though enormous sums must have passed through his hands from first to last, and though he always had his pockets full of gold, he had never laid anything by, and now, when he had given up his old methods of supplying himself with cash, he was sometimes quite in straightened circumstances. There do-nothing loafer than for a hundred rogues to prevent himself living, and Bully Hayes was not the man to try very long.

During this interval of seeming respectability, too, he had seen more become enamoured, to finish chance, and contracted matrimony with the heiress, widow of a trader at one of the islands. The lady, however, was not particularly eager for the match. She stipulated that Capt. Hayes should quit the sea once for all, and that he should be able to produce sufficient means to buy out her late husband's partner and secure certain lands in the neighborhood of the trading station for cultivating cocoanuts and coffee.

The truth was, Hayes was not nearly so attractive as he had been when a younger man, and the widow was much more inclined to confer her hand and her late husband's savings on his mate, a remarkably handsome young Irishman named Magee, commonly called the archbishop, from his alleged relationship to the celebrated prelate of that name.

Hayes had a suspicion of this, and was desperately jealous of Magee. At the same time each of the men knew the other's strong qualities, and a great deal of mutual respect and confidence existed between them. They had been through many dark adventures together, and either might have betrayed the other to the gallows at any moment. But each knew that he might trust the other implicitly, and, in fact, they had come to have that feeling of attachment for one another which sometimes prevails among the worst of men.

Magee chafed under illness and respectability not less than Hayes did, and as he also had his reasons for wishing to make a good large haul—reasons not altogether unconnected with the widow aforesaid—he was heartily glad when Hayes proposed to him one day that they should make just one more cruise in the old style before relinquishing the sea forever.

Having obtained possession of a fine schooner by a deliberate and singularly clever fraud, they loaded her with produce at Levuka, under the very nose of the High Commissioner, and, having got their papers in due form, sailed away under the British flag, nominally bound for Sydney. No sooner were they clear of the track of vessels, however, than they ran to an uninhabited island, landed their cargo, repainted the schooner, changing her name and port of registry, hoisted the French flag, which was then becoming rather common in those seas, and sailed due north.

Well knowing the plans and whereabouts of the British cruisers, the freebooters easily eluded them and making for the Solomon Islands and other equatorial groups, carried out a series of depredations on the native villages and trading stations there, which quite recalled the bad old days. The Belle Etoile of Tahiti, became a name of terror throughout that portion of the torrid zone, and the plunder she obtained, together with the price of the ill-fated laborers she carried off, must have amounted to a very large sum.

WHAT IS BEST TO WEAR!

Useful Hints for Home Dressmakers.

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY CONSIDERED.

UNDOUBTEDLY there isn't half the pleasure in buying gowns when one has "plenty of money," says a shrewd woman with a pretty good notion of both sides of the subject. "The interest comes in when you have just enough to "get what you want by drawing liberally on contrivance and taste. For myself "I grow tired reading about opulence I cannot hope to have. Most fashion "articles treat of too unlimited gorgeousness for anything below flashy girls' "imagination, who seldom find flights too extravagant to please them. I wish "somebody would write for women who wish to look as well as the best on "ordinary allowances."

It isn't impossible to look as well—not to dress as well absolutely, but to make as satisfactory an effect—on much less money than rich women spend, if one has strict taste, a command of shopping sense, and is clever at her needle. Three-fourths the cost of dresses from first class houses goes for the making, not for the material. Every girl should be taught thoroughly how to plan a dress and finish it in correct style

Not to tell the wearying novelties of style, but to select the best points is a pleasing matter. The gown for the street, rich or plain, is of wool, silk being left to the dowagers out of doors. A well chosen wardrobe will have a selection of the most useful and welcome of seasonable goods. Each material has its own special mode for making. Ladies who are studying economy this summer, and who are aiming to make the outlay for their dresses come within the most economical of figures, are advised to attend

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by purely Canadian companies, and forwarded by surrender or lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of insurance men. So unexpected and unwelcome an increase as $5,789,012 in the amount of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period when insurance was supposed to be extensively effected is deserving of more than passing notice. It would not fail to excite comment; so that the Dominion have been steadily increased the amount of business they have each a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Company.	Net amount in force.	Percentage of lapses and [illegible]
Canada Life	$23,694,378	5.67
Confederation	17,870,672	5.37
Sovereign Mutual	13,071,000	10.29
Federal	10,602,327	10.35
Sun Life	11,870,917	10.38
North American	8,472,000	10.60
Temperance and General	7,696,372	17.91
Citizens	2,027,000	20.14
Dominion of Canada Life	2,720,109	30.12
London Life	1,844,720	30.61

From this table we can see that while such companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have already doubled the amount of their lapses, some of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 13.76 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the strongest [illegible] known a company is, and the more of its policies it will [illegible] while the weaker [illegible] policies, which are [illegible] a considerable proportion of their contracts to their more prosperous rivals. Then as large a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should certainly abandon the [illegible] insurance in one year is hardly possible in these days of [illegible] We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is [illegible] a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) [illegible] absorbing the assets of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of clever management [illegible] methods, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is almost [illegible] these figures that the superior prestige of their older established [illegible] to control a proportion of their contracts in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

The Winnipeggers Win—A Creditable Defeat—A Good Record by the Home Team in the Last Innings—Attewell's Bowling Averages.

The interesting cricket match between Al-Manitoba and the home team on the club grounds Ashburnham, was brought to a conclusion on Tuesday evening about five o'clock. The first day's cricket brought disaster to the home team. The Winnipeggers sent themselves to the bat and when the last stump was laid low the score sheet showed a total of 103, generally well earned, runs. This was done against good bowling, from Attewell's end at least and good fielding, in spite of what the reports in the Toronto papers say. True their were two or three missed catches that would have counted out a wicket but only one cost much—about a dozen runs, but the next over the fielder redeemed his reputation by making a brilliant single-hand catch at the same point in the field. Peterborough at the wickets in their first go, went all to pieces. Sam Ray was the only man that grasped the situation. He carried his bat with the wickets falling around him like nine pins. Goldsmith, the colt, was next best with 8 to his credit. The Nor'-Westers went in for their second innings with the prestige of a big lead, 55 in the first innings, and they put up a big score of 126 before the last man was retired. Here again the complaisance of the home team's fielders helped the enemy. Muff after muff came with disheartening frequency, and, of course, there were big scores made, the double figures for the visitors being, Rokeby, 36, Page, 16, Frost, 29, Campbell, 22. Peterborough put on the leggings with the big contract in view of overcoming a majority of 181 runs, Ray and Rogers tamed the music first. Ray soon put together 10 runs, when his stumps fell. One wicket for 14 runs. Then Rutherford, clothed in the garments that made him feel at home, joined Rogers, and a spanking team they made. Both played steadily and the runs began to come thick and fast. In the face of good bowling and exceedingly sharp fielding the two did excellent work. Boundary hits were frequent, and the telegraph showed 90 before the partnership was dissolved, Rutherford having to his credit 57 well-played, honestly and brilliantly earned runs, including one of his pet hits into the neighboring potato gardens. Cameron followed Rutherford, but the loss of the latter seemed to be fatal to Rogers; he soon was rewarded with a fine 28 to his credit. Attewell and Cameron put together 14 and 12 respectively, leaving less than fifty for the tail enders to make to secure a victory. But they were not equal to the work. MAX Hamilton added 5 and Goldsmith did likewise, but several inconsequent ciphers and a few scattering runs left the grand total at the fall of the last stump only 140, giving the visitors the victory by 41 runs.

It is a pity to have to put the blame of this defeat upon the fielding and batting (in the first innings) of the home team. The bowling was good. Attewell especially distinguished himself. The bowling analysis shows to his credit the splendid record of 56 overs bowled, with 24 maidens and only 55 runs; an average of less than 11-12ths of a run for each over. Pretty good trundling that. It is not by way of excuse so much as by way of explanation, that the composition of the home team is referred to. Considering the material of the club, it was a weak team, the absence of such strength as Stratton and Logan being severely felt—two first class bowlers and bats and generally all-round first rates cricketers. Many of those that played were decidedly off practice. That such a team should, against a team, that has been in match practice daily for weeks, make so creditable a stand, is not so bad a showing after all.

The ladies are to be credited with having looked after the cricketers with graceful hospitality. The first day they served luncheon in a large marquee placed on one corner of the grounds. The attendance of visitors on both days was only fair.

The Manitobans go from here to Montreal thence to Boston. They will spend two weeks with Uncle Sam, including a few days in New York and a week in Philadelphia.

What the Bell Telephone Co. Will Do.

"Fight Them" is the Watchward—No successful Opposition to be Allowed.

As is pretty generally known, an opposition telephone company has been organized in Peterborough, a large amount of capital subscribed, and permission asked to put up the necessary poles on our streets. Further than this, a call is now being made on the stockholders for funds to begin the work. This looks as if the new company means business, and as the successful operation of the new company would necessitate the closing up of the local branch of the Bell Telephone Company, public curiosity is aroused as to what the latter corporation intend to do in the emergency.

A reporter of the EXAMINER asked Mr. Kent, agent of the Bell Telephone Co., what policy his company would adopt in event of opposition starting in Peterborough, and received the reply, "fight them."

"The fact is," continued Mr. Kent, "there is no room for opposition; only one Company can ever permanently be in Peterborough, and we certainly will not remain inactive when attempts are being made to take our business from us. The Bell Company has nearly two millions invested in telephones throughout Canada. This money has been spent in the construction of its immense trunk line system and its hundreds of exchanges. We have worked hard to build up a business and have educated the people up to the use of the telephone and we don't purpose allowing another Company to pick the fruit."

"How will you fight?" was next asked.

"We will cut the rate down to $10, and, if they meet us there, we will put in telephones for nothing; and, if necessary, fight it out on that basis for ten years."

"When will you make this reduction?"

"Not till the other people have spent their money in the erection of their system. If we are to lose, so must they."

In consistence, Mr. Kent said he thought opposition in Peterborough was unreasonable. There was a good exchange already established, which had connection with every town and city in Ontario; there was an all-night service, and the rate charged was the lowest in the world. His company had spared neither money nor effort to make everything as good as possible. With all the great advantages of buying wire, etc., in large quantities, manufacturing their own instruments, switches and other apparatus, and the saving in management, generally, that always exists in a large company, they have not, in the past ten years, averaged a six per cent. dividend.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

The Living Pay Solemn Tribute to the Dead.

Peterborough Oddfellows Commemorate Decoration Day—An Impressive Gathering—The Public Join in the Solemn Occasion.

As the years roll by the list of the dead is constantly being increased. The homefield is robbed of some bright ornament by the ruthless hand of death, and tears of sorrow replace the former happy smiles of those who mourn the loss of the dear departed one. Sorrow is finally but has been chastened by such an affliction; and what a solemn pleasure it is to visit the cemetery on a warm summer's day, when nature has donned her richest robes and "God's acre" is as beautiful as the divine promise which is the anchor of the Christian faith; to walk slowly through the winding, shady paths past the gleaming tombstones and beds of flowers, to a grassy spot 'neath which lies the dust of dear ones whose memory you cherish; to place a floral token tenderly on the grave and with loving hands smooth the grassy carpet and careful y pluck out the loose leaves and straws when are blown about by the wind; then to sit pensively and bring yourself into close spiritual communion with the dead by recalling to mind his or her familiar face and many virtues. Take in the sad duty in which hundreds of people in Peterborough find a melancholy pleasure year after year. And as a family observance the occasion is emphasized by the annual Decoration Day ceremonies, when the Oddfellows of the town, a great brotherhood of nearly 400 members, set apart a half day for the purpose of publicly testifying to their practical performance of the which form the basis of their Order. The Decoration Day ceremonial is an old established observance now among the Oddfellows, and though it is accompanied with considerable pomp and display, the object is not ostentatious, as the Grand Master remarked in his address at the cemetery this afternoon. It is simply the members of a big family which is doing honor to the memory of their dead brethren, and showing to the world that their claim of a Christian fraternity bound together by the triple links of Friendship, Love and Truth, is not an empty one.

THE HONORED DEAD.

Following is a complete list of the deceased brethren whose graves were decorated, the last name having been added since Decoration Day of 1889:—

To-day's ceremonies were imposing and solemn as usual. The half-holiday was generally well observed, most of the stores on George street being closed, and the public turning out en masse to witness the parade and take part in the sad rites. The Little Lake Cemetery has been all day the centre of attraction. Large numbers of families and smaller groups of two or more persons have been winding their way towards the cemetery since the early forenoon, and consequently the necropolis was crowded even before the procession of Oddfellows reached it. The beautiful cemetery looked at its best, the able efforts of Mr. Foord, the new caretaker, at beautifying the grounds being enhanced by the profuse floral embellishments added by the citizens to-day.

THE ORDER OF PROCESSION.

It was a gay, attractive parade. The bright uniforms of the band, the rich, brilliant appearance of the plumed Chevaliers, and the neat black suits and silk hats, with relieving bouquets, wreaths, badges and boutonnieres of the Oddfellows, formed a striking and harmonious sight for the eye. Hundreds of people lined the streets all the way to the cemetery. The procession moved from the Central Park about half-past two o'clock, to the music of the band, in the following order:—

Bellaire Band.
Peterborough Canton No. 10, Patriarchs Militant, in uniform.
Members of Sebastopol Lodges and Encampments.
Visiting Brethren.
Officers of Otonabee and Peterborough lodges.
Past Grands and Grand Master Dr. Bell.

There were a few Oddfellows present from outside towns, who had accepted the invitation to attend the ceremonies. There were about 150 men in line. The effect was pretty and touching. Following those on foot came a number of carriages.

DECORATION RITES.

The march to the Cemetery was pleasant, the heat not being too oppressive, and the dust being well laid by the watering cart. Arrived at the Cemetery the brethren were marshalled in circle in front of the chapel where the prescribed rites were begun by the company singing "Nearer My God to Thee." Then Bro. T. Armstrong, N. G. of Otonabee lodge, gave the opening charge, and Bro. Rev. J. C. Davidson, of Peterborough lodge, offered up prayer. After this each Oddfellow's grave was visited, adorned with bouquets and wreaths, and a short service said. The visit to the Oddfellows' lot was of course the most interesting. Upon re-assembling after the performance of these sad duties, the closing exercises were conducted by Bro. Wm. Hill, N.G., of Peterborough lodge, who delivered an impressive charge. Bro. G. J. Early, Chaplain of Otonabee lodge, uttering a prayer. Dr. E. W. Bell, Grand Master, spoke a few words before the brethren were dismissed. He said the Decoration Day ceremonies were held not for display, but for the same reason that private families frequently visited and decorated the graves of loved ones dead and gone. They visited simply to honor their deceased brethren in a becoming manner, and in so doing were carrying out the fraternal principles of their Order. The Decoration Day ceremony was approved of by the Grand and Sagreme Grand Lodges, and he was pleased to stamp it with official recognition by his presence. He thanked the general public for the interest they manifested on the occasion.

At the time of going to press the Oddfellows had not yet returned to town, some time being allowed them to rest and inspect the cemetery.

FLORAL DONATIONS.

The following donation of flowers were made:—Mrs. Hooper, cut flowers; Mrs. McIntosh, hand bouquet; Mr. J. D. Tully, cut flowers; Mr. W. H. Manning, 2 hand bouquets; Mrs. Clooney, 6 hand bouquets, cut flowers, a floral anchor, a wreath of flowers and 2 button hole bouquets; Mrs Fitzgerald, 4 hand bouquets, 6 button-hole bouquets; Mr. Fanning, hand bouquet; Mrs. Hilliard, cut flowers; Mr. W. Sanderson, cut flowers; Miss R. White, 2 hand bouquets; Mrs. McGill, hand bouquet; Mrs. J. Miller, cut flowers.

Fun for the Young Folk.

Sunday School Pupils Enjoy a Holiday Outing—Three Excursions Thursday.

Thursday was a model day for a picnic, bright, beautiful and not too warm for comfort. The Sunday school of the George street, Baptist and St. John's Sunday schools were fortunate enough to have the dates for their annual pic-nics fixed for that day, and all three were in consequence highly successful.

AT CHEMONG PARK.

It is simply stating a fact to say that the annual excursion of St. John's church joint Sunday school this year was the largest and most successful of any of its predecessors. There were about 300 aboard the train which carried the excursion to Chemong, where the steamer met them and in two trips conveyed the whole party to the Park. Chemong Park is one of the best pic-nic grounds in this district, and needless to say with all the other advantages of fine weather and splendid water privileges, the young people as well as the few older ones present enjoyed themselves hugely. Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. C. B. Kenrick, Mr. W. Brandrette, Superintendent of the church school, and Mr. C. B. Beck, Superintendent of the Mission school, accompanied the pic-nic party and entered heartily into all the pleasures of the day.

After dinner the sports were held, for which suitable prizes were awarded. The sports were run off by an energetic committee consisting of Messrs. Brandrette, Beck, H. Long and Walkis. Following is the list of events:—

Boys race, 15 years—W. Marshall.
Bous race.—J. Dawson.
Boys' race (9 years).—A. Wills.
Three legged race.—A. Elliott and Metcalfe.
Three legged race (younger boys).—G. Butcher and W. Roberts.
Girls' race (15 years).—1st, C. Hodgson; 2nd, M. Pratt.
Girls' race (12 years).—N. Pratt.
Girls' race (9 years).—V. Bell.
Men's race.—Rev. J. C. Davidson.
Young men's race.—P. Rabidge.
Boys' race (12 years).—L. Varnes.
Race on all fours.—B. Dagan.
Boys' race (9 years).—J. Dagan.
Boys' race (12 years).—P. Brandrette.
Girls' race.—1st, Clara Hodgson; 2nd, L. Pratt.

The lemon race was most interesting, a number of boys endeavouring to pick up lemons floating in a tub of water with their mouths.

The excursion reached home about seven o'clock, all well pleased with the day's outing. The committee provided tea, sugar and hot water, and otherwise looked after the comfort of the pic-nickers.

The following is a list of prizes with the names of the donators:—A. Elliott, goods to the value of $1; J. R. Stratton, daily EXAMINER one year, $4; A. Jenkins, one lady's shopping bag; Foot & McWhinnis, one pair slippers; W. G. Bain, pocket knife; Lee & Thompson, one story book; H. S. McDonald, one pint bottle of perfume; W. H. Greatrex, hair brush and comb; G. Howden, $1 worth of meat; F. Mitchell, goods to value of 50c.; Mills Bros., hat $1; Hawley Bros., tea $1; Salisbury Bros., goods $1; Macfarlane Wilson, one pair vases $1; Review Co., daily Review one year, $4; M. Carton, tea $1; Gough Bros., hat $1; W. H. Meredith, shirt $1; R. W. Errett, goods 50c.; Rush Bros., 1 tin Turkey coffee; G. Carton, goods 50c.; W. H. Robertson, weekly Times one year $1; B. Fair, satchel $1; Dr. Halliday, cash $1.

THE DAY AT HASTINGS.

About 225 persons, members of the George Street Church Sunday School and their friends, went down to Hastings on the 8.30 train, arriving at the delightful grove, close to the village, at ten o'clock. The committee had care of the station for the transportation of baskets and other picnic paraphernalia, so that the excursionists were saved all trouble. Tea and sugar was also provided, and while dinner, that indispensable adjunct to a picnic, was being prepared by the elders, the young people romped about through the cool, spacious grove. In the afternoon some sports were held, consisting of a number of races and jumping contests, and a couple of baseball matches took places. There was no lack of amusements of various kinds. Rev. J. H. Locke, the new pastor, graced the picnic with his presence, and took advantage of the opportunity to enlarge his acquaintanceship. Rev. Mr. Locke was most cordially received, and he became at once popular by the hearty manner in which he contributed to the sociability of the occasion. Mr. Griffin, superintendent, and the officers of the Sunday school, were also present. The excursion reached Peterborough again about eight o'clock. Everyone who attended was thoroughly pleased and satisfied with the picnic.

BAPTIST EXCURSION.

A party of about 200 happy children of the Baptist Sunday school went down the river yesterday per Golden Eye. Rev. Mr. Parker, pastor, was with the company and Dr. Scott the superintendent. A delightful day was spent at Hale's Bridge, the children being amused with impromptu sports and games. The party returned without accident at an early hour, all having enjoyed the day very much.

New Map of the Dominion.

A new map of the Dominion has just been published by the enterprising firm of G. N. & G. W. Tackabury, of Toronto. An introduction to our readers of this well-known firm of map and atlas publishers is by no means necessary. The house has been engaged in the business for about thirty years, and their publications in nearly every office and business place in the province, are of themselves sufficient commendations for any work the firm may produce. Their latest publication consists of a wall map showing the entire Dominion from ocean to ocean. It is beautifully coloured by counties and townships, in all tints, and shows a marvelous amount of mimutiæ. It indicates post offices, money-order offices, post office savings banks, and telegraph stations; the rivers, lakes, harbours, canals, railways, etc. The great North-West is shown in as great detail as the older provinces. The main Indian trails, Indian reserves, Mounted Police stations, proposed railways, and new townships, are all clearly designated. In fact the work is in every particular a very complete and highly satisfactory one, and is by far the best map of the country that has yet appeared. It certainly deserves a wide and general patronage. Mr. G. W. Tackabury, the junior member of the firm, is now in town attending to those interested the benefits of the enterprise.

News Nuggets.

—Work is going on in the block paving of Hunter street, opposite the post office granolithic pavement.

—The cedar block crossings, which have been put in at various points, are a great improvement.

—John McKee, grocer, was fined $20 and costs at the police court this morning for a breach of the Liquor License Act.

—Merchants on George street complain, and they claim, not without sufficient reason, of the irregular and unsatisfactory manner the street watering service is conducted. It is held that sufficient water should be put on to keep the street surface damp and the dust laid at all times.

—The post office clock is as regular as the sun. After it was started last fall, it was regulated about half a minute the first of March last. Since then it hasn't been touched, and has kept observatory time to the second.

SWALLOWED BY THE SEA.

DARTMOUTH, N. S., A SCENE OF MOURNING.

One Hundred and Fifty People Thrown Into the Water—The Collapse of a Ferry Landing Stage—Five Bodies so Far Recovered.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 11.—A terrible disaster occurred in Dartmouth to-night. A ferry landing stage crowded with 150 people collapsed, precipitating the throng into the water. There is an immense loss of life. Five bodies, including a woman named Silver and her child, a woman named Synott and two soldiers, have been already taken out.

The Second Despatch.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 11.—A terrible accident occurred in Dartmouth to-night by which a number of people were drowned, but the exact number of victims will not be known till to-morrow. The disaster happened by a chain attached to a ferry float slipping out of place, allowing the front of the bridge to sink and precipitating a crowd of six or seven hundred men, women and children into the water. The people were crowded there waiting for the new ferry steamer Annex just arrived from New York to dock. When the steamer got within two feet of the landing a number jumped on board and at that moment the accident occurred. The outer end of the bridge went down suddenly and the horror-stricken crowd slipped off into the harbor as though they were descending a slide, piling on top of each other, shrieking for help and scrambling for means of safety. For some minutes there was a confused crowd of men, women and children struggling in the water, but the accident had hardly happened before a dozen brave youths and men leaped to the rescue without waiting to throw aside their clothes. The drowning people were rapidly passed up to men standing above on the wharves, and the rapidity with which the rescuers performed their work resulted in the great majority of those who fell in being saved from death. There were many able swimmers in the party, and these worked till exhausted, helping people to land until there were no more in sight on the surface, and those who could not be saved had sunk out of sight. When the crowd slipped off the landing stage the people around, numbering some hundreds, crowded to the sides of the wharf and threw sticks and boards to the struggling mass while a number of life preservers were thrown to them from the steamer. Many people were struck and injured by the flying boards and all the bodies recovered bear cuts and bruises.

Several men and their wives were thrown in and the former struggled heroically to save their loved ones succeeding in every instance so far as known.

The names of those whose bodies have been recovered are:

MISS BESSIE FOSTER, daughter of Edward Foster.

PETER BOYLE, a Crimea veteran.

MISS ALLIE SYNOTT, daughter of Michael Synott.

JOHN BUNDY, a colored boy.

THAT FLAG INCIDENT.

Washington Officials Think the Mount Hope Affair Is Not Cause Enough for Bell.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The State Department officials don't look upon the recent flag incident at Mount Hope, Canada, as calling for diplomatic intervention. Undertaker Joel Smith, a patriotic citizen of the United States, hoisted the Stars and Stripes over his residence on the Fourth. The Queen's loyal Canadian subjects had the bad taste and ill temper to riddle it with bullets. But Undertaker Smith wasn't a consular official of the United States and, however praiseworthy his motive, in an international sense he has no right to hoist his country's flag. No one has the right to hoist the flag of a foreign nation in any country. The floating of the United States flag over a Consulate of this country in a foreign land is a privilege which has to be guaranteed by treaty, and in nearly every case the hours during which the emblem can be flown are specifically stated. In Mexico the law is so strict that the flag of no other country can be raised within the borders of that Republic. It is out of respect to this law that the United States Minister and Consuls never fly the Stars and Stripes.

An interesting incident occurred some years ago in Mexico which is worth relating. An American citizen having contracted a debt mortgaged his piano. Failing to pay the mortgage proceeded to seize the piano, whereupon the American covered the instrument with a flag of the United States. The Mexican roughly threw the flag aside and accidentally stepped upon it. The case was reported to the State Department as an outrage and an insult, but nothing was ever done about it, "because," as Assistant-Secretary Adee says, "a flag when used as a piano cover is not an emblem of authority."

THE SAN SALVADOR REVOLT.

Gen. Ezeta Holding Possession of the Capital by an Armed Force.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 11.—Advices from San Salvador to-day state that the little Republic is in a state of anarchy, notwithstanding the misleading protestations of Gen. Carlos Ezeta, who proclaimed that he had assumed supreme control of the Government at the instance and by the will of the people. He is in possession of the Capital and is holding it by armed force. San Salvador is overrun with armed men, who are taking the part of various pretenders, and small skirmishes are the order of the day in that afflicted country.

Where Faith Did Not Prevail.

OMAHA, July 11.—A verdict of criminal negligence was to-day rendered against Mrs. Jennie Fenn, a faith-cure practitioner. She was called in to treat Mrs. W. W. Lemon during confinement. Mrs. Lemon died three hours after the child was born. An inquest was held, at which witnesses testified that her death was due to the failure of Mrs. Fenn to treat her properly after the child was born. Mrs. Fenn testified that death was due to the lack of faith on Mrs. Lemon's part, and not to her physical condition. A warrant has been issued for Mrs. Fenn's arrest.

A Fatal Fall.

NEWMARKET, July 11.—An old lady named Mrs. Boggs, who resided with her sister, Mrs. Eli James, fell down stairs about 11 o'clock last night and died in half an hour. Death was caused by the nervous shock and fracture of the skull.

WAR WITH COLORS.

GEORGIA AND WEST VIRGINIA THE BATTLE GROUND.

Sixteen Killed and Wounded and Still More Expected—General War Between the Blacks and Whites—Trouble Looming up in West Virginia.

ATLANTA, July 11.—A terrible race riot, in which the list of killed and wounded is placed at 16, is raging in Fayette County. The scene of the tragedy is Stans Mills, and the occasion was the drawing off of a fish pond. A large crowd had assembled to catch fish, and a row occurred between a negro and a white man. Others were soon interested and engaged in the difficulty, and a general war ensued. The result was that four negroes were killed, eight wounded, two white men seriously wounded and three or four grazed.

The row is still going on at last reports, and probably will continue to-night, as the white men, who were comparatively unarmed, telegraphed to Griffin for guns and ammunition. About 100 shots were exchanged. One wounded white man is W. B. Harril and the other McElwaney. When the rioters had exhausted their ammunition they looted the stores of a neighboring merchant and took all his powder, as well as every knife and pistol in the place. The crowds on both sides are being augmented by friends, and bloodier times are expected to-night than even those of to-day.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11.—There are grave fears that a serious race war will break out in the Pocahontas and Bramwell mining region, arising out of a riot occurring on a train on the Norfolk & Western Railroad on July 6th. Nearly 300 colored miners from Pocahontas had been on an excursion on the Blue Stone branch of the railroad, and when returning many were under the influence of liquor. While in the cars some of the negroes got into a row with an unknown white man and were proceeding to cut his throat when Detective W. G. Baldwin and three assistants who were on the train interfered. The detectives were attacked and a riot ensued. The seats were broken to pieces and used as clubs. Baldwin was terribly beaten about the head and is in a precarious condition. Detective Campbell was badly wounded in the side. Detective Robertson had his right arm broken. R. M. Baldwin, the fourth detective, escaped. Nine negroes were knocked down and one was shot in the shoulder and in the left arm. The train was stopped at Bramwell, where the citizens came to the aid of the detectives and probably saved their lives. Six of the negroes are in jail.

WHEN THIEVES FALL OUT.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Ex-Ald. Michael Duffy has brought suit against John Keenan, who has just returned from Canada, to recover $40,000, the balance of $50,000 which he claims was promised for his vote in favor of granting a charter to the Broadway railway. Duffy has confessed that he was in the "combine" of aldermen bribed to vote for the Broadway railroad franchise, and has testified against several of his co-councilmen.

Henry Sharon Sues for Libel.

CHICAGO, July 11.—Joseph B. Stein, otherwise known as Henry Sharon of Ingersoll, Ont., sued The Chicago Times Company, Herman J. Hunkamp and Joseph R. Dunlop in the Superior Court yesterday for $50,000 libel. The action is based on a two-column article in The Times of Tuesday, which makes several charges of an uncomplimentary nature. Among them are statements that Sharon is the meanest rascal out of jail; that he is refused admittance to several hotels; that he has made his living by taking money from unfortunate women and spent it with other women; that he is a general all-round crook, and that he was convicted of bigamy Feb. 9, 1889, before Judge Collins.

Sudden Death at Bothwell.

BOTHWELL, July 11.—A man named McLaren, who was working at the new iron bridge on the town line between Bothwell and Moss, died suddenly this week. On Tuesday about noon he felt a peculiar sensation, but kept at work, and in the afternoon fell insensible. He was taken to Bothwell and received medical attention, but died yesterday morning. He was married and had just arrived from Ireland.

An "Efficient" Policeman Who Forged.

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 11.—Chief of Police Albert W. Webb shot himself through the head last evening, inflicting wounds from the effects of which he will die. He had forged the name of a friend to two notes for $375, and the crime had been discovered after a conference with the lawyer of the bank where the notes had been negotiated. Webb left the office of the attorney with the understanding that he should find some one to go upon a new note to take the place of those forged. Instead of doing this, however, he went to his office, took from his desk two revolvers, walked up stairs to the police court room, deliberately placed a weapon to each ear and fired them simultaneously. He had been Chief of Police for six years and was a most efficient officer. He leaves a wife and two children.

Struck by an Engine.

ORANGEVILLE, July 11.—Mrs. McGinger, wife of a quarryman employed in the Mono quarries, was struck by a C.P.R. engine which was making a flanging stunt

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

STANLEY, THE EXPLORER, A VERY SICK MAN.

Closing Scenes in the Commons—England and the Highlands Still—Interesting Decision as to a Landlord's Responsibility—The Police Beaten.

LONDON, July 11.—Mr. Stanley is somewhat better this evening and if he has no relapse the wedding will take place in the Abbey to-morrow according to program. Among the numerous wedding gifts presented to Mr. Stanley is one from the Queen of a miniature of herself set with diamonds. Accompanying the gift is a letter from Her Majesty, praising in the highest terms the work of exploration carried on by Mr. Stanley and wishing him much happiness in his wedded life. The illness of Mr. Stanley causes general regret. His doctors are overwhelmed with anxious enquiries as to his condition and messages of sympathy are constantly arriving. Surgeon Parke states that the same trouble attacked Mr. Stanley in Africa. It is of an obstinate character and yields very slowly to treatment. The explorer is suffering intense pain, and is seeking relief in enforced sleep. In reply to questions as to the probability of Mr. Stanley's recovery in an extent that will enable his marriage to take place to-morrow Dr. Parke will only say that he hopes for the best. The general impression now is that the ceremony will have to be postponed.

Stanley is the recipient of costly and curious presents. Among the latest are the gifts of the map of the advance guard of the Emin Relief Expedition. A firm of watchmakers presented a patent gold geographical watch, the first of the kind ever manufactured. It tells the exact time in almost every important city in the world. The Prince of Wales sent a large family Bible, and Gouraud sends him a photograph. There are only four of these instruments in England. Three of them will be placed in Westminster Abbey during the marriage ceremony. The bridal cake is mounted on a circle of fluted silver pillars. A white silk shield with the initials "D. T. H. M. S.," hand painted, will be placed in front.

CLOSING SCENES IN THE COMMONS.

Mr. Parnell and Mr. Balfour—He Will Get His Wages.

LONDON, July 11.—Mr. Parnell, in the House of Commons this evening, made the closing speech in the debate on the vote for Mr. Balfour's salary as Chief Secretary for Ireland. He made suggestions which he said would aid Balfour in settling the land problem in Ireland. He thought Mr. Balfour relied too implicitly upon the advice of effete and rotten castle officials. He said he spoke in the interests of peace and justice.

Mr. Balfour thanked Parnell for the moderation of his speech and promised to consider the matter.

The Parnellites engaged in animated conversation upon the moderation of Parnell and Balfour and allowed the vote for the Chief Secretary's office to be passed without challenging a division.

Mr. C. Graham, member for the Northwestern District of Lancashire, asked the Government what truth there was in the report that insubordination prevailed in the Grenadier Guards. Right Hon. Edwin Stanhope, Secretary of State for War, in reply to Mr. Graham, stated that the reports were much exaggerated. There was some disaffection, he said, on the battalion being ordered to parade on Monday. For a short time the men failed to appear, but eventually the whole battalion paraded for duty and marched in perfect order to perform the duties assigned to them.

Trouble is expected with the Grenadier Guards, owing to the disaffection and rumblesses that pervade the barracks. The officers are doing all in their power to keep the men quiet, but the uneasiness is plainly to be seen. When the Yorkshire Regiment of foot was marched into the barracks it excited the surprise and indignation of the Grenadier and Coldstream Guards, who think that the Yorkshires have been sent to shoot them down in case of mutiny. Several free fights have already taken place between men of the Grenadiers and those of the line regiments.

The War Office virtually admits that the men have right on their side by releasing the mutineers from their confinement to barracks. There is no disloyalty towards the Crown, no dislike to the service, no disinclination to their duty, but a strong personal feeling among the men that they are crushed, overdrilled and reduced to a state of military slavery.

Mr. Vincent asked inwhether in view of the free market accorded to American imports in Great Britain while the heavy duties imposed on British goods in the United States have nearly extinguished the national debt of that country, the British Government would invite the United States Government to refrain from passing the prohibitory tariff bill now before Congress and instead adopt a measure giving fair commercial reciprocity.

Sir James Ferguson replied that no such representations were likely to be successful.

Mr. Vincent: "Then does the Government know what action Germany proposes to take in response to the appeals of German trades regarding the effect of the new American tariff? Could not advantage be taken of the present friendly relations to develop free trade between England and Germany as well as between Great Britain and the colonies as a set off against the hostile tariff in America?"

Sir James Ferguson replied that he had reason to believe the German Government did not intend to take action at present. He said it would be inconsistent with the financial policy of England to take the joint measures which Mr. Vincent suggested.

TOURISTS, TAKE NOTICE.

Interesting Decision as to a Landlord's Responsibility.

LONDON, July 11.—In the Court of Queen's Bench a verdict has been returned awarding Mr. Henry Astor Carey of New York $586 damages against the proprietors of Long's Hotel for the loss of bank notes and a quantity of jewelry which were stolen from him while he was stopping at the hotel during his honeymoon.

The defence pleaded that the plaintiffs had not exercised ordinary care, as the property was taken from a drawer of a wardrobe which was left unlocked. Plaintiffs answered that there was no key. Defendants denied this and asserted that the door of plaintiff's room was not locked either. Plaintiffs replied that the door was left open so that the servants might attend to the fire. Defendants said that plaintiffs ought to have given the valuables into the care of the manager and that they had allowed other people to know that they had a quantity of jewelry and money with them.

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs, assessing the loss at $586, the original sum claimed, and judgment was given accordingly.

The Police Are Beaten.

LONDON, July 11.—Sir Edward Bradford, Chief Commissioner of Police, is displaying an amazing degree of energy in the administration of his department. To-day he personally made the rounds of the various districts and sharply lectured the men at each station. In every case he gave them to understand that their success in obtaining the concession they have demanded depends wholly upon the excellence of their conduct, and he also plainly expressed his opinion that these far in his official experience he had not been able to discover that they were deserving of the benefits they seek. In the course of his tour he dismissed fifteen men for insubordination and neglect of duty, and thoroughly re-organized the force at the Bow-street station. The old men are scattered all over the city, and the new force is made up of detachments from a dozen or more districts.

An Elevator Wanted at Kingston.

KINGSTON, July 9.—The Board of Trade has decided to request the Dominion Government to erect a grain elevator here.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

CHICAGO, July 11.—The Wabash Railway Company applied to the Chicago and Western Indiana to authorize the use on the tracks of the Western Indiana between Auburn Junction and Hammond was taken up by Judge Tuley yesterday and is being earnestly contested. On the conditions of the suit depends the Wabash road's power to keep up its Detroit branch from Chicago. When the Western Indiana road was built into the city in 1859 the Grand Trunk, Louisville and New Albany, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Chicago and Atlantic and Wabash combined to secure an entrance to the city. The various roads were tapped at different points, the Chicago and Atlantic connecting at Hammond, Ind., and the Wabash at Auburn Junction, about eight miles south of the city. For a long time all went smoothly each road using the tracks from the original point of connection, and each paying a pro rata rental based on the mileage of its cars and locomotives.

In 1882 the five companies made a new agreement, each taking $1,000,000 worth of Western Indiana stock and sustaining a joint control of that road. New leases were made out, and these were amended in 1883 and again in 1889. It is on the interpretation of the Wabash lease by the court the entire case depends. In 1889 the Wabash made an arrangement with the Chicago & Atlantic for the use of that company's lines from Hammond, Ind., to Lafayette in the same State, where they cross the Wabash road's line from Detroit to St. Louis. This gave the Wabash a direct line from Hammond, Ind., to Detroit, but there were a dozen or so miles of Western Indiana track between Auburn Junction and Hammond which had to be used in order to bring the line to Chicago. The Wabash claimed the right, under its lease, to use all the lines of the Western Indiana on paying mileage, and proceeded to run its trains through from Chicago to Detroit.

The claim was, however, disputed, and the Western Indiana notified the Wabash that after Dec. 31, 1889, it would not be allowed to run trains between Auburn Junction and Hammond, its lease only providing for the use of the tracks between Auburn Junction and Chicago. The Wabash secured an injunction restraining the Western Indiana from interfering with its trains pending a hearing of the case. It was claimed that the refusal of the right to use the tracks was instigated by other roads and persons connected therewith who entered into a conspiracy to injure the Wabash road. The Wabash claims that the lease permits it to use all the lines of the Western Indiana, while the latter road asks the court to construe the agreement so as to cover only the line from Auburn Junction to Chicago.

Should the decision of the court be against the Wabash this company will be prevented from doing any east-bound business from Chicago, as it would deprive it of a direct outlet from this city, and it could not well take business by way of Bennett, about 100 miles south of Chicago, where the Chicago line connects with its Detroit line. But by far the most important effect of such ruling would be to keep the Canadian Pacific out of the city for the present. The latter has a traffic contract with the Wabash whereby it uses this company's line from Detroit to Chicago and enjoys its Western Indiana terminals and depot facilities. Under an adverse ruling the Canadian Pacific would be stopped at Laketon, Ind., about 132 miles from this city, and it would be compelled to find some other entrance from that point, which it could hardly obtain except by building a new line from that point into Chicago.

ANOTHER HORROR AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 11.—A frightful explosion occurred to-night on the steamer Tioga, one of the largest vessels on the great lakes. Thirty-eight people were aboard the steamer at the time. When the work of rescuing survivors, which commenced almost instantly, was well under way only two persons could be found who escaped unhurt. To make matters worse fire broke out on the wrecked vessel and huge volumes of flame and smoke impeded the searchers for the dead and dying.

The bursting of the steamer's boilers was the cause of the catastrophe. It was in the Chicago River, at the foot of Washington-street, that the explosion occurred. This locality is in the heart of the business section of Chicago, and the terrific shock of the explosion brought people running in terror out of the tall buildings a block away. Most of the victims were Chicago stevedores, who were unloading the vessel. Only three of the Tioga's crew were reported on the list.

The fire proved a stubborn one and made it impossible at the time to verify the report that the boilers had exploded. A statement was current that the explosion was due to another cause—the accidental lighting of a large quantity of combustibles in the narrow confines of the Tioga's deep hold. In the hold near the steamer's stern was where the fire held sway. Through the bursts of fire could be seen a great jagged cleft in the Tioga's decks and cabin, and aloft on the tall smoke-stacks dangled a huge framework of timber fantastically swaying backward and forward, telling of the terrific force of the explosion, which sent it there from 30 feet below. While the fire was still in progress a reporter met the captain of the illfated steamer on the forward deck.

The officer stopped in his task of straightening out the confusion to give a statement. Said he:

"My name is Captain A. A. Phelps. I arrived here late evening from Buffalo in command of the Tioga, and we were unloading at this dock when the explosion took place this evening. I was in the freight shed on the dock when I heard a terrific noise, and running out I saw the north quarter of the vessel enveloped in steam. All the crew of 25 were either aboard at the time or were on the dock or in the freight-house. I found after a careful search that all but three were accounted for and safe. Those three, all from Buffalo, were: Second engineer, George Haig; lookout, C. Levalley; deck hand, William Cuthbert. Besides the three missing men who belonged to the crew there must have been from twelve to fifteen other men killed and probably half a dozen additional wounded.

"There were laborers in the hold who were doing the unloading. Eight colored men are positively stated to have been below and six or seven others were at the hatches aiding their fellow stevedores lower down. The explosion occurred in the hold, not in the machinery or boilers as near as I could ascertain, and was probably in some combustible freight stored there."

It appeared that the explosion occurred just after a porter named William Palmer had gone below with a lighted lamp. He had scarcely reached the decks again when the fearful shock came. It was said that 200 barrels of oil were among the cargo and that these had become ignited. Others insisted that the explosion must have been due to a lack of water in the boilers and that the second engineer, who was known to be missing, was the man whose duty it would be to start the pony pump in such an emergency. Up to 9 o'clock nine dead bodies had been taken from the wreck and five or more wounded had been conveyed to hospitals. The victims were now more accessible, the fire having been extinguished by the inrushing of the river.

A Blaze in Michigan.

ITHACA, Mich., July 11.—Fire broke out in the Desormia block in Main-street shortly after dark last evening. It spread rapidly in all directions, burning up wooden buildings like tinder, and was from the start beyond control. The Desormia block, in which it originated, was an old rookery and offered excellent material for the fire to feed upon. Before the fire burned itself out 20 buildings had been consumed and most of their contents a total loss. Cause of fire unknown. Loss, nearly $80,000; insurance about one-quarter that amount.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, JULY 12, 1890.

THE condition of woolen manufacturing in the United States is not improving whatever change the new tariff may produce. The Philadelphia Record gives facts showing the decline of the trade in that city, both as to wages and amount of machinery employed, and a reason of this condition of things is "the constant introduction by the manufacturers of inferior goods and the want of free raw material."

THE statement is made that half of the revenue raised by the United States Government must now be applied to the payment of pensions under laws already on the statute book. General Grant thought $25,000,000 enough. General Garfield fixed upon $37,000,000 as an extremely liberal provision. The appropriations this year will reach $167,824,733—six times as much as Grant thought advisable, and four times as much as Garfield deemed sufficient.

"CONSUMPTION can be cured" is a standing headline of some patent medicine advertisements, and Dr. Charles W. Dulles, of Philadelphia, seems to think there is some truth in the statement. In a recent paper on "The Hopeful Outlook in the Treatment of Consumption," he pointed to the fact that while half a century ago in England there were 55,000 deaths annually among 15,000,000 people, there are at present, in a population of 40,000,000 in the British isles, but 14,000 deaths annually due to phthisis, (consumption).

THE Empire speaks of the "restiveness of Ontario Grits". This is a very neat sounding term, but will the chief Tory organ explain what it means. The "Grits" have stood the Ontario government for nearly twenty years and they didn't show any great amount of "restiveness" at the last general election. But perhaps the Empire refers to the restiveness they show under the Dominion rule of the Tory government. High taxation growing greater every year and, upon the necessities of life, too, is apt to make more than Grits "restive." Good honest Tories who are not in the ring and have no chance to get their hand into the "bar'l" or to get a share of the spoils, are also getting "restive."

ERASTUS WIMAN, according to the London Advertiser, says that next year he will purchase a pair of horses at Windsor—a carriage, too, we suppose—and drive through Ontario and Quebec, making 100 speeches in different localities, and ending in Montreal. By this means he hopes to still further increase the great interest which Canadians have evinced in favor of improved trade relations with the United States. One thing can be said about the speeches of the King of Staten Island—they are invariably interesting. As a native Canadian who has always taken a warm interest in his country's progress, he will find a welcome on this side of the lakes. Could he not be prevailed upon to extend his journey—say to St. Johns and Halifax?

THE experiment of the Dominion Government placing a prohibitory duty on imported iron and giving a chromo to the producers of iron, has not resulted in a very wide spread development of of our inexhaustable mineral resources, and we are refused such trade relations with our neighbors as would result in opening a market for the products of our mines, and convert latent wealth into active wealth. There would be, with free trade between us and the United States, a good demand for our mineral products. Our neighbors use more than they can produce, and if they wish to import iron, Canada is their nearest place of resort. An exchange states that during the past six months the furnaces of the United States produced 4,250,000 gross tons of pig iron, and almost the whole of this enormous product has already been used. It is expected, moreover, that there will be a still greater output during the remaining half of the year, and yet there are no indications that the production will exceed the demand. The Canadian restrictionist, who not long ago argued that it was useless to dream of a market for our iron or ore in the United States, because the supply in the latter country was excessive, was certainly in error; if nothing worse.

When Does Old Age Begin?

"It is at three score years and ten," says one. "No, it is when one grows tired of life," says another. "It is when the faculties begin to fail," says a third. It is certainly true that old age begins sooner in some than in others, and it shows itself first where ill-health and bodily infirmities have made life a burden grievous to be borne. Lord Byron was a melancholy example of those who become old almost in youth. When thirty-six years of age, he wrote

"My days are in the yellow leaf,
The flowers and fruits of love have gone;
The worm and canker of the grave
Are mine alone."

This old feeling comes oftenest from a weakened nervous system. The various pains, rheumatic or otherwise, which aged people complain of and which materially disturb their comfort, result from disordered nerves. Old people, and many who are not old, are beset with constipation, flatulence, dizziness, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia. They grow weaker as the months go by. But one thing as yet has been discovered which cures the ills of old age, and that is Paine's Celery Compound. It renews vitality, aids indigestion, gives restful sleep, drives out aches and pains, and in many instances has proved a veritable fountain of youth. It has added years of peace free from the infirmities of old age, to thousands of lives.

During this changeable weather which causes so much sickness, all will find health and comfort in Paine's Celery Compound.

There are many, both in Canada and the United States, who know the need of this medicine in the spring, and who by its use renew the health and strength of youth. But there are others who have not used it, and if you are one of these, we most earnestly recommend a trial. It will soon prove its great worth.

HE OBJECTS TO SONS.

Outcome of an Eccentric Man's Hostility to Free Masonry.

BELLEVILLE, July 11.—A prominent minister and half a dozen leading Bellevue men, some of them millionaires, will be put on trial before Justice Jarvis Burns to-morrow. Among the witnesses summoned in the case are another popular preacher, some mere millionaires and the managing editors of several big daily newspapers. The trouble grows out of the filing of a complaint of criminal libel by William M. Zearing against Rev. Dr. S. J. McPherson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church; Asa G. Pettibone of Pettibone, Mulliken & Co.; Henry M. Rollston, president of the Northwestern Fertilizing Works; Thomas B. Carter, the wealthy insurance man; George C. Benton, the lumber magnate, and Prof. Zelinguin Grover.

Zearing claims that he has been libelled by signs. He is a lawyer of means and is considered able and shrewd, but somewhat eccentric. He is a strong opponent of secret societies, and it is said the present legal action is an outgrowth of his hostility to Free Masonry. The actual grievance of which Mr. Zearing complains was difficult to discover.

"The other side," said he, "can explain better than I can what they mean by their signs and motions. Perhaps they can tell what they meant by ridiculing a man by means of words and signs that no one but members of a secret society can understand. They will have to explain it all in court. When they turn the Presbyterian Church into a lodge-room and into a place for theatrical performances, it is time that somebody should interfere."

A Noted Thief Sentenced.

BELLEVILLE, July 10.—George Blakely was arraigned before Judge S. S. Lazier yesterday for the larceny of jewelry and a sum of money from the shop of John McComb of Trenton on Dominion Day. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to-day to three years in the penitentiary. Blakely is a character of some notoriety. He served two months in the county jail for a similar offence committed at Trenton some time ago and has also been in the Central for six months for some crime. He is the man who was fishing on the ice near Trenton with his father a year ago last winter when the ice was broken up by a high wind. The father perished of exposure but the son, full of life and vigor, soon got over the effects to continue his life of crime. The people of Trenton state that he should have got five years.

The Minneapolis Flour Market.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 10.—The Northwestern Miller says: The total production of flour last week was 73,300 bbls. There is an increased desire manifested to get more mills in operation. The flour market is very strong, though the higher prices asked on account of the advance in wheat have lessened the demand for flour. There has been a very good export demand for bakers' during the past week, and this grade has been sold ahead by some firms for future delivery as far as August. Patents have been taken to some extent for export, but prices offered are low compared with the cost of production. The domestic market is taking a fair amount of patents, but buyers are hardly prepared to pay much of an advance, and it is not always easy to keep this grade sold up as closely as bakers. Low grades are selling quite freely for export. The export shipments for the week were 32,100 barrels.

Gold at 330 Premium.

BUENOS AYRES, July 10.—At a meeting of prominent foreign bankers to-day a deputation was appointed to confer with the Minister of Finance on the question of a forced currency. The panic is increasing. Gold is at 330 premium. The run on the banks continues.

MONTE VIDEO, July 10.—The panic here is subsiding. Gold is at 23 premium. Paper is not accepted.

Gold for Europe.

NEW YORK, July 10.—One million dollars in gold was ordered to-day for export.

Jewelry Robbers Arrested.

BREWSTER'S, N. Y., July 11.—The two robbers of C. M. La Rue's jewelry store at Danbury, Conn., last night were caught in the woods near here this afternoon. They were committed to Carmel Jail to await requisition papers. They gave their names as George W. Wallace, aged 24, shoemaker, of Albany, and George Wallack, aged 31, hatter, of Bridgeport, Conn. The money and jewelry has nearly all been recovered.

NEWPORT, R.I., July 11.—Newport was startled this afternoon when it became noised about that Mrs. Paran Stevens had again been robbed, this time to the extent of $16,000 worth of diamonds and emeralds. The local police are very reticent and mysterious, but it is generally believed that they are working in the dark, practically without any clues whatever.

Labor Troubles Ahead.

DETROIT, July 11.—President Fitzpatrick, in his annual address to the moulders' union, made suggestions which may result in a war of extermination on the part of the union against the brotherhood of machinery moulders. In many shops in the east stove, machinery, brass and bench moulders work under one roof, and dividing of the moulders' trade into half a dozen national bodies is regarded by union men as a disastrous prospect. It is stated the brotherhood eagerly accepts expelled members of the union and that it has sent its members into the union to obstruct legislation in the brotherhood's interest. Mr. Fitzpatrick advocates a "stringent" policy, and that policy may mean a refusal of union men to work beside brotherhood men and their expulsion from the union.

A Floater Identified.

OTTAWA, July 11.—About 3 o'clock this afternoon a body was found floating in the stream of water which runs down from Hurdman's mill into the Ottawa just below the Chaudiere Falls. Upon examination by the mill hands it was identified as the remains of young Charron, who mysteriously disappeared one afternoon about two months ago while at work in Hurdman's saw mill on the Hull side.

An Unnatural Father.

SYRACUSE, July 11.—Fred. V. Curtis, a fireman on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railway, was arrested here yesterday charged with throwing the body of a still-born infant into the locomotive fire-box. The information was given by his engineer.

An Insane Parricide.

WILTON, N. H., July 11.—Edwin Holt, who lives in West Wilton, was taken insane last night and at 4 a.m. took his aged father Wallace Holt, from a sick bed and pounded his head to a jelly upon the hearth. He then badly injured his mother and aunt, while several neighbors were injured in overpowering him.

THE easy quiet way in which T. A. SLOCUM'S OXYGENIZED EMULSIONS OF PURE COD LIVER OIL has won its way into public favor speaks volumes for its merits. At the office of the company, Toronto, Ont., can be seen scores of valuable testimonials, while any druggist will tell you that for all pulmonary difficulties it stands unrivalled. w28-w-s

A ten cent piece was found on the main street the other day. This was just enough to buy a packet of Wilson's Fly Poison Pads and could not be put to better use. For exterminating flies, ants, cockroaches, &c., nothing equals Wilson's Pads. Sold by all druggists. Take no imitations. dw

IF YOU ONCE try Carter's Little Liver Pills for sick headache, biliousness and constipation, you will never be without them. They are purely vegetable; small and easy to take. Don't forget this. dw have an enormous sale in Canada, and are kept by all druggists. Nothing kills house flies, ants, cockroaches like Wilson's Pads. One packet lasts a long time, and kills flies by the quart. dw

Wilson's Fly Poison Pads

Our Story.

A DOUBLE LIFE.

Returning southward, Hayes and Magee, emboldened by their success, and becoming reckless in their eagerness to amass a fortune speedily, had the audacity to attack a large sailing ship which they took to be an Australian liner, and from which they hoped to obtain a great prize in gold. Adopting his old device, which had answered so well with the Karl, Hayes partially dismantled his vessel, and hung out a signal of distress. Following out the same tactics as before, he contrived to get close to the ship as night was falling, with the intention of letting the schooner bear down upon her in the darkness and then, in the confusion of the collision, boarding her from his boats and overpowering her crew.

All went well up to the point of the attack, but there Hayes found that he had made a terrible mistake. The ship was not an Australian liner, but a China trader, well manned and armed, and thoroughly prepared for meeting all comers. Her Lascar crew fought like tigers, and Hayes and his men thought themselves lucky to get back into their boats and regain the schooner, leaving fully one-fourth of their number dead or wounded on the deck of the other ship. Hayes himself received a severe thrust from a pike, and this, together with mortification at his failure, and trouble of mind about his love affair, made him morose and quarrelsome, and addicted to drink.

From that time forward the captain and the mate of the Belle Etoile were on anything but friendly terms, and before very long they had settled down into a bitter rivalry.

The mate took care never to sleep without his revolvers ready and a man whom he could trust on the watch to give him the alarm at any moment. Hayes, however showed no disposition to take advantage of him on board the schooner, and they came to a tacit agreement to have nothing to say beyond what was necessary for working the ship.

It stood to reason that such an arrangement could not last long between men of violent passions and natures hardened and brutalised by long familiarity with deeds of darkness.

Hayes, nevertheless, was not ordinarily brutal in his impulses, though there was nothing he was not capable of in cold blood when he was bent on any purpose. But he had his own peculiar way of doing things. Magee, on the other hand, was a hot-headed fellow, a perfect savage when his passions were aroused, but not really such a bad-hearted man as Hayes.

The Belle Etoile was nearing an island in the New Hebrides one day, not far from the scene of the Karl outrage, and the mate was sitting alone at his dinner, for the Captain and he never took their meals together.

Hayes suddenly came down into the little cabin, and seating himself at the table, said in his pleasantest voice:

"Mr. Magee, I have a proposal to make to you, sir. Things haven't been very agreeable aboard this ship for some time past, and I think it's about time we came to a proper understanding. There isn't room for two captains on one deck, and what's more, there's a certain lady, whose name I won't mention, that can't marry more than one man at a time. You understand me, don't you?

The mate nodded and went on eating his tinned beef and pickles, wondering what was coming next.

"Well, then, that's all right," the Captain resumed. "What I suggest is that when you've done your dinner we should just step ashore with our bulldogs and see who's the best man of the two. Don't you hurry, it's early yet. There's eight bells going now. You try some of that pudding. You'll find it very good. I'll go and bring her to an anchor, and then we'll get out our shooting irons and go and settle this matter snugly and comfortably like gentlemen."

The mate saw nothing for it but to comply, and, indeed, he was not sorry to see an end to his suspense, for he knew there must be a death struggle sooner or later.

As soon as the schooner was moored the Captain and mate went ashore, with two other men to see fair play, the rest of the crew going aloft to get a better view of the proceedings. The spot chosen was a smooth terrace just above the beach. The distance was twenty paces, the combatants being placed back to back with an agreement to walk ten paces straight ahead and then turn round and fire.

The moment they turned Magee fired; but Hayes stood still with his revolver in his hand at his side, looking calmly at his opponent. The mate, seeing that he had missed, and surprised at Hayes's seeming hesitation, lowered his weapon and called out, "What's the matter?" Hayes, having thus gained time to take a deliberate aim, raised his revolver like a flash of lightning and sent a bullet into Magee's breast. Magee at once returned the shot, and Hayes, throwing up his hands with a shout, turned half round and fell headlong on the grass. He was perfectly dead when the men got up to him, the bullet having struck him in the throat and severed the jugular vein.

They buried him where he fell, and raised a cairn of stones to his memory.

Magee's wound was not dangerous, the bullet having run along the breast bone and come out at the side. He sailed the Belle Etoile back to Fiji under her old name, and restored her to her owners, paying them handsomely for the use of her; and, in consideration of his having rid the Pacific of a scourge and his promise to lead a new life, the authorities consented to overlook his offences.

He married the widow and did well in trade, and many a time, when in a mood for reminiscences, he told the tale of Bully Hayes's last cruise, with judicious selections from the adventures of the pirate of the Pacific.

Railroad Human Nature.

Now and then one finds a person who understands railroad human nature, as exhibited by the gatemen in the depots. Their orders are to pass no one in without a ticket, and it is the easiest thing in the world for them to wave back old age, youth, beauty and anybody else who wants to pass in to meet a friend expected on that train. One of the surliest officials I ever saw has a gate in the L. & N. depot in Cincinnati, and I have seen him turn stiffly away from desperate men, weeping women, and howling children. To every protestation he had but one answer:—

"Can't pass 'thout a ticket."

The other day while I was watching him a little blue-eyed woman came gliding into the throng waiting at the gates. Of the two tenders she selected this one to operate on, although any one could have seen that the other had the biggest heart. After several people had been ignored a way she slid forward in a graceful way and inquired:—

"Beg pardon, sir, but am I speaking to the President of the road?"

"Ah! you look so much like him. Are you the Superintendent?"

"No, ma'am—not exactly."

"Then you must be the Manager?"

"Hardly, ma'am."

"Dear me! but how could the people be so mistaken," she went on. "Half a dozen of them said you were one of the high officials, and I am so disappointed to find you are not. Perhaps, though, you have the General Manager's powers when he is not here!

"What is it, ma'am?"

"My sister will be on the 6.30, and I so want to go inside the gates and help her with the children. As you must have the authority of the manager for his absence, I make bold to——"

"Certainly ma'am; walk right in," he interrupted.

"You are so kind."

"Don't mention it."

"But all leading railroad men are ever courteous," she said as a parting bit of taffy, and then she made a hurried dive for the depot.

We turned to look at the gateman and the change was surprising. He had braced up until his height was increased by four inches, his chest was thrown out, and he was standing as stiff as a crowbar while a man pounded him on the back and offered to hit the stuffing out of him if he would come off the perch. The little woman of all had found his weak spot.—N. Y. Sun.

"What Will You Take?"

An anonymous correspondent writes:—An amusing story is being told in Lincoln's Inn, London. Mr. W. Barber, Q.C., a recently appointed judge of the County Court, Derby, England, was hearing causes. A deaf old woman who owned some houses was suing a poor tenant. The latter explained to the judge that he was so poor that he could only pay by small instalments. The judge turned to the plaintiff and asked, "What terms are you prepared to accept?" The old woman, being deaf, did not hear, whereupon the usher of the court, to expedite business, shouted in her ear, "What will you take?" A bright smile illumined the features of the old woman. "Well, I've been in this ere court many a time afore, but you" (pointing to the judge) "is the very first judge that ever asked me what I'll take—a little hot gin, if you please." It was some time before the judge in total abstainer was able to proceed with the business of the court.

A Missing Lunatic.

KINGSTON, July 10.—Alexander McLennan is missing from the asylum. He was getting better, and his friends who reside in Chicago were just about starting for Kingston when they learned of his disappearance. McLennan is a native of Glengarry, is about 30 years of age, has fair hair, and is 6 ft. 1 in. high.

A Year for Each Wife.

BERLIN, Ont., July 10.—Conrad Ortwein was tried before Judge Lecourse on Tuesday on a charge of bigamy. It appears that 30 years ago he was married to Catharine Wolf, New Hamburg; 7 years ago he married Lina Gildner near Millbank, and on the 20th June, 1890, was married to Christina Ricko, Berlin. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 7 years in Kingston Penitentiary. He had seven wives in all.

Escaped From Jail.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., July 10.—Archibald McDonald, who has committed many burglaries in St. Lawrence county, and who is wanted in Canada for murder, has recently been confined in Canton jail awaiting trial for burglary. He was so desperate that he had been compelled to wear a ball and chain. Yesterday he obtained a piece of file and freed himself from the anklet, and when the turnkey went to lock the cells last night McDonald seized him, thrust him into a cell and locked him up. The prisoner escaped and has not been recaptured.

Life Insurance Policy Holders

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by purely Canadian companies, and terminated by surrender or lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of insurance men. So unexpected and considerable an increase as $1,779,612 in the amount of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period when distress was pervading business in this country showed a decrease under this heading of $213,504, could not fail to excite comment; so that the figures have been eagerly examined to discover how much a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown by the following table, giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Canada Life	$48,984,376	3.07
Confederation	17,874,826	4.21
Ontario Mutual	14,371,490	10.29
Federal	10,698,337	10.35
Sun Life	11,670,817	10.36
North American	8,470,920	10.68
Temperance and General	2,304,972	17.94
Citizens	2,097,326	20.15
Manufacturers' Life	5,733,160	30 12
London Life	1,644,295	30 61

From this table we can see that while each companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have actually decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.78 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, witness the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. That so large a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should entirely abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more expensive) companies absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of skilful management and attractive methods, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evidence from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

St. Luke's S. S. Pic-nic.

St. Luke's annual Sunday School pic nic is to take place at Jubilee Point, Rice Lake, on Wednesday, 16th inst. Tickets 50 cents. 1d

St. Andrew's Excursion.

The St. Andrew's church Sunday school held its annual excursion Friday to Chemong Park, and of course spent a most enjoyable day. The weather was perfect, and the young people took every advantage of the picnic privileges allowed them. Nothing occurred to mar the enjoyment of the occasion.

Almost Drowned.

An accident, which nearly resulted fatally, occurred at the locks Friday afternoon. A canoe, in which were a young man and two ladies, was upset close to the locks, and all its occupants were thrown into the water. One of the young ladies was drawn over the slide by the swift current, but was saved from death in the rapids below by some young men who caught her clothing and pulled her to one side. The others were thoroughly wetted, but were rescued with less danger. The only thing lost was a parasol, which was carried over the slide.

Here we Go

For Stony Lake—Steamer Cruiser. The I. O.G. Templars will run an excursion to Gin Island and Burleigh Falls, on Thursday next, July 17th. Those who wish for a first class days' outing, come with us. A merry party will be going, and there will be a good time for all. Games and sports for old and young; good prizes for the winners. The committee in charge will look to the comforts of friends going with us. A lovely view of the lakes. The scow will be attached if needed. Train leaves G.T.R. station at 8.30 a.m., will stop at Ashburnham and Auburn; home at 5:30 p.m. Fare, round trip, gentlemen 70c., ladies 60 c., children 35c. 1d

In the New Market.

The marketting public to-day did business in the new building. Everybody was pleased. Passing through the wide, cool arcade and ascending either of the two broad staircases which rise from the end of the corridor, the visitor finds himself in a lobby from which he passes into the main hall. Here were hundred of people congregated this morning, but there was not the least crowding and over-heating. The spacious, lofty hall gives ample room for the largest marketting crowd that Peterborough produces. The long tables were a convenience for both sellers and buyers, and when the chairs are supplied, which will be done at once, the ladies can do their marketting with comfort and pleasure. The new building it a boon to the public which they will not be slow to appreciate. On either side of the arcade are stalls for the butchers.

Seeing Old Faces.

Mr. Joseph Picard, of H. Lebrun & Co., has returned from a two weeks visit to Manitoba highly pleased with his trip. He met a number of Peterborough people during his travels. Mr. George Hilliard is living at Alexander and has a large farm. Mr. Frank Karch has charge of a dining car on the C.P.R., with headquarters at North Bay. Frank is looking well and prosperous. Mr. Thos. Emmerson has a fine store at Port Arthur, and Mr. Herb. Dawson is with a first class dry goods house in the same place. Mr. Picard also met Mr. H. H. Smith at Winnipeg, and was handsomely looked after by him. Mr. Picard brought home with him some souvenirs of his trip, among them a bunch of flowers he plucked from Riel's grave at St. Boniface.

The Best of the Series.

The Foresters hold their tenth annual excursion to Sturgeon Point on Tuesday, July 22nd. The Foresters are noted for the unvaried success that attend their undertakings. Because they conduct everything properly, and leave nothing undone to contribute to the pleasure of excursionists or the smoothness of the trip. The journey to Sturgeon Point is a delightful one, and the place is equally so. Excellent music has been provided and a fine programme of unique sports and games will be presented, to conclude with the romantic and beautiful May-pole dance. The refreshment committee will take charge of luncheon baskets, and milk and hot water will be provided free on the grounds, so that excursionists will have nothing to do but enjoy themselves. A special train will leave the Grand Trunk station at 8 a.m. sharp, and run direct to the wharf at Lindsay, where steamer will be boarded. Don't neglect to make your arrangement to go to this excursion, which will be the excursion par excellence of the season. Return fare, 85 cents; children half price. 2d10

A Smashup on the C. P. R.

On Sunday last at 11.30 a. m., says the Norwood Register, two freight trains left Indian River station on the C. P. R., both going east, there being 11 minutes between the starting of the two. When about 4 rattles west of Norwood, near Knox's crossing, some of the cars attached to the first train broke loose and the delay in coupling, allowed the second train to come too close before being flagged. Engineer Hindman of the last train did his utmost to stop it, but failed. He stuck to his post, while the firemen jumped and sustained a sprained ankle. The van of the first train was badly smashed and knocked off the track, the truck wheels of the engine were broken off, the draw heads on about a dozen cars stove in, and the cars more or less injured. A cattle drover asleep in the van of the rear train was knocked over and had several of his ribs broken. The penitentiary gang from Havelock were summoned and the track was cleared at 10 p. m.

County Matters.

A committee of the County Council, Messrs. Casement (Warden), Stewart, Sanderson and Burnham, met to-day at the Court House for the purpose of considering several matters requiring immediate attention. It was decided to advertise for tenders for the rebuilding of the stone pier and abutments of the Lakefield bridge. Mr. Sanderson and the County Engineer were appointed to examine the abutments of the Mud Lake bridge. No action was taken with reference to the communication of Victoria county, offering to contribute $50 to the rebuilding of the Pigeon Creek bridge on condition that Peterborough county contributed a like amount. The county council had also previously decided to make no terms with Victoria unless the latter consented to maintain the bridge. The Committee also discussed the question of taking steps to ascertain the county's rights in the recently discovered claim of the grammar school to the ownership of the Central School grounds.

The Glorious Twelfth.

An Imposing Parade of Over Three Hundred Orangemen—The Day at Cobourg.

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne this year will be celebrated by the Orangemen all over the country, and they are having perfect Twelfth of July weather. Demonstrations take place at Cobourg, Orillia, Norwood and Millbrook. The Peterborough Orangemen celebrate at Cobourg, which will probably have the biggest day of any in the district. It will be Peterborough's turn to have the demonstration next year.

The Peterborough contingent left by special train for Cobourg shortly after nine o'clock. Before embarking the Orangemen paraded through the town. The town and Smith lodges met at Hunter street, and proceeding to Ashburnham joined the Nassau and Lakefield brethren who had got off the train in the village. The procession then marched back to town in the following order.

Union Jack.
County Master Alex. Hamilton and District Master J. G. Weir, mounted.
Peterborough Band.
King William Lodge No. 45, True Blues, 50 strong—Geo. Sloan, Master.
Jubilee Lodge of True Blues, 30 strong—G. Duncan, Master.
Young Canadian L.O.L. No. 49—Jas. Saunders, Master—40 men.
Peterborough L.O.L. No. 80, J. A. McWilliams, Master—50 men.
Wellington L.O.L. No. 457, Nassau—Geo. Hamilton, Master—80 men
4th Lane (Smith) Brass Band
Jubilee L.O.L. No. 178, Smith—S. Stenson, Master; Isaac Milburn, Deputy Master—40 men.
Robt. Weir, Grand Master Royal Black Knights; C. W. Sawers, County Secretary; Thos. Brown and R. Lund, Royal Black Knights, in a carriage.

There were large crowds of people all along the route of march and at the station. The Orangemen made a fine appearance, and will beyond a doubt be the best lot of men in Cobourg. The procession was gay and gorgeous—a stirring sight for a Twelfth of July morn. The Peterborough contingent filled up several cars. The Orangemen will, no doubt, have a pleasant and successful day.

Field Glasses for the Captain.

The Men of "C" Company Make a Presentation to Capt. Hill.

Last night a group of red-coats presented themselves at the residence of Mr. W. H. Hill, Bethune street, and were cordially invited to enter. The party comprised over a dozen men of "C" Co., 57th Batt., in charge of Lieut. W. Hamilton. After preliminaries the following address was read to Capt. Hill by Sergt. Mellor, Col-Sergt. Fakenham making the presentation:—

PETERBOROUGH July, 11, 1890.

To W. H. Hill, Capt. C. Co., 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers:

On the occasion of your taking the most serious as well as the most pleasant step in your life, we the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of "C" Co., 57th Batt., desire to convey to you some token of the esteem in which you are held by us.

Far sighted as you have shown yourself in the selection of a partner for your joys, we desire that your sight may be as penetrating in the field as by the fireside, and therefore have selected as our gift this pair of field glasses, which we hope you will keep in remembrance of the good wishes of us all.

(Signed)
A. STEVENSON, LIEUT., for the officers of "C" Co.
F. FAKENHAM, COL.-SERGT.
JNO. GEORGE MELLOR, SERGT., for men of "C" Co.

The gift referred to is a beautiful pair of field glasses enclosed in a leather case.

Capt. Hill made an appropriate reply, after which the red-coats withdrew, and, at the Captain's invitation, spent a jolly evening at Craig's restaurant, where abundant testimony was given to the fact that Capt. Hill is most popular with his company.

Little Lake Cemetery.

Its Present Beautiful Condition—The Season's Improvements, Permanent and Transient—The Neglected Walk on Crescent Street.

The thousands of people who visited Little Lake Cemetery on "Decoration Day" were delighted with the beautiful, flourishing, well kept and tidy appearance of the place. The new caretaker, Mr. Wm. Foord, seems to devote a great deal of intelligent attention and good taste to the discharge of his duties, and the managing directors, Messrs. Mayor Stevenson, J. J. Lundy and B. Shortly, also take a great interest in the promotion of improvements, and these, working in harmony with the caretaker, a very satisfactory result arrives.

A brief reference to the improvements made this season will be of interest to the general public, and particularly so to those who have and reasons for taking a personal interest in this beautiful resting place of their beloved dead.

THIS SEASON'S IMPROVEMENTS.

The increased facilities for gaining access to the cemetery naturally comes first. Along the lake front, between the caretaker's residence and the windmill point, four landing stages have been placed for the use of persons visiting the place in boats, one of these larger than the others, for the use of steamers plying on gala days, like Thursday.

The thicket of pines and other tree growths on the lake front at this point has also received attention. The thicket has been thinned, the unsightly heaps of stones removed, and the banks prepared for terracing. Thus light is let in and a view of the cemetery made possible from the lake, and vice versa.

The avenues have been graded and levelled, and the steepness of the bordering terraces reduced so that grass will grow upon them, and in many places they have been re-sodded.

The graves have received careful attention. Many of them have been levelled up and re-sodded, especially those in the single grave plots in the valley east of the vault and in "Potter's Field." And this, although the relatives of those buried in the former place have, many of them, removed from town.

The fountain has been renovated and repainted, new sign-boards have been provided, and considerable painting has been done about the chapel.

A large number of ornamental trees have been planted, and several fine new flower plots laid down.

The omnipresent dog has been recognized—as a nuisance, when loose in the cemetery. Several chains and collars have been conveniently placed for restraining the canines.

A most important provision is suitable and skilfully concealed, but easily accessible closets for the use of both sexes.

A number of restful rustic seats have been placed at convenient points in the enclosure.

All these improvements have an important result in making Little Lake Cemetery popular and beautiful. Both the managing directors and the caretaker are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts so far this season, and if they continue, which they doubtless will do, to exercise the same energy and good taste, they will make Little Lake Cemetery, continuously more worthy of the reputation it has won, and enjoys, of being the most beautiful and well kept "God's Acre" in Canada.

The directors are naturally much disgusted with the dilatoriness of the council authorities in putting down the walk on Crescent street from Lock street to the cemetery gates. Their is no excuse for this walk not having been laid months ago. The money has been voted and the site is already graded to a proper level. The excuse that the site for the walk has not been decided on is regarded by the directors as an evasion. There is sufficient space between the rows of elms and that is the proper place for, when these trees grow large enough to furnish shade, which they will soon do, for they are thriving finely, the walk will be shaded both morning and afternoon. Such a day as yesterday, the want of this walk was greatly felt. It is needed in the hot weather of summer, and will be too late for this season if built later than September, for visitors visit the cemetery chiefly in these months. If the Street Inspector has not staff enough to spare men to do the work, let the walk be built by contract. Anyway the walk should be built at once.

News Nuggets.

—The Chemong Boat Club spent a pleasant day at their club house Friday. The meeting was for the combined purpose of business and pleasure.

—Paymaster Milligan was in town yesterday paying the quarterly allowances of the pensioners.

—Wm. Kane, an imbecile who has been quartered at the county gaol, was this morning sent up for another term of six months.

—An old pensioner named Wm. Golden was arrested Friday for raising a disturbance with his paymaster. He was reprimanded by the magistrate.

—The Ottawa bicycle club had a deficit of $275 in their accounts after settling the expenses of the Canadian wheelman's association meet. They had a guarantee for that sum however, so that the club will save itself.

—At a meeting of Oddfellows after the decoration ceremonies Friday afternoon, votes of thanks were passed to those ladies and gentlemen who had contributed flowers, to the Mayor and town council for proclaiming the half holiday and having the street watered, to Superintendent Feerd for kindnesses shown the Oddfellows, and to visiting brethren for attending the ceremonies.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Young men's meeting to-night at 8 o'clock. Praise and prayer service.

Mr. John Kennedy will (D.V.) lead the consecration meeting on Sabbath morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. G. M. Rogers will address the gospel and song service Sabbath evening at 8.30. Public invited.

Bible class Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Board of directors will hold the adjourned meeting on Tuesday evening at 8.30.

The A. C. A. Meet.

The Camping Ground and How to Reach it.

The Committee of the Northern Division of the American Canoe Association have issued the following circular concerning the annual meet:—

MONTREAL, 9th July, 1890.

THE CAMP SITE.—There are so many attractive points on the Lake of the Two Mountains that the Committee had some difficulty in fixing upon the one best suited to the A.C.A. Camp, and after a careful examination of the available places, has chosen Ile Cadieux, which is by all means the best. The camp will be about four miles from Ste. Anne de Bellevue, about the same distance from Vaudreuil, and five mile from Como. It is the last of the series of islands which skirt the shore from Ile Perot up, and thus offer exceptional facilities for both paddling and sailing water. On the upper side, there is a broad open stretch of water, which narrows somewhat at Como, and then broadens to the end of the lake, and extends in the other direction seven or eight miles to the Back River. On the lower side of the Ile Cadieux is a fine sheltered bay, from which narrow channels lead amongst the islands which are thickly wooded and very pretty.

The camp landing will be in the Narrows between Ile Cadieux and the mainland, and well protected on all sides.

The main camp will be on rising ground, well drained and with a fine outlook over the lake, so that the races can be seen from the tents. The ladies' camp will be sheltered by trees, and is a short distance from the main camp. The island is about a mile long, and the lighthouse at the opposite end from the camp is the only dwelling upon it.

HOW TO REACH THE CAMP.—The objective point will be Ste. Anne de Bellevue, which is on the main line of both Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, about twenty miles west of Montreal, and a point of call for all steamers on the Ottawa River, which have to lock through at this place. From St. Anne's special steamboat will be run to the camp, managed by this Association, and connecting with the trains, morning and evening. Campers are recommended to take trains arriving at St. Anne's in the morning.

THE CAMP MESS.—Arrangements have been made with an experienced caterer in Montreal for a camp restaurant at a cost of one dollar per day and single meals fifty cents. There will be a barber constantly in camp.

There is good fishing in the immediate vicinity of the camp.

Excursions may easily be made to Oka, Carillion and other points on the Lake and Ottawa River, and to the numerous summer resorts along Lake St. Louis, to Lachine and Montreal.

The St. Lawrence Yacht Club has accepted an invitation to visit the camp, and will probably arrange a cruise in the Lake of Two Mountains during the meet.

FARES.—The Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways have agreed to issue round trip tickets from 23rd July to 7th August, good to return up to 21st August, at single fare; and will also allow each passenger canoes and camp kit to the extent of 200 lbs., free in baggage car. The special certificate required to obtain these tickets may be had on application to the Purser.

Approved, W. J. WHITE, Vice-Commodore.

Obituary.

The Late Lake J. F. Elliott.

The late James F. Elliott, of Smith, who resided on lot No. 6, concession 1, Smith, passed away from earth on Thursday, July 10th. An attack of paralysis was the cause of his death. The deceased gentleman was a native of the township of Cavan. He removed to Smith in 1850, where he has since resided. Two years after his arrival he was united in marriage to Catharine, daughter of Mr. Robert Weir, of Otonabee. He leaves behind him to mourn the loss of a loving husband and a tender father, a widow and eight children, three of whom are married and settled in life. Mr. Elliott was in religion a member of the Methodist church, and in politics a Conservative, though he took no active interest in political or public concerns. He lived a quiet unsensational life, quietly meeting the duties that presented, whether of parent, citizen or neighbour, and he died possessing the high respect and esteem of all who knew him.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength. —U. S. Government Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

Personal.

Col. Elijah Ketchum, aged 95, died at Belleville Friday morning.

Capt. Donnelly and Mr. Adams, government steamboat inspectors, are in town for the purpose of making their annual inspection of steamers plying in these waters.

Rev. Mr. Farncomb, of Bobcaygeon, has resigned his incumbency of Christ church, and leaves about the 15th of September.

The EXAMINER had a call this morning from Mr. Cook, accountant with Brown Bros., wholesale stationers, Toronto. Mr. Cook was on his way north to spend his annual vacation at the Burleigh Falls summer resort, along with a number of Toronto boys, who enjoy a pleasant outing every year in this locality.

NOW

That the time for summer vacation is approaching, is it not well to look about and see where you are going to spend it to best advantage. It is in human nature to want to spend it pleasantly and profitably. It has been said "a change is better than a rest," and therefore in making your plans had you not better become a student again and spend a month or two in the useful and beautiful penmanship and art. Excellent advantages are offered in the Peterborough Business College during the vacation at low rates. College hours during the cool of the day. For particulars address Principal G. S. BEAN, B.A., Peterborough. ws

Accidents of a Year.

In Canadian railway accidents for the year ending June, 1890, there were 210 persons killed and 575 injured, of these 25 were killed and 144 injured on the government railways. On the Canadian Pacific system 56 were killed and 252 injured; on the Grand Trunk system 104 were killed and 285 injured. The total number of passengers carried on the Government railways was 1,289 052; on the Canadian Pacific, 2 457,-306; and on the Grand Trunk, 5,917,742.

Equal Rights.

The topic of the day and that which we all want is not only Equal Rights in a political sense of the word, but in many others. Here are people throwing away their hard earned money, with unprincipled houses who do not as much as thank them for it. Why should they do it? Why not call on W.J. THE NUPTIALS OF MR. STANLEY AND MISS TENNANT.

A Brilliant Gathering in Westminster Abbey—The Bride's Costume and Jewels—Guests Injured by the Collapse of a Platform—The Explorer's Illness.

LONDON, July 12.—The marriage of Mr. H. M. Stanley and Miss Dorothy Tennant took place in Westminster Abbey this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Very Rev. George Granville Bradley, Dean of Westminster, Very Rev. Frederick William Farrar, D.D., F.R.S., Archdeacon of Westminster, and Right Rev. William Boyd Carpenter, D.D., Lord Bishop of Ripon. A large crowd gathered about the Abbey and loudly cheered Mr. Stanley and Miss Tennant and the wedding guests on their arrival.

Mr. Stanley reached the Abbey at 1.30. He walked erect up to the transept, showing no signs of his illness and took a seat near the altar. He wore a frock coat with a white flower in the button hole and white kid gloves. Count D'Arche, the representative of King Leopold of Belgium, and the groom's best man, Mr. Myers, a brother-in-law of Miss Tennant, and Dr. Parke, Mr. A. M. Jepson, Captain Nelson and Lieutenants Stairs and Bonney, who were with Mr. Stanley on his last expedition into Africa, grouped themselves around Mr. Stanley.

Five minutes later Miss Tennant accompanied by her brother Mr. Charles Coombe Tennant entered the Abbey and walked with stately grace along the aisle. Her train was borne by two of her nephews dressed as pages. Their costumes were of the time of Charles I. and consisted of white satin cavalier suits with large hats ornamented with ostrich plumes.

The bridesmaids were Miss Sylvia Myers, the bride's niece, and Miss Finlay, both of whom are very pretty. The dresses were white satin sacks and overskirts of crepe lisse and they wore wreaths of jasmine and carried bouquets of white roses.

The bride's costume was a petticoat and long court train of duchess satin and corded silk and a bodice of white satin trimmed with lace. The front of the skirt and the corsage were embroidered with white silk and pearls and the edge of the petticoat and train was trimmed with garlands of orange blossoms. The bodice was set off with a high medici collar embroidered with pearls. A tulle veil was fastened in her hair with diamond stars and this was surmounted by a wreath of orange blossoms. Her shoes were of silver leather with diamond buckles, around her neck was a superb diamond necklace, the gift of Sir William W. MacKinnon, chief of the English East African Colony, from which depended the diamond set miniature of the Queen presented by Her Majesty as a wedding gift. Miss Tennant also wore a diamond aigrette and diamond brooch, the gifts of Mr. Stanley. Her bouquet was made up of White Cape jessamine, gardenias and tuberoses and in its centre was a pancratium lily.

While moving toward the altar the bride stopped, broke the line of the procession and walked slowly to the tablet under which lies the dust of Livingstone and placed thereon a wreath of white flowers, in the centre of which was a scarlet letter "L." Then, resuming her place, she walked to the altar with head erect and flushed cheeks. Mr. Stanley rose to receive her and both took their places at the altar.

The service was begun by Canon Farrar and was taken up by the Bishop of Ripon on the plighting of the troth. Then followed a full choral service, after which Dr. Butler made an address of congratulation and the ceremony was concluded by the rendering of the marriage hymn.

Mr. Stanley's voice was almost inaudible as he repeated the service, but Miss Tennant's was clear and steady and only faltered as she repeated the words "in sickness and in health."

After the service the party proceeded to the residence of the bride's mother in Richmond-terrace, where a reception was held in two large marquees, which were crowded. Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone, Sir Garnet Wolseley, Lady Wolseley, Sir Lyon Playfair and Lady Playfair, the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Mr. John Morley, Sir John Millais and a host of others were present.

After the ceremony in the Abbey had been concluded a platform which had been erected for the convenience of guests collapsed and several persons who were sitting or standing upon it were bruised more or less severely. The town of Denbigh, Wales, the birthplace of Mr. Stanley, was gaily decorated with flags in honor of the explorer, and at the hour set for his marriage all the church bells rang out merrily. The mayor sent a congratulatory message to Mr. Stanley on behalf of the citizens.

Mr. Stanley Still Ill.

LONDON, July 13.—Henry M. Stanley has not recovered from his recent indisposition. The display of homage to the great explorer and the perhaps too early leaving a sick bed in order to prevent an heart's postponement of the wedding ceremony proved no light ordeal to the strength of Mr. Stanley. His weakness from the malady under which he was suffering was noticeable to many of the distinguished attendants at Westminster Abbey yesterday, but it was very happily remarked, as Dr. Parke had already said, that Mr. Stanley's illness was of a temporary character altogether. Mr. Stanley is to-day confined to his bed at Matchet Court. He has been overwhelmed with notes and telegrams of congratulations on his marriage.

A Chicago Judge's Morning Work.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Judge Jamieson had 36 divorce cases on his docket this morning. Two decrees were granted for adultery, five for desertion, three for drunkenness, two for cruelty and one for conviction of a felony. The other cases were dismissed for non-appearance of the complainants.

An A. P. Snake Story.

CARTHAGE, Ills., July 13.—A huge black snake was killed in the Exchange Bank of Cheill, Schlet county, yesterday. The bank is on a principal street, and nobody saw the snake enter. The reptile had swallowed two large packages of notes and was about to escape with the plunder.

Civil War in San Salvador.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 13.—A special cipher from San Salvador says there are now three parties in the field headed by Moreno, Alvarez and Basta. Civil war is unavoidable. Guatemala is preparing to form a corps of observation.

A MINNESOTA CYCLONE.

FIVE ST. PAUL PEOPLE KILLED AT A SUMMER RESORT.

Terrible Loss of Life Reported at Various Places—Meagre Particulars of the Storm—The Dartmouth Disaster—No More Bodies Recovered.

ST. PAUL, July 13.—A few minutes before 5 o'clock this afternoon the clouds which had been threatening a storm began to collect over the region of Lake McCarron, two or three miles north of this city, soon taking on the rotary motion and the terrible appearance of the cyclone. Hundreds of citizens watched the clouds as they swept together and followed their course to the northwest, in which direction many friends had gone to spend the day at some of the many little lakes that are scattered over this country. Anxiety for the absent drew many down town during the evening to learn the first possible particulars of what was thought to be undoubtably a disastrous storm. A young man drove in from Lake Coleman soon afterwards with the information that at least two persons had been killed and over 100 injured at that point. He had been out there with a young lady friend, and having gone after the buggy to drive home, on his return to where she had been standing he found his companion seriously injured by the storm which had so suddenly come upon them. Other reports followed quickly, each being a little worse than what had preceded it. To the north and east of the city there are a great number of little lakes which are sought by the multitude every Sunday, and on the shores of these lakes many campers pass the hot months of the summer. Lake Coleman is one of these and the damage there was very heavy. When the storm struck the little lake the boat house was lifted up bodily and overturned in the water and a headless of persons was given similar treatment. Buildings were demolished or badly wrecked.

Passing from the starting point the cyclone struck Lake Joanna, Lake Gervais, Lake Vadnais, Little Canada and passed on about four miles to the east of White Bear Lake. The passengers on the St. Paul and Duluth train which left White Bear at 4.55 were approaching Gladstone when they observed the cyclone forming and watched its whirling motion with interest rather than fear or excitement. Not so with the engineer, however. He saw the threatening aspect of the sky and with a startled look ahead to see if all was clear he took a firmer grip on the throttle and the engine leaped forward. His judgment and quick action undoubtedly saved the lives of the whole crowded train full, for the twisting, terrifying devastator crossed the track scarcely more than a minute after the train had passed. The help that had been called for from the stricken districts was at once sent to them, doctors and other assistance going as fast as they could be taken.

The place where the cyclone struck the ground and caused loss of life was on the shores of Lake Gervais where J. H. Schurmair of this city had a summer cottage in a little basin, where Simon Good was also located. The funnel-shaped cloud swooped down on them, demolishing the dwellings and a number of other buildings in the same neighborhood. The camp of Col. Hallsher of this city was blown down, but the large party in it all escaped injury. In the wreck of the Schurmair house, however, five were killed, and there and at the Good cottage ten were injured.

Following are the killed: MRS. J. H. SCHURMAIR and CHARLES SCHURMAIR of St. Paul.

REV. MR. PHAEFLER of Brennan, Tex., who was visiting them.

GEORGE MILLER of the First National Bank of this city.

"PETE," Schurmair's driver, whose name was unknown.

The bodies of Mrs. Schurmair, her son and Mr. Phaefler have not yet been found.

The injured were: J. H. Schurmair, scalp wound; Charlie Good, serious injury to scalp; Mrs. Phaefler, shoulder broken; Thomas Barnard, not seriously; Mrs. George Miller, injuries to head, shoulder and foot; Miss Carri Mass, wounded on the head and shoulder; Clark Hansen, bruised hip; Roy Good, three scalp wounds and an injury to the spine; Mr. Gemter and Miss Minnie Mass.

It is said that the cyclone was confined to a district only 3½ miles long and that the worst damage was within a limit of half a mile.

It is reported that from 11 to 25 people were killed by the cyclone at Coleman's Lake, 20 to 30 at Little Canada, two or more at Lake Joanna and several at Bass Lake.

THE DARTMOUTH DISASTER.

No More Bodies Recovered—Evidence at the Coroner's Inquest.

HALIFAX, July 13.—The coroner's inquiry into the cause of last night's disaster in Dartmouth has been adjourned till Wednesday. The evidence so far shows that some person slipped a chain from a wheel, causing the landing stage to fall and precipitating the crowd upon it into the water. Whether this was accidental or otherwise is unknown, but the coroner's jury has recommended that the town offer a reward for the discovery of the person who committed the act. No more bodies have been recovered and Edward Foster, who was reported to have died from the shock, is still living and expected to pull through.

The funerals of three of the victims of Friday night's fatality at Dartmouth took place to-day and were attended by great crowds of people. Many of those rescued received serious injuries by being struck while in the water with planks and pieces of wood thrown to their relief. It was believed that Miss Foster was struck and stunned if not killed in this manner.

Drowned.

NAPANEE, July 13.—Miss Lizzie Davis, aged 20, a public school teacher at Sydenham, was drowned near Verona while fishing in the lake.

Frank Rivers, a young man who lived east of Tweed, was drowned near Flinton while driving the river.

ST. CATHARINES, July 13.—A lad named Kingston, 15 years of age, was drowned while bathing in lock 4, new canal, last evening. He was seized with cramps.

Other Casualties.

A wagon containing 15 people was run into by a train Sunday afternoon at Baden, near San Francisco. Six persons were killed outright, the others injured.

Thirteen persons went out sailing Sunday near Gainesville. The boat capsized and three were drowned.

THE ILL-FATED TIOGA.

ANOTHER EXPLOSION SETTLES THE VESSEL'S FATE.

Pumped Full of Water She Sinks to the Bottom of Chicago River—Nineteen Bodies Taken From the Water Besides the Dead at the Hospital.

CHICAGO, July 13.—To-night another terrific explosion occurred on the big freight steamer Tioga that was wrecked last evening by an unexplained concussion in the hold. Fire again broke out, and for a few minutes it seemed as if the huge vessel and a cargo worth $200,000 was doomed. The timely presence of fire engines, however, soon put a different face on matters, and the fire in a short interval, though still raging fiercely, was well under control. Unlike last evening's explosion, to-night's produced no loss of life, and only two persons were injured. The second disaster puts out of the question all attempts to learn to a certainty the number of victims in the first explosion.

Up to nightfall 13 burned and mangled corpses had been taken from the fatal hold and one of the wounded in the county hospital had died. Conservative estimates put the probable fatalities at a total of at least 20. What caused the explosion so late to-night is still a disputed question. One theory was that a new supply of explosive vapor had gathered in the hold. Capt. Phelps, in command of the vessel, expressed the opinion, however, that something else besides oil or its gases was in the hold, but what he would not venture to say.

This afternoon a coroner's jury was impaneled, which, after viewing the wreck, adjourned until next Thursday. James Burke, chief engineer of the Home Insurance building, is foreman of the jury. The other members are mostly commercial travelers.

This was Capt. Phelps' first trip on the vessel, and there are rumors that all was not pleasant among his subordinates and crew. There is vague talk of spite work cutting a figure in the terrible affair, but such gossip seemed impossible of verification.

The two men injured to-night were two of the wrecking crew, Hans Christianson and Thomas Johnson. They went below with a lantern to look at a suction pipe which had become clogged. Both men were taken out alive, but seriously burned and bruised.

The List of Dead Growing.

CHICAGO, July 13.—During the fire on the wrecked steamer Tioga last night flames got into the forward part of the hold and before they were finally quenched the flood of water poured in from the engines had sunk the steamer to the bottom of the river. Friday night only the stern sank, but last night the entire length of the keel rested in the mud. Much of the cargo was removed before the second explosion, but it is feared the total loss from the series of mishaps will nevertheless reach $150,000. Six more bodies were recovered to-day from the wreck of the Tioga, making 19 so far, exclusive of the injured who died at the hospital. One of the corpses taken out to-day was that of a white man, the others those of negroes. Only two were identified, those of Louis and Henry Alexander, colored stevedores and brothers, who were recognized because of their great size. The body of John Neile, the head stevedore, was not found but a workman picked up his watch and time book in the fatal hold. The discovery of these articles leaves no doubt as to Neile's death. How many more men were killed is not known. Probably it would not be too much to assume 30 deaths are about the correct total. Half of the Tioga's hold is yet filled with wreckage from the two explosions. The bodies of 6 colored stevedores were taken to Columbia to-night.

OLD PATHFINDER GONE.

Gen. John C. Fremont Dies Suddenly at New York—A Brilliant Career.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Gen. John Charles Fremont died in this city at 4 o'clock this afternoon of peritonitis. His death was sudden.

John Charles Fremont was born in Savannah, Ga., Jan. 21, 1813, of a French father and a Virginian mother. He married Oct. 19, 1841, Jessie Benton, daughter of Col. Thomas H. Benton, then Senator from Missouri, the marriage being a secret and romantic one. Since 1884 Gen. Fremont has not taken an active part in public affairs. There is in all American history no more picturesque figure. Four times he made the transcontinental journey to the Pacific through what was then an unknown and savage a wilderness as that penetrated by Stanley in darkest Africa. On one of these trips some of his party were reduced to cannibalism and on another subsisted on horseflesh for 60 days. He wrested the great Pacific slope from Mexican rule and gave to his native land the vast empire of the west. But the same erratic disposition marked his career through life: expelled from college for repeated absences, court-martialled and dismissed from the army for disobedience of orders, relieved from his command in the war of the rebellion for issuing prematurely an order freeing the slaves of those in arms against the government, refusing another command because it placed him under Pope, whom he ranked. He was the first Governor of California, and the first Senator from that State. He was the first Republican candidate for the presidency, his platform being opposition to the extension of slavery, but he was defeated by James Buchanan. Again in 1864 dissatisfied Republicans placed him in nomination, but finding that he could not be elected and fearing that his candidacy might defeat Lincoln and result in the success of McClellan he retired from the field. He entered the army as a second lieutenant and during the war held the rank of Major-General.

Sudden Death of Dr. O'Reilly.

KINGSTON, July 13.—Dr. William T. O'Reilly, Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities for Ontario, died suddenly here yesterday, aged 55 years.

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

DETROIT, July 11.—A boy named Johnson, about 9 years of age, who resided in Livernois-avenue, met his death in a shocking manner this afternoon. He had taken a horse out to feed on grass in the vacant plots of ground in the vicinity of Livernois-avenue and the Michigan Central Railroad crossing and had tied a strap to one of his own legs. The horse in some manner became frightened and the boy was dragged to his death, the horse galloping at the top of its speed, and followed by the rebounding body, which soon became a shapeless mass of humanity, hauled headlong at the end of its tether, rushed down Livernois to Michigan-avenue and down Michigan-avenue to some distance beyond the city limits. The spectacle is described as a frightful one, but those who saw it were powerless to aid the unfortunate child. It is said the boy was dragged over a mile before the strap broke and left the battered remains, with every bone in his body broken, lying on the ground.

Woodbine Trotting Association.

TORONTO, July 12.—The summer trotting and racing meeting of the Woodbine Driving Club will be held here for three days, beginning on Wednesday, July 23 next. The program includes 6 races and the purses to be divided amount to $3000. Entries close July 19 with the secretary, James Kerr, 206 Adelaide-street west. Below is the program:

Third day, July 26.—2.45 class trotters, $200; race for all trotters, $700.

Conditions: Purses divided into four moneys, 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent. Horses eligible June 1st. Horses distancing the field entitled to first money only. Four to enter and three to start. Entrance money, 10 per cent., must accompany all nominations. Rules of American Trotting Association to govern.

The McKinley Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Although just before adjournment yesterday the Senate formally took up the Tariff Bill and there made it the pending business for to-morrow, it will forthwith be informally laid aside according to the present intentions of the majority, while the Senate takes up and considers the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill and probably the Indian Appropriation Bill.

A Destructive Sunday Fire in the Quebec City—Lumber and Sawmills.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—One of the most destructive fires that has occurred in this city for several years broke out about 4 o'clock this morning in the turning and planing mill of H. T. Atkinson at Mile-straight and Hunting-house-avenue. The wind blowing from the southwest carried the flames across 16th-street to the east side and Atkins' lumber yard also caught fire. While the firemen were fighting the flames the wind veered around to the southeast, and the flames, fed by sheds and dry lumber which surrounded the planing mill, were carried against the extensive wall paper manufacturing establishment of Carey Brothers, which was separated from Atkins' mill property by a narrow street. About a dozen of the employes of the wallpaper factory had been summoned to the building and stood with hose in hand ready to pour water upon the blaze, but as soon as the fire entered the building it spread with such startling rapidity that the men were compelled to flee for their lives. The upper floors were filled with paper, which had been printed and spread on racks to dry and thus burned almost like powder. Long flaming sheets were caught by the wind and carried blazing through the air, a distance in some instances of half a mile or more.

Inside of half an hour from the time the flames attacked Carey Brothers' establishment that magnificent building was a complete mass of ruins. Thousands of people surrounded the burning property and gazed at the gorgeous effect produced by the combustion of the coloring material used in the manufacture of wallpaper. Meanwhile the planing mill had been completely destroyed. The firemen succeeded in quenching the flames in the lumber yard after its contents had been partly destroyed.

Carey Brothers estimate their loss at $300,000. Their insurance is $130,000. Mr. Atkinson places his loss at between $75,000 and $80,000 on his planing mill property, sheds and lumber yard. His insurance foots up $26,500. Dwelling houses in Nevada-street were damaged to the extent of $6000 and other small losses to surrounding property will make the total very nearly $400,000.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. It was discovered by a police sergeant who was making his rounds. He immediately turned an alarm. About 200 men and women were employed by Carey Bros. The firm considered their building was about as near fireproof as it was possible to make it. The stairways and elevator shafts were solidly bricked up and iron doors separated the roof. A complete fire brigade was maintained, and it was a portion of this brigade that stood ready to battle with the flames the moment that they should appear.

Among the risks held by insurance companies in Carey Bros.' establishment was one in the Western of Toronto for $3000.

An Ontario Blaze.

CLAREMONT, July 13.—Fire at 2 o'clock this morning destroyed the foundry, machine shop and planing mill owned by Mr. Ward and occupied by Dodwell & Saunders. Loss $3000, no insurance.

DR. SPRAGUE IS THE 14TH.

The Liberal Member for Prince Edward Asked to Step Down and Out.

ORONTO, July 14.—The 14th protest was filed at Osgoode Hall on Saturday. This time it is Dr. John A. Sprague, the Liberal member for Prince Edward, who is being proceeded against. Mr. Sprague defeated James Johnston, Con., after a recount, at first it being supposed that Mr. Johnston had been elected by a majority of one. The petitioner is W. H. Orser, farmer, of Ameliasburg.

There are fourteen protests up to date, six Conservatives and eight Liberals:

A MERRY TEXAS TOWN.

DENVER, Col., July 13.—A telegram from Yoleta, Tex., says a pitched battle is in progress there between two local factions, both of which claim control of the town government. They held an election in April, and each side claimed a victory. Both sets of officials were sworn in and the town has had two governments ever since. One party, led by an intelligent Mexican, was called the "People's Party," and the other was led by a Hebrew named Gaal, and called the "Republican Party." Several fights took place and a bloody conflict was in progress last night.

Another dispatch says the fighting has ceased, but both sides hold their ground and it is impossible for any one to venture out to discover the number of dead and wounded. The telegraph operator wires that he can count six dead bodies from his window.

EL PASO, Tex., July 13.—The sheriff of El Paso reached Yoleta at 3 o'clock this morning and stopped the battle by persuading the forces of Mayor Alderette to withdraw. The party headed by Gaal, who resisted arrest, is in his house, which the sheriff has surrounded. It is now believed only three men were killed.

THE MILITIA GENERALSHIP.

No amendment of the British North American Act is necessary in order to enable the Dominion Government to appoint a Canadian to the command of the militia force. All that is required, says the Ottawa Free Press, is the repeal of that section of the Militia Act which provides that the general shall be an Imperial army officer with a rank not less than that of colonel. At the last session of the Dominion parliament Mr. Mulock introduced a bill to repeal the clause referred to, which was read a first time. Mr. Mulock did not drop his bill because of the "disloyalty" bugaboo invoked by the Tories against it, but there was no opportunity of advancing it to a second reading, and it was slaughtered among the "innocents" at the end of the session. Next winter the bill will be reintroduced, and, if it is passed, the government will have no excuse for importing an officer to command the militia. Canada's experience of Imperial officers as generals of militia has not been satisfactory, and the experiment of appointing a Canadian officer should be tried. We certainly can furnish half a dozen native Canadian military men who would fill the position as well as General Laird or Sir Fred Middleton, and they would keep their "hands off" other folks' property, too. As an office of emolument, for which Canadian cash provides, it should be filled by a Canadian taxpayer. It should be filled by a military man who is in touch with our Canadian militia, who "has been there himself," and who knows the wants and weaknesses and merits of the several elements of our volunteer army. Those who claim that it would be "disloyal" in Parliament to charge the law to admit of a Canadian officer being appointed commander in chief of our volunteer forces, is a sentimental sycophant. Where loyalty counts is in front of an enemy, and who dares say that in such a position Canadian officers and men would not fill the bill? It is not loyalty to submit to having second-hand heroes and "fur"-eign generals foisted upon as brave a body of soldiers as the world can show. The reader can take his choice with the word "fur-eign." He is at perfect liberty to regard it as a pun and a poor, though pat, one, or he can call it Latin, which is the truth.

Is there any "Equal Rights" about high tariff robbery? Very little, except to those who share the "swag."

THERE are already ten protests entered against the return of members declared elected at the recent provincial elections. And other cases are being prepared.

GREAT BRITAIN'S commerce continues to expand. The British board of trade returns for the month of June show that the imports increased £3,500,000, and the exports increased £3,000,000 over June of last year.

So numerous are the Mormons becoming in Switzerland that the federal council of the republic has received petitions demanding their expulsion from Swiss territory. The petitions are largely signed by the poorer classes of the population, who say that the expulsion of the Mormons is necessary to ensure the peace of the country.

THE Ottawa Free Press risks the remark that, although Mr. Chapleau is the owner of some Florida orange groves, and is quoted by Florida planters as an authority upon their business, he strongly objects to being called an Orange man, except, perhaps, at election times when he could be called such quietly and effectively. He could stand the odium if he got the votes.

THERE is a window glass factory in Pittsburg which last year made a profit of over $1,000,000. Here, at least, is one lusty, tariff-fed infant which ought to be strong enough to stand alone. Yet the McKinley tariff bill proposes to make a substantial increase in the rate of duty on window glass. What better example of highway, stand-and deliver robbery can be supplied than this? Here is a private enterprise that puts the high tariff pistol to the public and demands its money. This particular brigand's spoils amount to a million, contributed by the people who never got a cent of advantage.

THE Tory journal is a wonderful thinker. The Ottawa Citizen, whose daily edition is folded on the pap-chest at Ottawa, gives a brilliant reason for retaining a burdensome system of high taxation and a system of trade restriction, which even the heathen Chinee has abandoned. "No man," so the sapient organ says, "will espouse the experimental policy of change for the sake of change". This latter expression is most delicate sarcasm. The Citizen would doubtless describe a man, struggling for release from the pressure of a corroding mortgage, on his house, lands and chattels, as a man who had espoused the "experimental policy of change for the sake of change."

The Little Ones at Home.

The gleeful laugh of happy and contented children is the best home music, and the graceful figures of childhood are the best statuary. Babies are kings and queens in the cradle, and each baby is a new marvel.

The care which covers the seed of the tree under tough husks, provides for the human plant, the mother's breast.

Baby is strong for his weakness; his little arms are more irresistable than the soldier's. The small despot asks so little, that all reason and all nature are on his side.

What a precious treasure is given to the mother! What careful tending must be done to protect the life of the fragile flower! As the gardener carefully waters and nourishes his young plants, in like manner must the mother nourish with the utmost care and diligence, her babe, that it may grow and expand.

Mothers often get anxious, as to the kind of food baby is receiving; more especially is this the case in hot weather.

Baby may be constipated, and as a consequence becomes fractious and cross. Certainly mother, your child's food has not been of the right kind. In emergencies like this, your proper course is to use the well-known "Lactated Food"; it will give relief and sweet repose to your darling one.

Other foods often bring on a dangerous Diarrhœa; this can never result from the use of "Lactated Food," as it keeps the bowels invariably in a proper condition conducive to health.

"Lactated Food" is, in truth, a boon to yourself and child. It does away with anxious cares on your part, and wakeful nights to yourself and child will be unknown.

It makes dear baby vigorous, strong and healthy as you desire your child to become. Try it to-morrow!

THE LAST SLAVE VOYAGE.

Shipping, Stowing, and Feeding a Cargo of Slaves.

During the embarkation I was engaged separating those negroes who did not appear robust, or who had received some trifling injury in getting on deck, and sending them to an improvised hospital made by bulkheading a space in the rear of the forecastle. The others, as they arrived, were stowed away by the Spanish mate; so that when all were aboard there was just room for each to lie upon one side. As no one knew what proportion the men were, all were herded together. The next morning the separation took place; the women and girls were all sent on deck, and numbered about four hundred. Then a close bulkhead was built across the ship and other bunks constructed. The women were then sent below, and enough men sent up to enable the carpenter to have room to construct additional bunks. A more docile and easily managed lot of creatures cannot be imagined. No violence of any kind was necessary; it was sometimes difficult to make them understand what was wanted; but as soon as they comprehended immediate compliance followed.

The negroes were now sent on deck in groups of eight and squatted around a large wooden platter, heaping-full of cooked rice, beans, and pork cut into small cubes. The platters were made by cutting off the head of flour or other barrels, leaving about four inches of the staves. Each negro was given a wooden spoon, which all on board had amused themselves in making during our forty-day trip. Barrel staves were sawed into lengths of eight inches, split into other pieces one and a half inches wide, and then shaped into a spoon with our pocket-knives. It was surprising what good spoons could be made in that manner. A piece of rope yarn tied to a spoon and hung around the neck was the way in which every individual retained his property. There not being room on deck for the entire cargo to feed at one time, platters were sent between decks, so that all ate at one hour, three times daily. Casks of water were placed in convenient places, and an abundant supply furnished day and night.—George Howe, M. D., in July Scribner.

NOT MANY WOMEN PRINTERS.

The Sex Has Found Better Work—Not Anxious to Set Type.

Women printers a few years ago were a standing menace to the trade, in the view of the men printers, and the question of their admittance to typographical unions threatened to become a burning issue in the labor world. In this city it was settled for the time being by the admission of the women to Union No. 6, with the condition that they be not allowed to work for less wages than men. This handicapped the women heavily, for the trade is not one in which a woman can hold her own with a man on equal terms, but even at this it was not satisfactory to a large element among the men, who objected to having women in the trade at all, and the trouble continually threatened to break out in spots. Meantime, however, the matter has been summarily settled out of court, as it were. Women don't want to be printers any more. The introduction of the typewriter and the opening up of other lines of employment more agreeable and suitable for a woman seem to have relieved the female labor market of the greater part of the women who used to want to be printers.

It is said by officers of Typographical Union No. 6 that there are not over 800 women printers in New York now. One hundred of these are in the union. They work chiefly in large book printing offices, where the hours are easy and there is no rush. A few are in the morning newspaper offices, working as distributors in the afternoon. Women have worked as compositors on some of the morning papers, but the cases were exceptional, such as where a man died and his widow was allowed to take his case until she could get something better to do. It is thought that the number of women printers is decreasing constantly in spite of the rapid growth of the trade. Men say it is a good thing, not only for selfish reasons, but because the trade, although generally classed as a light and easy one, is really too wearisome, too unhealthy, and in other ways unsuited for women.—N. Y. Sun.

A Thieving Monk.

A picturesque story, worthy of the author of "Gil Blas," comes to us from Naples. Last week the superior and two of the friars of the Monastery of San Giacomo had reason to suspect a singularly pious monk of being the thief who had stolen divers sums of money belonging to them. Being determined to catch him in the act the victimized friars spread a report that in the superior's cell was concealed a box of money. The news reached the ears of the dishonest monk and he easily fell into the trap. Meanwhile the defrauded friars hid themselves, and having witnessed the robbery, suddenly faced the delinquent, who, falling on his knees confessed his manifold sins. Pretending to pity him, they simply turned the key and locked him in the cell, and ran off to the superintendent of police, who promptly arrived on the scene, but to the amazement of the monks the robber friar had mysteriously disappeared. In fact, he had managed to squeeze himself through a very narrow window. Thence he alighted on a roof and ran along the parapet until he reached the skylight of the laundry. He broke two or three panes of glass, and, to the consternation of the washerwomen, fell in their midst. He pleaded earnestly for assistance, said he had been grossly maltreated by the Superior and monks, and was now flying from their further persecution. The good woman believed this story, furnished the monk with a petticoat and jacket and a handkerchief to throw over his head, and thus abetted his escape. Hitherto all the researches of the police have been vain to arrest the thief, who has made off with £150. The affair has caused no little amusement in Naples.—London Herald.

A Free Trip to Europe.

The publishers of the Canadian Queen will give a free trip to Europe to the person sending them the largest number of words constructed from letters contained in the name of their well known magazine "The Canadian Queen." Additional prizes, consisting of silver tea sets, gold watches, china dinner sets, portiere curtains, silk dresses, mantel clocks, and many other useful and valuable articles will also be awarded in order of merit.

Webster's unabridged dictionary to be used as authority in deciding the contest.

This is a popular plan of introducing a popular publication. Every one sending a list of not less than ten words will receive a present. Enclose thirteen 2c. stamps for illustrated catalogue of presents and three months' trial subscription to the Queen. Address, the Canadian Queen, "E," Toronto, Ont. dw

Our Story.

A GAME OF HEARTS.

FROM THE GERMAN OF HANS ARNOLD.

I.

SEVERAL months had elapsed since a stately funeral train had born to the family vault the coffin of Grafin Hochstetten, yet life at the castle had not resumed its usual course. All felt the want of the firm—at times somewhat hard—hand of the mistress whose resolute touch upon the reins had so long directed and urged on the household to full energy and activity. Long since her husband had been gathered to his fathers, and perhaps it was the necessity which then fell upon her of thinking alone and ruling alone, which aroused to highest development every faculty of the proud lady of the castle. Of many blooming children only one remained to her—a son, whom, after her own fashion, she loved and had patiently striven to form in her own mold.

The boy's natural disposition rendered this no easy task. A good head, not without talent; calm, reasonable views of life and his fellow men, so long as they did not get in the way of his class prejudices; a certain energy of his own, which some limiting power seemed to concentrate in small compass and keep within appointed bounds. The Grafin was assured that when he succeeded to the estate he would never be indifferent or negligent, but on the other hand she could not feel certain that he would make every effort to carry out her darling projects for agricultural improvements and increase of revenue. He was an indefatigable lover of the chase; during his university course he had dipped with interest here and there into the sciences; he knew enough of agriculture to tell whether his harvests were good or bad; but that devotion to his duty as a land owner, which would be likely to bring the estate to the highest point of cultivation and profit, it must be confessed the young heir showed no tendency whatever towards acquiring—perhaps because it was so troublesome.

So long as the vigorous mother ruled by his side, he was perforce carried on in the rush, dutifully accompanying her in her daily rides over the fields or paying visits of inspection to the stables and the cattle sheds, but it was with a sense of release that he saw the darkening of the evening sky, when he could conscientiously return to the bright fire in the comfortable, saloon and to the books in which his soul delighted. Books of heraldry these were, or old chronicles of knightly deeds; or, above all, records of his own proud race, which had sat for centuries in the gray old castle on the wooded hight, looked up to by the little town in the valley very much as a reigning family is looked up to by the kingdom beneath his scepter.

Count Hugo was not a man whose conscious pride of place is objectionable to other men; his calm open countenance bore an undeniable resemblance in features to the long array of ancestors in the picture gallery, but had not the untamed haughtiness of expression which almost without exception characterised them. The young count interfered with no man's rights, was a kind master to his dependents, a cordial gay comrade to his acquaintances, and, above all, a man whose character commanded instinctive deference. If the first place was his by right of birth, his he was resolved it should also be by right of noble mind, by virtue, truth and honor, by all kindness of soul. These qualities filled his mother with pride, but did not leave her entirely without anxiety as to his future.

The Grafin looked her death and all accompanying circumstances full in the face, with the same firm steadfastness which in all the events of her life had given her such ascendancy over all with whom she was in contact, and especially over her son. When she became conscious of the failure of her vital powers, she made known to Hugo the fact that she was about to leave him—and very much in the same manner in which she might have informed him that she was about to undertake a short journey. After her son had given her his word to carry out all her wishes, as far as possible, she told him that her particular request was that he should in no case remain alone in the castle, but that within six months of her death he should either marry or make some arrangement by which the want of her motherly supervision and care and companionship should not be felt. The practical, clear-headed mother had already sought out her own substitute. A distant cousin of her husband's had married a Count Wittenfeld, who had recently died in poverty and debt, leaving his wife in a small Rhine town alone and in very straitened circumstances, as the Grafin knew. She had only a son and a daughter; the son was an officer in the army, and the daughter had received—or was about to receive—a Stift appointment. The Grafin knew no more, but a few days before her death began a letter to her cousin, making particular inquiry into her condition, but the failing fingers dropped the pen forever with the letter unfinished, and it was for Hugo to decide if it should be sent to Countess Adale with an explanation of his mother's wishes, and of his own concurrence in them.

A single months of sorrowful loneliness put an end to Hugo's hesitation. He missed his mother painfully, especially in the long evenings which they had been accustomed to spend together in quiet games of cards or dominoes. Besides he was harassed by questions and appeals for orders, the household seemed all going wrong, and either he had to shut his eyes and let it go, or be perpetually directing and controlling. Urged by these considerations he came to a decision, and one evening after a day of unusual annoyances he seized pen and paper and wrote to his cousin stating the case before her in his calm and impartial fashion, telling her of his loneliness and discomfort, and begging her to supply the place of the mistress of the castle, as that mistress had herself desired. In a few days came a reply—a conditional affirmative. The daughter, who was supposed to be in the Stift, had not accepted the appointment. "If I may bring Ella with me," the countess wrote, "I can come to you, my dear Hugo, within three weeks. I do not think you will be incommoded by her presence; she is a simple little girl, accustomed to depend upon her own resources, and delighting in a country life. She has been—if her mother may say so—carefully brought up to fill her own modest position and at the same time never to forget to what race she belongs."

Hugo sighed over the "dear, simple little girl," but then—what choice had he?—at once wrote giving his consent to the arrangement; and now for some weeks the soft sweep of women's dresses had been heard about the lofty halls, and the young lord of the castle had found a companion for his long rides as well as a graceful mistress for the head of his table. The young countess did not exactly strike him as a simple little girl. The title seemed ill suited to the tall queenly maiden, to whose golden hair a coronet was surely more appropriate than a heavy Stift cap. Unlike her mother, she from the first took a very decided place in the castle and at all that of a poor relation blessing in for the change in her life and surroundings, but the place natural to a proud, capricious beauty, holding sway over everything and everybody by her superious attainments, and by the irresistible magic of her sunny spirit. Hugo's tranquil nature was aroused and excited to a most unusual degree. That this effect was somewhat overnight, of course, no one can affirm; the impulse to surround herself with slaves and adorers, the desire of domination, the feeling that all about her must be occupied with her and absorbed in her, were deeply rooted in Ella's being, and from the hour of her arrival, she began to weave about Hugo the soft web in which already more than one strong man lay helpless. The idea of any tangible result, such as one day reigning mistress where she now reigned as favorite guest, may have flitted lightly into her mind, but it as lightly flitted away again, for she was a true child of the moment. But her mother with beating pulse watched the course of events, and on many a quiet evening, sitting apart from the young people, her heart was busy with a beautiful dream of a dazzling future for her destined child, and full of silent prayer that this might not end as other hopes had done, when some careless word of the girl had dashed from her at the last moment the prize she had seemed to strain every nerve to secure.

For some time Ella, absorbed in her new game, was quite content and apparently enraptured with the still life around her. She made long expeditions into the picturesque country around the castle, coming home flushed and happy as a child with great clusters of autumn flowers tied with a bright ribbon to her saddle bow.

"I hardly know you, Ella," her mother often said. "No balls, no theater, and yet you are more light-hearted than ever."

Hours there were, indeed, when her bright, restless spirit could not but feel some tediums, and when she would gladly have had Hugo's sensible conversation a little less sensible. These hours came more frequently as the shortening days brought cold, wet weather, which put a stop to her long rides.

There was little social intercourse to be had. They had no neighbors of their own rank within easy visiting distance, and to find companionship in the town would have seemed to Ella about on a par with finding it among the maids in the servant's hall. Still the townspeople punctiliously sent to the castle invitations to every one of their balls, concerts and picnics, counting themselves happy if one in ten was accepted. This acceptance consisted in the arrival of the castle party when the festivities were well under way and everyone assembled. Ella and her mother, in dresses whose simple elegance effectually crushed all toilet aspirations in the other ladies, would be led by Hugo once or twice through the heated rooms, stopping to speak a few courteous words where they were required, and after about half an hour would take leave, regretting that they could not longer remain to enjoy the charming scene.

That the citizen-circle should still continue to send invitations and to concern itself about the noble family who so evidently held themselves aloof, was in great measure due to Ella's enchanting loveliness. Hardly a young man within a radius of ten miles had escaped the hopeless fate of falling in love with the high-born beauty at first sight, which was all the more miserably unfortunate as it was whispered that she was to bestow her hand upon her cousin, the young lord of the castle. Still this was only surmise, for, as has been said the Hochstettens were far above the reach of curiosity, sympathy, or any of the emotions which ordinarily link mankind together.

Life Insurance Policy Holders

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance in force in Canada, as compared with other countries, is largely due to the energy of our agents during the past years, to the liberality of the conditions of insurance contracts, and to the low rates at which insurance can be effected. But another cause has been the amount of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period which, in the case of numbers of them, was one of unexampled depression in business, and which could not fail to excite comment; as that the percentage of lapses has been unusually small, and how much a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Canada Life	$40,994,276	3.07
Confederation	17,974,688	8.31
Ontario Mutual	13,071,466	10.29
Federal	10,883,837	10.36
Sun Life	11,976,817	10.36
North American	8,479,689	10.69
Temperance and General	2,884,973	17.24
Citizens	2 067,933	20.15
Manufacturers' Life	5 723,100	20 [illegible]
London Life	1,644 235	30 [illegible]

From this table we can see that while such companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have naturally decreased the amount of their losses, some of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.78 per cent.

The only method we can obtain from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, witness the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. This is so in a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should entirely abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is nearly probable in these days of popular education. [illegible] before only fair basis on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their poorer holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their less wealthy competitors. By the aid of clever management and attractive methods, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evident from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

A. C. A. Meet.

The salt water meet to be held at Peconic Bay, at the east end of Long Island, from the 7th to 23rd August, will be a notable event in the history of the Association. Canoeing and camping, combined with sea bathing, is something that a man living as far inland as this cannot have every year. A party will go to the camp from Peterborough and Lindsay, and the Toronto men are going in large numbers. A Peterborough member this morning received a letter from Mr. Bennett, of the Transportation Committee, to the effect that the time is extended for receiving applications from members of the Northern Division to have their canoes transported from New York to the camp without any trouble or inconvenience to the members.

Fire Alarms.

Many of our citizens, who are house-owners or householders, would like an improvement in our fire alarm system. They do not object to the efficiency of the excellent alarm system for the firemen, but it is the ringing of the general alarm which they think could be improved. There should be, many of them think, a code of rings adopted in ringing the general alarm to indicate in what ward the fire exists. For instance, if such a code showed that the fire was in No. 1 Ward, the residents of the other wards would be relieved from anxiety as to the safety of their property, and so of all the other wards in respect of the one in which a fire was in existence. This would be a very simple matter to arrange and a great convenience to the public would result from the employment of some simple and easily understood code of taps on the town tintinnabulum.

The Canoe Factory in Danger.

The dog-day monotony which was settling down upon everybody and everything this morning, was rudely broken shortly after ten o'clock by the resonant clang of the fire alarm bell. The brigade made a prompt turn-out, and within a couple of minutes of the first alarm the fire engine, salvage wagon and hook-and-ladder truck were on their way to Ashburnham, the fire being reported from the Ontario Canoe Company's factory. At the bridge they were met with the intelligence that the fire had been extinguished with very little damage. It seems that one of the employes had occasion to ascend to the third flat, and his attention was at once drawn to a fire which was progressing in the roof close to the cupola. The other employes were quickly notified, and by means of the water from a large tank which is kept constantly filled at the top of the building the flames were speedily squelched. A dollar will cover the damage, a small hole only being burned in the roof. Had the fire been allowed five minutes more of a start, it is probable the factory would have been destroyed. A spark from the smokestack was probably the cause of the fire.

Because they conduct everything properly, and leave nothing undone to contribute to the pleasure of excursionists or the smoothness of the trip. The journey to Sturgeon Point is a delightful one, and the place is equally so. Excellent music has been provided and a fine programme of unique sports and games will be presented, to conclude with the romantic and beautiful Man-pole dances. The refreshment committee will take charge of luncheon baskets, and milk and hot water will be provided free on the grounds, so that excursionists will have nothing to do but enjoy themselves. A special train will leave the Grand Trunk station at 8 a.m. sharp, and run direct to the wharf at Lindsay, where steamer will be boarded. Don't neglect to make your arrangement to go to this excursion, which will be the excursion par excellence of the season. Return fare, 85 cents; children half price. 2d10

A Bold Burglary.

Early Saturday morning the residence of Mrs. McMartin, Ashburnham, was visited by thieves. About three o'clock Mrs. McMartin was awakened by an unusual noise in the house, and awaking the other members of the household an investigation was held. It was discovered that a bold burglary had taken place. Mrs. McMartin's gold watch and chain had been taken from her bed-room, while downstairs the burglars had made complete preparations for a big haul. The kitchen door was filled with pieces of silverware, of which Mrs McMartin possesses a valuable quantity, tied up and ready for carrying off. The thieves had evidently been interrupted in the midst of their nefarious operations and made a hasty exit without their booty—excepting the watch and chain, which are the only articles missed. The watch was valued at $75, and was a gift from her dead husband, which Mrs. McMartin prized highly. Attached to the chain was a costly gold cross. Mrs. McMartin is of opinion, from the noise she heard, that two men were implicated in the robbery. No clue has yet been found as to the identity of the thieves.

Police Court.

MONDAY, JULY 14.

An old man named John O'Brien, who had been in gaol a week on remand for drunkenness, was discharged on promising to go to work and keep sober.

Patrick Shearer, a labourer from Madoc, celebrated the Twelfth by getting drunk. Being a stranger, and consequently his first offance, here at least, Shearer was given his liberty.

A rasher complicated assault case was disposed of. Mr. C. Halpin charged Garrett McMurry, of Douro, with assault, and the defendant was further charged with disorderly conduct by the police. In connection with the same affair a charge of assault was preferred against John Halpin. It seems that Saturday evening, about eight o'clock, McMurray and a comrade named Dwyer entered Mr. M. Halpin's hotel on Hunter street and asked for a drink. The bar being closed it was refused them. In their disappointment the men began using angry words, which led up to the assault. Mr. C. Halpin interfered and tried to separate the combatants. A few minutes afterwards, while he was standing in the back yard, a man picked up a heavy stone and struck him in the mouth, cutting his lip badly and loosening his teeth. Mr. Halpin was positive that McMurray threw the stone, but other witnesses did not corroborate the statement, some thinking the stone had been hurled by Dwyer. The magistrate did not think the identity of the assailant had been established, and dismissed the case; as also he did the charge of disorderly conduct, it being held that McMurray was simply defending himself. McMurray was, however, arrested by the police after the assault had been committed, and while in charge of Constable Stewart he was struck by John Halpin, in retaliation for the assault upon his father. John Halpin pleaded guilty to the charge of assault but pleaded extenuating circumstances. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed. Mr. W. A. Stratton conducted the prosecution in the first assault case, and Mr. E. B. Edwards the defence.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The praise and prayer service on Saturday evening was much enjoyed by those present.

Consecration meeting Sabbath morning was a delightful and helpful service. Mr. John Kennedy was leader.

Our open air Gospel service in Central Park was a decided success. The attendance was very large and the singing hearty, being led by Mr. John Miller with his cornet. These helpful services will be continued (D.V.) through the summer months, at 4.15 each Sabbath afternoon.

The Gospel and song service was very acceptably addressed by Rev. B. Canfield Jones, of Port Hope. His earnest words and lessons drawn from the parable of the Prodigal Son are sure to bring forth fruit in the lives of the large audience present.

Bible class on Tuesday evening at 8 p. m.

Board of directors will meet on Tuesday evening at 8.30.

We thank Mrs. B. Matthews and an unknown friend for cut flowers for our rooms.

Arrangements are about completed for the Y.M.C.A. camp, Stoney Lake, Aug. 3-13th. The prospects are bright for a good attendance, and much profit and pleasure is in store for all who can attend.

News Nuggets.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH.

Celebrations at Cobourg, Millbrook and Norwood.

Ontario Orangemen as a Whole Commemorate the 200th Anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne—The Demonstrations in this District.

All honor was done to King William, of Pious and Immortal Memory, by the Orangemen the world over on Saturday. In this district the demonstrations were very much out up, the day being celebrated at Norwood, Millbrook, Peterboro Falls and Cobourg. Consequently none of these demonstrations were very large. In former years it has been the policy to centralize as much as possible, but as Cobourg was inaccessible to a large number of Orangemen, several divisions resulted. Peterborough will in all probability get the district demonstration next year, and the Orangemen from all directions will pour into the "Hub," and unite in a monster celebration.

The day at Cobourg passed off splendidly. There was not a large crowd, the Peterborough contingent comprising about two-thirds of the total strength represented in the procession. Cobourg was reached by the special train from Peterborough about half-past eleven, and the Peterborough Orangemen at once joined in the street parade. Besides the Peterborough brethren there were Orangemen from Cobourg and several townships in Northumberland. There were four brass bands in the procession. The historic but unmusical fife and drum were conspicuous by their absence. The custom of each lodge bringing to town a band comprising one fife and three or four drums, is now one "more honored in the breach than in the observance." The is becoming a thing of the past. The shriek of fifes and deafening thunder of drums are being replaced by stately brass band music, and the excitement and turmoil which formerly attached to these days is giving way to quieter but none the less earnest and whole-hearted methods of commemorating the event which is fondly cherished in the memories of Orangemen and Protestants. But though methods change, the stirring airs known as "The Protestant Boys" and "Boyne Water," to which King William's forces marched to victory in 1690, will never fail into disuse. They will continue to thrill and swell with patriotic pride the breasts of all true Orangemen as long as the Order lasts. Such, at least, are the observations deduced from the demonstration at Cobourg. After the parade, dinner was disposed of, and about two o'clock the Orangemen reformed in line and marched to Boulton's grove, where a mass meeting was held, presided over by D'Arcy Boulton. Addresses of a moderate but warm and enthusiastic tone, were delivered by Mr. G. Guillett, M.P., Rev. J. C. Wilson, Mr. Wm. Johnston, Past Grand Master, Mr. S. Farmer, and Rev. Thos. Hay. Several Peterborough gentlemen were called on to speak, but as their time was short, none responded. About five o'clock the Peterborough Orangemen left for home, arriving here at eight o'clock. The procession marched up street and across to Ashburnham, where the Lakefield and Nassau men were left awaiting the train, the town and Smith brethren returning to the lodge room and dismissing after the band had played the National Anthem.

NOTES.

The Orangemen were delighted with Boulton's grove as a recreation ground. They consider that Cobourg has struck a bonanza in securing such a fine piece of property for $4,000.

On the way home an incident occurred which might easily have had a fatal result. A drunken man staggered along the platform at Millbrook just as the train was moving out, and, lurching to one side, fell down beneath the cars. By a fortunate accident there happened to be a culvert just at the place, and the fellow rolled into it and was saved from death beneath the wheels.

The Peterborough county Orangemen were the admiration of all the spectators. They were the finest looking body of men in the parade.

The bi-centennial anniversary of the battle of the Boyne was celebrated on Saturday by the Toronto Orangemen in a manner that was fitting to the occasion. Nearly four thousand men turned out in bright array to honour the day they celebrated.

One Thousand in the March—Speeches in the Grove.

MILLBROOK, July 12.—The two hundredth anniversary of the battle of the Boyne was celebrated here to-day in a most loyal manner. For days previous the local lodges had been busy decorating the town by building arches, etc. This morning the scene that met the visiting brethren on their arrival here was a gay one. The procession, composed of about one thousand Orangemen, was promptly formed on the arrival of the trains under the guidance of Bro. R. Porteus, the district master, ably assisted by Bros. David Donnelly, Isaac Richardson, A. Fallis and J. Reynolds, who rode the proverbial white horses. The Manvers district presented a fine appearance, particularly the Bethany lodge, the members of which all appeared with high silk hats, gloves and canes. The lads from Pontypool were also greatly admired for their neat uniforms and splendid marching. Many prominent men were seen in the ranks. Past Grand Master of Ontario East T. B. Collins, B. H. Holland, police magistrate of Port Hope, J. J. Preston, deputy reeve of Cavan, and John Martin, of Port Hope, marched with the boys all through the day. Following was the order of procession:

Bro. R. Porteus, grand marshal.
Port Hope Brass Band.

PORT HOPE DISTRICT.

Victoria Lodge, O.Y.B.
L.O.L. 44, E. A. Powers, Master.
L.O.L. 1062, Samuel Forest, Master.

Fife and Drum Band.
L.O.L. 421, William Armstrong, Master.

THE SPEECHES.

At 2 o'clock the procession was re-formed and marched to Medd's grove, where an immense crowd assembled to listen to the speeches. The first speaker was T. B. Collins, past grand master of Ontario East, who delivered a most patriotic and loyal speech, receiving great applause. He was followed by Rev. W. C. Allen in an eloquent manner. Rev. A. L. Adam, R. H. Holland, district master of Port Hope; Rev. Mr. Robertson, Rev. Dr. Armstrong, of Ottawa; Baral Dean Allen and Rev. William Baran all delivered fine addresses and were listened to intently.

The Orangemen of this district may well feel proud of this day's celebration, as not a single hitch in the day's programme took place and the visiting brethren expressed themselves well pleased with the day. The large crowd dispersed in an orderly manner and by 8 o'clock nearly all had left for home.

Fine Turn-Out at Norwood.

NORWOOD, Ont., July 12.—Eleven lodges of Orangemen and True Blues celebrated the 12th of July in Norwood to-day. They marched to the martial music of eleven fife and drum bands under command of County Master James McAlpine. The newly organized Britannia Lodge of Loyal True Blues of Norwood, 22 strong, led the procession—George Williams, master. The other lodges represented were:

In the afternoon the procession, augmented by a very large crowd, marched to Grover's grove, where a mass meeting was held and short addresses were delivered by James McAlpine, chairman; James Robb, ex-county master; A. B. Kidd, the defeated Equal Rights candidate; E. B. Shaw, his campaign lieutenant; Rev. Messrs. Power, and Hyde, Warsaw; Rae, of Havelock; Revs. Clark, Parr and Carmichael, Norwood, and Rev. William Fathyers, Selwyn. The ladies of the Methodist church prepared dinner and refreshments in the school room of the church and fed about 800 people.

One of the arches erected on Peterboro' street fell on a buggy this evening, but no one was hurt. The absence of rows or drunks was a pleasing feature of the celebration.

TWO HUNDRED LIVES LOST

A Sunday Excursion Steamer Struck by a Cyclone.

Only Twenty of the Passengers Saved—Some Prominent People Among the Drowned.

(Special to the Examiner.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 14.—Late yesterday afternoon the steamer Sewing left Lake City, where the State militia are in camp, bound on her homeward trip to Redwing and several small towns along the shores of Lake Pepin, with 250 passengers on board, and having in tow a barge which carried 100 more. When in the middle of the lake, off Lake City, a cyclone struck the boat. She became unmanageable at once. The barge was cut loose, and after an hour the Sewing drifted to shore with about twenty persons on board. The other two hundred or more were drowned. Among those lost are some of the best known and most prominent people of Redwing and vicinity.

The Failure List.

(Monetary Times.)

Mercantile failures have been frequent in Canada this year. There have been nearly a thousand of them in the first six months, and the aggregate of liabilities of these failed traders exceeded ten and a half millions of dollars. Such figures are the reverse of reassuring when compared with those of preceding half-years. We append a comparison:—

	No.	Amt. Ha.
First six months 1890	994	$10,514,681
" " " 1889	697	7,290,000
" " " 1888	672	7,802,000
" " " 1887	709	14,467,000
" " " 1886	689	5,846,000
" " " 1885	687	5,151,000

As to the leap upward in aggregate liabilities between 1886 and 1887 it is to be remembered that in the latter year the Maritime Bank failure brought a crop of disasters with it, that was estimated to add $4,000,000 to the ordinary average yearly liability of failed traders. With this deduction made, the columns of liabilities would read: Half year, 1886, $5,346,000; 1887, $4,460,000; 1888, $7,802,000; 1889, $7,290,000; 1890, $10,514,000, a steady increase, year by year, which ought to have some significance for Canadian merchants and bankers.

	No.	Amount.
Ontario	494	$3,447,700
Quebec	327	6,156,145
Nova Scotia	45	217,464
New Brunswick	37	159,250
P. E. Island	6	63,000
British Columbia	23	166,324
Manitoba	31	314,133
Total	993	$10,514,681

The showing for this year is the more significant when it is stated that while 1887 had the great bank failures to account for the amount of its failure list, no such disaster occurred in 1890. We must, therefore, look elsewhere for the causes. Referring to the division into provinces, it will be seen that while Ontario has suffered very little more than in the first half of 1889 ($3,447,000 against $3,250,000,) Quebec has doubled her quota, the failures in that Province aggregating $6,145,000 in the six months last past, as compared with $3,224,000 in the first half of 1889. None of the other Provinces show very marked increase.

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE IN THE WATERS OF LAKE PEPIN.

Sixty-eight of the Dead at Lake City Identified—It is Feared that at Least as Many More Lie at the Bottom of the Lake—The Lake Gervais Disaster.

RED WING, July 15.—The early reports of the disaster which overtook the steamer Seawing on Lake Pepin did not exaggerate the terrible loss of life. At least 100 lives were lost, and it is feared that the death roll may be swelled to 126 or 130. Seventy-five bodies were recovered yesterday. It is probable there are yet 50 or 60 people missing in addition. It is thought that all of these are in the wreck, which lies off the point near Lake City. The undertaking establishments here are crowded with friends of the dead and many cases of prostration have occurred. Business is completely at a standstill. John Gerkin, wife and five children, comprising the entire family, are among the dead. "Red" Mero, a brother of Charles Mero, an insurance agent of Minneapolis, and his entire family were drowned. They went down wrapped in each other's arms and were picked up last night floating together in the embrace of death. The scenes at the morgue are simply indescribable.

SAVED 16 LIVES.

Corporal Perry's Heroism — Sixty-Eight Bodies Identified.

LAKE CITY, Minn., July 15.—Corporal B. L. Perry of St. Paul saw the wreck of the Seawing and at once hastened to the spot to render assistance. Finding a man standing near a boat on the shore he asked to be taken out to the overturned steamer. When the man refused Perry threatened to kill him unless his orders were obeyed, and with the help of his unwilling assistant he saved the lives of 15 or 16 women. Adjutant-General Mullen says the man has earned a commission.

From early morning a patrol of row boats was kept up all over the neighborhood of the wreck looking for bodies. Several were found in that way Sunday night and a small boy was found floating and yelling three miles down the lake from the disaster. Battery A, of St. Paul kept up a cannonading during the day, trying to raise bodies, but without success. The little steamer Wanderer tried unsuccessfully to pull the wreck apart, and then the Ethel Howard came up the river and with the assistance of the Luella pulled apart the frame of what had been the top of the steamer. The Luella then pulled the Seawing up out of the water, releasing three bodies, one woman and two young men. Alice Palmer of Trenton, was one of them, but the two men have not been identified. This makes a total of 65 bodies now identified. It was stated yesterday that to keep the water out of the cabin and to keep the people under shelter, Captain Weathern had locked the door of the cabin. If this is true it may explain much of the loss of life, although the loss would still have been great.

Estimates vary as to the total number of dead. There were over 300 persons on the steamer and barge when they started to return to Red Wing, very few remaining behind on account of the storm, although many protested against the proposal to steam up the lake in the face of such a gale as was then blowing. Of the whole number it is known positively that about 50 were saved. More may have escaped, but only this many are known at this time to be safe. That would leave about 150 victims of the disaster, but everyone hopes the number will not go beyond 126. A good number are still in the wreck, and a great many are in the bottom of the lake where the gale first struck the steamer. Just how many will not be known for some time yet.

During the morning a systematic patrol of the water over which the hulls had drifted, after being first struck by the gale, had been kept up by citizens of Lake City. After the last bodies had been taken from the wreck Adjutant-General Mullen pressed into service all the rowboats within reach, and with four soldiers in each boat began late this afternoon a thorough dragging of the lake all about the scene of the disaster. No bodies were found, and at dark the search was abandoned for the day. Dynamite will be used to-day. There were a good many who made use of the life preservers, but probably none had as good and as much use of them as had Robert Adams, the 17-year-old son of Dr. Adams, of Lake City, and another boy, whose home is in Red Wing. They secured three life preservers and were in the water for six hours before being rescued. Young Adams could swim, but his companion could not. They had the good sense to float quietly and not attempt to fight against the waves to the shore. During the time they were in the water, from 6 to 8, they were buffeted by the billows and blown hither and thither by the gale. They first drifted about a mile down past the town, and then a change in the wind carried them up the river to Frontenac, seven miles from here, where they were rescued by Dr. Kain and party, still alive and well, but considerably the worse for their hard experience.

Following is a revised list of the dead or those missing and known to be dead at Lake City: Mamie Adams, Mrs. Baisley and two children, Miss Brennan, Katie Burkhardt, Phœbe Pierson, John Behrns and wife, Charley Brown, Fred Christ, Eddie Christoferson, Katie Davis, Katie Daly, Charles Dinstage, John Engelbertson, Miss Foates, Minnie Fisher, Ira Fulton, Peter Gerkin, wife and five children, Mrs Merritt Green, Miss Ida Green, Fred. Hempling and wife, Herman Hempling, Wm. Hempling, Lizzie Hempling, Fred. Battemayer, Will Hippe, George Harris, Theodore Hardwell, Lizzie Ann Harrison, Mabel Molten, Theodore Hernedel, Mrs. Humber, Arthur Haglen, Cora Johnson, Thomas Lesson, Myrtle Mero, Nellie Myles, Emma Nelson, George Nelson, Owen Oaky, Sadie Pearsen, Julie Persig, Annie Persig, Alice Palmer, Nettie Palmer, K. Peterson, C. H. Rohecker, two children of Mrs. Scomberg and daughter, Mrs. F. Sharf and daughter, Annie Steiger, Francis Steiger, Fred Severes and daughter, Henry Stiffney, Floy Smith, Mrs. Slawson, John Schaffler, wife and two children, John Stropa, Annie Snyder, Miss Sebrasse, Mary Skoglund, Mrs. Nellie Wethern, Pearl Wethern, Addie Wing and sister, Bertha Winters, O. A. Anderson, Leon Creamer, Johanna Humphert, Mrs. Ed. Larson, Mrs. Ole Nelson, Mary Obern, Martin O'Shaughnessy.

Knute Peterson's body was found about a mile up the shore. The watches on the other bodies had stopped at from 8¾ to 9¼, showing pretty accurately the time of the wreck, but Peterson's watch had kept going for some three hours in the water and stopped at 11½. Major Fitzgerald, surgeon of the regiment, who had charge of the hospital corps and also of the arrangements for handling the bodies, says death was very quick in every case and there was scarcely an evidence of any struggle on the part of the dying. Neither had the bodies any marks of injury upon them. The fact that the militia were within easy call undoubtedly resulted in the saving of many lives.

MRS. EACHUS' STORY.

ST. PAUL, July 15.—Mrs. (Dr.) Eachus, a daughter of Mr. Good, who was an inmate of the Good cottage which was destroyed at Lake Gervais, tells this story:

All our family were in the house waiting upon company. We noticed the storm approaching. Some of the household suggested we get into the cellar. My husband and I were standing at the window while the others were scattered around the house and all suggesting some place of security. After a few moments the great, spinning cloud reached the centre of the lake and I saw the water divide and overflow the banks some 40 feet. As papa was looking out the door he saw the trees near the Mullanch cottage crash beneath the whirlwind, and then Mullanch's cottage was swept away, and then our barn was blown broadside against our house. Just at this time my husband threw me bodily down the cellar stairs, and I landed into the potato bin. Then he threw Miss King and Mr. Macpherson jumped after. My husband then tumbled down and called to the rest to follow. The building crushed in upon us, and then portions of it were hurled skyward. Trees were blown by and a huge fan chest fell into the cellar and pinned us all down. As we lay there in the painful refuge we heard the Schurmair house crash and scatter timbers in all directions. For 15 minutes the timbers and furniture of both houses were hurled about the site of the houses.

After our release from the cellar we began looking for members of the household. We found them scattered about. Minnie Mass lay in the road, her head cut and her mouth bleeding badly. Carrie, her sister, was pinned under a tree and I guess the girl is hurt internally. While I was dashing through the mud I ran across the body of George Miller, dead and mangled. His wife also was buried beneath the wreck and hurt quite badly. Mrs. Hastings and her daughter Stella were badly bruised, and Mrs. Hastings will loose the sight of an eye.

A BAD FRENCH-CANADIENNE.

She Helps Her Brother to Murder Her Husband—Arrested Across the Line.

BOSTON, July 15.—At daylight yesterday Superintendent Corraish of the Pinkerton detective agency arrested at the Arrow House, near Newton, N.H., a Canadian woman, Lada Lamontagne, aged 20, on a charge of arson. A few years ago she married Napoleon Michel in Wolfestown, Que. Not long after their marriage the husband charged his wife with improper relations with her own brother, Remi Lamontagne. On the night of July 19, 1888, the brother came to the house bringing a bottle of whisky. The wife admitted him and all drank of the liquor. Remi left the house for a few minutes. On his return his sister again admitted him. As soon as he entered the house he opened fire on Michel, shooting him in several places, and afterwards cut his throat. The brother and sister then placed the body of the supposed dead man on a mattress, set fire to the house and ran away. The dying man, roused by the fire, succeeded in crawling through a window, and reached the house of a neighbor named Bonche. The woman sought shelter in the house of another neighbor. Later she went to the house of Bonche, not knowing that her husband was also there. Bonche suspected her and set officers on her track. She was arrested and acquitted. She fled before a new indictment charging her with arson could be procured. After her arrest in New Hampshire she was brought to Boston.

IT IS MURDER OR SUICIDE.

A Supposed Hamilton Man Found Dead in the Grand River.

CAYUGA, July 15.—There was taken from the Grand River Sunday evening near Cayuga, the body of a stout man about 5 feet 11 inches in height, supposed from papers on his person to be that of James Cleland, who lately was an inmate of the Hamilton general hospital. Whether it is a case of murder or one of suicide the jury has not determined, though the consensus of opinion inclines to the latter.

HAMILTON, July 15.—The authorities of the hospital say that no man of the name of James Cleland has been an inmate of the hospital within many weeks, and they have never heard of any such man.

Ambitious City Notes.

HAMILTON, July 15.—Options on three-fourths of the T., H. & B. Company's right of way through the city have been secured. Four surveyors are now at work on the route between Hamilton and Welland. It is probable that the company's head offices will be in the old postoffice building. An offer has been made to the Government for the building, and it is likely to be accepted. The price offered is said to be $15,000.

The McGillivray abduction cases were yesterday postponed until Wednesday. Counsel have nearly completed the details of a settlement.

Big Fire in Wheatley, Ont.

LEAMINGTON, July 15.—The village of Wheatley, about nine miles from here, was on Saturday night visited by a disastrous fire. It started in Underwood's livery barn and soon spread over the remainder of the block, which consists of Merrith's barn, Lightfoot's hardware store, McLean's butcher shop, Scott's general store, the postoffice and telegraph office and Eastman's general store. The latter building was owned by Lewis Wigle, ex-M.P. Messrs. Scott and Eastman are the heaviest sufferers, but are well covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

Could Have Waded Ashore.

LANCASTER, July 15.—Four unknown Italian laborers on the Maine Central road's extension were drowned while attempting to cross the Connecticut River in a boat opposite Stratford Hollow. The water where the bodies were recovered was only five feet deep, and if they had stood up the men could have waded ashore.

MISTAKES OF M'KINLEY.

SET FORTH IN A LETTER FROM SECRETARY BLAINE.

The Free Sugar Basis of the United States Tariff Bill Closes the Door to Reciprocity With Latin America—An Opportunity to Benefit the Farmer Lost.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—This letter from Secretary Blaine was received to-day by Senator Frye:

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 11, 1890.

DEAR MR. FRYE,—I have just received intelligence from the highest commercial authority in Havana, that American flour under the new duties imposed by Spain cannot reach the Cuban market under a cost of $11.46 per barrel—counting the shipping price in New York at $4.89 per barrel. Spain holds the market for herself and is able to send European flour at a price which totally excludes the American flour from the markets of Cuba and Porto Rico. Other articles of American growth are likewise taxed by Spain to the point of prohibition. This one-sided commerce will seriously injure the shipping routes, which are still in American hands, largely if not universally.

It would certainly be a very extraordinary policy on the part of our Government just at this time to open our markets without charge or duty to the enormous crops of sugar raised in the two Spanish islands. Cuba and Porto Rico furnished the United States with nearly or quite one-half of the sugar which we consume, and we are far larger consumers than any other nation in the world. To give a free market to this immense product of the Spanish plantations at the moment Spain is excluding the products of American farms from her market would be a policy as unprecedented as it would be unwise.

Our trade with the American republics as well as with the West India islands has been for many years in a most unsatisfactory condition. The aggregate balance of trade with all Latin-America is heavily against us. A single illustration will suffice: Since we repealed the duty on coffee in 1872 we have imported the products of Brazil to the extent of $661,626,600 and have sold to her only $346,125,630 of our own products. The difference—$284,871,020 we have paid in gold or its equivalent and Brazil has expended the vast sum in the markets of Europe. You can readily see how different the result would have been if in return for the free admission of Brazilian coffee in our markets we had secured the free admission of certain products of the United States in the Brazilian market. To repeat this error with sugar to an amount three times as large as with coffee will close all opportunity to establish reciprocity of trade with Latin America.

The charge against the protective policy which has injured it most is that its benefits go wholly to the manufacturer and the capitalist and not at all to the farmer. You and I well know that this is not at all true, but still it is the most plausible and therefore the most hurtful argument made by the free trader. Here is an opportunity where the farmer may be benefited—primarily, undeniably, richly benefited. Here is an opportunity for a Republican Congress to open the market of 60,000,000 of people to the products of American farms. Shall we seize the opportunity, or shall we throw it away?

I do not doubt that in many respects the tariff bill pending in the Senate is a just measure, and that most of its provisions are in accordance with the wise policy of protection. But there is not a section or a line in the entire bill that will open a market for another bushel of wheat or another barrel of pork. Sugar is now placed on the free list without exacting important trade concessions in return, we shall close the door of a profitable reciprocity against ourselves. I think you will find some valuable hints on this subject in the President's brief message of June 19, with as much practical wisdom as was ever stated in so short a space.

Our foreign market for breadstuffs grows narrower. Great Britain is exerting every nerve to secure her bread supplies from India, and the rapid expansion of the wheat area in Russia gives us a powerful competitor in the markets of Europe. It becomes us, therefore, to use every opportunity for the extension of our market in both of the American continents. With nearly $100,000,000 worth of sugar seeking our market every year we shall prove ourselves most unskilful legislators if we do not secure a large field for the sale and consumption of our breadstuffs and provisions. The late conference of American Republics proved the existence of a common desire for closer relations. Our Congress should take up the work where the International Conference left it. Our field of commercial development and progress lies south of us.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

Sheffield's Protest.

LONDON, July 14.—At Sheffield to-day the mayor of that city presided over a meeting attended by 12,000 persons, called to protest against the McKinley Tariff Bill, as seriously affecting Sheffield's manufacturing interests. A master cutler proposed and the president of the Chamber of Commerce seconded a resolution calling upon the Government to take protective measures against the McKinly Tariff Bill, which, it was stated, threatened to become the means of destroying Sheffield's trade with America. The resolution was carried by acclamation.

INTERNATIONAL CRICKET.

The Americans Roll up 269 at Philadelphia in the First Inning.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—The annual cricket match between Canada and the United States began to-day on the Wissahickon grounds.

When play stopped at 6 o'clock the United States had completed an inning with a score of 269. Canada's score with the loss of one wicket was 14.

The wicket was rather heavy. The United States team is made up of experts from local teams, including several who went to England last year with the Gentlemen of Philadelphia team.

The feature of the United States inning was G. S. Patterson's score, 138, which is one of the finest ever made in this country. It was made without a semblance of a chance for an out.

The visitors played a marvelous fielding game early in the day and made many phenomenal catches. After dinner they seemed to go to pieces.

The Baseball Score.

PLAYING—Boston 12, Buffalo 2; Philadelphia 13, Chicago 7; Brooklyn 6, Pittsburg 3; Cleveland 16, New York 5.

NATIONAL—Boston 17, Cleveland 6; Chicago 3, Brooklyn 10; Philadelphia 17, Pittsburg 1; New York 1, Cincinnati 6.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Alcohol Combine—Another Batch of Election Petitions Filed.

TORONTO, July 15.—In consequence of the recent advance of 20 per cent. in the price of alcohol an anti-combine is projected, and it is also proposed to form a joint stock company to manufacture alcohol for the drug trade.

The Board of Health yesterday adopted the report of the sub-committee recommending the dismissal of the medical health officer, Dr. Canniff, and the temporary appointment of Dr. A. R. Pyne. The City Council, by a vote of 28 to 4, reinstated Dr. Canniff.

Senator Hear and other Washington witnesses, whose evidence The Empire desired to take in The Mail-Empire libel suit, refused to testify before the Canadian commission. An Act of Congress protects members from being examined on State matters outside of their respective Houses.

Four more election petitions were entered in the Court of Appeal yesterday. The members whose seats are protested are George Campbell, Equal Rights, East Durham; William McCleary, Conservative, Welland; James Clancy, Conservative, West Kent; John Dryden, Liberal, South Ontario. A petition will be filed to-day against the seating of John George, Conservative, North Bruce. This will bring the total up to 19.

The Montreal Printers' Strike.

MONTREAL, July 15.—President Kydd of the local typographical union, Thomas W. Ramsy, Silas Reed and Charles Beatty, The Herald strikers, charged with conspiracy, were yesterday committed to the Court of Queen's Bench by Judge Desnoyers. They were admitted to bail in $800 each. Mc-Master & McGibbon have been instructed by The Herald Company to institute civil actions for damages against the accused printers and others concerned in the efforts to entice away their employes. Notice has been given of a civil suit against the typographical union for $2000 damages.

The Bond.

John Rath, a botanist who was well known in America, is dead at Pozzuoca.

The death is announced of Rev. P. J. Gavan, formerly of Toronto, who went three years ago to the Pacific slope. Father Gavan was for ten or twelve years in charge of St. Paul's and St. Mary's Churches in Toronto.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

DAVID DUDLEY FIELD'S ADDRESS AT THE PEACE CONGRESS.

Italy's Mobilization Scheme — Sweden's Hostility to Russia—Nothing Short of War Likely to Settle the Bulgarian Question—The Zanzibar Protectorate.

LONDON, July 15.—The address delivered by Mr. David Dudley Field at the Universal Peace Congress created a veritable sensation, both in respect of the manner of the speaker and the matter of his speech. Mr. Field cited the United States as a most conspicuous example of sovereign powers living together in perfect peace and harmony, and ascribed their entirely amicable relations to the principle of arbitration vested in the general Government and so universally accepted as to render resort to it most infrequent. He regarded the modern willingness of powers to submit their disputes to arbitration as one of the hopeful signs of an era of peace. He honored the wisdom which had directed the settlement of the African dispute between England and Germany, a settlement which had set an example for the world. During the century he said, 16 shillings of each pound sterling of national debt throughout the civilized world had been expended in the maintenance of armies and the prosecution of wars.

A report was in circulation yesterday that Mr. Gladstone was ill and his absence from the sitting of the procedure committee lent to it a strong semblance of the truth. On the strength of the rumor hundreds of reporters and friends called at Mr. Gladstone's residence to obtain information as to his condition and express their sympathy. Mr. Gladstone's appearance in his usual good health and spirits attested the falsity of the report and the callers retired satisfied and pleased that they had been mildly hoaxed.

The Italian Government is engaged in devising new and elaborate plans of mobilization of its land forces, a movement which is strikingly at variance with the very recent assurances by Premier Crispi of the gratifying outlook for prolonged peace.

As the audience was assembling at the Illusionist Theatre in Rome Sunday evening the building suddenly took fire. The people who had entered the theatre beat a hasty retreat and drove back those who were attempting to enter. The fire brigade were powerless to check the flames and the structure was rapidly burned to the ground. Fortunately no one was injured, but had the fire occurred an hour later frightful loss of life must have resulted.

Considerable feeling is aroused in St. Petersburg by the statement ascribed to the King of Sweden, that, while in the event of war between Germany and any other power he would remain neutral as long as possible, he would fight, if compelled to take part, on the side of Germany. This is regarded as a declaration of hostility toward Russia, whom the Swedes have never forgiven for the annexation of Finnland.

The Russian newspapers indicate a conviction that nothing short of war can settle the Bulgarian question satisfactorily to Russia. The temper of the Bulgarians is warlike and it is more than doubtful that they would be willing to accept any prince whom the powers would agree to place over them.

Not much importance is attached to the encounters between Turks and Montenegrins near the Montenegrin frontier. The people of the two nations on the borders have for a long time been quarrelling over some pasture land, the ownership of which is disputed, and the quarrel has more than once given rise to bloodshed.

The English cabinet has discovered that the same agreement which bound England and France to respect the independence of Zanzibar also required the two countries not to interfere with the independence of Madagascar. Notwithstanding this France has violated the agreement by establishing a protectorate over Madagascar against the consent of the native rulers, and England, it is claimed, has an equal right to establish a protectorate over Zanzibar.

The Behring Sea Question.

LONDON, July 15.—In the House of Commons yesterday Sir James Ferguson declined to make any statement regarding the Behring Sea question in view of the present state of the negotiations on that subject. He said, however, that voluminous papers relating to the Behring Sea troubles would soon be laid before Parliament.

The Cholera Advancing.

LONDON, July 15.—A Madrid special says the cholera is spreading to more towns in the Province of Valencia. There were 35 new cases and 10 deaths reported yesterday, one death occuring in the city of Valencia. The authorities at Castello de Rugato concealed the fact that the disease raged there for a fortnight, 50 cases occurred at that place, 17 of which proved fatal. The fact that the disease prevailed was concealed to avoid the isolation of the place. A suspicious case has been received at a hospital in Madrid.

Wrecked by a Misplaced Switch.

RICHMOND, July 15.—Yesterday an eastbound passenger train on the James division of the C. & O. Railway ran into a freight train at Gladstone. The engine was slightly damaged. A negro tramp riding on the trucks of the baggage car was killed. Engineer Clowes of Richmond had his ankle hurt; Fireman W. G. Miller, Richmond, his ankle hurt; J. E. Turner, clerk in the Richmond yard, hip cut; Joseph Hargrave, ankle hurt. Passenger Fireman W. B. Holt of Richmond was killed. The cause of the accident was a misplaced switch.

Another Niagara Tragedy.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. July 15.—An unknown man aged 25, said to be from Buffalo, jumped on the parapet at Prospect Point in the New York state reservation at 3¼ yesterday afternoon, and in full view of a number of visitors leaped into the boiling flood at the edge of the falls.

Johnny MacDougall, son of the late chief of the Ontario police, fell over the precipice near Wesley Park yesterday afternoon and was fatally injured.

Burglary at Roslin.

ROSLIN, July 15.—An attempt was made at 2 o'clock yesterday morning to blow open the safe of James Holbert at Thomasburg, but the burglars were surprised in the act and fled. The tools left behind were stolen from Hudson's wagon shop here. The thieves also broke open Miss Hewitt's store here but secured nothing of value. The object of the raid was probably to get hold of $800 in Mr. Hudson's charge, the proceeds of the Orange demonstration here.

Nova Scotia's New Governor Sworn.

HALIFAX, July 15.—The oath of office was administered to Lieut.-Gov. M. B. Daly by Chief Justice McDonald yesterday morning in the presence of the judges of the Supreme Court and many prominent citizens.

The Canadian Roads Get the Business.

CHICAGO, July 13.—A meeting of the Chicago committee of the Central Traffic Association was held yesterday for the purpose of adjusting dressed beef rates to local points in New York state and other eastern points to the through rates now in force. The Grand Trunk and Wabash-Canadian Pacific road based their local rates on percentages of the reduced through traffic, but the other roads being desirous of keeping up local tariffs fixed arbitrary rates and made them as high as they could without coming into conflict with the Interstate Commerce Law. The consequence was that the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific roads got the business. It was therefore agreed at to-day's meeting to bring the local rate into conformity with the through rates. The rate to Albany was made 34 cents, to Rochester 31½ cents, Syracuse 28½ and Elmira 21½ cents. These rates will go into effect July 17.

The Brighton Tragedy.

BRIGHTON, July 13.—The jury empanelled to enquire into the death of Robert Lockhart returned a verdict that "death was caused by a blow delivered by Charles Gerow with a piece of oak sounting on the side of the head on June 28, 1890."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

J. C. Turnbull.

TURNBULL'S
BARGAIN COLUMN.

Our Print Department is now unusually attractive, having received about one hundred mid-summer patterns. The colors are very attractive, resembling all the latest shades in wool dress goods. We are also showing a choice range of Mourning Prints, in new designs, such as diagonal cords and crape patterns that have the appearance of silk crape.

The warm weather is creating a demand for plain and fancy Challies, which have the combined qualities of being cool and light, as well as very ladylike.

There is nothing takes the place of dark seersucker for boys' coats. We have them in good qualities, as well as the lighter weight for children's dresses.

Our stock of Flannelettes is varied, having imported an extra good cloth, which washes better than Canadian makes usually show.

We are offering now a full range of Oxford Checks, 5c. a yard. Do not fail to see them.

New opened Ladies' Belts in new styles.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

THE DELUSIVE AVERAGE.

In these days of enormous debt, expenditure and taxation, Tory writers invite the people of Canada to console themselves by dividing the debt, expenditure and taxation by 5,000,000 and observe how small it is. One of them says that in 1875 the customs duties averaged $4.19 per head, while in 1889 they averaged $4 66 per head—an increase of only 49 cents per head. The Tory taxpayer who reads this feels that he ought to be ashamed of himself for making such a fuss about 49 cents. The facts are, however, that the customs duties were $15,261,000 in 1875; that they were $23,742,000 in 1889; that they have therefore increased by $8,481,000. It is also to be borne in mind that after 1875, under Reform Government, the taxes, instead of increasing, were diminished. In each of the years 1876, 1877 and 1878 they were less than $13,000,000; to-day they are between $10,000,000 and $11,000,000 more than the average of those years. These are facts about which there is no doubt. On the other hand all this fancy figuring about population, percentage and average is a delusion and a snare. In the first place the Tory writers are merely guessing at the population of 1875 and 1889. No census was taken except in 1871 and 1881. In the second place, to divide the taxation by the population gives no adequate idea of the burden of taxation. Suppose the present population of Canada is five millions. That sum includes not only women and children, but a large number of men who do not earn their living but live upon the earnings of others. Among these are not merely tramps, paupers, sick and infirm men, but many gentlemen who move in good society and are, in the common phrase, "respected by all who know them," but who somehow contrive to live without doing any work. It is a fallacy to speak of such persons paying Federal taxes. They may "consume" dutiable goods, but somebody else must work in order that they may "consume," and that somebody in the end pays for all that the non-workers eat and drink and wear, including the Federal taxes thereon. It is quite certain that the number of persons who earn money by working for it, and who therefore pay all the taxes, is less than a million, and that the yearly burden of the customs taxation upon each of them is $24.—Globe.

The First Orange Lodge.

To thoroughly understand the events which led to the formation of the first Orange lodge, it is necessary to go back as far as 1784, on July 4th of which year a quarrel arose between two residents of Market-hill, county Armagh, Ireland. Each was soon aided by a large body of friends, and so bitterly did each party hate the other that numerous encounters took place between them. Eventually they developed into religious parties—Catholic and Presbyterian—and were distinguished as "Defenders" and "Peep-o-Day Boys," the latter being so named because they usually visited the dwellings of the Defenders at daybreak in search of arms. On September 21st, 1795, a battle was fought between the two factions at Diamond, a hamlet in county Armagh, and a number of the Defenders were killed. To commemorate the conflict and defend themselves against the Roman Catholics, the Protestants formed the first Orange lodge immediately after the battle. The name of Orangemen had already been in existence some time, but this was the first lodge that was established by the party.—Exchange.

Boston Beauties Who Have Organized Themselves—They are Odd Ladies, But They're Not All Old Ladies.

BOSTON, June 28.—Massachusetts women are just now developing an unusual craze for the mysteries of the lodge room, with its medley of grips and signs and its glittering display of regalia, and the one order which seems to have caught the popular feminine fancy is the United Order of Independent Odd Ladies. It is a Boston institution, so far as its origin is concerned, and the great mass of its members live in or near the Hub, but its influence is spreading rapidly in all directions, and new lodges are starting up like mushrooms all over the State. The boom is also felt in other New England States, and the Government officers whose duty it is to care for the infant lodges have their hands full.

These women do not belong to the vast army of old maids. Nearly all are married women. The have homes of their own, and children, too—most of them. They are good mothers and first-class managers, and that probably accounts for the flourishing condition of the infant lodges.

The order was founded forty-five years ago by six married women whose husbands were leading members of the I.O.O.F. The prime mover was Mrs. Prudence M. Irwin, of East Boston. She attended a public installation of officers of Maverick Lodge, I.O.O.F., and within a year she had convinced five others that a secret order was as good for women as for men. These six instituted Amity Lodge No. 1, U.O. of I.O.L. of East Boston. There are now twenty-two lodges, with a membership of about 1,600.

There are 1,600 women in Massachusetts who know how to keep secrets, all statements to the contrary notwithstanding.

The constitution says:—"Any acceptable white lady wishing to join a subordinate lodge must be a believer in a Supreme Being and of Protestant faith and temperate habits. She shall not be under 18 nor over 60 years of age, and shall be of respectable standing in society, having some known means of support and exempt from all infirmities which would prevent her from gaining a livelihood."

These conditions confront every woman who knocks for admission to the order, and many are annually turned away because they cannot comply with the regulations.

It is an independent order, as the name implies. It is not a branch of any other society. One of the officials thus summed up the virtues and purposes of the order: "Our object is to associate members together for the purposes of mutual relief and fortify against the trials and difficulties which attach to sickness, distress, and death, so far as they may be mitigated by sympathy and pecuniary assistance and to care for the orphan children of deceased sisters and see that they are properly educated; to elevate its members to a higher and nobler life, and inoculate the principles of love, union and charity."

It was the purpose of the founders of the order to make it of practical benefit to its members, and there are instances innumerable in which Odd Ladyship proved of inestimable value. The order does just what it promises to do, and a vast amount of suffering has been alleviated. Every member knows that, no matter what her distress may be, she will not be left alone. If she is sick and needs watchers they will be provided. If she is unable to provide herself with medical treatment and medicines, her wants will be attended to, and in such a way as not to offend the most sensitive nature. If the member is dying she will be relieved of anxiety as to the that the order will provide homes and kind protection to her little ones, for she will know guardians for them.

The applicant must advance $2 before her request for admission is acted upon. If she is accepted as a new member the money is retained, and more is needed to acquire full membership. If her application is refused the money is refunded. The new member, after receiving notice of her election, must present herself for the dreaded initiation ceremonies within three months, else she will forfeit the $2, and will have to begin all over again. If everything goes well the candidate is invited to inspect the goat, and, if her courage holds out she is put through the customary course of agonies, and emerges a full-fledged Odd Lady. A white regalia is placed over her shoulders, and she takes a seat in the lodge room. But she is not eligible for office until she has taken the second and third degrees. There are grips, passwords, regalia and expenses for each degree. After the mysteries of the third degree have been solved, the the candidate is ready for anything. She wears a rosette of red and blue, and enjoys the trepidation of others.

The main feature of Odd Ladyship is the benevolent and relief work contemplated by the members. That work comes under two departments. There is a relief association which has a membership of 500, and which pays $250 to the beneficiary of a deceased sister. Any Odd Lady may join that association.

In connection with this department there is also a "floral fund." This has been established for the purpose of providing medicine or flowers or medical attendance. There are no direct assessments for the replenishing of this fund, but it is never exhausted. At nearly every meeting some member brings some article which is put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder. The money thus obtained is put in this fund.

The Odd Ladies believe in the old-fashioned sewing circle, and on occasions the lodge room is transformed into a big sewing room, and then the needles and tongues fly in unison. Sometimes there is a supper in the evening prepared by the ladies and then their liege lords come in and help them eat up the nice things from the culinary department. The pretty gumwrapper and articles of fancy work and useful articles which their fingers and needles and thread have fashioned are laid aside until there is a sufficient quantity, and then there is a public sale. These sales are always successful from a financial standpoint, and the money goes into the relief fund.

A RECTOR'S DOWNFALL.

Attempted to Drown Grief in Drink—A Sensational Incident Recalled.

LINCOLN, Ill., July 12.—A sensation was created yesterday when it became known that Rev. Oliver J. Booth, rector of Trinity Epis opal Church, one of the wealthy and fashionable congregations of this section, had been removed by friends to an hospital in Chicago to recover from the effects of liquor. The clergyman went to Chicago recently to effect a reconciliation with his wife, who had refused to live with him. His mission was futile and he returned to this city in a nervous and unstrung condition.

Morose and melancholy over the loss of his wife's love, the unfortunate rector began to drown his sorrow in deep potations. Close to his lodging house was a saloon, to which he paid frequent visits every day. He bought liquor by the quart and consumed it in the solitude of his room. When the facts became known the bishop of the diocese demanded Mr. Booth's resignation. The rector refused to resign, and only when served with papers making him defendant in a divorce suit brought in Cook County by his wife did he obey his superior. By direction of the bishop he was sent to an Episcopal retreat in Chicago, where he now is. Mr. Booth is a native of St. Catharines, Ont.

BUFFALO, July 12.—Mr. Booth was formerly rector of Ascension Church, Buffalo, which position he assumed on the death of Rev. J. M. Henderson. Within a year after his coming here, or on Jan. 4, 1887, he journeyed to St. Catharines, Ont., his old home. On the train was Gen. Scoy Smith of that city. The General approached the minister, a row followed and the General threatened to shoot. He was interrupted in the act by a brakeman who took away his revolver.

The General accused Mr. Booth with undue intimacy with his wife and claimed that he had written to his wife that he would meet her. Mr. Booth denied this, saying that he was on his way to St. Catharines to bring home his wife and children who had visited their old home during the holidays, and also to settle some affairs of his wife's estate.

A partial lull followed this tresse, but other acts on the part of the minister were alleged, ending finally in the retirement of Mr. Booth from this city and his pastoral charge.

Was Gibbings Drowned?

GODERICH, July 13.—Thomas Gibbings, a well-known resident of Clinton, was reported drowned last week. Gibbings came to Goderich on Dominion Day ostensibly to visit friends who reside here. On a stump near the International salt-block was found his coat, and close to that his hat was picked up, but no trace of Gibbings could be found. Near the pier was an old scow in which some surmised he had been rowing and had fallen out, but there was nothing further to bear out this theory. Some time was spent "dragging" the vicinity of the supposed accident, but that was soon given up, and the theory of suicide or drowned by accident was abandoned. It is now believed that Gibbings has gone to parts unknown, and that the placing of the hat and coat at the place named was with the design of giving an air of death by drowning to his disappearance. It has been ascertained that on the day of his disappearance he purchased a new suit of clothes here, and that he enjoyed the luxury of a clean shave and hair cut. It is also stated that he took train from Goderich the same day.

The Pan-American Railway.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., July 12.—The first step towards the great Pan-American Railway from North to South America was taken here to-day. Ground was broken for the Corpus Christi and South American Railway. The first division is 150 miles long and extends from the Rio Grande to Corpus Christi, at which point it connects with the railway system of the United States. The Mexican and United States authorities participated and a national salute was fired across the Rio Grande.

A Free Trip to Europe.

Our Story.

A GAME OF HEARTS.

Ella as reminding herself of this, with some satisfaction, as she sat alone by the fire in the salon one morning, leaning her fair head thoughtfully upon her hand. How is it, that suddenly she finds it necessary to remind herself of her unapproachable height? She, to whom it has always been so clearly self-evident a truth? Ah, the old castle has seen strange things in these latter days. Through the stern, gray escutcheoned walls scarcely the rays of the sun itself have made their way during all these hundreds of years, and now, all at once, a beautiful, joyous, light-winged butterfly has found entrance, flutters about undaunted by all the high-born splendor, and with its restless, gleaming wings seems capable—the girl's heart gives a quick throb—of soaring to any inaccessible height!

To drop metaphor, thanks to Hugo's love of ease, the castle has a new inmate. In his mother's will he found some suggestions as to agricultural improvements, which were a weight upon his mind, because he could not see how they were to be carried out as she wished. Adjoining the park was a tract of land, a part of the estate, which had been sold years before, and after passing from one hand to another had finally been bought back by the Grafin, having lapsed into the condition of a wilderness. Her pet plan had been to restore these overgrown meadows and dilapidated buildings to their former state; nay, more, to bring them and the whole property to the highest point of prosperity. It was clear that these radical changes could not be accomplished without constant personal supervision, as well as sharp scrutiny into the circumstances of the poor cottagers (many of whom professed themselves almost at starvation point) and perhaps a wholesale ejection of those who either could not or would not pay their rent. For the former, Hugo was too self-indulgent; for the latter, too merciful. Therefore it was with no small sense of relief that through an accidental meeting with an old friend he found himself able to solve the difficulty by securing competent assistance in the work, and at the same time an agreeable addition to the household circle at the castle.

Erich Gruter's father had been for many years the family physician of the Hochstettens, but late in life was siezed with a passion for traveling, and had died in a foreign land. Erich, his only child, had grown up utterly uncontrolled, a handsome, careless, genial young fellow, who had tried everything and been steadfast to nothing. He left the gymnasium for the sea, the sea for the stage, the stage for an agricultural life. Now the wave of chance had tossed again upon the quiet shore, from which long ago, he had eagerly plunged, to test the strength of his stalwart arms and broad chest and tameless spirit in the glittering, heaving, alluring stream of life. In agriculture, his latest fancy, he had distinguished himself as in whatever else he had turned to, and Hugo heard on all sides glowing accounts of his successes—the only drawback was, that no one could venture to inquire of Gruter whether he would persevere and finish what he undertook. But Hugo saw that in one trait of his old friend's boyhood he was unchanged, and that as long as any enterprise was new and interesting, he would throw himself heart and soul into it accomplishing more than ten ordinary men in the same space of time. Trusting in this, the young Graf asked Erich to assist him in the redemption of the waste land, and other improvements upon the estate, cordially urging him to make his home at the castle while he was engaged in the work.

With his usual impulsiveness Erich agreed to the proposal, and soon he and his belongings were ensconced in the tower-room, with a magnificent view of the fine stretch of woodland, behind which lay the scene of his labors. There had been a little conflict about his entrance into the family circle, of which, happily, he was quite unconscious. When Hugo spoke of his coming among them the countess looked up with some surprise from her lace work.

"Do you mean that he is to take his meal with us?" she asked, drawing her black brows together.

"Certainly!" replied Hugo, decidedly. "He is the son of our old family physician, you remember; and a more cultivated, interesting man would be hard to find."

"Still, for the time being, he is in your service," urged the countess; "think of it, Hugo—you would not offer your inspector a seat at your table"

"I most assuredly would not have offered Gruter any situation which would be incompatible with his coming to my own dinner table," said Hugo, in a firm tone, opening his newspaper by the way of ending the discussion. "But," he went on, after a moments silence "we have not heard what Ella has to say on the question," and he turned somewhat anxiously to the young girl.

Ella raised her head.

"If it is a matter of perfect indifference to me whether you bring one of your men to the table or not. Besides, I think it would be most unbecoming in us, your guests, to comment on anything our host chooses to do."

Hugo shrugged his shoulders and silently took refuge again in his paper. The matter was not referred to again, and at dinner there was a surprise for the ladies. They had expected to see an awkward, uncomfortable man, so overawed by their presence that the truest kindness would consist in ignoring him altogether. Instead, there bowed with easy grace, upon presentation, a tall, manly figure, with a well set blonde head held decidedly high. Not a shade of embarrassment was to be seen upon the handsome bronzed features, and the expression of cool indifference did not change even when the quick hazel eyes swept with quiet observance over Ella's face. He took his place and his full share in the conversation. Ella forced herself to appear inattentive, but felt strangely spellbound as his bright, vivid words brought before them many a varied scene of travel or adventure and it was hard to resist the contagion, when at some humorous recollection the merry laugh would ring out like a boy's, almost too unrestrainedly for the circle in which it was heard. The meal passed quickly, and all were sorry, whether they acknowledged it to themselves or not, when Gruter excused himself as soon as they rose from the table, saying that he must go to make acquaintance with his new surroundings. He had not addressed one remark directly to Ella, and she was triumphant at having so clearly shown him the great gulf between them. Still, as she stood at the window and saw him spring upon one of Hugo's horses and gallop off, she felt a little piqued. He must have seen her there, yet the straw hat was not lifted, and he vanished in the distance without even one backward glance!

"Well, what do you think of Gruter, aunt?" asked Hugo, turning to the countess, as they entered the salon.

"Pardon me, dear Hugo, I don't wish to offend you, but I should say—an adventurer."

"And you, Ella?"

"I agree with mamma, but he knows how to talk."

Gruter's arrival at Hochstetten came just at a time that might be called perilous for Ella. She was fighting with the chief foe of her pleasure-loving nature, ennui, which was steadily gaining ground. As day after day she sat with her embroidery at the window looking out upon the wood-road she had longed from the bottom of her heart to see something or somebody come up that road—somebody besides her gentle Hugo, with his steady figure and calm, dignified days, every line and employment of which were so familiar to her that she learned never to have seen anything else. And now? Her longing had been realized—the prince had come indeed, to wake the princess from her enchanted slumber, and take her hand to lead her into a far-off beautiful kingdom—but every day now she listens for a quick, firm step, coming nearer, nearer, for light hearted snatches of song, for the deft whistle catching up and echoing the notes of the birds in the branches above his head. Ella listens, yet gladly would she forget his very existence, forget that a human life is being lived near her, side by side with her, a life so utterly remote from her own, and yet so near, so near!

Erich Gruter was not one of those men who drop noiselessly into a household making no ripple in its current, no eddy in its flow. Before he had been there three days the whole house was occupied with him; the servants, from Hugo's white-haired butler to the lowest maid in the kitchen, would have gone through fire and water for him, the stable men gloried in his reckless daring and mastery over their wildest horses, the men working under his directions did wonders, delighting in his fashion of giving orders with a jest or a merry word. Even the dogs fell under his dominion, and every tail would wag as soon as he entered the court yard. For everything and for all a bright look and a kind word—for all, that is, except the two ladies of the castle.

Deep under Erich Gruter's light-hearted gipsy-nature, lay a sensitive pride, a high-spirited revolt against condescension or haughty treatment; and as intensely as he could feel anything, did he now feel a desire to be avenged on the proud fair girl who upon their first meeting, had looked at him with her cold, clear glances of disdain. He was quite unconscious of the fact that, like all others who came near him, she was beginning to feel the spell of his magnetism, and he let her alone altogether—a proceeding most novel and puzzling to Ella who was accustomed to see no man keep cool possession of his head or heart in her presence. She was provoked into resolving that he should not be the one exception to the universal law far beneath her as he was, he should not leave the castle without learning that his armor of proof could be pierced, and that his light heart could love. Erich had no idea of this design, he did not dream that the haughty maiden could stoop to conceive it, and in this unconsciousness lay her great advantage.

While the two young hearts were burning—the one for vengeance, the other for conquest—there was yet no outward sign. Erich, battling against a storm of rain in the forest with Hugo, in the ardor of the chase forgot both the cold in the autumn air and the cold in the heart of the proud beauty, while she, sitting lonely by her fireside, heard the rush of the rain, listened for returning footsteps, and forgot nothing! This very morning, at the breakfast table, she had been able to show her disdainful indifference to the intruder into her home and her thoughts. He had been relating some stirring adventure, glowing and eager in the narration, his eyes unconsciously sought hers—she had breathlessly followed his story, but as he turned, her sole response was a careless request for a glass of water. If he was angry with himself for having involuntarily claimed her attention, he did not allow it to be seen, but with his usual quiet courtesy silently filled her glass. Was he then above scorn? Had he, indeed, a charm against everything, as the country folk asserted: "No devil can get at him: he conquers anything!" Could he conquer all, truly, with his bright, proud face and his light-hearted laughter?

Life Insurance Policy Holders
SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large fraternity in this country of life-insurance policy-holders, scattered by necessity or impulse, during the past years, has gradually augmented the circulation of numerous tracts. By application and entreaties an indebtedness of $2,700,812 in the amount of lapsed policies accrued to Canadian companies during a period when American companies doing business in this country showed a decrease on the holding of $313,304, could not fail to excite comment; so that the figures have been eagerly scanned to discover how such a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown to readers here by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Canada Life	$40,694,276	3.07
Confederation	17,874,688	5.21
Ontario Mutual	13,971,699	10.39
Federal	10,688,987	10.25
Sun Life	11,676,547	10.26
North American	8,676,620	10.69
Temperance and General	3,694,572	17.84
Citizens'	2,067,998	23.15
Manufacturers' Life	5,733,150	30.12
London Life	1 644 226	30 61

From this table we can see that while such companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have actually decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the younger companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.78 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker one perishes most, perforce, withers the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. That so large a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should entirely abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of clever management and attractive methods, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evident from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customary in the long run, and that then their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

Hotel Change.

Mr. Wm. Leahy, late of the Belmoral hotel, has purchased the hotel of Mr. Leon Dion, Lakefield, and will take prompt possession. "Billy's" many friends in town will wish him success, and make it a point to stop at the Leahy House when they visit Lakefield.

Workingmen's Building Society.

There was a very successful meeting of the Peterborough Workingmen's Building and Saving's Society last night. It was the first meeting of the new series, and there was a large addition to the membership. About $300 was paid into the funds of the society. All the funds to the credit of the society—a large amount—is loaned to members on first mortgages.

A Pleasant Reminder.

Masonic Grand Lodge.

The various bodies in connection with the Masonic order in Canada are holding their annual meetings in Kingston this week. The Board of General Purposes met Monday, the Preceptory to-day, the Grand Lodge will be in session Wednesday and Thursday, and the Royal Arch Chapter on Friday. Messrs. R. H. D. Hall, S. Shortly and Chas. Cameron of Mount Preceptory, No. 12, are the appointed delegates to the Preceptory meeting; Messrs. Wm. Martin and E. A. Peel represent Peterborough and Ontario lodges at the Grand Lodge meeting; Messrs. E. H. Wood and Chas. Cameron represent the Chapter. Messrs. Peel and Martin went down to Kingston to-day. The other delegates, or at least a few of them, will go down to-morrow.

Oddfellow Celebration.

Kingston will have a big Oddfellow's demonstration July 22, 23 and 24. It will probably be the biggest affair of the kind since the Peterborough demonstration in 1867. Oddfellows and Canteens are expected to be present from Central Canada and northern New York, and the annual meeting of the Grand Encampment will also take place at the same time. The Peterborough Canton intended taking part, but last night decided to remain away. It is said the Kingston committee of management is largely responsible for the withdrawal of the Peterborough Canton. However, their action may yet be re-considered. Col. Lauder, of Belleville, commanding the Second Regiment of Peterboro Militia, is in town to-day bearing a special invitation from Belleville Canton for the Peterborough corps to be their guests during the demonstration, and go down to Kingston by steamer with the Bay City chevaliers. It is probable the invitation will be accepted. Dr. Bell, Grand Master, will attend the demonstration in his official capacity.

Two Drowning Accidents.

The Nine-Year-Old Son of Mr. H. B. Kidd Finds a Watery Grave—A Brother of Mrs. L. Seward Drowned.

About ten o'clock this morning Mr. H. B. Kidd, while attending to business at his store, was shocked by the startling intelligence that his son Everett had been drowned. The tidings were brought by his other son Howard, who had been the last to see Master Everett in life, and the only witness of his death struggles. It seems that the two boys went fishing this morning after breakfast, and "tried their luck" at the foot of the ball-race where it enters the river behind the Dobson Co.'s new mill. After a time Howard left the place where they were both seated and went into the lumber yard to get a small slab stick. Happening to look out towards the river a few minutes later he saw his younger brother floating down the rapid stream, and struggling to keep himself afloat. He had heard no cries and it was by the merest accident that he observed his brother. Howard, who is able to swim, bravely plunged in to the rescue, and succeeded in getting hold of Everett, who was being carried down within a few feet of the shore. But Howard, who is only eleven years old, was unequal to the task of landing a boy, almost as big as himself, in the face of a strong current, and hampered as he was by his wet clothing. In a few moments, both sank under water, and Everett slipped from his grasp and was carried out of sight and beyond his reach. Howard made his way to shore, and standing on the boom watched anxiously for the re-appearance of his brother. Twenty feet away and being rapidly whirled down stream Everett's uplifted hands rose from the water for a moment, then disappeared and were not again seen in life. Howard, alarmed and distracted, immediately ran up town to his father, who hastened to the scene of the accident and assisted by a dozen or more willing hands, Messrs. Thos. York, J. Hannah, E. Roy and others, began the search for the body. The stream runs very fast at this place, the dam and slide not being far below, while the side of the river is filled with logs. All these circumstances militated against the success of the search, and it was not till about twenty minutes to twelve o'clock that the body was recovered by a young man in a boat, who handled a pike pole. Just previous to this it was thought best, if possible, to reduce the water by raising the stop-logs, and Mr. Mathers, of the flour mill, generously consented to the cutting off of his water-supply, and consequent stopping of his mill. Before these steps were taken, however, the body was found.

It cannot be definitely ascertained how young Everett fell into the water. Howard set his pole before leaving the fishing ground, and, after the accident, the other rod was also found lying loosely on the ground close beside it. It is inferred from this that Everett also rose to move about, laying his fishing-pole down temporarily, and slipped into the water. Once in, there was no chance of getting out alone, as the swift current at once carried him out of reach of the shore. The boy was some nine years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Kidd and the other members of the family will be deeply sympathized with in the sad affliction which has fallen upon them.

THE DROWNING SEASON.

In yesterday's despatches is recorded the death by drowning in the Welland canal, at St. Catharines, of a lad named Elvington. The correct name is Kimpton, and the unfortunate young man is a brother of Mrs. L. Seward, whose many friends in town will sympathize with her in her bereavement.

Mr. T. Fitzgerald has received, ready for delivery, 17 carloads of the 12,000 tons of coal he has ordered for his patrons. This supply includes coal of all kinds, soft, hard, nut, stove, etc., each as is suited to every requirement of industrial use. All of the first-class quality coal delivered free to any part of the town or Ashburnham. Now is the time to leave orders. The lowest living rates. Non-advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

Omemee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The crops are looking splendid. Haying has begun.

The Omemee brass band, 19 strong, in new uniforms. The whole presented a very imposing appearance, and being acknowledged to be by far the most attractive turn-out at Fenelon Falls. The O.Y.B.'s, in particular, were in excellent shape, and the members of Scrutor's L.O.L., of east Emily, all appeared in black silk hats. Every one acknowledged Emily Orangemen creditable in every respect.

Omemee is going to be rebuilt again.

The Owens pump, manufactured in Peterborough, is fast gaining popularity in this district.

Election excitement has all disappeared and people, as a general thing, are satisfied with the results.

Living Too Fast.

Consciences Carry too Much Steam, and Then Tie Down the Safety Valve—As a Consequence There are Blasphemers Everywhere and We are a Short Lived Race.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

Canadians glory in being fast workers. They are not only fast in work, but in eating, playing, dancing, everything. Everywhere it is one continued rush. What is the result? What is always the result when there is too much steam and the safety valve is tied down? An explosion that wrecks and destroys. And this is just the result of the over work and over-worry so prevalent in Canada and in the United States to-day. The annual report of the New York Board of Charities shows this in a most alarming and convincing manner, for it makes the startling assertion that "The number of insane persons in the state has increased 62 per cent during the past nine years, and there is now one insane person to every three hundred inhabitants."

No disease of the body should cause as much alarm as that which destroys the reason but allows the body to live on. And this is the end and towards which chest headache, dizziness, weak stomach, loss of appetite, and poor sleep inevitably tend. Our hard working men and women exhaust too quickly, grow old too fast, die too soon. It is for such as these, and indeed for all weak, nervous, and exhausted people that Pierce's Celery Compound comes as a positive restorer. It is a scientific medicine, the providential discovery of an eminent physician, and has tissue building, nerve strengthening, and brain restoring properties that are possessed by no other medicine. At this season of the year nearly everybody will be greatly benefitted by its use. Brain workers will think quicker, reason deeper, and devise more brilliant plans; mechanics will find their muscles stronger, their hands and nerves steadier, and their step brisker; and to all it will impart that vitality which successfully resists spring disease and insures health and happiness.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

TORONTO, July 15.—A quiet trade is being done in eggs at unchanged prices, 12c to 13½c. Butter is quoted at 12c to 14c with an occasional extra tub at 15c. Pork is quiet at $6 to $6.25. Baled hay is dull and unchanged at $10 to $10.50 for choice and no demand for any other.

White wheat is quoted at 97c on the North'n'n, spring at 95c on the Midland, goose at 80c on the Canadian Pacific west. Oats are quiet, mixed at 31½c. Peas are 61½c on the Northern, 62½c on the Midland.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports: Floating cargoes—Wheat, strong; corn, firm. Cargoes on passage—Wheat and corn quiet and firm. Mark Lane—Wheat, quiet and firm, turn dearer; spot mixed American corn, 18s, was 17s 3d; straight Minneapolis flour 26s, was 25s 6d; good cargoes No. 1 Cal. wheat off coast 38s, was 37s 9d; ditto Australian off coast 38s, was 37s 9d; present and following month 37s 9d, was 37s 6d; ditto Chilian off coast 36s 6d, was 36s; present and following month, 36s, was 35s 6d; ditto Walla off coast 35s 6d, was 36s 6d; ditto mixed American corn off coast 18s 6d, was 18s 6d; present and following month 18s 3d, was 18s. London good shipping—No. 1 Cal. wheat, prompt, 37s 6d, was 37s 6d; present and following month 38s, was 37s 9d. Weather in England fair, with showers. French country markets strong. Liverpool—Spot wheat, not much demand; corn, moderate demand.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Liverpool reports: Wheat firm, demand poor, holders offer sparingly. Corn quiet and steady, demand poor. Spring wheat 7s 2d to 7s 2½d, red winter 7s 1d to 7s 1½d, No. 1 Cal. 7s 3½d to 7s 4d. Peas 5s 6½d, pork 52s 3d, lard 30s 3d, bacon, light, clear and heavy 29s, light 29s 6d, short clear 28s, tallow 24s 3d, cheese, white and colored 43s.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Buffalo reports: There was quite a free offering of cheese but buyers evinced no anxiety to take hold, and only two of the combinations represented sold at the current prices, viz.: 1900 boxes each of Marshfield and Cloverfield at 8 cents, Springville and Neff sold nothing, asking 8¼ and will consign to New York.

Little Falls reports: There has been a sharp difference between white and colored cheese, the former has commanded fully ¼ cent more than the latter and prices all around are about ¼c off from those of last week. There is a noticeable shrinkage in the production, but as to the extent of the shrinkage opinions vary, some asserting that it is very large, while others who have just as good opportunities are claiming that it is not greater than other seasons. Transactions: Three lots at 7c, 37 lots at 7⅞c, 15 lots at 7¾c, 11 lots commission, total 9262 boxes. Sales of farm dairy cheese amount to 1231 boxes at 7 to 7½c, with the bulk at 7⅜c and very little at the top price. Creamery butter sold comprised 35 packages at 16 cents and 16 packages of farm dairy butter at 15 to 17c.

Utica reports: The cheese market was dull and depressed. It was a foregone conclusion from the opening of the market that prices would rule lower. There was a drop of ¾c all around. The outlook is so uncertain that salesmen generally were disposed to let their offerings go. Transactions: 5 lots 500 boxes, at 7¾c; 115 lots 4948 boxes, at 7¾c; 18 lots 1831 boxes, at 7¼c; 43 lots 3868 boxes, at 7⅝c; 14 lots 1458 boxes, at 7¾; 14 lots 1197 boxes, on commission. Total 209 lots 18,805 boxes; ruling price 7¾c. Transactions same date last year aggregated 19,976 boxes; ruling price 8c.

IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

The San Salvador Rebellion—War with Guatemala Imminent.

LA LIBERTAD, San Salvador, July 15.—The Government has issued a proclamation declaring the country in a state of siege. Passports will be required to travel from one town to another. War is imminent with Guatemala. Nearly 20,000 men are stationed along the frontier on this side.

A Missing Schooner.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 15.—The fishing schooner William Rice, which sailed from this port for Iceland in the spring, is missing and it is believed she collided with an iceberg and was lost. She had a crew of 16 men.

Burial of the Fourth Dartmouth Victim.

HALIFAX, July 15.—Peter Boyle, one of the victims of the Dartmouth disaster, was buried yesterday. Deceased was an old Crimean veteran and member of the Royal British Veteran Society and a large concourse walked in the procession.

A DRAMATIC BUCEPHALUS.

[illegible] as a class, are envious of superior horses, considering almost [illegible] to bring equine [illegible] by being superior to them. Among [illegible] is a horse that is to-day the most valuable and [illegible], on account of his [illegible] histrionic [illegible]; to voice a character [illegible] sentiment; to speak the "lines" or [illegible] speech, of a play, except at the final rehearsal, previous [illegible] the [illegible], while the singing of "Shadows" [illegible] during the actual representation of the tragedy, has been known to cause the leading man's black wig to "turn white in a single night," and it can often be considered the overtaking, passing one—[illegible] considered grounds for instant dismissal.

But look in the forte notes of the profession—yet some actors are born lucky, some sublime luck, and some have it thrust upon them.

In this last connection I recall an actress who made a feature in her repertoire of the role of Adelaide, in the now most [illegible] play entitled, "The Seven Keepers of Adelaide of Dresden." The heroine of the aforesaid drama is supposed, during the performance, to make seven miraculous escapes; but the lady annexed one she never played the part without accidentally making seven times or four additional and [illegible] escapes, much to the delight of the "people in front," who certainly got more than their money's worth, as they thought it was all in the play.

She always prided herself on her good luck; it stuck to her with the tenacity of a person plaster, until a certain night when she played Juliet in one of the rural districts. The theatre could not boast of a balcony with which to enhance the architectural beauties of the irate Capulet's mansion, so, on this occasion, the lady as Juliet, was obliged to stand behind the scenes on the bottom of an empty crockery crate, and, with her head out of an upper window, speak words of honeyed love, from that insecure foothold, to the passionate Romeo, who was dodging the Italian bulldog in the garden below. He had appropriately remarked, when scaling the wall, that "he feels at scars that never felt a wound," and Juliet—in order to study the "Probabilities," she having accepted an invitation to a lawn tennis party for the next afternoon—had lifted the window, and was indulging in a little harmless flirtation with her daring lover.

The scene had reached that point when the maiden says: "Stay but a little, I will come again," when a slight crash was heard from within, and Juliet disappeared from the window with alacrity and a faint scream. Romeo "stayed a little;" in fact he stayed a long time, but Juliet did not "come again." At last the curtain was lowered and the lover found his lady-love encased in the crockery crate—its bottom having given in—much in the same manner the hardy swimmers adopt, when preparing to breast the whirlpool rapids of the Niagara River. The lady was finally unpacked in a badly damaged condition, and the play discontinued. Her luck had forsaken her.

The next evening she was billed to play Mazeppa, in the equine drama of that name. In spite of a sprained ankle, she got along very well, until the scene where the young rake is tied on the back of the prancing steed. In this particular scene I was substituted for her. The prancing steed—borrowed for the occasion from a neighboring livery stable—had, in his youth, as I afterwards learned, led a somewhat dissolute life in connection with a circus; in fact, he was a "trick horse," and this was his first appearance on the stage since his retirement, some years before. I was no sooner lashed to his back than he reared on his hind legs and executed a very horsey minuet, much to the amusement of the audience, and perpetual dread to the musicians in the orchestra, the leader having sought temporary safety under the stage.

I was rapidly becoming very seasick, and the stage manager was screaming to me to urge him up the mountain pass, but my circus steed had "sniffed the battle from afar," and was now playing soldier—marching up and down the stage, with me tied on his back head down, he, evidently, intending to show us what horse-acting was in his day, and how much the art had depreciated. The footlights seemed to have brought back to his mind the early triumphs of the ring, and I felt sure that he meant to go through the whole performance.

His next evolution was to roll over—more properly a revolution—which he did, to my discomfort and his own satisfaction, for he afterward bowed to the audience with the grace of a ballet-master.

I now found, to my horror, that he had distended himself by inflating his lungs when the ropes, used for tying me on, had been passed around his body, and that now he was rapidly resuming his normal proportions. The ropes were becoming slack, and I was slipping down his side with the certainty of at last finding myself tied to his stomach, instead of to his back. This actually transpired the next moment; the horse resembled a huge kangaroo carrying its young in its abdominal pocket. At this juncture the prompter, as an experiment, fired a pistol, when, to my surprise and delight, the animal stood still. In a moment, however, he began a series of stage pictures which I at once recognized as "The Arab's Dying Steed." It must have been a very pretty sight from the front of the house, but to me, placed as I was, it was rather trying, as the only objects I could see were the four hoofs of my fellow actor; I found them very often in dangerous proximity to my head.

At last my Bucephalus consented to die, and he gave up the ghost with a violent inward struggle that shook every bone in my body.

When the curtain fell, I was carried to my dressing-room, and the equine hero led to his stable in ignominious silence. The next morning I recognized him as one of the team harnessed to the "bus" that took us to the depot. How had the mighty fallen!

A rural debating society has up for discussion, "Which is the more happy—the boy with his first pair of trowsers or the girl with her first love letter?" The girl, of course. The boy doesn't imprint a dozen burning kisses on his first pair of trousers.

Hon. Thomas Coffin died at Barrington, N.S., Saturday, aged 77. He represented Shelburne county in the Provincial and Federal Parliaments from 1851 to 1879, when he was defeated by Thomas Robertson. Mr. Coffin was receiver-general in Mr. Mackenzie's administration.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

SIXTEEN TONS OF POWDER FIRED BY A COLLISION.

A Cartridge Factory Touched Off and Several Houses Burnt Ten Persons Killed and Many Wounded. Victims Blown to Atoms. A Scene of Desolation.

CINCINNATI, July 15. Sixteen tons of powder in two freight cars exploded at Kings Mills this afternoon, causing the explosion of a cartridge factory, the burning of several houses, the killing of ten persons and the wounding of thirty men and women.

Two empty freight cars were being rolled on to a side track when a car containing 500 kegs of gunpowder was standing. As the cars struck there was a terrific explosion and immediately afterward another car containing 500 kegs of powder exploded, making 1,000 altogether.

William Franks, a boatsman in the service of the Little Miami, was standing on one of the empty cars when the explosion occurred. His body must have been blown to atoms as no trace of it has yet been found. Five others supposed to be employes of the powder company were killed.

The King Powder Company and Peters Cartridge Works have works on both sides of the river along the railway. The explosion occurred on the south side and the destruction was enormous. There are a number of cottages occupied by workmen in the powder factory and situated close to the track. These were shattered by the explosion and their inmates injured. About 15 girls at work in the cartridge factory were crippled by the explosion. The railway station and the freight house belonging to the Little Miami Railway, with the several buildings, were set on fire and totally consumed. The force or weight by the explosion of those 16 tons of powder is dreadful. The track and ties of the railway are fairly torn out of the ground, and a great hole is plowed in the ground.

The Peters cartridge factory was burned to the ground. Nothing but a mass of smoking ruins remains to mark the spot where the building stood.

As soon as the news reached the city about 5 o'clock a relief train was despatched to the scene with Superintendent Peter and a large party of surgeons on board, and relief was afforded the sufferers as soon as possible. The work of searching for the missing and caring for the wounded is now progressing. Most of the dead who were injured at Morrow are South Lebanon, and it is probable that the will be taken to their homes. The names of most of the killed or wounded are as yet obtainable.

Peters cartridge factory was a large building and fully supplied with a great amount of South machinery, both for the manufacture of shells and the loading of shotgun ammunition. A large force of employes was at work at the time the explosion occurred.

News from Kings Mills at 9 o'clock to-night is that 10 dead bodies have been taken from the ruins and 30 are known to be wounded. Private news is made likely to swell the list of casualties than diminish it.

The Cincinnati train de luxe left this evening over the Big Four road at 5 o'clock, being delayed by the accident at Kings station. The passengers say the wrecked district presents a scene of utter desolation and state that in a dwelling shattered by the explosion an unknown woman had her neck broken by the shock and an infant was killed. The reports of 10 killed and 50 or 60 wounded are confirmed.

A messenger of the Adams Express Co. arrived from Kings station at 12 o'clock. He says that at Kings Mills all was in ruins by fire, nothing combustible was burning and people for a great distance around were fighting the fire. He says Peters cartridge factory was a large three story brick building, and it was still burning. The roadmaster of the Little Miami road informed him there were three families living in cottages near the place of the explosion, but six hours search had failed to find any trace of them. He says more than 10 were killed.

The Minnesota Cyclone.

LAKE CITY, Minn., July 15. The lake shore was made to reverberate this morning with the thunder of dynamite, which was brought into requisition with the hope that it would bring to the top the as yet unrecovered bodies to the surface. None, however, were found.

It is reported that Capt Wetherby of the wrecked Seawing has been jailed at Kilsworth at the instance of his friends to protect him from violence at the hands of friends of victims of the disaster. Forty-four funerals of victims took place to-day. The coroner began an inquest this evening, but being advised that no inquest could be held legally on bodies bearing no marks of violence dismissed the jury. The county attorney will have the grand jury investigate the disaster. The body of Rikka Viethe, aged 13, was found this afternoon along the shore below Lake City. This was the only body recovered to-day.

GEN. MIDDLETON'S SUCCESSOR.

It Is Said the Government Will Select Col Charles Robinson.

OTTAWA, July 15. It is said that the Dominion Government will make an effort to satisfy the demand for the appointment of a Canadian commandant of the militia by selecting Col Charles Robinson, a Canadian, now assistant military secretary at the Horse Guards in London, to the position. Col Robinson is a son of the late Chief Justice Sir John Beverley Robinson and a brother of Hon. J. B. Robinson, late lieutenant-governor of Ontario, and of Mr Christopher Robinson, Q.C. He has seen active service in Ashantee, in Zululand and elsewhere, and is a full colonel in the imperial service.

Some time ago the Department of Justice forwarded to Mr Sam Sedson, the warden of the Manitoba penitentiary, a copy of the report of the select committee of the House of Commons on the Middleton-Brunner affair, with a request for an explanation as to his own conduct. Mr Sedson has sent a curt reply stating in effect that he knows nothing whatever about the Brenner furs business.

Stagnation in Railway Business.

CHICAGO, July 15. Most of the western roads complain of stagnation in business, partly due to the recent rate war. A short drop in the Western States does not make the outlook encouraging, and the managers are cutting expenses down. The Northwestern Railway yesterday discharged about 100 men employed in its shops because there was no work for them.

EDMUND YATES' GOSSIP.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S ASSIDUOUS STUDY OF RUSSIAN.

Parnell and the Radicals—The League's Exchequer Drained—Reckless Stories About Mr. Stanley's Presents Refuted—Bismarck's Busy Life.

NEW YORK, July 15. Edmund Yates writes from London: Emperor William has been studying Russian assiduously during the last year in order to be able to converse in that language during his visit to Peterhof next month, instead of hearing nothing but French, as he did in 1888; for neither the Czar nor Czarina speaks German well. The Emperor is to command his Russian regiment of Uhlens dragoons during the manoeuvres at Tsarskoi Selois, and it is essential that he be able to make himself understood in the language of the country. Emperor William is very anxious that there shall be some great naval function at Heligoland when that island is formally transferred to Germany. It is proposed that the British squadron and German squadron meet there, with the Dukes of Edinburgh and of Connaught as representatives of our royal family. The Emperor desires to be in supreme command of the combined squadron during the review.

Parnell's speech on Friday created dismay among the Radical ranks. It was a direct invitation to the chief secretary to come to a friendly arrangement about the land purchase bill. If Parnell and the Government come to terms the measure will pass, and all the fulminations of the Opposition will be so much wasted energy. Sir William Harcourt's countenance was a study during the delivery of Parnell's speech. If ever anger, disgust and disappointment were legibly written on a human face it was on that of the member for Derby. Parnell's moderation was mainly due to the financial state of the league. New Tipperary and the Ponsonby estate cost the league £50,000, and the drain continues. America refuses to contribute to such playthings as New Tipperary, and the league consequently is near the end of business. When his story of the expenditure on the plan of campaign comes to be known it will, I think, be found that the Parnellite lawyers have not done badly. Parnell's speech gave deep offence to his own party. Messrs. Dillon and Healy detest moderation, and the compliments which the chief secretary gave to the speech of Parnell only rendered it more distasteful to the latter's followers. It was for the purpose of showing that they had no sympathy with the moderate course of their leader that Healy got up a violent scene later on in the evening when he buried a discharge of Billingsgate at the chief secretary.

There can be nothing to excuse the exaggeration about the magnificence and splendor of Mrs. Stanley's presents. They were very pretty and very numerous, but were not to be compared with those received by many of the brides who from time to time startle society by the magnificence of their corbeilles. The story that the Baroness Burdette-Coutts had given her £10,000 was a good illustration of the reckless way in which people invent stories. The Stanleys will remain at Melchet court until Stanley is better. His recovery may be slow. The bride and bridegroom took down a hospital nurse, and Dr. Parke was to be kept duly informed as to the condition of the patient and ready to go at a moment's warning.

Prince Bismarck leaves Friedrichsruhe in the course of a few days for his ancestral estate at Schoenaune, near Berlin. Thence, after a brief stay, he goes to his Pomeranian seat at Harzin. He devotes his whole time, not occupied by addresses, to deputations and interviews and to the care of his large landed property, which he manages under the advice of Herr Bleichroed with much intelligence. Prof. Semwenig saw him very recently and, although his general report was satisfactory, he warned his illustrious patient that he might have to insist on a visit to Kissingen or Gastein after all. His projected expedition to England is no longer mentioned.

The Chess Players.

LONDON, July 15. A chess match between Lee and Blackburn began here yesterday. Yesterday's game was drawn. Twenty-three moves were made. To-day's game was won by Blackburn in 17 moves. The winner has to be the one who first scores six wins, drawn games not to count. The match excites considerable interest in London chess circles and a handsome purse has been provided for the winner.

The Pope Takes a Ride.

ROME, July 15. The Pope in a carriage escorted by two soldiers of the Guardia Mobile left the Vatican grounds by way of the Fondamenta gate to-day and drove as far as the Musei gate, where he re-entered the grounds. The sentries at the Mint presented arms as he passed, and the workmen along the road knelt down reverently.

The object of the Pope's drive was to visit the sculptor Aureli and inspect his statue of St. Thomas Aquinas.

Dangerous Insanity.

PARIS, July 15.—The man who fired a revolver outside the Elysee yesterday while President Carnot was passing from his carriage to the palace was examined to-day by physicians and pronounced insane. He said that he fired the shot to attract the President's attention.

The firing of blank cartridged revolvers at or near President Carnot in order to call attention to a personal grievance is becoming frequent. The last case was in May, 1889, at the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the meeting of the States General on May 5, 1789. The President, attended by his military and civil household, left the Elysee Palace shortly after midday in a state coach drawn by four horses to drive to Versailles. As the cortege turned into the Avenue Marigny from the Faubourg St. Honore, a man about 40 years of age suddenly drew a revolver and fired it point-blank at the President. Fortunately it was not loaded. On being taken to the police station the man said he merely wanted to call the President's attention to the injustice of the Minister of Marine towards him "in sending him to Senegal, where he did not want to go." The papers found on him showed that he was a steward on one of the government cruisers and that his name was Nicholas Perrin.

Killed in Dakota.

ORILLIA, July 15.—Word has been received here that Patrick Boyle, son of Peter Boyle of Mara, had been killed. He was a conductor on the Northern Pacific road, but no particulars as to the accident were sent. His body will be brought here for interment.

HOW IT FELL THROUGH.

HARRISON'S "SPIRITED POLICY" IN BEHRING SEA.

The President Proposed to Fire the Popular Heart and Carry the November Elections for His Party Even if It Brought on War.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Herald's Washington special says: On the day the McKinley bill passed the House the President, after a characteristic period of slow, quiet and non-committal deliberation, openly entered upon a spirited foreign policy by which our revenue cutters were to be required to visit, search, seize and confiscate British merchant vessels in Behring Sea. This policy was finally agreed upon at a cabinet meeting May 21. And here is a State secret which has never before even been hinted at. The proceedings of the cabinet were supposed to be a profound secret. The instructions that had been agreed upon to be sent to the commanding officers of the revenue cutters Bear, Rush and Corwin were also to be kept strictly confidential. Mr. Blaine was to proceed with the negotiations with Sir Julian Pauncefote as though we really desired to settle the Behring Sea question by arbitration.

The British Minister was even asked by Mr. Blaine what view his government would probably take of the pending negotiations, and received the frank assurance that they would proceed on the supposition that nothing would be done during the coming sealing season to aggravate the question which made these negotiations a part of his diplomatic mission to the United States. The cutters were to sail and begin their depredations. It was calculated, coolly calculated, that perhaps early in August the first news of such seizures would reach the United States and a month at least would elapse before the real question in controversy would be publicly understood. The probable attitude of Great Britain was anticipated and, right or wrong, the administration was certain the country, regardless of political views, would stand by it to a man.

Here, then, was President Harrison's opportunity. The argument shaped itself in this way: If we, while negotiating with England, continue to seize and confiscate her ships, her Government, press and people will ferment over it, calling our Government and people bad names, and even blustering against them. This will excite our press and people, and in the warfare of words the rights and wrongs of the matter will be lost to sight. Whatever unites and rallies our people against a foreign power must unite and rally them upon the administration then in office. Hence, if we can fan the controversy with England into a popular quarrel and keep it lively, we can carry the Congressional elections, on the pure and simply ground of a patriotic duty to sustain the hands of the Government.

Why did the scheme fall through. Because somebody in the confidence of the President leaked. Perhaps the leak was not altogether without a purpose. That I will not presume to say. But on the morning of May 22 the very literal details of what were intended to be secret, confidential orders to the commander of the Bear, which was about to sail for Behring Sea, were printed thoughout the country.

The base treachery of the administration in its dealings with the British Minister confronted the President and all his cabinet. This story of President Harrison's interference with Mr. Blaine's conduct of the Behring Sea negotiations has been so fully and recently told that there is no need of saying another word about it, except that the facts have been in no wise exaggerated. Three weeks of mortification followed the exposure and betrayal of a plan to fire the popular heart for political ends. Some one had proved a traitor to the President's scheme, and had made it impossible for him now to honorably proceed with it.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

Growth of the Order—Election of Grand Priory Officers.

KINGSTON, July 15.—The reports to the Board of General Purposes of the Masonic Grand Lodge in session here show a substantial growth in the Order during the past year, and the financial condition of the Grand Lodge is, as a consequence, in such a state of health that they will be able to perform their great work of benevolence with added vigor. The Sovereign Grand Priory elected these officers:

Deputy Grand Master—Dr. J. A. Henderson, Q.C., Kingston.
Grand Chancellor—Daniel Spry, Barrie.
Grand Chaplain—Rev. Frederick Bates, Chatham.
Grand Constable—R. J. Craig, Port Hope.
Grand Marshal—W. G. Bell, Winnipeg.
Grand Treasurer—David McLellan, Hamilton.
Grand Registrar—G. W. Lovejoy, Montreal.
Grand Vice-Chancellor—S. A. Sentell, Barrie:
Provincial prince—London district, S. Dafoe, St. Thomas; Kingston district, James Greenfield, Kingston; Quebec district, Joseph Martin, Montreal; Toronto district, N. T. Lyon, Toronto; Manitoba district, T. W. Taylor, Winnipeg; Hamilton district, John Mallory, Hamilton; New Brunswick district, S. F. Mathews, St. John; Nova Scotia district, S. J. Waddell, Truro.

These members of the Grand Council were elected:

R. E. Sir Knights J. Ross Roberson, E. E. Sqappard, E. T. Malone, Toronto; J. S. Dewar, London; Daniel McWatt, Barrie.

The Grand Master appointed these members of Grand Council:

R. E. Sir Knights S. S. Lazier, Belleville; C. F. Lazier, Parkdale; S. F. Griffith, Quebec; Donald Ross, Picton; J. H. Mackay, Berlin.

A MINNEAPOLIS SCORCHER.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 15.—The large seven story warehouse of the Security Warehouse Company on First and Fourth-avenue north owned by Wood & Morse was burned with its contents this afternoon, entailing a loss of nearly $1,000,000. The fire caught upon the second floor and is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. It soon spread to the upper floors, which were filled with agricultural implements, while on the fourth floor were 500 tons of binding twine. The firemen soon got to work, but were hampered by the intense heat, which old firemen say was the greatest they ever came in contact with. Upon the north of the storage house stood a three-story stone building. This was crushed flat by the falling walls, as was a one-story frame building used as a shipping room, in which was stored a quantity of machinery. The burned warehouse was erected in April last, and was used as a storage and transfer warehouse.

Threatened With a Deficit.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Senator Carlisle of Kentucky says that the expenditure of the Government for the current fiscal year will exceed the revenue by $48,000,000.

Foiled.

BROCKVILLE, July 15.—A young Englishman, who for some time past has been employed as cook with a gang of linemen in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company, came into town from the work near Lyn Saturday and celebrated the 12th. Yesterday morning he called at Harding's drug store, and asked Dispensing Clerk Leslie for a supply of laudanum, cheerfully stating that he wanted to end his life. His intentions were to write to his girl first and then take the laudanum. The purchase was not effected, however, and the young man's distorted body has not yet been discovered.

He Was Insane.

HAMILTON, July 15.—James Cleland, whose body was found in the Grand River, was admitted to the Hamilton Hospital on Jan. 23 and discharged on June 14. He was suffering from hysteria, and his mind was apparently affected.

To-day was the hottest of the summer, the thermometer registering 94 in the shade at noon.

While out sailing on the bay this afternoon John Kegan lost his hat overboard and jumped in the water after it. He was taken with cramps and drowned. The body has not yet been recovered.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Farewell Banquet to Gen. Middleton—Dental College Officers.

TORONTO, July 15.—Gen. Sir Fred Middleton was given a farewell banquet last night by about 50 of his friends, the majority of them being of the military. Dr. Goldwin Smith presided.

The Royal College of Dental Surgeons in session here has elected these officers: President, Dr. N. Pearson, Toronto (acclamation); vice-president, Dr. C. N. Snelgrove, Toronto; treasurer, Dr. Spaulding, Toronto; secretary, Dr. Beanks, Barrie; auditors, Dr. Hipple, Stratford, and Dr. Swan, Glencoe. Barrie was selected as the place of the next meeting, which will be held on the second Tuesday of next July.

James Flannigan, aged 35, a sectionman employed on the G.T.R., met with a fatal accident last evening. He was engaged, with a number of others, in ballasting the track at the foot of Simcoe-street when a shunting engine approached. Flannigan delayed too long before stepping off the track and was struck by the engine and knocked down. The wheels passed over his left leg, mutilating it so badly that it merely hung together by a slender thread of flesh. The ambulance was summoned and Flannigan was taken to the Hospital, where the leg was amputated, but the shock was too much and he died from the effects at 7½. Flannigan leaves a wife and four small children. He resided at 178 Sackville-street.

MURDERED MISSIONARY LARGE.

His Widow and Child Pass Through Denver on Their Way to Canada.

DENVER, July 15. Mrs. T. A. Large and child of Tokyo, Japan, arrived in the city yesterday evening. When upon the street she always goes closely veiled for the reason that a deep scar extends the entire length of the left side of her face. Two fingers missing from her left hand indicate that she passed through some terrible encounter. Until three months ago Mrs. Large and her husband were the leading missionaries in Tokyo, Japan, when, as related at the time, two assassins entered their house, killed Mr. Large and left his wife so seriously injured that she has just recovered.

She is now on her way to Toronto to visit relatives and will return to Japan this fall. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Jameson of Hong Kong, China, and J. J. Wright, an English tourist, are in company with Mrs. Large. They will go to England. Mr. Jameson is an attache of the British Consulate at Hong Kong, and will spend several months in the Mother Country upon a leave of absence.

Escaped From Sandwich Jail.

WINDSOR, July 15.—Edgerton R. Sheply, who has been confined in Sandwich jail on a commitment for debt since January last, escaped Saturday. He at one time was a very prominent citizen of Essex county, and knowing Sheriff Ber and the attaches of the jail intimately, he was allowed considerably more freedom than that accorded to other prisoners. In the morning he went out in the yard, and at 7½, when the turnkey went to call him to breakfast, he could not be seen, but a wire ladder over the jail showed how Sheply had escaped. The police and constables were notified, but the only trace of him came from a man who knew him well, and says he saw him in company with another man driving westwards from the fish hatchery. He cannot go to the other side, so it is altogether probable he will be kept in hiding by some of his friends in Essex. Sheply was at one time manager of the Walkerville stores, leaving there for St. Paul, where he embarked in a large commission business and for a time bought for cash. Then he bought on ten days' credit, and at one time purchased goods to the amount of $40,000. He rapidly exchanged these goods for money and skipped to Canada and was arrested at Windsor. Since then he has been kept in jail on the charge of debt and Detective McKee says he could not have been held more than a week longer.

THE CANADIANS BEATEN.

United States Cricketers Win by an Inning and 31 Runs.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15. The International cricket match between Canada and the United States came to a quick conclusion to-day owing to the complete inability of the Hanuck batsmen to cope successfully with the strategic American bowlers. G. S. Lyon was the only man to make a respectable showing. His 27 and 34 were put together in capital style. Lyon's hitting to leg greatly pleased the spectators. Senkler got 17 in the second inning in good form. The other men went in apparently without any confidence.

The trundling of the Americans proved to be too much for the Kanucks, and one of the strongest teams Canada has ever put in the field suffered an innings defeat. To the wonderful bowling of Brown, Baily and Clarke is the collapse of the visitors mainly due. The score:

PHILADELPHIA.
First inning.....269

CANADA.
First inning.....141
Second inning.....97

Transportation in Bond.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—In the Senate today Mr. Cullom offered a resolution which went over till to-morrow directing the Secretary of the Treasury to report to the Senate by what authority merchandise in bond and goods of domestic origin are permitted to be forwarded between the Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States on the Canadian Pacific railway, such merchandise on arrival at Vancouver being there transhipped, and whether or not such transportation and transhipment on foreign territory is consistent with the safety of the revenue; also other facts in that connection.

They Call Him William Cobourg.

STRATFORD, July 15.—A new-born infant was left in the yard of Justice Wilson Saturday night. Who the parents are is a mystery, but there is a well-defined rumor afloat. As the occurrence took place on the 12th in Cobourg-street the people here christened the infant William Cobourg.

The First Electrocution July 21.

ALBANY, July 15.—Governor Hill has received a petition for executive clemency in the case of Chapleau, the murderer confined in Clinton prison under penalty of death. His execution is set down to occur during the week beginning July 21, and unless the Governor interferes he will be the first murderer to be executed by electricity.

Look Out for This Swindle.

ORILLIA, July 15.—Here is another swindle which sharpers are working on farmers in this section. A stranger calls to see a farming-mill. During his conversation and a walk about the farm with the farmer he is sure to see a horse that just suits him, and offers to pay a small sum to secure the bargain. If accepted he asks for a receipt of the money deposited, stating that he will go to the bank and return in a day or two for the animal. Such receipt turns out later in the bank as a note against the farmer.

France's Demands.

PARIS, July 15.—The Temps says that in return for the British protectorate over Zanzibar France demands that England shall expressly recognize France's right to grant exequaturs to foreign consuls in Madagascar and give France liberty of action in the Niger country; also France's right to terminate the Anglo-Tunisian treaty in 1896 and to deal similarly with the Italian-Tunisian treaty. The Temps' story is semi-officially denied.

Struck by a Train.

ST. CATHARINES, July 15.—A young son of Rev. Mr. Mowat, Presbyterian minister of Merritton, was struck by the engine of the Niagara Central train and seriously and probably fatally injured about the head.

ARE WE GROWING BETTER?

We often hear the question discussed—"Is the world growing better?" and get a variety of answers. However, in respect of temperance, or rather, the use of intoxicating drinks, we Canadians, at least, do not seem to be growing any more virtuous. The Confederated provinces consume a great deal more, about fifty times more, of whisky and tobacco, than we did at the time we set up housekeeping. It seems that when we became a nation, we began drinking the health of the Dominion at a great rate. In 1868 we paid to the Inland Revenue fund—levied chiefly on whisky and tobacco, $6,276. In the following year this fund had jumped, thanks probably to our health drinking to the new Dominion, to $30 586; next year this was doubled; the next year was about thirty thousand in excess of the previous one, and the increase went on for five years, till, in 1874, our tax bill for whisky and tobacco amounted to $172,121. Then the people were seized with a spasm of abstinence, which lasted with increasing intensity six years. The revenue dwindled gradually till in 1880 the figures showed $125,699, a decrease of nearly $50,000. But this virtuous condition did not last. The very next year, 1881, the revenue for whisky and tobacco took a jump of nearly $40,000, and the increase, with slight fluctuations, has been going on ever since, till, in this year of grace, 1890, the figures have reached a total of $252,627. Thus, in twenty-five years—from 1865 to 1890—the collections for whisky and tobacco have increased by $247,956, or from $2,669 to $252,627. The following table of the collections for the past twenty-five years will be of interest to the statistically inclined:—

Year.	Revenue Collected.
1866	5,576
1867	30,585
1868	69 966
1869	73,758
1870	101,980
1871	122 483
1872	163,413
1873	169,514
1874	172 121
1875	168,172
1876	148,969
1877	147 641
1878	138 223
1879	137,613
1880	125,699
1881	164,297
1882	175,915
1883	193 164
1884	170 230
1885	165,501
1886	204,921
1887	238 733
1888	205,915
1889	247,797
1890	252,627

Whether this great growth of revenue from whisky is due to our increased consumption of this staple or to the fact that we have left off importing and taken to making our own "poison" is for the political economist to decide. If the thermometer were a little more on its good behaviour this would be a good theme for moralizing, but the subject will have to be laid aside for a more convenient—cooler season.

Mr. J. J. Crowe and his Critics

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you allow me space in your paper to set myself right before the public of the East Riding? It is well known that I took an active part in the recent campaign and was an earnest supporter of Mr. Blezard. On this account I have incurred the hostility of some of these that claim to belong to the Equal Rights party, and, I submit, for no sufficient reason. I am an Orangeman, one who never denies his colours. I have always taken a part in the celebration of the 12th of July, and, for the past dozen years, have always spoken in favour of the principles, which I, and all good Orangemen, profess, at the annual gatherings of the society. I am still an Orangeman, and as staunch a supporter of the principles of civil and religious liberty as any man in the Empire, and just as strong and consistent an Equal Righter as I was last 12th of July (1889). At that time I stated on the platform that I would never support a parliamentary candidate in the East Riding who would not pledge himself to support Equal Rights. I do not want any more equal rights than I would be willing to give to my Roman Catholic fellow citizens. When, at the last election, Mr. Blezard called upon me to solicit my support, the first question I asked him was, would he be willing to pledge himself to support Equal Rights. He answered that he would and that he was an equal rights man, willing to give all classes of the community equal rights, and that he would support no measures that would conflict with such a position. I was satisfied with his assurances on this point, and having the fullest confidence in him on general principles, and, knowing him to be a good, honest Orangeman, and in good standing in the order, I felt justified in giving him my warmest support, which he got throughout the contest. Now, I should like to have Rev. Mr. Hyde show, as he stated at Norwood on Saturday, July 12, on the platform, when I had no chance to reply,—I should like to have him show how I have deserted the platform I advocated a year before on the 12th. I would like Rev. Mr. Hyde to be honest in his statements to the public, and if he had wished to be so on this occasion, he would have told his hearers that, on July 12th, 1889, we were discussing the Orange Incorporation Bill and Jesuit Estates Bill, and there was not a word mentioned about, or a word of reference made to, Hon. Oliver Mowat nor Mr. Blezard on that occasion. Therefore, believing as I did that the Mowat government was and is a true Equal Rights government, and the best government on the face of the earth to-day; and that Mr. Blezard, as a candidate supporting that government, was worthy of my confidence, both by virtue of his past record and his known principles, I felt justified in the position I took in the recent election. I could not consistently desert a brother Orangeman whom I found true the past twelve years, and take up with a candidate in the person of his opponent, who hung up his colours eleven years ago, (if he ever had any colours) for fear of insulting his Roman Catholic supporters in the township of Dummer, of which he was reeve, and who never appeared on an Orange platform till July 12th 1890. When asked why he had neglected to show his colours and stand up for his principles he replied that the "Roman Catholics did not like the Twelfth and he did not want to insult them" by standing up for the principles he now pretends to uphold with so much suspiciously sudden new-born zeal. I should think it was no wonder he couldn't make a speech at Norwood last Saturday, for he must have felt like a fish—say, a sucker—out of water, in attempting to make a speech on a subject he had fought shy of and neglected to study for nearly a dozen years. And it was a man with such a record who had not backbone enough to stand up for the principles of Protestantism, and who only took the field as the candidate of a thinly disguised Tory clique in order to defeat a candidate of what I regard as an equal rights government,—it was such a man I was asked to support in preference to a straightforward out-spoken man like T. Blezard, and because I took my stand on the platform of the principles guaranteed to every Briton at the Boyne Water two hundred years ago, and exercised my civil liberty in supporting whom I honestly believed was the best man to represent West Peterborough, and the most honest exponent of the principles of equal rights, I must be boycotted by some of my brother Orangemen, and denied the right which the meanest subject enjoys, of defending myself before I was condemned. I believe, nay, know that a very large number of my brother Orangemen did not sympathize with this treatment; it was due to some professed equal righters whose prejudices were stronger than their Orangeism.

I will conclude by saying that my worst enemy cannot say that I, J. J. Crowe ever turned down under the rail. I mean what I say, and what I have to say I say to a man's face. I always prefer you think and do as I do, rather than do otherwise. Whatever feelings I may have I am confident and honest in the positions I take. It would only be a pleasure to me to take the platform and discuss the question of equal rights, as connected with my position, with Rev. Mr. Hyde or any other that has the assurance to say that I have acted inconsistently with my profession as an Orangeman. When Orangeism appeals to me on behalf of the true principles it upholds, my support and sympathy can be counted on every time, but when the glorious Society is made the tool of politicking politicians to subvert a good government and defeat an honest and capable representative, I want to be counted out every time.

Yours truly,
J. J. CROWE.

Dummer, July 14th, 1890.

What Thou Writest, Write Right.

Write we know is written right,
When we see it written write;
But when we see it written wright,
We know it is not written right;
For write, to have it written right
Must not be written right or wright,
Nor yet should it be written rite;
But write for so 'tis written right.

We know whereof we write; and claim to be right, when we write regarding the great benefits derived from the use of Lactated Food. Physicians who are progressive and who cling to no rite of old; write us that we are quite right in all we write and say about Lactated Food. A careful analysis of this food has shown that it contains vastly more of the elements of nutrition, and building-up properties than any other known food.

It is the best at all times for invalids; cures dyspepsia, nourishes the aged, increases flow of milk in weak mothers, makes teething easy, gives natural sleep, cures Cholera Infantum; and lastly it is the physician's favorite, and in every respect a "Perfect Food."

Mothers, your great desire is to see your babies look strong and vigorous; you wish them to rest well and happy; you wish to have peace, joy and contentment in your homes, if this be your desire, use this celebrated Lactated Food, no other kind of food will produce these results.

WHITE V. BLACK.

How the Planters Enforce Contracts with Negroes in Louisiana.

MERRIDOUE, La., July 15.—Sunday night 25 laborers from the plantations of A. Heffner near Oakridge, Morehouse parish, whose passage he had paid from North Carolina quit their homes and commenced in the darkness to make their way into Arkansas. They were pursued by a posse of Heffner's friends and this morning were found lying in ambush in a dense thicket. When notified that they were surrounded by men who would do them no harm and only asked their return to their homes they expressed willingness to return, but when the posse went forward to meet them the negroes led by one bold troublemaker opened fire on the posse and for a minute did some wild shooting. The posse returned the fire and five negroes were killed.

The running away of laborers from men who have brought them from North Carolina, their only object being to beat planters out of their passage to Louisiana, has become too common of late.

A Race War in South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, S.C., July 15.—A riot is reported near Kearse, Barnwell county. Three hundred negroes armed with new rifles are said to confront 25 white men. One negro has been killed. Assistance has gone from the neighboring towns.

WEEKLY WAGES.

The New York Law to Be Rigidly Enforced—Provisions of the Act.

ALBANY, July 15.—Factory Inspector Connolly will probably begin to-morrow to take steps toward the enforcement of the law for weekly payment of wages. The law took effect July 1, but Mr. Connolly allowed those affected 14 days in which to comply with its requirements. He will now through the Attorney-General bring action against all employers who have not lived up to the law. He holds that salaried officers are not exempt from the provisions of the law, as it expressly states that every manufacturing, mining or quarrying, lumbering, mercantile, railway, surface, street, electric and elevated railway, except steam surface railways, steamboat, telegraph, telephone and municipal corporations and every incorporated express company and water company shall pay weekly each and every employe engaged in its business the wages earned by such employe to within six days of the date of such payment.

Mr. Connolly will bring actions against all municipalities that refuse to obey the law. He claims that city officers and all employes generally come under the law, excepting, however, mayors and heads of departments who have appointing power.

Failed to Get a Wife.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., July 15.—Georgiana Cocroft, a pretty waitress aged 21, employed in a restaurant here, was arrested to-day on complaint of Deputy United States Marshal J. Flack of Binghampton, N.Y., on the charge of conducting a bogus matrimonial agency. United States Marshal Blaisdell took Georgiana into custody and she was arraigned before Commissioner Douglass. She waived examination and was held in $500 for her appearance in the United States Court of the northern district of New York to be held in Buffalo the third Tuesday in September. She couldn't furnish bail, and by order of Judge Carpenter was taken to Binghamton.

Georgiana's partner, a man named Coon, who lives in Binghamton and claims to be her husband, has also been arrested. The prisoners accuse each other. A ranchman in Montana invested $150 in Georgiana's agency. Failing to secure a wife, as he had been promised, the ranchero complained to the United States authorities.

Our Story.

A GAME OF HEARTS.

The door opened, startling the countess from her slumber and making Ella look up. There they stood, both gentlemen, wet, cold and hungry. She went forward and gave Hugo her hand, with a smile of welcome. What impulse made her offer the same greeting to the tall man by her side? He looked down at her as if he did not comprehend her meaning, raised his hand to push back the dripping hair from his brow, and, with a light "Hugo, we had better make ourselves presentable," turned to go, but not too quickly to see the hot blood flame into Ella's face as she hastily drew back her slighted hand.

"Oh," thought Erich, as he went to his room, "the scorned subordinate may not go his way without being taught that empire follows where she deigns to tread. Oho, my beautiful Ella, we have not been comedians in vain—if a little game is to be played, two can play! Gare a la reine!"

As he said the last words to himself, in a low, concentrated tone, the expression about his lips was stern, almost cruel. He dressed quickly and followed Hugo to the dining room, where a late supper had been prepared for them.

"Gruter is a restless fellow," said Hugo as they joined the ladies in the salon a little later. "I could have stayed longer at the table, but he would not let me. What do you say, Ella, to giving us poor tired hunters a song, as a reward for appreciating your society more than our good supper?"

Ella lingered; was she waiting for his petition to be seconded? Erich spoke not a word, but he looked up with so strangely soft an expression in his eyes that Ella quickly turned her head away and went at once to the piano. The glance perplexed and thrilled her. Was her victory already won? Which must she believe, this silent appeal or her rejected hand? She was not indifferent to the answer to this question; her voice trembled a little as she began to sing. At first she dared not look up; she feared to meet the eyes of the man with whom her conscience whispered she was playing a game which might destroy his peace. Oh, she had often grieved her own prowess, how could she fail here? How changed the proud unyielding man would seem with his laughter hushed and his eye dark with the earnest shadow she had caught there just now! Was the look still in his eyes?

She glanced up. He was bending over the huge stag-hound, playing with him, not hearing her song! She broke off in the middle of the verse and turned to Hugo. He was leaning back in his arm chair, sound asleep, and the countess was nodding. Ella left the piano impatiently.

"You good people asked me to sing, and not a soul is listening!"

"Not a soul is listening!" echoed Erich calmly.

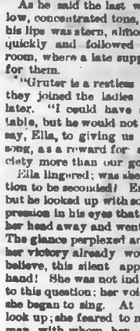
"Well, I don't suppose that you will say that you were listening! Your attention was decidedly more bestowed on Nero's new collar! What in the world do you see in that wretched dog?"

"There is a certain sympathy between us," Erich replied, negligently, "he came here—a vagabond—he will soon be off again. No one knows whence or whither—oh, we are akin to each other, Nero and I! And then he loves me; he has taken an especial fancy to me and nous autres. We masterless creatures are not insensible to friendliness!"

She bit her lip.

"You ought not to speak so of yourself. My cousin says you are rather gifted—why then should you make yourself out a 'vagabond!'"

"You are kind! But are you so sure that I hold my vagabondism a misfortune? We are not all born under vaulted roofs, with silver spoons in our mouths, but when one has tramped all day over rocky ways and wild chasms, and when night comes sits down under a sheltering oak to eat his bit of black bread while the stars shine down on him through the branches—believe me, countess, that bread is good! Not that I hope to make you understand such a taste, but I may make clear to you that I am not degraded by acknowledging my gipsy nature, and at the same time I can quite conceive how bitter it must be to see such a fellow sitting under the eyes of the ancestral portraits. But endure it patiently, I pray you; it will not be long. I am too much at ease here. I cannot bear that. For a little while longer I and my brave boys will dig and catch and make merry, then my master will whistle, the only one I follow, the only one true to me as I to him—Chance—and then my profane presence will no more disturb you! I will drink no more from the porcelain cups with the painted armorial bearings—my hollowed hand is as natural a cup for me. I am afraid I would soon grow solide here—and that would be my death! Good night, countess; may I trouble you to make my excuses to my employer for not waiting until he wakes? I have to go to my wheelbarrows very early in the morning."



II.

FROM this night the intercourse between Ella and Erich was on a different footing. It at first Hugo had been uncomfortable at Ella's either persistently ignoring his friend or seeming to try to make him painfully conscious of her overpowering presence, he had nothing to complain of now in that respect. Evening after evening he was restricted to his aunt's drowsy society, while Ella sat at the piano, singing or playing an accompaniment to the fine tenor she had lately discovered that Erich possessed. If they were not at the piano they were at the chess table. Ella was an apt scholar and Erich a master of this game, as of many other "breadless arts," as he laughingly confessed. So it went on—music, chess, talk—how they did talk! how much they had to say to each other! Some casual remark in the general conversation would start a discussion. Ella would take one side, Erich the other, and then such fireworks of wit, caustic sarcasm and convincing argument; such eagerness in upholding the opinions only perhaps adopted as the combat began! Often Ella had to strike her colors and acknowledge her opponent victor—a totally new experience to her. Her weak mother listened in silence, wondering at her daughter's cleverness and dexterity in fence; while Hugo took no part in the debates beyond an occasional courteous, "The ladies are always right!" or something of the kind, when actually appealed to by his eager, flushed cousin. So, single handed she fought her battles, sending her sharp little darts, which were sure to be caught and sent flying back with unerring aim by Erich's strong hand. But even when she owned herself conquered, her pride did not suffer. A glance from Erich's hazel eyes would mutely pray pardon for his victory, and so strangely sweet was it to Ella to see those proud eyes soften as they turned to her that she often deliberately chose the weaker side of an argument for the sake of being vanquished.

Ella's mother was by no means over this latest caprice of her wilful child. She saw with dismay that the interest seemed daily more absorbing, and to avert the danger of its becoming really serious, ventured on a few timely indirect words.

"Have you heard," she asked in an indifferent tone, while they were both busy with their toilets for the evening, "that Herr Gruter is about to [illegible] neighborhood?"

"How do you mean?" said Ella, turning back her head golden hair, and meeting that of her mother.

"Our housekeeper told me [illegible] has an estate [illegible] Heidhoff, whose [illegible] known and very [illegible]. Herr Gruter [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Civic Holiday.

Already preparations are being made for civic holiday. It has been generally understood that Thursday, August 14th, would be the day—the second Thursday in August on which date the Sons of England have an excursion to Toronto and Niagara Falls, and the C.M.B.A. to Belleville. However, a petition is being circulated and extensively signed praying that August 12th, the 'Prentice Boys' day, be declared civic holiday.

The Forester's Ramble.

Away to the greenwood with the Foresters on Tuesday next, July 22rd. By G. T. R. and steamer to Sturgeon Point a tempting, cool, charming spot, beautiful as Sherwood Forest, the haunts of Robin Hood and his merry men. A delightful day's outing. Enjoyment for all. Every comfort provided. Cheap and rapid, Return fare only 85 cents. Children half price. On the grounds unique athletic sports and the beautiful may pole dance. Don't miss this charming excursion. Tickets with members, at the bookstores and at the station. d

Cemetery Consecration.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, the Star says, will consecrate the new portion of the R.C. cemetery, Asphodel, on Sunday next, 20th. His Lordship will proceed to the cemetery immediately after high mass in Norwood, probably about 11.30 a.m., where the solemn ceremony of consecration will be performed. The lots in the new grounds will then be open for sale. As the consecration of a cemetery is somewhat rare, no doubt many will avail themselves of the opportunity of being present.

Cricket and Baseball.

An eleven of the cricket club goes to Campbellford to-morrow. The team will comprise Messrs. Stratton, Logan, Ray, Attewell, Burnham, Rutherford, Rogers, Scott, Salisbury, W. F. Hamilton and Stocker.

The Campbellford baseball club will play here on Friday. Next Tuesday the home baseball team will probably go to Lindsay, and the following week Lindsay and Hastings play here. The club has also made arrangements to go to Belleville with the C.M.B.A. excursion, August 14th. Every member of the baseball team is required to be on hand for practice this evening.

Sergeants of the 57th.

A written examination for sergeants' certificates was held at the drill shed Tuesday night, Capt. Donaldson, adjutant, presiding. All of those who wrote passed, as follows:—J. H. Metheral, "B" Co.; W. E. McCamus and J. G. Mellor, "C" Co.; H. Foote, 'D" Co.; R. S. Irwin and E. Elcome, "E" Co.; H. E. Bletcher and L. Hall, "F" Co. H. Magood, of "F" Co. won a corporals' certificate. Several of the volunteers who were unable to attend Tuesday night will be examined later. The papers were all good, showing that the non-commissioned officers had devoted much time and study to the work. The sergeants's mess is still in abeyance. Committees reported Tuesday night, but no action was taken in the absence of Sergt.-Major Randle.

Newspaper Courtesy.

The Hastings Star is worthy because the Norwood Register plagiarized an account of a railway accident from its correspondence columns, and the Peterborough papers in republishing credited the paragraph to the Register. The Star is perfectly right in its contention, but it should not mind such a trifling circumstances. Why, the EXAMINER is treated the same way every week by different district papers, and yet no complaint is made. We couldn't afford the time or space. However the principle is a bad one, and there ought to be enough common courtesy among the newspaper fraternity to give credit where credit is due.

St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Foreign Missionary Society.

The members of the above society again urge on the congregation the claims of the Indians on the North-West mission stations, and respectfully solicit contributions towards the box annually sent for their benefit. New and cast-off warm clothing in good condition, such as shirts, stockings, socks, muffl.rs, mitts, hoods and caps; new material—flannel and factory cloth, wincey or woollen goods, as well as factory cotton, prints for dresses and shirts, are particularly appropriate; patch-work pieces of every description, yarn and knitting needles, blankets, comforters and feather pillows. Any of these things will be most thankfully received, and faithfully distributed by the missionary. As the box must be despatched from Peterborough by the first of September, it is desirable that all packages and contributions be forwarded, without delay, to Mr. Walter Wood, caretaker of St. Paul's Church, Murray street, who will kindly receive them. Any person who prefers sending their contributions in money, by handing it to Mr. B. Innes, of Hall, Innes & Co., or to Mrs. E. Innes, will insure its being expended on whatever necessary articles may have been overlooked by these sending goods.—[COM.

Statute Labour Problems Solved.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Allow me space in your valuable paper to ask the following questions: Does the law in regard to Statue Labour compel all persons between the ages of 21 and 60 so perform such labour, or does it apply to those whose names appear on the roll only? Several young men in this vicinity are let off and others are not. Does occupation have anything to do with it, and how long does a person have to reside in a place before he can be asked to do such labour? By answering these questions you will greatly oblige,

Yours, etc.,
FAIR PLAY.

[Every male inhabitant of a township, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty, who is not otherwise assessed, and who is not exempt by law from performing statute labour, is liable to two days of statute labour on the roads and highways in the township, whether his name appears upon the assessment roll or not, unless he produces a certificate of his having performed statute labour, or unless the municipal council has passed a by-law to abolish such statute labour and the performance thereof by all persons within the township.]

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Last evening the board of directors met. Mr. G. J. Early presided. The attendance was good. Reports of the work of the Devotional Committee were presented by Mr. I. Richardson. It was very encouraging, for both the attendance and interest shown at all our services were excellent and results gratifying; showing clearly God was still with us in the work. The general secretary read his report for the past month, which gave praise to Almighty God for the work He had enabled us to do by His holy spirit. All felt we had much to praise the Lord for. Truly "His mercy endureth forever." Our only regret is that our finances are still a source of anxiety, but we are not discouraged, knowing "all things work together for good to those who love God." We are thankful to those who have contributed so far and can assure all who are moved to help us with their means of our grateful thanks and God's blessing. It is God's work and we can and will trust Him who doeth all things well.

The Camp will begin August 3rd on Junipar Island. Each afternoon an hour will be given to Bible Reading, led by an earnest Bible student. We expect friends from Montreal, Toronto, London, Kingston, Ottawa, etc, etc. Rev. W. M. Rogers, London, will also give some of his interesting talks on the Geology and Botany of Stony Lake, and Rev. Edwin Sea, General Secretary, Brooklyn, N. Y., will (D. V) be present. Mr. T. S. Cole and family will go into camp on Saturday, and will hold service on Sabbath evening next.

Camp fire song services will be held each evening, all who desire a good time physically and spiritually should come.

We return thanks to Miss Everett for a handsome cushion for the parlour.

Personal.

Miss Woodgate, of London, Eng., has taken charge of "Hazel Brae." She will make an energetic and capable manageress.

Mrs. Walter Paterson and Miss Annie Gow, have gone for a brief visit to friends in Perth.

Mrs. N. Lush and Mrs. Isaac Richardson left this morning for England. They will sail from Montreal to-morrow morning by steamer Sarnia, of the Dominion Line. Mrs. Lush visits the south of England and the Isle of Wight. Mrs. Richardson will visit the Midland Counties and Ireland. They will return in about three months.

The EXAMINER begs to congratulate Miss Mildred Beck, now of Toronto, in having justified the expectations of her attainment of musical excellence, which her proficiency upon the pianoforte shown by her in Peterborough led her friends and the public to entertain. At the recent examinations at the Toronto Conservatory of Music she took first class honours in music (pianoforte), standing second in the first year class of competitors. Miss Beck's future course as this excellent institution will be watched with interest.

News Nuggets.

—Police Magistrate Dumble picked up a purse at the corner of Hunter and George streets this morning, which he left at McClelland's jewelery store for the owner.

—The Knights of Labor organization of Peterborough, the Hastings Star says, are perfecting their arrangements for the annual summer outing, and the probabilities are that Johnson's Grove in that village will again be selected for their pic-nic.

—Eleven carloads of people, about 500 in all, passed through town this morning from Port Hope en route to Chemong Park. St. Luke's Sunday School excursion to Jubilee Point was also well attended. The Port Hope Methodist excursion party will be in Peterborough from 6.30 to 9 this evening.

A PRINCIPAL APPOINTED.

Mr. Cortes Fessenden, of Napanee, the Successful Applicant.

The School Board Has a Long and Lively Talk Concerning the Collegiate Institute School Grounds—Legal Opinion to be Procured—More Music Wanted in the Schools.

Mayor Stevenson presided at the School Board meeting Tuesday night. There were present Messrs. Kendry, Boucher, Hill, McKee, Ferguson, Hamilton, Bradburn, Corkery, Deane, English, Dumble.

MORE TIME FOR MUSIC.

A communication was read from Mr. J. H. Ketchum, teacher of music in the public schools, asking more time be allowed for the study of that branch of education. At present he teaches three days in each week, half an hour in each room. For the little folks this was enough, but from the second book up he thought one hour necessary. Mr. Ketchum asked that he be given the full time, five days, to do the work in. For this extra work Mr. Ketchum asked an increase of his salary from $400 to $600. He further requested that the Board make it compulsory for each pupil to have a book just as in the other studies. He considered that music should be taught on educational principles. In conclusion Mr. Ketchum claimed a balance of salary due him of $26.67.

Mr. DENNE objected vigorously to making all the pupils study music. Some of them had no music in them, and it could not be drilled into them. For himself, he wouldn't allow his boy to waste time on it, nor would he get any book which Mr. Ketchum recommended be made compulsory.

Mr. DUMBLE said the changes asked by Mr. Ketchum could not be made without consulting the Principals, and on motion the communication was referred to the Committee on Appointments.

On motion of Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Kendry, the sum of $26.67 was ordered to be paid to Mr. Ketchum for salary due.

A VACANCY IN THE SOUTH WARD.

Miss S. McLeod sent in her resignation of her position of the third book class in the South Ward school, and an application was read from Miss M. Sim asking for promotion to Miss McLeod's position. The resignation was accepted and Miss Sim's application was referred to the Committee on Appointments

THE NEW PRINCIPAL.

Mr. Dumble read the following report:—The Committee on Appointments to whom was delegated the duty of selecting a Principal of the Collegiate Institute to recommend to this Board, respectfully submit the name of Cortez Fessenden, M. A., Principal of the Napanee Collegiate Institute. Mr. Fessenden has held his present position for six years, during which time his school has attained a high state of efficiency.

Before submitting this name for the approval of the board, your Committee made most searching enquires, and then submitted the name to the High School Inspectors, who most heartily approve the selection, stating that Mr. Fessenden is a most successful and acceptable Principal. Your Committee have much confidence in submitting Mr. Fessenden's name for your approval.

As to the salary to be paid to Dr. Tilley in consideration of his effective services to our schools, your Committee recommend that he be paid at the rate of $350 a year from January 1st, 1890.

As to the vacancies in the public schools, your Committee recommend the employment of Miss Lough and Miss Lizzie McDonald and ask time for the selection of other teachers, as they have not yet sufficiently considered other applications.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
D. W. DUMBLE,
Chairman.

Mr. DUMBLE said that Mr. Fessenden was most highly recommended, and though several other names were mentioned, they were $1800 and $1700 salaried men, and it was a question if they were worth the extra money to the Board. Mr. Fessenden was to receive $1500 a year. Mr. Dumble thought the Committee had in making this choice done the best possible in accepting the opinion of men whose judgment should be relied upon.

Some discussion took place and the names of several proposed Principals were mentioned, but as the information disclosed was of a private nature, the newspapers were requested to take no notice of it. Mr. Kendry was disposed to criticise the committee for not taking the Board more into its confidence in making the selection, but Mr. Dumble's statements in response satisfied him.

On motion of Mr. Dumble the report was adopted, a clause being inserted fixing the salary at $1,500.

THE RENT NOT REDUCED

Mr. HILL read the report of the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:—Peterborough Gas Company, 70; J. Montgomery, $4.65; C. P. R., $1.30; R. S. McDonald (when certified), $11.29; Wm. Chapman, $2 80; Rathbun Co., $31.50; E. Green, $9.35; Geo. W. Wyatt, $1.25; Francis Mason, 75; E. O. Readie, $2.70; George Benton, 50; Denniston & Stevenson $32.57; McKee & Davidson, $24 50; James Muller, $3.00; Pay roll for work on grounds, $89.08; H. S. McDonald, (when certified), $15.87; J. R. Stratton, $72.04.

The Committee having fully considered the question of rent charged by the public schools to the Institute cannot recommend that any reduction be made.

DR. BURNHAM, Chairman.

[The estimates, which were referred back to the Committee, last week, are printed elsewhere].

A QUESTION OF RIGHT OR WRONG.

The report was adopted without dissent, but Mr. Dumble, who had been otherwise engaged when the motion of adoption was carried, asked the privilege of speaking. Mr. Dumble spoke to the report, urging the claim of the Collegiate Institute to reduced rent because it owned the ground on which the Central school buildings were situated. He thought if this matter was allowed to pass, the Board would be left open to a charge of unfairness. The Collegiate Institute was a common grammar school, as which both Protestants and Catholics were educated, and he feared the Roman Catholics would fined cause for grievance if they were made to pay their share of an unjustly high rent. This land was county grammar school property, and it was constituted to the public school use, and yet no allowance was made for it. He moved, (and Dr. Boucher seconded,) that the report be referred back to the Committee with instructions to amend it by making a reasonable reduction in the rent of the Collegiate Institute.

Mr. HILL, speaking for the chairmen of the Committee, replied to Mr. Dumble. The Committee had carefully considered the question. He understood the Board had no control over this property, because they had no deed of it as the present time. Again, the public school paid for all supplies and repairs to the Collegiate Institute, and in view of this and the fact that the Collegiate Institute could not get better accommodation cheaper, he did not think the present rent was excessive.

Mr. ENGLISH said this ground was granted for school purposes, and could only be valued as such. It had not increased in value, he claimed, since it was granted for school purposes. Then it was valued at a few hundred dollars, and now they were trying to place a value of about $10,000 on it, as an offset against the buildings. If this valuation was accepted and the town went on growing, they would soon have to allow for a $100,000 property.

Mr. HAMILTON said he could not understand Mr. Dumble's position. The Boards were united as one body, but nothing had been heard of this matter until now. When the Boards were amalgamated all parties knew of it, and it was distinctly understood that matters were to be allowed to rest upon this basis. He did not think the arrangement should be disturbed until the Boards separated. Mr. Hamilton thought it better to leave things as they are, and further said Mr. Dumble's remarks concerning Catholics were uncalled for. He considered it better to drop all mention of religion in connection with the schools.

THE LEGAL ASPECT.

Mr. HILL read the following clause from the regulations of the Education Department, bearing on the subject:—"On the dissolution of such union (school board), the school property held or possessed by the Board of Education at the time shall be divided or applied to school purposes, as may be agreed upon by a majority of the public school trustees, and of the high school (or Collegiate Institute) trustees respectively, present at a meeting called for that purpose.—46 Vic., Cap. 49, sec. 220.

Mr. GOODERHAM, who was a member of the first Board, said that the title of the property until with the Government, but the Board was given to understand that the whole property would be handed over to the Joint Board. At that time the Board owned three pieces of ground, which were sold, and the Roman Catholics group their share. Then this property was given for grammar school purposes. It was understood then that this ground was to be free to all, and it was so yet. The basis of management was fixed very equitably at the time, the Collegiate Institute rent being fixed at $700, since which time it had been increased for different reasons to $1,100—a reasonable amount. Mr. Stevenson thought the Joint Board had acted in a fair spirit and there was no government but would support their course.

Mr. DENNE thought that as there were $27,000 debentures incurred on these buildings still unpaid, the high school Board should repudiate the debentures if they is public school property.

Mr. DUMBLE in reply, asked was it fair to allow the public school to charge $1100 rent to the Collegiate Institute for the use of its buildings, and ignore the right of the Collegiate Institute to rental for use of the ground. Was it fair to cheat one partner for the benefit of the other? As to the repairs, the $400 was added to the rent to cover this extra expenditure. No favor was given there. The fact that property was given the public schools before Separate Schools were established, and when these lands were sold the Roman Catholics were given their share, showed that the Board recognized the rights of the Roman Catholics. The public schools could not ignore the rights of the grammar school in this matter. The fact that no patent had been issued he thought had no definite bearing on the case. The grammar school was the equitable owner of the grounds. The letter from the Department would uphold the claim of the grammar school in any court of law. He laid the responsibility of this matter upon the Board. In any case if the property was divided there would have to be an equitable adjustment. Why not give it now?

Dr. BOUCHER instanced the Brockville Union Board, which was separated and the property was divided by arbitration.

Mr. DARTH thought it better to divide the Boards and get a legal adjustment at once.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Dr. Boucher, that inasmuch as the lands occupied by the Collegiate Institute are still School property, in adjusting the rental to be paid by the High School for school accommodation, the value of these lands should be taken into consideration, and a fair allowance to the Collegiate Institute made in respect thereof; that the rental of $1,100 a year charged by the Public School against the High School is an excessive rent, it is moved that the Finance Committee be instructed to make such a reduction in the rent charged against the High School as may leave that rental an equitable one.

Mr. CORKERY said that when the Finance Committee made out the report they considered only the buildings. If the High School owned the property, of which there seemed no doubt, it should be allowed for it.

Mr. HAMILTON did not think it was treating with courtesy the Finance Committee, to refer back the report again, after they had spent a week considering the very matter in dispute.

Mr. BRADBURN also objected to the motion, on the ground that it assumed that the High School owned the property, which the Board were not prepared to admit.

After some discussion the members came to the understanding that they would leave the question of the ownership of the land to legal opinion, and Mr. Dumble agreed to withdraw his motion in favour of the following:—

Moved by Mr. Deane, seconded by Mr. Hill,—That the Chairman of the Board get the best legal advice respecting the dispute of the ownership of the school property now before this Board.—Carried.

On motion, the Property Committee was instructed to repair the roof of the Collegiate Institute building.

The Board then adjourned.

WAS MR ELSMAN MILES ROBERTSON MURDERED?

The Dead Body of a Chicago Sailor Found at Port Dalhousie There Had Been Drinking and a Quarrel -suspicious Wounds and Bloodstains.

PORT DALHOUSIE, July 16. Early this morning the dead body of a man was found lying on the bottom of the dry dock here, who was subsequently identified as Miles Robertson of Chicago, employed as wheelsman on the steamer S. L. Tilley of St. Catharines. The Tilley went on the dry dock here yesterday, and last night some of the men, among them the deceased, were drinking, and did not go on board till nearly midnight, during which time deceased had an altercation with one of the other men, one or two blows being exchanged.

Dr. Considine, the coroner, empanelled a jury to enquire into the particulars and this open verdict was rendered: "The deceased, Miles Robertson, was found dead on the bottom of the dock near the propeller Tilley with a clean cut wound on the back of his head, how done we cannot say, but such was the cause of his death, being supposed to have fallen or been thrown from off said propeller."

There is a feeling among the people here that deceased met his death by foul means, as the distance from the dock of the Tilley to the bottom of the dock is nearly 30 feet, and the body when found was lying full length, with the feet together and no bones broken, with a deep cut on the back of the head and a small portion of the brain oozing out of one ear, and there were blood stains on the side of the steamer from the main deck down

Was He Murdered?

TORONTO, July 16. The body of the man who was found on the lake shore near Three Mile Bay a few days ago has not yet been identified. A fracture of the left temple leads to the conjecture that the man was murdered and thrown into the lake. At first it was thought that it was one of the ill-fated crew of the schooner Breck, which went down near Horseshoe Island about two months ago, but the coroner does not support the conjecture.

GRAND LODGE OF CANADA.

Kingston Overflowing With Masons Forecast of the Election of Officers.

KINGSTON, July 16. Five hundred delegates were present at the opening of the triennial convocation of the Grand Lodge of Canada this morning in the City Hall. Grand Master Walkem presided, and read a lengthy address, reviewing his official acts for the past year. Routine business occupied the attention of the Grand Lodge all day. The discussion on the third degree question was adjourned, and will come up as the first order of business in the morning.

This latest emanation from the pen of Secretary Blaine is said to fairly bristle with what his admirers style "Americanisms," but which is denominated by his critics "Jingoes." It is feared, however, that the cold and cautious nature of the President may induce him to suppress either the whole or a portion of the despatch at this time, as being calculated to increase the secretary's popularity with the masses, and particularly with those who find amusement and relaxation in twisting the British lion's tail. There is little doubt here that the President had the Irish American vote in view when he rejected Salisbury's proposition for a settlement of the Behring Sea controversy—a settlement exactly in line with that for which Secretary Bayard contended. On the other hand, it is urged that the President will not be likely to suppress Blaine's letter because it will certainly be made public when Salisbury sends the Behring Sea blue book to parliament.

It is of course understood that the recent threat made by the British Government, with regard to the protection of British sealers will be eliminated from the correspondence as sent into the house, but all the dispatches bearing upon the forma contentions of the two governments are like ly to be given in full.

ACCIDENTAL BUT CARELESS.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury on the Dartmouth Disaster.

HALIFAX, July 16. The inquest on the victims of the Dartmouth disaster was concluded to-night. No new facts were elicited. The jury's verdict was "Accidental death, but had the gate at the head of the wharf been securely fastened the accident would not have occurred."

BRISTLES WITH AMERICANISMS.

Mr. Blaine of Maine Twists the British Lion's Tail

NEW YORK, July 16.—A Washington special to The World says: An important statement is made to-night on excellent authority in explanation of the delay attending the transmission of the Behring Sea correspondence to Congress in accordance with the resolution recently adopted by the House of Representatives. It is now understood that Mr. Blaine has caused the delay in order that an important despatch, which he has prepared in reply to Lord Salisbury's latest representations, should appear among the documents when they are made public. This despatch was written by Mr Blaine several days ago and forwarded to Minister Lincoln for delivery to the Acting Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. It is understood that a copy of this despatch is already in the hands of the state department officials, but courtesy between the two nations forbids the publication of any part of it in advance of its receipt by Lord Salisbury.

A BRACE GAME.

Husband and Wife Arrested on a Charge of "Raising" Bank Bills.

MONTREAL, July 16. Joseph Berthiaume and his wife, Emelina Narbonne, have been arrested on a serious charge. About two weeks ago a butcher at St. Johns market sold Joseph's wife $5 worth of meat to a woman and gave her the change for a Bank of Hochelaga $10 bill, and it was not until some time after that he discovered that the bill was a counterfeit, rather bad, and worth, from a distance, $1 to $2. He did not see the woman again. The woman, Narbonne, subsequently went into Leclair's saloon, on the corner of Ontario and Jacques Cartier streets, and asked for change for a $50 bill. Leclair gave it but found shortly afterwards that he had been duped, as the bill had been raised from a $5 bill. He followed the woman home and made her give up the change, at the same time retaining the bill. He then notified the police, who placed her and her husband under arrest. Search in the house revealed a wooden box containing acids, type, glass cups and various utensils necessary for the work of raising bank notes. Their 4 year-old boy went with them to the cells. They appeared before Judge Desnoyers yesterday morning, but the case was postponed. It is supposed Berthiaume is the same person, who some time ago tried to work off a supposed $20 bill upon N. Michaels.

RAILWAY SUBSIDIES.

The Amount Expended Since Confederation by the Dominion Government.

OTTAWA, July 16.—An amended return has just been issued showing the amount of money expended by the Dominion in each province since Confederation to June 30, 1889, as subsidies to railways, excepting the Canadian Pacific main line and Sault branch:

Ontario	$1,970,446
Quebec	3,438,444
New Brunswick	899,118
Nova Scotia	1,115,812
British Columbia	750,000

And for the several railways built by the Dominion in each province, including Intercolonial branches and extensions, but not the main line as originally constructed:

Quebec, including purchase of Rivers du Loup branch	$ 10,925 26
New Brunswick	3,311,854 14
Nova Scotia	7,821,050 19

To Reduce Grain Rates.

WASHINGTON, July 16. The Inter-State Commerce Commission has decided that it will issue an order making a reduction in grain rates from Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri to St. Louis and the Mississippi River and to Chicago. Food product rates east of the Mississippi and not involved in other suits before the commission are not found to be excessive.

SHOT ACROSS HER BOWS.

FRESH TROUBLE ON THE NEWFOUNDLAND COAST.

An Island Cruiser Fires at a French Fishing Brig Caught in the Act of Securing Bait -serious Complications Likely to Result.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A special to The Journal from Halifax, says: It is rumored here to-day that there has been fresh trouble, the most serious yet reported, between the French and English on the Newfoundland coast. It is said that the Newfoundland cruiser Fiona, which has been recently put into commission to patrol the coast for the purpose of enforcing the bait act, has had a conflict with a French fishing brig from St. Malo, France.

The story is to the effect that on Friday the Fiona discovered the Frenchman in North Bay, on the south coast, securing bait. Immediately on seeing the Fiona the Frenchman made sail. The cruiser followed, and a lively chase ensued. The Frenchman refused all signals to lay to, and as a consequence the Fiona fired a shot across her bow. The Frenchman still paid no attention, and finally escaped to Little Miquelon. As this story comes from a French source in St. Pierre-Miquelon, it may be greatly exaggerated, but color is lent to the fact by the hurried departure this morning from here of Her Majesty's ship the Bellerophon, the flagship of the North American squadron and two other men-of-war from St. Johns, Nfld. The French consul here, when interviewed on the subject, said he had no official information yet of a French ship being fired at on the high seas, but if such was the fact it might possibly lead to a more serious complication.

THE SEAWING'S VICTIMS.

Thirty one Bodies Recovered Yesterday Capt Wethern Arrested

REDWING, Minn., July 16.—The bodies of victims of the Seawing disaster were recovered to-day as follows: Mrs. Merritt Green, Julia Persig, William Annus, William Jorgenson, Frederick Christ, Peter Olson, Miss E. J. Crawford, John Adams, Ira Fulton, Edna Way, Mary Skoglund, Louis Dillebrad, Ed. Merritt, Henry Schulenberger, Henry Newton, James Wilson, Louis Brennan, Johnny Stroise, Randal Olsson, a small son of Peter Gerken, Charles Petersen, Albert Blake, Mattie Flynn, Ella Adams, Augustin Iro, George Hartman, an unknown, Mamie Schulenberger, Martin Scherf, Mrs. Creamer and Joseph Carlson.

The bodies recovered thus far number 100. It is thought there are still about a dozen not found. The bodies found last night and to-day were bloated and blackened beyond recognition so that clothing, jewelry and papers were the only means of identification.

The warm weather and shallowness of the water, together with the fact that several large steamers sent up heavy swells to-day as they passed up the river, brought the bodies to the surface very quickly.

It is stated Captain Wethern of the ill-fated Seawing had been arrested at the instance of United States officials and taken to St Paul.

Another Minnesota Cyclone.

ST. PAUL, July 16.—It was reported to-night that Stillwater had been visited by a cyclone, but later specials report the place as all right. The tornado seems to have struck Marine, a small town six miles northeast of Stillwater, Clear Lake, Wis., and New Richmond. The wires are all down.

There was a storm in Southeastern Minnesota to-night with reports of cyclones in various places. These reports have not been confirmed. Considerable damage to farm property is reported. The wires are now working to Stillwater. There was damage to property but no loss of life at Marine.

SAVED BY GOV. HILL.

JOSEPH CHAPLEAU'S SENTENCE COMMUTED.

The French-Canadian Murderer, Condemned to Be Electrocuted, Escapes the Deadly Spark But Must Spend the Rest of His Days in Prison.

ALBANY, July 16.—Governor Hill has commuted to imprisonment for life the sentence of Joseph Chapleau, convicted in Clinton county of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be executed during the week commencing July 21. In his decision the Governor says:

"This application for executive clemency is based upon a petition signed by many of the leading citizens of Clinton County, including nearly all the county officials. The County Judge strongly favors the application, the district attorney does not oppose it, the twelve jurymen who rendered the verdict against the defendant unanimously unite in asking for a commutation."

Dr. Chapleau Doesn't Know Him.

OTTAWA, July 16.—Dr. Chapleau, brother of Hon. J. A. Chapleau, was seen to-day. He says he knows of no cousin or relative of his living in the States. This man may be a cousin, but he would be a very distant one. He says that his near relatives are all residing in the County of Terrebonne, as far as he knows

FRYE TO BLAINE.

The Maine Senator Asks for Information Touching Reciprocity

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Senator Frye, in reply to Mr. Blaine's letter of July 11, wrote as follows:

Your letter leaves me in some doubt as to facts. I assume that your views are as contained in what is known as the Hale amendment; that you know for instance what the Latin republics will receive of ours free from duty in compensation for free sugar. I assume that that amendment was the result of thorough investigation. The difficulty about it is this: The amount of sugar to be received from those states would be comparatively small and the consumers of sugar would receive no benefit from it. Your letter to me extends this idea of reciprocity to Cuba and Porto Rico. I admit if sugar is received free from these islands, as well as from the Latin republics, the people would be benefited and sugar would be practically free. But will Spain admit into those island free of duty the list of articles named in that amendment? Of course we could not enact a law more favorable to Spain than to the republics. Do you know what Spain would exchange for free sugar and can you give a list of the articles she would receive? The better way, probably, would be to make the list she would receive the controlling one for all these countries.

Losses Caused by Flames.

CHICAGO, July 16.—The steam scow Two Henrys, a freight boat, was burned off shore about three miles from South Chicago at noon to-day. The crew escaped in the yawl. Loss $5000.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 16.—A fire this afternoon, which started in Cronley & Co.'s junk store, threatened to make sad havoc, and did destroy several buildings, entailing a loss of $25,000.

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 16.—The residence of John Hamlet near here was burned this morning. Mrs. Hamlet and four children, the eldest about 8 years old, were burned to death.

BOSTON, July 16.—A serious fire started in the Congregational Church at Rockland this afternoon, and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings. The fire caught from a gasoline lamp. The total loss will reach $100,000.

THE CASE COLLAPSED.

Hamilton's Abduction Sensation—A Missing Butter Merchant.

HAMILTON, July 16.—The McGillivray abduction case collapsed this morning. Counsel informed the magistrate that, acting with the sanction of the persons interested, they had come to an arrangement which was mutually satisfactory. The mother was to retain possession of the child and the father was to be permitted to see it whenever he desired. An agreement was signed to that effect. In view of this turn of affairs the magistrate consented to a dismissal of the charges of abduction against Mrs. Dr. McGillivray and John Littlehales. There was less difficulty in coming to this conclusion when the County Crown Attorney had delivered himself of the opinion that the prosecution could not have sustained the charge anyway, as against the mother of the child.

Robert Bessey, the butter and egg dealer of this city who was arrested last week and taken to Caledonia, was allowed to go on his own recognizance to appear for trial by Judge Upper. Now he is wanted, but cannot be found. The police in Hamilton want him and a warrant has been issued in Cayuga for his arrest there. He is also wanted in Dunnville, Smithville and Grimsby.

William McCawley of the postoffice department in this city died yesterday. He leaves a widowed mother and only brother (Mr. R. J. McCawley, of Ford & McCawley, Toronto).

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Verdict of Manslaughter Against C.P.R. Section Foreman Roach.

TORONTO, July 17.—The World says that R. M. Wells, Q.C., ex-M.P., ex-Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, and solicitor of the C.P.R., will soon be called to the Senate. Mr Wells is a Reformer.

Mr Ballantyne, M.L.A. for South Perth, will probably be the choice for speaker of the Ontario Legislature.

Rev. Dr. Samuel Rose, one of the leading figures in the Methodist Church for the last half century, died yesterday morning at the age of 84, after a long illness.

The coroner's jury which has been investigating the disaster on the Canadian Pacific Railway, near Locust Hill, by which five men lost their lives returned a verdict last night of manslaughter against Section Foreman Roach.

At Bolton yesterday little Willie Griffin was playing on some logs in the creek and while standing on one it turned beneath him and he slipped into the water. His grandfather, William Griffin, after whom the lad was named, sprang to his rescue. Although 80 years of age he jumped into the water, but his strength was not equal to the task, and both sank to a watery grave before assistance could be given.

Hon. Oliver Mowat starts to-day for the White Mountains, where he will spend three weeks.

Oleomargarine is Shut Out.

OTTAWA, July 16.—It is learned at the Department of Inland Revenue that a bulletin would soon be issued in connection with the charge that oleomargarine was being imported into Canada and sold as butter. Mr. McFarlane, chief analyst, has had tests made of samples of butter from all parts of the Dominion and it was found that while some of an inferior character was sold to the public still there was no oleomargarine discovered.

Fatal Accident Near Springford.

WOODSTOCK, July 15.—A fatal accident occurred on the farm of J. M. Inglesby, South Norwich, near Springford, the other day. John Delaney, aged 22, who was employed on the farm, was engaged in driving the horse on the hay fork. While in the act of unloading, the horse stopped suddenly and Delaney struck him with the lines, causing the animal to jump forward. In the jump the tug broke and the whiffletree flew back, striking the unfortunate young man, who was close behind, in the stomach. He went to the house apparently not seriously hurt and went to bed. He was around as usual next day, although he did no work. That afternoon, however, the pain became so severe that a doctor was sent for, who declared that inflammation had set in, but that there was no danger. During the night the young man became worse and before morning he was dead.

THE U.S DEPENDENT PENSION BILL.

A Measure in Which Many Canadians are Pecuniarily Interested.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Thousands of Canadians who served in the Union ranks in the civil war, or who had near relatives in that conflict, will be interested in the Dependent Pension Bill which became law by the President affixing his signature to it the other day. As it was finally passed the bill reads:

An Act granting pensions to soldiers and sailors who are incapacitated for the performance of manual labor, and providing for pensions to widows, minor children and dependent parents.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That in considering the pension claims of dependent parents, the fact of the soldier's death by reason of any wound, injury, casualty or disease which, under the conditions and limitations of existing laws, would have entitled him to an invalid pension, and the fact that the soldier left no widow or minor children having been shown as required by law, it shall be necessary only to show by competent and sufficient evidence that such parent or parents are without other present means of support than their own manual labor or the contributions of others not legally bound for their support: Provided, That all pensions allowed to dependent parents under this act shall commence from the date of the filing of the application hereunder and shall continue no longer than the existence of the dependence.

Sec. 2. That all persons who served ninety days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the late War of the Rebellion, and who have been honorably discharged therefrom, and who are now or who may hereafter be suffering from a mental or physical disability of a permanent character, not the result of their own vicious habits, which incapacitates them from the performance of manual labor in such a degree as to render them unable to earn a support, shall, upon making due proof of the fact according to such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may provide, be placed upon the list of invalid pensioners of the United States, and be entitled to receive a pension not exceeding $12 per month, and not less than $6 per month, proportioned to the degree of inability to earn support; and such pension shall commence from the date of filing of the application in the Pension Office, after the passage of this act, upon proof that the disability then existed, and shall continue during the existence of the same, provided that persons who are now receiving pensions under existing laws, or whose claims are pending in the Pension Office, may, by application to the Commissioner of Pensions, in such form as he may prescribe, showing themselves entitled thereto, receive the benefits of this act, and nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent any pensioner thereunder from prosecuting his claim and receiving his pension under any other general or special act; provided, however, that no person shall receive more than one pension for the same period, and provided, further, that rank in the service shall not be considered in applications filed under this act.

Sec. 3. That if any officer or enlisted man who served ninety days or more in the army or navy of the United States during the late War of the Rebellion, and who was honorably discharged, has died, or shall hereafter die, leaving a widow without other means of support than his daily labor, or minor children under the age of 16 years, such widow shall, upon due proof of her husband's death, without proving his death to be the result of his army service, be placed on the pension-roll, from the date of the application therefor under this act, at the rate of $8 per month, during her widowhood, and shall also be paid $2 per month for each child of such officer or enlisted man under 16 years of age, and in case of the death or remarriage of the widow, leaving a child or children of such officer or enlisted man under the age of 16 years, such pension shall be paid such child or children under the age of 16; provided, that in case a minor child is insane, idiotic or otherwise permanently helpless the pension shall continue during the life of said child or during the period of such disability, and this proviso shall apply to all pensions heretofore granted or hereafter to be granted under this or any former statute, and such pensions shall commence from the date of application therefor after the passage of this act. And provided further, that said widow shall have married said soldier prior to the passage of this act.

Sec. 4. That no agent, attorney or other person engaged in preparing, presenting or prosecuting any claim under the provisions of this act shall, directly or indirectly, contract for, demand, receive or retain for such services in preparing, presenting or prosecuting such claim a sum greater than $10, which sum shall be payable only upon the order of the Commissioner of Pensions by the Pension Agent making payment of the pension allowed, and any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, or who shall wrongfully withhold from a pensioner or claimant the whole or any part of a pension or claim allowed or due such pensioner or claimant under this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall for each and every such offence be fined not exceeding $500 or be imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding two years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Dr. Potts' Claim.

HAMILTON, July 16.—Dr. Potts of Queen-street south, formerly of Parkdale, is an applicant for a pension from the American Government, which, if it is secured, will be a handsome sum. The doctor was an army surgeon during the war of the rebellion and received injuries while on duty in Texas which have since seriously affected his hearing. The back pension money claimed amounts to $10,000 and a further pension of $1500 a year.

PRISON REFORM.

The Commission at Kingston Many Witnesses Examined.

KINGSTON, July 16.—The Prison Reform Commission to-day heard evidence from Sheriff Hope and Jailer Appleby of Belleville, Sheriff Gillespie and Jailer Patterson of Picton, Deputy Sheriff Pruyn and Jailer Van Luvee of Napanee, Jailer C. H. Corbett, Mrs. Chown, President of the W.C.T.U., Chaplain Cartwright of Kingston Penitentiary and Warden Lavell. The evidence generally endorsed county poor houses, classification in jails, and supervision of jails by the Government, though Sheriff Hope favored the councils having control. Another central prison was advocated and work on the streets advised for second-term criminals. "Temperance Acts will not lessen drunkenness," said Jailer Patterson. Warden Lavell urged education as a means to lessen drunkenness and favored industrial schools but not reformatories.

DID THE POPE RIDE OUT?

The Question Which Is Now Agitating the Sacred City -cable Notes.

ROME, July 16.—The clerical newspapers deny that the Pope drove outside the Vatican yesterday. The Riforma maintains the truth of the statement that the Pope drove out and that the sentries at the mint saluted the papal carriage.

A Congregational Council.

TURNBULL'S
BARGAIN COLUMN.

Our Print Department is now unusually attractive, having received about one hundred mid-summer patterns. The colors are very attractive, resembling all the latest shades in wool dress goods. We are also showing a choice range of Mourning Prints, in new designs, such as diagonal cords and crape patterns that have the appearance of silk crape.

The warm weather is creating a demand for plain and fancy Challies, which have the combined qualities of being cool and light, as well as very ladylike.

There is nothing takes the place of dark seersucker for boys' coats. We have them in good qualities, as well as the lighter weight for children's dresses.

Our stock of Flannelettes is varied, having imported an extra good cloth, which washes better than Canadian makes usually show.

We are offering now a full range of Oxford Checks, 5c. a yard. Do not fail to see them.

Now opened Ladies' Belts in new styles.

Our Glove department contains all the latest makes in silk taffeta, and lace gloves and mitts. See our silk gloves with kid finger tips. Our gloves are from a manufacturer who studies to make the fingers long enough for a well proportioned hand.

Keep in remembrance our special line of Ladies' Hose.

We are showing Black Lace and Jet Visites.

We have also the all-over Jet Material for making Dolmans; any shape or pattern selected. Any garment turned out of our mantle department always guaranteed perfect fit.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.
Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

TO ROCHESTER DAILY!

The Staunch Lake Steamer
NORSEMAN
C. H. NIC

The Daily Examiner is delivered to any part of the Town for 10c. a week, 35c. a month, $2.00 for six months.

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, JULY 17, 1890.

THE Ottawa Free Press pertinently remarks:—"Was it because all the North-West timber and coal lands had been gobbled up by Rykert and other camp-followers of the party that Sir John Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper had to go to West Virginia to invest their surplus cash?"

THE Council of Public Instruction of the Province of Quebec has authorized for the use of the Quebec schools the following text books sanctioned by the Educational Department of Ontario:—The High School Physics, the High School Botany, the High School German Grammar, and the High School Geography.

The annual report of the Hudson Bay Company, submitted at a meeting of the shareholders in London Wednesday, shows profits on the yearly sales of fure to have been but $201,000, against $424,000 for the previous year, a decrease owing to the decline in prices, which ran from 5 to 40 per cent. The net proceeds from land sales are, however, largely in excess of those of last year, the figures being: For 1890, farm lands, 34,733 acres, averaging $5.75 per acre, $199,636; town lots, $43,125; total, $242,761; as compared with $187,947 for the year 1889. The total quantity of farm lands sold by the company to the end of March last was 226,292 acres.

ANOTHER railway built with Canadian public money has passed into the hands of Americans. The Hereford railway, built by Mr. W. B. Ives, and Mr. Rufus Pope, statesmen by inheritance, with money supplied from the Dominion treasury, has been sold to the Maine Central company for a large sum of money. As the railway was built with government money, and cost Messrs. Ives & Co. nothing, of course all they get for it from the Maine men is clear gain. Of course they are altogether too "patriotic" to refuse to sell a railway to Yankees, especially when the railway was built with money borrowed upon the credit of the taxpayers of Canada.

THE blight which appears to have affected the growing crops in some districts, especially in the eastern part of the Province, is reported to have done great damage in Germany and some parts of Austria, where very heavy rains have fallen at long intervals. Nevertheless, the crops on the European Continent promise to be above the average, but those in Britain will be poor. In the states it is estimated that the wheat crop of 1890 will be smaller by 60,000,000 bushels than that of 1889. The Economist figures out that, after allowing for the short crop in England, Europe will probably produce 70,000,000 of bushels more this year than last. The Australian wheat crop of 1889-90 was largely a failure. In South Australia and Victoria 30 per cent. of it was destroyed in the fields by rust. English authorities do not look for any considerable rise in prices yet awhile.

Free Trade vs. "Fair Trade."

Mr. Howard Vincent, the "fair trade" crank of the British House of Commons, got very little satisfaction when he asked the government if they proposed to increase the duties upon American goods imported into the United Kingdom in retaliation for the passage of the McKinley bill by the United States congress. He was politely informed by Sir James Ferguson that such a course would be inconsistent with the settled trade policy of Great Britain. The British Tories may be inclined to wink at those who advocate a policy of trade restriction and tariff retaliation for the United Kingdom, but they are too fond of office to commit their party to a policy which would destroy British shipping and which the mass of the population would quickly condemn. There is no cause for European excitement over the McKinley bill. That measure is not law yet, and may never become law. Mr. Blaine and the more astute leaders of the Republican party in the United States realize that the American farmers cannot be gulled much longer with the idea that they can be made rich by a system of combines, monopolies, and high taxation, or by high duties upon the principal articles of export. The McKinley bill if passed would completely frustrate Mr. Blaine's scheme to extend the foreign trade of the United States by means of commercial reciprocity treaties with other American countries. Even if the McKinley bill is passed by the present congress it will be a short-lived measure, because the congress that will be elected next November is likely to be Democratic and in favour of tariff reduction. The policy of high taxation invariably works its own cure. The monopolists are never satisfied and soon force the rate of taxation up until it becomes an intolerable burden upon the people.

The Opium Habit.

A Remarkable Number of Prominent Men Who Have Been Victims to This Pernicious Habit.

A prominent druggist of this city, in a conversation a short time since, said that it would be a terrible shock to society if the names in this city of those who are addicted to the opium habit were published. * * * is not alone in this respect, for druggists everywhere lament the terrible increase in the use of opium. It is not so very long ago that the death of Wilkie Collins brought to public knowledge the fact that he was a habitual user of opium. DeQuincey, Coleridge, Bulwer-Lytton, and other men of world-wide reputation, stand out as warnings against the folly of over-taxation of mental powers, and the oft resulting indulgence in opium.

Brain power has its limitations as much as muscular power. Overwork produces exhaustion in both cases, and far too often is the fearfully perilous use of opium commenced for the purpose of stimulating the brain and steadying the nerves. A sombre, joyless, melancholy state of servitude to this ruinous drug is the sure end. There is but one thing known that will "stimulate the brain and steady the nerves" in a natural and harmless way. That is Paine's Celery Compound. When the brain and nervous system is over-taxed, and there is restlessness, irritability, difficulty in thinking, and inability to confine the thoughts to one subject for any length of time, use this purely vegetable preparation. It is a scientific medicine, that, taken at the first symptoms, positively prevents the approach of serious brain and nerve diseases. In neuralgia, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, general debility, and the weak feeling which is so common at this season, Paine's Celery Compound will restore and sustain the vital forces of life, and will renew the brain and build up nervous tissue as fast as they are exhausted. It is not a narcotic, contains no minerals or harmful drugs, and is perfectly pure. It is the discovery of an eminent physician, and is a true boon of health and happiness to the thousands who are exhausted by the great strain and constant pressure under which they are laboring.

DUDES VERSUS DANDIES.

NEW PHENOMENA GIVE RISE TO NEW NOMENCLATURE.

Effeminate Masculinity Proved Stupid Uselessness—A Dude is a Dandy, but the Dandy not Necessarily a Dude—Byron Was the One and Not the Other.

A slang word is a sort of foundling; its origin obscure, its position equivocal, its destiny defying prediction.

The word "dude" falls only partly into this category. Its origin is certainly obscure but its position is no longer equivocal. It is one of those apt words that rise by sheer force of inherent vitality from the street to the salon.

What its destiny will be is problematical, but it is safe to predict that so long as society is afflicted with the nauseating caricature of manhood that gave rise to the term, it will retain its place in our vocabulary of expressive words.

What is a dude?

We are distinctly conscious that it is something offensive. The mere mention of the word suggests an image of effeminate masculinity, single-barreled eye-glass, cigarettes, a drawl, a dawdle, and "I say, chappie, m' boy."

Add to this a touch of unmanly idiotic self-complacency, and we have, perhaps, as accurate an ideal of the dude as it is possible to conceive of an object so lacking in saliency.

Those thin-legged, vacant-faced youths who flutter about ladies or stand apart in solemn groups composed with feeble artistic skill are dudes. They occur frequently among the "400."

A dude once said to a young woman whose sense of humor was evidently equal to her discernment: "I wish I had something to take up my mind." "Have you tried blotting paper?" said she.

Being a dude, of course he missed the point of this delicate sarcasm. His gray matter was, no doubt, greatly agitated in the attempt to discover the raison d'etre of her remark.

There are some other things about dudes.

A real dude won't work. Sucking the head of a cane and gazing from a club window while requiring a certain amount of physical exertion, yet do not, strictly speaking, come under the head of labor. Not the horny handed sort, at least.

The Epicurean dude knew his business.

He sat in his leafy Attic garden with fragrant honey-laden breezes from Hymettus percolating through his Van Dyke, and did nothing—absolutely nothing—all the long summer day but sip nectar and ambrosia.

The modern dude is looking for this sort of soft snap.

But he won't find it.

Nectar and ambrosia have gone out with the laurel wreath, the death's head at the feast, and the "sober-stones" (amethysts to charm or warn away inebriety) of the Greeks.

A dude is always a dandy.

But the converse is not necessarily true.

"A dandy," says the Scholiast on Teufelsdreck, "is a clothes-wearing man, whose trade, office, and existence consists in wearing clothes."

And Carlyle: "A dandy is a man with a divine idea of cloth."

The dude bears a likeness to the dandy in the matter of "clothes-wearing," at least, but in other respect the resemblance is superficial.

A dandy sometimes possesses brains—a dude never.

Byron was a dandy.

We have this on the best authority.

In his diary occurs an entry as follows:

"I wonder how the deuce any one could have made such a world; why dandies, like me, for instance, were ordained, and kings and women, of a certain age," etc.

Again, "I am but a penniless sort of person—a broken dandy lately on his travels."

But he was no dude.

Why? Because he possessed brains enough to write "Manfred" and "Childe Harold." A dude hasn't brains enough to perspire when it's hot.

It is necessary to keep this distinction of brains in mind when considering "dudes," "dandies," "beaus," "bucks," and "fops." They are all grown on the same family tree and possess a great many traits in common, but the "dude" is the only one of the entire lot that is lacking in intelligence.

During the period of English history known as the Regency the development of dandies reached high water mark; but even in that heyday of foppery there were no dudes.

The vacuous pulpy dude of the nineteenth century could have found no place in the social economy of the Georgian era.

The "bloods" of that time were idle, dissipated, spendthrifts, and gamblers they were born valets and "raconteurs," but wit was at war at a premium, and it was not considered criminal to have an idea concealed about one's mind.

Beau Brummel, the shining social light of that period, is the ideal dandy. He is, par excellence, the greatest clothes-wearing man of history.

There were dandies before Brummell achieved fame as the inventor of the swallow tail coat and the cravat.

Hot-spur was acquainted with a top, Hamlet gave audience to Osric, and the sloops of Columbus, Feilding and Beau Edgecumbe were duly chronicled in the Tatler by Dick Steele.

But they are not "in it" with Brummel.

He ran through £30,000 in a few years, and the greater part went for clothes.

A fond mother, anxious that her son should do the correct thing in dress, once wrote to the Beau and asked him what a proper toilet for a gentleman should cost. He replied that "with proper economy it might be done for £8,000 per year."

How's that for a "divine idea of cloth?"

Brummel never wore the same suit twice, and it is related that his valet spoiled several dozen neckcloths daily in the attempt to tie them in a manner to satisfy his fastidious master.

This valet, who, it seems, had a great reputation in matters of the toilet, was one day seen coming down stairs with a number of rumpled neckcloths under his arm. When asked what they were, he replied, "These are our failures."

The season of green fruits and summer drinks is the time when the worst forms of cholera morbus, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints prevail. As a safe guard Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry should be kept in the house. For 35 years it has been the most reliable remedy. 2w27d

Distrustful People.

Make an exception in favor of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Its known virtues as a cure for diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus and all bowel complaints cause all who use it to regard it as the most reliable and effectual remedy obtainable.

What Say They?

In popularity increasing. In reliabity the standard. In merit the first. In fact the best remedy for summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera infantum, etc., is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All medicine dealers sell it. 2w27d

Our Story.

A GAME OF HEARTS.

...ain-brown"—which might be among the wicked sparrow chirping in the dust of the streets of the little town or the more regal eagle on the crags!

Ella fought against her ... [illegible] ... resisted command to set him free ... [illegible] ... not know. She knew that he really loved her—loved her, even in without one dream of her stooping from her height, but with the still devotion of the knight in the song to the mistress of his soul whose image journeys with him through the lonely life he may not ask her to share. But of course I do not love him" was the ever recurring burden of her thoughts.

"Of course I do not love him," she was saying to herself, as she held out her hand for Hugo's empty cup. A ray of sunlight from the high arched window fell full upon her face, hurrying past the open door, and the high heels, but no hand, face flushed with morning air and exercise—stopped for a moment at sight of her—right, bared and in the golden glory of either sun or Hugo—no two of the modern figures in the picture were suddenly Ella loved Hugo, the cup was dropped from her nerveless hand and was lost to sight. With ... [illegible] ... stooping to pick up the ... [illegible] ... and ... [illegible] ... countess, I must run away. I ... to breakfast with you?"

"Your apologies should be made to my cousin," said Hugo, without looking at him. "The cup was mine. Ella painted a flower on it."

She replied Erich. "Well, Count Hugo you may consider all the apologies made you heard what I said to your cousin."

For the first time, the easy, careless tone jarred Hugo, jarred upon him. He glanced up at the haughty face of his father, whose portrait hung near, and the expression was well cast in his own, as he closed very coldly

"Very well that will do."

The hot blood shot to Erich's brow. Even Hugo be using that tone to him as if to an awkward underling! Hugo, who had always been so friendly and cordial.

His breath came quick, but in a moment catching sight of Ella's face flushed with shame and anger, all was clear to him.

He drew ... and threw back his head with the old unclouded spirit. "I see one is friend only so long as one confines himself to being simply a talking machine! You shall repent of that, Mein Herr Graf!"

The ways of ... ordained, he turned to Ella with a smile, and but ... eyes could have caught through it sweetness a word more than ... light, would have gleamed the whole depth of a fierce, beautiful heart pure as the ... and as ... sponging.

"I have destroyed your work of art there! How sorry that makes me! I stooped and picked up one of the pansies fragments, and ... it to a corner of more closely and quickly. But ... too quick ... for Ella ... slipped ... the ... and ... it nothing had occurred.

So it happened ... even for ... little ... made ... the ... moment ... from ... her all ... and ... that ... she loved Hugo ... that the ... heart ... or ... pansy ... play ... of ... and ... little ... her ... heart ... for ...

... [illegible] ... She turned to the window, ... How enchanting she ... unwonted embarrassment. He ... fered, as in a dream, for ... began to ... ... have wronged her, could it ... yet him? And how lovely she ... at this moment than he had ... Erich's heart lost ... gave ...

... and left the room, his face still ... Hugo would go to his aunt to ... his ... and ... his intimate ... with his cousin had brought about ... but fortunately ... a cold and ... better ... Countess ... the ladies ... known ... in his somewhat deliberate ... would hobble ... never ... that the ... question of the matter might be other ... we should walk, but for some ... locked thought it rather unbecoming ... Ella feels upon such extremely sociable terms with the new member of the household circle. Not that he was at all seriously disquieted—for the possibility never entered his brain that either he or his cousin could so far defy tradition and training as to make a mesalliance—but he did not approve of the ways of the young people, and so expressed himself to his aunt, as he took his seat in her room.

The countess was fully of his opinion—she always was fully of the opinion of any one who agreed with her peculiar prejudices—and pronounced:

"The thing must be put a stop to. Knowing Ella as I do, I know that she is only carried away by her love of excitement and her impulsiveness, but the gentleman with whom she is amusing herself, might unfortunately draw some false inferences. That must be prevented at any cost."

"Of course, my dear aunt," observed Hugo in his equable tone, "you must be aware that in speaking to you as I do I am actuated by the connection which has been growing upon me for some time that my happiness now depends upon Ella. May I hope for your acquiescence?"

A veritable sunbeam of smiles broke over the face of the old countess, as she seized her nephew's hand, and, with tears of joy which pered to him her happiness in bestowing her child upon him.

"And," the young man proceeded, "I really feel some responsibility concerning them both—for Ella, lest she should in any degree compromise herself by this extraordinary association with a man who is, so to speak, dependent upon me for his very bread and shelter, and also for Erich, towards whom I really have friendly feelings, and whom I should be sorry to see fall a victim to any self deception. It may be as well, aunt, for you to speak to Ella on the subject, but say nothing, if you please, in regard to my personal intentions. I prefer to communicate them myself."

Aunt Adele nodded and promised to speak to Ella.

"That I have not done so ere this, my dear Hugo," she added, "has been solely because I attached so little weight to the matter. But now that I know your plans" another motherly pressure of his hand—"you may rest assured that Ella shall not only be set right but that the poor young man shall be protected from all danger of a tete-a-tete with the thoughtless little thing! And, dear Hugo you may trust a mother's instinct as to who is really in possession of her child's heart."

Hugo had no answer for this, and soon left the room; the main result of the conference being that Ella and Erich were to be kept apart as far as possible.

CHAPTER III.

AND what was going on in the meanwhile!

The morning was bright and beautiful too beautiful to be spent indoors; and one of those naughty little kobolds, whose delight in interfering with the course of our human lives, had seized the bridle of Ella's horse and was in full career with him in the direction of the pine wood, near which Erich's men chanced to be at work. The storm of the morning had left the young man restless and disturbed. Blackness was upon his brow, as he leaned—a stately forest-king—against the trunk of a tall pine, occasionally giving a curt word of command to the men who were engaged in cutting a ditch along the edge of the low meadow.

For the first time a belief in the startling possibility that Ella's heart might be his has come to him, and at the same moment—how hard, oh, how doubly hard to bear in her presence! he had for the first time been spoken to in a tone ... Teeth were set and his hands clinched involuntarily, as he thought of Hugo. She felt the insult, she was troubled shocked. She had raised sweet eyes of sympathy to his—oh, madness! What if she had What if she had! What if she did love him—really love him—what then?

"And she does not really love me," thought Erich, his eyes fixed on the shifting pine shadows at his feet; "it is only the whim of an instant and better so. What should I do with a wife—and especially with a spoilt child for a wife—without the means to indulge her? No, it is madness. I must forget her. I have forgotten other things in my life"

Horse's hoofs roused him. A nimble little pony came racing across the meadow, his dancing feet playing with his own shadow, his reins,

"Swayed by the dainty finger-tips"

Of the fair maiden already filling the mind of the grave, silent "adventurer" under the pine tree.

How lovely she looked—the slender, supple body, the shining hair under the drooping feathers, the blue eyes and flushing face radiant with happy surprise! Surely, so looked the "Princess of Gold and Snow" riding into her sunlit "Dominion of dear Delight"

She was within a few steps of him, when Erich suddenly threw up his arms with a cry of warning, unheard or misunderstood, for she inched on.

Little Quarrels Breed Bi

You just bring a couple of little quarrels into your family and they'll breed like sparrows, and you just bring a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters into your house and see how quickly health and strength follows its use. Nothing excels it for strengthening, regulating and purifying power. 2w26d

Waste not Precious Time.

Be quick. You can use a minute but once—make the most of it. Especially when suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, bad blood or any disease of the stomach, liver or bowels. You can't take Burdock Blood Bitters too soon, every moment wasted delays the longed-for cure. 2w27d

Save Your Carpets.

A sheet of stick fly paper will do more damage to carpets and furniture than any thing ever invented. No careful housewife would have one about. Wilson's Fly Poison Pads will clear the house of flies more quickly and surely than any other means. When placed near the light where the flies are thickest, Wilson's Pads will kill pints every day, and clear the house in short order. At all druggists. dw

Life Insurance Policy Holders

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by purely Canadian companies, and terminated by surrender or lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of insurance men. So unexpected and unwelcome an increase as $1,706,612 in the amount of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period when American companies doing business in this country showed a decrease under this heading of $318,304, could not fail to excite comment; so that the figures have been eagerly scanned to discover how such a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Company.	Net amount in force.	Percentage of Surrender and Lapse.
Canada Life	$48,664,376	3.07
Confederation	17,674,528	5.31
Ontario Mutual	13,071,400	10.29
Federal	10,068,837	10.35
Sun Life	11,670,317	10.38
North American	8,470,630	10 66
Temperance and General	2,984,972	17 94
Citizens	2,067,956	29.15
Manufacturers' Life	5,723,100	30 12
London Life	1,644 285	30 61

From this table we can see that while such companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have actually decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.78 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, witness the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. That so large a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should entirely abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of clever management and attractive methods, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evident from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

He Carried a Revolver.

The boy who drives the mail wagon has exalted ideas regarding the responsibility of his position. He considered that he had the right to carry a revolver in order to be prepared for the possibility of overt attack upon Her Majesty's mails, but the police yesterday confiscated the weapon, and this morning the youth was given a lecture by the magistrate. Mail carriers cannot legally carry weapons about them.

Two Ball Games.

There will be two baseball games here this week — with Campbellford Friday and Hastings Saturday. Both games will be played a little earlier than usual to allow the visiting team to return home the same day. Friday's game will be called at 1.30 sharp, and Saturday's at 2 p.m. Both Campbell ford and Hastings beat Peterborough last year, and the local club will try to avenge their former defeats.

Equal Rights.

The topic of the day and that which we all want is not only Equal Rights in a political sense of the word, but in many others. Here are people throwing away their hard earned money, with unprincipled houses who do not as much as thank them for it. Why should they do it? Why not call on W. J. Morrow, where you are received courteously, your money placed to a good advantage and you are placed on a solid basis in future for buying cheap groceries. dw

Guilty of Manslaughter.

The inquest on the Locust Hill railway disaster, by which five men were killed about a month ago, was concluded Wednesday night. A large amount of evidence was taken, and the jury's verdict of manslaughter against Section Foreman Rocho would seem to indicate that Roche was guilty of culpable negligence. It was contended that he knew the culvert was unsafe and should not have allowed the locomotive to attempt to pass over it. Roche has been arrested and placed in the county gaol to await his trial.

The Canton's Holiday.

The Peterborough Canton of Patriarchs Militant have finally decided to stay away from the demonstration at Kingston next week, for different reasons. The Chevaliers are now considering a trip to Chicago early in August. A grand Triennial Conclave will be held in the western metropolis, and nearly all the Cantons in America will be there. For very little more than the Kingston trip would cost the Canton could visit Chicago. It is probable they will do so.

The New Market Building

The new market building will be practically opened on Saturday next. Owing, doubtless to the Orange demonstration last Saturday, the market was slimly attended, but next Saturday will make up for the failing off that day. Market Clerk Doherty is providing for the occasion. He is putting up notices forbidding the smoking of tobacco in the building and the spitting of tobacco on the floor, and forbidding loitering in the buildings, etc. He has great difficulty in preventing the arcade stairways and landings being used by loafers in the evenings. It is evident that iron gates will have to be provided for the entrance to the market arcade, to be closed after hours in the evening. Otherwise it will be impossible to keep the approaches to the market room clean and decent.

Flimsy garments,
Once so nice,
Filled with mud
And sylvan lice.
Dinner ruined,
Pies and cakes
Food for ants
And garter snakes.
Full of doleful,
Dank dismay.
Dirty, drizzly
Picnic day.

Here are two pictures of picnic experience. The unpleasant part of the summer idyl has largely fallen to the lot of excursionists to-day. It has rained more or less steadily from early morning, and consequently the day's enjoyment has been considerably curtailed. However, where there's a will there's a way, and when picnickers go out for a holiday they can make merry in spite of disagreeable weather.

Three excursions left town this morning. About 250 people, mostly children, took the train for Chemong Park on the Charlotte street Sunday school excursion. The Good Templars trip to Stony Lake was also well attended, and St. John's Bible Class and a few friends went down to Jubilee Point. It is to be hoped the sky will clear over the picnic grounds at least. The spirits of the Templars ought not however, to be damped by the excessive fall of water.

St. Luke's Sunday School annual outing yesterday was graced by charming weather, and of course the picnic was a great success. The pleasure seekers spent the day at Jubilee Point, and nothing occured to mar their enjoyment.

WHAT THE WORD 'PICNIC' MEANS

This is the latest derivation of the word picnic, given by an exchange:—"When a picnic was being arranged for, the custom originally was that those who intended to be present should supply the eatables and drinkables. A list of those who passed round and each picked out the article of food or drink he or she was willing to furnish, and the name of the article was nicked or ticked off the last. The open air entertainment thus became known as a pick and nick. The custom is said to date from 1802, so that the picnic is wholly an institution of the nineteenth century.

Not Scare, but Precaution.

(Hamilton Times.)

It is foolish, if not criminal, to get up a scare about cholera, but there are certain well-defined duties which devolve upon every one at a time like this that should not be neglected. The governments and municipalities should see that every precaution is taken to prevent this disease getting a foothold in Canada, and the people, by personal cleanliness and observing proper rules of health, should assist in conserving the public health. We are glad to notice that the Quebec Provincial Board of Health is alive to the importance of the subject. In a pamphlet issued by it, it says:—

"If cholera should unhappily reach Canada and become prevalent in our midst, it is important for everyone to remember that he is responsible for doing his share in warding off the common enemy. If the enemy arrives, it has to be met boldly, and to be fought on its own ground. Cleanliness and courage are the strongest weapons against cholera; filth and fear are the very worst. Moreover, it is useful for the public distinctly to remember that pains taken and costs incurred for the purposes to which these instructions refer, cannot in any event be regarded as wasted. The local conditions which would enable cholera, if imported, to spread its infection in this country, are conditions which, day by day, in the absence of cholera, create and spread other diseases, such as typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, diarrhœa, and the like—diseases which, being never absent from the country, are, in the long run, far more destructive than cholera.

[These are words that can properly be taken to heart by our local health authorities. And by the people also, for no board of health, however willing and capable, can attain the fullest measure of success in sanitation without the active and firm co-operation of the public. The public health is a matter of the first importance at any time, and especially so in view of the possibility of a visit of the cholera epidemic to this continent. "Forewarned is forearmed," is a motto that applies to nothing with greater force than to the preservation of the public health.]

The Benwell Murder.

A Half Forgotten Tragedy—How Birchall Spends His Time—Has a Trump Card in Reserve, Which He Says Will Clear Him of All Complicity in the Crime.

WOODSTOCK, July 16.—The spot designated "Benwell Swamp" is being visited daily by persons spending their vacation in the neighborhood Provincial Detective Murray was in the vicinity the other day in search of any item of evidence tending to strengthen the case of the crown at the forthcoming trial. Working under the just rule that a man is innocent until proven guilty the only prison discipline Birchall is subject to is confinement within jail precincts. His apartments are comfortably furnished the floors carpeted and pictures (including a scene of Epsom Downs) adorn the walls. His meals are supplied from the hotel near by. He dresses in excellent taste, wears a diamond ring and pin and carefully waxes his moustache, of which he is very proud. He reads, smokes cigars, converses with visitors and strolls around the court grounds. It is rumored that he has a trump card to play which will exonerate him from any complicity in the crime. Mrs. Birchall and her sister, Miss West Jones, are both staying here, and have many sympathizers. The trial does not take place until September 18. Application for admission tickets have already been sent in.

The Crop Outlook.

With reasonably good weather from now until harvest time, the crops in Ontario will probably be up to the average. The heavy rains have affected the grain in low land, but on high ground wheat and barley look well. Oats have suffered from the storms, as well as from the ravages of a grub or louse. The apple crop is likely to be a poor one in Western Ontario. There will be an abundance of hay, and roots are making fair progress. In Quebec and the Maritime Provinces hay, oats and peas will return a handsome yield. In Manitoba and the Northwest the crops at present are very good. In the region west of Broadview, which is usually too dry, a large quantity of rain has fallen this season. Southern Manitoba has been visited by one or two hailstorms, but it is said the damage has been light. On the whole, therefore, the prospect throughout the Dominion is cheering. A good crop with good prices is greatly needed.

The farmers are anxious, however, about the effect of the McKinley tariff bill. In some districts in the Province dealers who have been in the habit of making contracts for the purchase of peas and barley have notified their old customers that, owing to the probable adoption of that measure by Congress, they will not be able to handle those crops this year. In Quebec and along the tidal rivers of New Brunswick, where a great deal of hay has been raised for the states, the settlers are much perplexed. The present duty of two dollars per ton was bad enough, but the new one of four dollars is prohibitory. Last year Quebec sent over $770,000 worth of hay to New England. According to the latest reports the Finance Committee of the United State Senate has decided to place the duty on barley at 25 cents per bushel. In the original bill Mr. McKinley had put it at 30 cents. The importers and elevator men at Buffalo, Oswego and Syracuse endeavored to get the committee to reduce it to fifteen cents, but pressure from the Northwestern States, where a large acreage of barley is being grown this year, prevailed with the Republican Senators. It is important that their party should stand well in the new States of North and South Dakota. In fact the entire agricultural schedule in the bill is designed to conciliate the American farmer, growing restive under the heavy duties on manufactured goods. The new barley duty will hit us hard in Ontario. The two-rowed barley distributed by Mr. Carling has been sown on many farms for export to England. The experiment has been tried in the States, and the verdict there is that the barley exhibits a constant tendency to diminish in weight and also becomes flinty. Perhaps our farmers may have better luck with it. The new duty on animals is also a serious matter for this Province. This year large consignments of cattle and horses have been sent to the North-West, but, of course, the demand there is limited. Taking a large view of the subject, there is little doubt that the McKinley Bill will, in the end, result in the establishment of closer trade relations between the two countries. When protection is reduced to the absurd, as it is by that measure, as well as the N.P., reason gets a chance to be heard. Some of the Tory papers wish the Ottawa Government to pursue a policy of retaliation. Mr. Howard Vincent and the fair traders in England are trying to persuade Lord Salisbury to adopt a similar plan and tax American bread-stuffs as an offset to the increased American duties on Sheffield goods. The British people are intelligent enough to know, however, that they could not possibly mend matters by augmenting the price of their own food. In like manner we should only make bad worse by imposing additional taxes on American manufactures in order to get even with Major McKinley. The Canadian farmer would not get a cent more for his horses or his barley, whist he would have to pay the increase in the tariff on American-made wares. A distinguished English economist, Sir Thomas Farrer, formerly permanent secretary of the Board of Trade, says in a recent work:—"Temporary and accidental circumstances have made Canada and the United States assume a hostile commercial attitude; but their disputes are the quarrels of lovers, and it is pretty certain that, sooner or later, the people of the two countries will desire to trade freely with one another, to the infinite advantage of both. The McKinley tariff is the last card the protectionists have, and when it fails, as it must fail, to relieve the farmers of the United States, who are suffering, not from the importation of foreign produce, but from the duties on manufactures which curtail the export of their own stuff by enhancing the cost of raising it, the reign of common sense will begin.—Globe.

Ontario the Taxpayer.

If the Confederation is to be preserved, the subsidy system must go. There is no justice in it. As consented to by Hon. George Brown, with many misgivings, it was unfair to Ontario. As subsequently modified, its injustice was increased. On the basis now proposed by Hon. Mr. Norcier, its operations would be so outrageously one-sided that no free people, such as those who inhabit Ontario, could be expected to submit to it. An increase of the subsidies means nothing more nor less than the robbery of Ontario, the paying Province. Says the Toronto Mail:—It is interesting and instructive to compare the contributions of a Quebec city with those of Ontario cities of about the same size. Three Rivers had in 1881 a population of 9,296. The customs revenue the city produced last year was $16,521. Brockville, on the other hand, with a population of 7,609, contributed $82,373, while St. Catherines, with 9,000 paid $91,222, and Stratford, with eight thousand, paid $85,323. These figures serve to show that our Quebec friends are not a tax paying community. But it is not absolutely necessary to quote figures to prove this. It is well known that the habitant is a different man to the Ontario farmer. The Ontario farm-house contains, as a rule, all the comforts that are to be found in a city residence. It has its imported carpets, a piano or organ, that has paid the duty in its finished state or upon the raw material, a sewing machine, pictures, curtains, blinds, and many other dutiable goods. The farmer himself has his suit of broadcloth, and the wife and daughters are not less tasteful in their millinery and dressmaking than their city sisters. But the habitant dwells relatively in primitive simplicity. A hard-working, industrious man, he does not indulge in the luxuries his labour should bring. When he has paid his tithes and his fabrique assessment, he has nothing left with which to buy carpets, musical instruments, sewing machines, broadcloth, millinery, or the other extras which abound in Ontario, and upon which Federal taxes are paid.

"It is obvious then that the increasing subsidies must increase the distance between the actual Quebec contributions to the general fund and the Quebec withdrawals from the same. This, however, is not, as has already been pointed out, the only consideration which makes for opposition to so extensive a disturbance of the financial relation as Mr. Mercier has proposed. The money called for can only be supplied through a further increase in the Customs duties. If the habitant pays little or nothing into the treasury now, a lift of five or ten per cent. in the duties cannot hurt his pocket. Five per cent. on nothing is nothing. But the increase will fall upon the Ontario man, who really does pay taxes. It is folly to argue that justice can be done by giving Ontario also an increased subsidy. If we are levied upon to the extent of a million and are allowed a return of $500,000, we are just half a million to the bad."

Railway Bridge at Campbellford.

The Campbellford Herald says:—"An enormous amount of labour must be expended upon the new line of railway before it is completed, and it is doubtful if regular train service will commence much sooner than the first of January next. The masons have returned to the construction of the stonework of the bridge, and are now building the abutment on the east side. Another pier is to be started as soon as the logs have passed down the river, to admit of a caisson being sunk; thousands of yards of digging and filling has to be done in the east "cut" and on the embankment to the abutment; hundreds of loads remain to be removed from the "cut" on the west side; the iron bridge is to be constructed and a new station built. The job is extending many months beyond the time computed for its completion; and we may add that the cost will probably exceed the estimate by many thousands of dollars.

A woman can bake, and a woman can sew
And a woman her house can keep clean;
But she can't wash her clothes to perfection she knows,

Failure of the Delaware Peach Crop.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 16.—President Mills of the Delaware Railway has furnished the annual estimate of the peach crop. The total estimated shipments are placed at 12,328 baskets. This is the smallest yield in the history of peach growing with two exceptions: 1868, when the shipments were 28 carloads, and 1881, when 78 carloads were sent to market.

Winnipeg Wirelets.

WINNIPEG, July 16.—A telegram from Rapid City says a special train passed over the Great Northwestern Central Railway today.

Henry Battell, one of the oldest residents of the Moosejaw district, and Herbert McLean, the 12-year-old son of Dr. McLean, the well-known Indian missionary, were instantly killed by lightning last night while eating their supper at Battell's homestead.

The Carolina Race War.

BLACKVILLE, S.C., July 16.—The arrival of the military prevented further trouble at the Kearz settlement. Most of the military have left the place, as no further trouble is anticipated. The negroes have all returned to work. Eleven negroes who ambushed several young white men have left the county. If possible they will be arrested. Several white men were wounded, Mr. Kearz probably fatally.

The Drouth Broken.

LINCOLN, July 16.—Good rains fell in most parts of eastern Nebraska Monday and yesterday. Corn farmers are greatly encouraged.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., July 16.—The scorching drouth from which this section has been suffering for many weeks has at length been broken. The rainfall which began at midnight and continued for about three hours was tremendous.

The "Gold" Watch Racket.

ELMIRA, July 16.—Several well-dressed, smooth-tongued rascals have been "doing" the townships of Woolwich and Peel and have succeeded in swindling a good many of our farmers. Their specialty is gold watches which they claim they have been obliged to take on a bad debt. Their story was so well rendered that many of our farmers fell victims to their snares and paid from $10 to $18 for watches which are worth less than $3 each.

Cannuckophobe Cullom.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—In the Senate today Mr. Cullom offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to report whether loading, bonding, sealing and manifesting cars or vehicles in Canadian territory for transit through Canadian territory in bond to American ports can be done with safety to the revenue and with a proper regard to American interests, capital and labor and with the proper enforcement of the Inter-State Commerce Law upon all transportation alike, whether partly in transit through foreign territory or whether within the United States, and whether and to what extent such loading, bonding, sealing and manifesting cars or vehicles in Canada is done and under what law or statute or treaty.

A Millbank Sensation.

STRATFORD, July 16.—On Saturday a young woman came to Millbank on the evening train from the north. She was unknown to any one in the village and on her arrival went to the hotel. On Sunday morning she went out in a neighboring field and gave birth to a baby. She tore up some of her underclothing and wrapping the infant up in it left it in the field and returned to the hotel, where she had breakfast. She stayed around the inn and ate dinner and supper and then went to bed. In the morning she was too ill to get up, the force of will that had kept the unfortunate girl up so well having collapsed. Some person went out in the field during the morning and found the child. It is still alive and the authorities are looking into the affair.

Drowned in Six Inches of Water.

BRANTFORD, July 16.—A two-year-old boy named Fisher, whose mother lives on Farmer Atkinson's place in Tranquility-road, was accidentally drowned during the temporary absence of his mother. The little fellow had toddled out into the barn yard, where a pool of water about six inches deep had formed, and wading into it fell on his face. He was unable to get up and was drowned before assistance arrived.

A Candidate for the Cat.

BELLEVILLE, July 16.—News has just been received of a ludicrous case of assault committed on a young French girl in North Hastings. The fiend who is charged with the crime has left for parts unknown. It is believed he is secreted in the woods.

Hot Weather in the Alps.

VIENNA, July 16.—Intense heat prevails in Central Austria and in the Alps from Grandlouden to Lower Austria. The melting of the snow on the mountains has caused the affluents of the Danube to rise. The inhabitants are greatly alarmed. Much damage has already been done.

Floods and Pestilence.

VIENNA, July 16.—The Danube has overflowed near this city. Several bridges have been swept away near Presburg. The villages on Schutt Island are inundated.

The Board of Health here has been informed that cholera has reappeared in 31 communes of Valencia and Alicante, Spain.

The Cheese Deal.

Last week we stated that certain buyers had commenced to pick up the June make, and it is now estimated that fully 75 per cent. of it has been secured. In the Ingersoll section most of the Junes have gone into the hands of local buyers, who in a number of instances hold it for account of English and Scotch houses, some of which are now in warehouse costing 8½c for finest. In the Belleville district the June cheese are mostly all bought up, and in the Brockville section factorymen have sold up to the 16th ult. During the past week business on spot has been rather quiet, but this by no means affords any criterion for affairs in the country, as there has been considerable buying in quite a number of sections on the basis of 8¼c to 8¾c for finest white and 8¾ for finest colored laid down here. Less desirable goods have been purchased on the basis of 7¾c to 8¼c laid down here according to grade. Cable advices from Liverpool report the demand for Canadian cheese light at 43s to 44s for finest, but we are reminded that the Liverpool cable represents the buying interests almost exclusively. On the other hand the make now going on is represented as being unusually heavy.

PETERBORO BOOMING!

The Manufacturing Industries of this town have never been in a more prosperous condition. They are receiving large orders and so many of them that they have to work overtime to supply the demand.

Notwithstanding the above facts, I have properties of all kinds forced on the market, for various reasons, at prices far below fair value, and I would strongly advise any person contemplating buying a vacant lot, a house and lot, a market garden or a farm to buy Now, and buy from me. It will be money in your pocket to do so. Come in and let me know what you want and where you want it. I will guide you right and sell you cheap property. I have a Grocery Business, a Flour and Feed Store, a Hotel, a Butcher Business, and a well established Real Estate Business, all good openings and good reasons in each case for selling. Do you want to buy any of the above,—if not then I want to sell you a Choice Lot in the Little Lake Cemetery; it belongs to a foreigner.

FIVE WERE DROWNED.

FATAL COLLISION IN THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER.

A Yacht Run Down by A Steamer—Four of the Victims Well-Known Pennsylvania Society People—A Marine Disaster at Detroit—Sunk in Lake Michigan

PITTSBURG, July 17. The steamer St. Lawrence collided with the pleasure yacht Catherine in the St. Lawrence River near Alexandria Bay to-night. Of a party of 12 on the yacht five were drowned. They were:

EDWARD PEMBERTON.
MRS. EDWARD PEMBERTON.
MRS. W. D. HART.
MISS MARGARET HENRY.
ENGINEER JOHN SENESCAL.

They are all from Bradford, Pa., except Senescal, and are people well known in social circles there.

TWO YACHTS WRECKED.

Supposed to be the Sable and the Igor of Chicago Yacht Club Michigan Disaster.

CHICAGO, July 17. Nothing definite has yet been learned as to the identity of the two yachts found wrecked in the middle of Lake Michigan yesterday by the captain of the steamer Pardon. It is surmised, however, that they are the Sable and the Igor, which left Chicago one week ago last Tuesday. They belong to and were sailed by James and Joseph Bourke of this city. The latter was the largest of the two, and had in tow the Igor.

COLLISION IN DETROIT RIVER.

The Steamer City of Detroit Cuts the Steambarge Kesota in Two.

DETROIT, July 17. This evening as the steamer City of Detroit with three excursion parties aboard came within the city limits her steam steering apparatus gave out and she ran into and sheered about and ran into the steambarge Kesota owned in Cleveland, cutting her completely in two amidships. The Kesota's cargo was iron ore and it sank in the river holding the severed parts under water, leaving the bow and stern above water with the City of Detroit in close contact. Captain Fick and a crew of 12 were rescued by row boats and yachts.

The aged mother of the steward, name unknown, was drowned. The captain's wife was saved by a seaman diving after her as she was sinking. Judge Nichols of Batavia, Ont., an excursionist on the City of Detroit, was quite severely injured by the breaking of some shrouds, and his son and three or four other passengers were slightly hurt. All except the judge were able to continue their trip.

The damage to the City of Detroit is slight and she will be on the dry dock for three weeks. The Kesota was valued at $120,000, and is a total wreck.

MET DEATH IN FLAMES.

A Laundry Burnt to Death at Quebec. The Fire Supposed to be Incendiary.

QUEBEC, July 17. A fire which this morning broke out in a barroom owned by Dr. Morin's brother, in St. Joseph's street in Limoilou made such rapid progress that the whole house was soon in a blaze. The firemen promptly answered the alarm call which, however, was of little use. On arriving at the scene of disaster they worked with energy in preserving the surrounding property, not aware that the occupants of the upper part of the burning house were reaching to descend. It was only after the flames had been extinguished that they came to the conclusion a family of five persons burned to death. The family consisted of Pierre Miranda, his wife and three children who had lately returned from the States intending to settle in their native city where they had found a situation. It is thought that more people have perished in the flames, as the Mirandas were having several visitors from their country.

Delisonne has been arrested charged with arson and his wife as accessory. Duellet is about to be arrested. These arrests were ordered by Coroner Belleau shortly after the opening of the inquest.

DUKES BUYING CANADIAN LAND.

English Noblemen and Capitalists to Develop Phosphate Deposits.

OTTAWA, July 17. A strong company with $500,000 capital has formed in London, Eng., for the purpose of acquiring and working the phosphate lands in Canada. The list of founders is a remarkable one. It is headed by the Duke of Westminster, whose name is followed by the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Duke of Portland, the Duke of Abercorn, the Duke of Sutherland, and the Duke of Fife. These names are succeeded by a Marquis, two Earls, six Barons, and the Prince Camille de Poligniac. Then come a number of other well known names, such as those of Sir James Whitehead, Mr. Muindella, M.P., Mr. Sampson Lloyd of Lloyd Bank, Mr. Whittemore, M.P., etc. There can be no question of the strength of the company, and a great development of the phosphate industry may be looked for.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCES.

Favored by Witnesses Before the Prison Commission—Off for Ottawa.

KINGSTON, July 17. The Prison Commission finished its work here to-day. Warden Lavell of the Penitentiary did not think a prison could be self-sustaining and justice be done the prisoners. He favored the indeterminate system of sentences. The system at Penetanguishene he considered unsatisfactory.

Chief of Police Horsey considered the reformatory for boys a nest to propagate crime. They learned more crime inside than outside. He favored an industrial school and compulsory education. Married men who would not support their families should be made to work under compulsion and their earnings be bestowed on their families.

Sheriff Ferguson favored governmental control of jails and thought the treatment of prisoners in the Central Prison cruel. Drunken men should be tenderly treated and not made to appear as criminals.

Jailer Corbett wanted the power of appointing turnkeys transferred from the sheriff to the jailer. In 25 years he had been given 25 turnkeys, half of whom were unfit for the position.

The commissioners left for Ottawa this afternoon.

Dolly Bosley Safe for a Year.

HAMILTON, July 17. Dolly Bosley, the self-confidence woman who pleaded guilty to obtaining $5 from Mrs. Eliza Imboden by false pretences, was this morning sentenced to a year in the Mercer Reformatory.

HE KEEPS THE PAPERS.

HARRISON IGNORES THE REQUEST OF CONGRESS.

Has no Use Ready to Present the Behring Sea Documents but the President Locked Up the Correspondence His Action Confirms Recent Reports.

WASHINGTON, July 17. The President held a long conference to-day with Representative Hitt of Illinois, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, with relation to the Behring Sea correspondence called for by Mr. Hitt's resolution. Representative Dingley of Maine, a member of the Committee on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries and a close student of the Behring Sea controversy, also called on the President and conferred with him on the subject of the House resolution. It can be stated without violating the confidence of any one that the President has indicated clearly that he does not at this time regard it as a wise move to lay the correspondence before the House of Representatives and so make it public. He bases his objection on the ground that the threat made by Lord Salisbury regarding the protection of British sealers in Behring Sea by British war vessels must necessarily be confirmed by the publication of any material portion of the correspondence, and that such confirmation would tend to increase the present feeling of irritation and possibly defeat the purpose of the negotiations now again in progress.

This idea urges itself the more strongly on the President by reason of his great reluctance to make public any part of the modified instructions to our revenue cutters in Behring Sea. It would require the publication of these instructions to show conclusively that they have been rendered so inoffensive that Lord Salisbury will doubtless never have an opportunity to carry out his threat. Here again the President and Secretary Blaine are at odds. As already indicated, Secretary Blaine, through his intimate friend, Representative Hitt, has assured the Bulgaria's Demands on Turkey Russia Building Ironclads—A Disastrous Storm in England A Family of Eight Smothered by Charcoal Fumes.

LONDON, July 17.—In the House of Commons to-night Mr. Gourlay (Lib.) asked whether there was any truth in a cable despatch stating that President Harrison, replying to Lord Salisbury, had declared the intention of the United States Government to deal summarily with British sailors in the Behring Sea.

Sir John Gorst replied that the Government had not received any report that such a statement had been made by President Harrison. He said the negotiations on the Behring Sea question continued.

W. H. Smith intimated that the negotiations with France regarding Zanzibar proceeded in a perfectly friendly spirit on both sides.

Shooting at Bisley Butts.

LONDON, July 17.—The annual matches of the National Rifle Association opened at Bisley on Monday. The Canadian team arrived here on Saturday evening and found that Lieut.-Col. Prior, commandant, had made the most complete arrangements for their welfare. Sunday was spent quietly in camp and Monday the team fired in the Alexandra match, range 500 and 600 yards, seven shots at each range, Martini-Henri rifles. Staff-Sergeant Ogg of the First Brigade Field Artillery, Guelph; Private Hutcheson of the 43rd Battalion, Ottawa, and Color-Sergeant Henderson of the 62nd Battalion of St. John, N.B., each won £3; Corp. H. Marris, 13th Battalion, Hamilton, won £2. This is not so good a record as the first day last year; when the team's winnings amounted to £25.

Yesterday the team fired in The Daily Graphic match, range 200 yards standing, when Pte. C. A. Windatt, 45th Battalion, Bowmanville, and Capt. H. H. Gray, Governor-General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, each won £3. Sergt. C. M. Hall, 79th Battalion, Waterloo, took a prize of £2.

Minister Ribot will reply to-morrow or Saturday.

Reparation Demanded.

BELGRADE, July 17.—The Servian Government has sent a circular to the powers with reference to the recent murder of the Servian consul at Pristina. The circular says the murder was not due to personal vengeance but to religious fanaticism and demands special reparation from Turkey.

Substantially Correct.

LONDON, July 17.—The Press Association understands that the American version of the Behring Sea communications between Lord Salisbury and Mr. Blaine, although in substance correct, is couched in stronger terms than Lord Salisbury used.

A Drug Clerk's Mishap.

WINDSOR, July 17.—William Tomlinson, clerk in Laing & Fleming's drug store, had a narrow escape from being burned to death yesterday. He had gone into the basement for some alcohol with an oil lamp. No sooner had he entered the room than an explosion occurred, caused by alcohol leaking from a barrel. Tomlinson was surrounded by flames, and his call brought the other clerks of the store to his help. A stream of water from the hose and a blanket put the flames out. Tomlinson was badly burned.

Horse Thieves at Queenston.

QUEENSTON, July 17.—Horse thieves were busy here last night. Messrs. Robert Currie, Robert Wood and George Clement were the losers of valuable animals. No clue has been found yet, and it is probable that the thieves have crossed the border with their booty.

Kansas' Corn Crop a Failure.

KANSAS CITY, July 17.—A paper says advices from Kansas state that the condition of corn crops grows worse day by day. In some sections the farmers have about given up hopes of harvesting any crop at all. In many sections the farmers are marketing their hogs, fearing they will have no corn to feed them.

Acquitted Because of Insanity.

BEHEADED WITH A RAZOR.

Miss Sellers Butchered in the Presence of Her Affianced.

CHARLOTTE, N.C., July 17.—North Carolina has a Jack the Ripper, and the people of Robeson County are hunting every nook and corner of that section for him. Unlike the famous Ripper of London the name of this fiend is known and descriptions of him are posted at many places. He is Simon Ward, a man of notorious reputation, whose record is stained with crime. The story told here is that last Sunday he murdered Mary Sellers near Maxton. She was engaged to be married to a young man named Crawford, but Ward is thought to have had a secret passion for her.

Sunday morning Crawford and the girl started to walk to church. They had gone only a short distance when Ward came out from some bushes near the roadside and ordered Crawford to leave the girl. Crawford hesitated, but was finally driven away. He did not go far, but secreted himself in the bushes near by.

From his hiding-place Crawford could see and hear all that passed between Ward and Miss Sellers. Ward wanted the girl to go to the church with him and when she refused he pleaded with her. She was determined, however, and Ward, becoming enraged, swore he would drag her there.

She turned and started to run away from him. Ward, now fully enraged, drew a razor from his pocket and made a lunge at her, sending the sharp blade deep into her throat. Miss Sellers fell to the ground. Ward pounced upon her and began to saw the head from her body. This ghastly work he accomplished, and picking up the head, with the blood dripping from it, he viewed it with a fiendish look of delight, then tossing it aside he walked leisurely away.

Crawford being unarmed was afraid to make his presence known and stood and saw the woman he expected soon to make his wife butchered like a dog. He rushed off and gave the alarm and soon a mob was scouring the woods and swamps for the murderer. So far he has succeeded in evading capture. He will be lynched as soon as he is caught.

TOOT LUNG'S LITTLE SCHEME.

So Was Passed by a Collector, but Was Afterwards Caught.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., July 17.—Toot Lung, as he is suphoniously styled, a finely dressed and, from a Chinese point of view, good-looking, almond-eyed individual, played his cards to perfection to gain entrance to Uncle Sam's domain on last Sunday morning. He came across the pleasant waters of old Ontario from Toronto, landing at Wilson, N.Y., with a party of excursionists. Collector Culver was on hand and asked the Chinaman to display some proof of his citizenship. The wily little Chinaman produced a paper upon which was written his intention to become a citizen, and the collector foolishly passed him.

Deputy United States Marshal Pomeroy afterwards discovered the trick played upon the collector and he started out to capture Toot Lung, intending to return him to Canada. The Chinaman got wind of Pomeroy's design and at once started on foot across the country towards Lockport. After a hot chase of about six miles the Marshal overtook his man, arrested him and brought him before United States Commissioner Pound at Lockport, where he received a preliminary examination and was held for further trial.

Lung said he had lived in the country for years, but unfortunately for him one day wandered over to Toronto. There the United States law that forbids a Chinaman who has once left the country to return again. Commissioner Pound could interpret the law in but one way and therefore he held him in $1000 bail. His countryman, Hing Sing, who acted as interpreter during the trial, couldn't raise this amount and therefore Lung had to go to jail. He will be examined again to-morrow. Among other things found on Lung's person when sent to jail was a dirk knife, a gold watch and a revolver.

A HONEYMOON QUICKLY ENDED.

A Denver Couple Arrested for the Murder of the Woman's First Husband.

DENVER, Col., July 17.—Frank W. Millington and Mrs. Mary E. Avery were married just one month yesterday when their honeymoon was suddenly brought to a termination by a coroner's inquest, which resulted in warrants being sworn out charging them with murder. Three years ago W. H. Avery and Millington were in partnership at Fort Collins. Millington was a handsome young fellow and Avery, being of a jealous disposition, they soon had some words over Millington's attention to Avery's wife, and a dissolution of partnership was the result. June 2 her husband died, leaving an estate valued at over $100,000. Twelve days afterward she was secretly married to Millington and to-day the couple were arrested.

The Minneapolis Flour Output.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 17.—The Northwestern Miller says: The flour output last week was the heaviest since May. The aggregate production of 15 mills was 89,100 barrels. Most everybody has more or less orders ahead. The number of mills running to-day was 17, and they were producing at the rate of about 20,000 barrels per 24 hours. These figures are to be materially added to next week by several of the very largest mills being got under full headway. The flour market continues strong, but it is less active than for two weeks past. Bakers and low grades are in good demand, especially for export shipment, and could be sold far ahead if it was considered safe to do so. But with orders enough booked to keep their mills running from two to seven weeks millers are no longer willing to sell very freely of these grades. Patents have dragged for several days past. At the prices asked the domestic market is quiet. Up to Saturday there was a fair demand for patents to be exported, but lower bids have been the rule since then and few transactions have occurred. The export shipments for the week were 38,100 barrels.

Man Wants But Little Here Below.

ST. PAUL, July 17.—The Farmers' Alliance and United Labor party convention re-assembled to-day. A platform was adopted which demands that the "war tariff" be radically revised; denounces the McKinley Bill as "the crowning infamy of protection"; demands Government control of railways that discrimination may cease, reasonable rates be established, watered stock not receive the reward of honest capital and pooling of rates be absolutely prohibited. For producers it demands free and open markets for grain and proper facilities for transportation, etc. It holds that mortgage indebtedness should be deducted from the tax on realty, demands lower interest, an increase in the volume of money and free coinage of silver, asks for the Australian ballot system, holds that United States senators and railway commissioners should be elected by ballot and finally considers that recent Supreme Court decisions are fraught with danger to our form of government.

DYING FROM HER FAST.

Mrs. Wachter Has Not Eaten for Over One Hundred Days.

EASTON, Pa., July 17.—Mrs. Ellen Wachter, who has not taken any nourishment for more than 100 days, is lying at the point of death in her home at Whitehall. For most of the time the woman is unconscious. She is gradually and painlessly passing away. The convulsions that have been racking her body have ceased and her husband is no longer compelled to restrain her.

The last time the patient attempted to quench her thirst was ten weeks ago, when she swallowed some coffee, which she was unable to retain. The very sight of food is unbearable. Night and day her husband has sat at her bedside, pathetically watching his wife drifting away from him.

The case has attracted wide attention, and scores of medical men have visited Mrs. Wachter's residence. Every known remedy has been tried, but unavailingly. It is now eight years since the patient was first afflicted with her illness, and during that time she has not been able to partake of anything like solid food. Her death is momentarily looked for.

PROMPT PAYMENT.

The Dominion Government seems disinclined to forego one turn of the screw. The long suffering taxpayer is taxed up to the highest notch on nearly all the necessaries of life. Not content with that, the business men of the Capital are handicapped in a manner to suggest the last straw. It appears that there is an absurdly unfair enactment that a civic servant's salary is not liable to garnishee. These blotting pad dudes are noted for incurring liabilities, and for never paying cash, and collecting debts from them is a very difficult matter, made practically impossible by the fact that their wages are exempt from the very convenient legal process of garnishee. This is terribly severe on the capital shopkeepers; tailors, and tobacconists especially. Is this equal rights? Is it just that a civil servant should be allowed to play upon the good nature of shopkeepers, and then be in a position to plead the baby act to escape payment? Does Parliament consider it necessary to class civil service dudes as infants-at-law and have to pass a special act of parliament to enable them to get the benefit of their wages. A poor washerwoman or savvy who runs a bill at a shop has to submit to the general law, but a civil service novelity, who draws a big salary for doing little or nothing except keep the dust off an office stool a few hours per day, must be treated with iniquitous partiality and allowed to escape the payment of his just financial obligations. The evil has reached such a pass in Ottawa that preachers are thundering from the pulpit against the reprobates who refuse to pay their just debts. There are several classes of bad debtors—those who are willing to pay but can't pay; those who are able to pay but don't pay—only procrastinate; but the meanest of all is the debtor who can pay and wont pay because he can't be made to pay by legal process—as a civil service employe or the miserable man who adds insult to injury by taking advantage of the statute of limitations.

TAXATIONIST EXCUSES.

The taxationist party of this country have got beyond the stage of praising a high tariff; they can only defend it. It is admitted that our burden of taxation is grievous, but, it is contended by our fiscal tyrants, that the bulk of taxes is levied upon luxuries, and that the burden of taxation is borne by the wealthy, who can stand being thus bled. But is it true that the bulk of Federal taxation is levied upon luxuries, such as wines, jewelry, silks, plate, etc? An examination of the blue, reveals a list of the luxuries which paid duty the last fiscal year, of which a record is published, together with the amount of duty paid by the plutocracy:—

Carriages	$ 127 472
Fancy goods	559,930
Furs	129 492
Silks	898 151
Spirits and wines	3,128,473
Tobacco	282 966
Gold and silver	65,291
Jewellery	95,425

Compare this list of "luxuries" with the following partial list of "necessaries," and contrast the relative burdens of the rich and the poor under the fiscal system of our far-hearted rulers:

Sugar and molasses	$ 3 816,297
Woollens	2,953,937
Iron and steel	2,857,880
Cottons	1,198,415
Provisions	481,361
Dried and green fruits	119,503
Kerosene and other oils	534,000
Books periodicals and paper	621 000
Flour, meal and grain	59 0 1
Coal and coke	773 330
Drugs, dyes and medicines	357,675
Leather and its manufactures	338,0 3
Manufactures of wood	38 000
Manufactures of glass	302,000
Gutta percha and India rubber	243,000
Earthenware and China	235,511

These figures do not support the "luxury" theory of taxation to a very alarming extent. A rich man upon his silver plate pays a tax of 30 per cent., a poor widow, who has to support herself and several children by making shirts at six cents apiece, is taxed for her sewing machine 3 dollars straight, whether it is worth $30 or $5, and 20 per cent additional, and the "midnight oil" she burns is taxed 7 1/5 cents per gallon. No, no, the rich man doesn't pay all the customs taxes, nor the most of them.

THE Empire practically admits that the United States is our best market for barley, eggs, horses, sheep, etc. In this case, then, reciprocal trade relations with our neighbors would be a benefit to the Canadian farmer. In that event, however, the Empire is greatly concerned for our exports of wheat, cheese and cattle. Why bless your imperial innocence, we should still have that market open to us for the latter even if we did have reciprocity in the other articles with the United States.

THE Hamilton Times has the following:—The leading points brought out at the sittings of the Prison Reform Commission may be summarized as follows:—Drunkenness is the great cause of crime; imprisonment doesn't cure drunkenness; the establishment of poor houses is desirable; hard work is the best antidote for the tramp nuisance; county councils are too mean to have the management of jails; government controls of jails would be a good thing; the importation of old country waifs has a bad effect morally and physically upon the youth of the country; more play grounds required for city children; better classification in jails necessary; religious services the exception, not the rule, in jails.

Our Cattle Trade With the Old Country.

Mr. Henry Wade, secretary of the Ontario Arts and Agriculture Association, who is now in England, has been writing to some London papers in reference to the cattle trade between Canada and Great Britain. He is of opinion that the Canadian cattle trade has about reached its zenith, but that Canadians have not much to fear from the importation of frozen meat which now come from Australia and elsewhere in such immense quantities. Dealers say that this frozen meat loses it flavor by the time it reaches England. Neither, Mr. Wade says, have Canadians much reason to dread the attempt now being made to bring live stock to England from Buenos Ayres. The journey is too prolonged and trying for cattle, and so long as Canada keeps disease out of her country her hold upon the trade is secure, though there seems little probability of a much extended market. But if our Canadian stockraisers and stock feeders are to hold their ground in the English market; or if our Ontario farmers are to give up growing grain and to take to stock raising, they must have cheap unmixed corn. Even the London Free Press, Mr. Carling's organ, admits that much. Hence in the interest of the Canadian meat trade the corn duty must go.

Little Quarrels Breed Bi

You just bring a couple of little quarrels into your family and they'll breed like sparrows, and you just bring a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters into your house and see how quickly health and strength follows its use. Nothing excels it for strengthening, regulating and purifying power. 2w264

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

A MIRAGE EVERY DAY.

Singular Optical Delusion Witnessed by the Inhabitants of Southern California.

The Pasadena correspondent of the Los Angeles Times writes: Any one who will take the trouble to go to the intersection of North Los Robles avenue and Villa street, by looking south on the first named thoroughfare, will see on a clear day about noontime a pool of water, or what appears to be such, about the place where Colorado street crosses the avenue.

There would be nothing strange or startling in the above information if the water, plainly visible at Villa street, did not disappear as one approaches its apparent location. In other words, there is no pool at the intersection of Colorado street and Los Robles avenue, and what the spectator sees from Villa street is nothing less than a mirage.

To witness this rare optical illusion the place indicated should be visited between the hours of 11 a. m. and noon, although the mirage has been seen as late as 1 o'clock. A perfectly clear day must be chosen, for when there are clouds in the sky the water does not show up. The spectator had better be in a buggy, the elevation thus afforded aiding somewhat to the effect of the delusion.

Granted these conditions, a small pool or lake is distinctly visible off to the southward, about half a mile distant. Let a vehicle pass Los Robles avenue or Colorado street and its shadow will be plainly reflected beneath the water's surface. The water is seen most clearly from a point a few yards south of Villa street.

The mirage is an optical delusion that comparatively few persons are privileged to witness. It is due to the unequable densities, refracting powers of adjacent strata of the air, usually of those close to the surface of land and sea. The phenomenon is fully explained by the principles of refraction and total reflection of light, and is often termed unusual refraction. Mirages are seen less frequently on land than on sea. On land they are seen most often on plains or hot climates, where the intense heat of the sand greatly rarefies the air in contact with it, which acts as a mirror or body of water, in which inverted images of distant bodies are seen. As the traveler approaches these seeming lakes their real aspect changes, the water apparently gradually receding.

It is difficult to express exactly what is the condition of the atmosphere when multiple images are seen, sometimes the images are direct, at other times inverted. It would be interesting to know what causes the local mirage above described. The ground where the pool appears to be is usually moist, the sprinkling wagon getting its water from a hydrant near by. But no matter what produces the phenomenon it is there just the same, and any one, no matter how skeptical, by following the instructions given above, will see for himself and be convinced.

The Musical Rocks of Stony Garden.

Nearly a mile and a half from Top Rock, which is the highest point on the Haycock Mountains and within a mile of the little hamlet of Daniel-ville, are the Ringing Rocks, as they are called by the Bucks county people. Years ago some one named this place the Garden of Stone, and from that it has come to be known as Stony Garden. It is a barren waste of rocks, for all vegetation ceases abruptly at its edge. Not a trace of green is to seen over the whole expanse, for not even moss grows on the Ringing Rocks.

During the past half century the Stony Gardens have been frequently visited by tourists and scientists, and their musical qualities were well understood. It remained, however, for Wesley J. Buck the author of the history of Montgomery county, to suggest their possibilities as producers of melody, and for Dr. A. J. Ott of Pleasant Valley to carry them out.

Yesterday was the occasion of the third annual picnic of the Pleasant Valley Literary Association, and the exercises were held in the forest at the edge of the Big Stony Garden. A number of large rocks were selected from the many thousands and carried with great labor to the edge of the so-called garden, where it had been decided to hold the picnic. They were carefully placed on wood supports and tested and arranged until Dr. Ott had at his disposal a number of rocks which, when struck, emitted bell like tones running and two and a half.

Miss Emily A. Bower recited an poem written by William J. Buck for the occasion, entitled "Chimes of Stony Garden." At the end of each stanza Dr. Ott, armed with two heavy blacksmith's hammers rang the chimes on the rocks. The tones produced were musical and remarkably clear. During the exercises which followed Dr. Ott and his musical rocks accompanied by the band, gave frequent selections. The crowning triumph was when Dr. Ott played "Little Annie Rooney," on the rocks, with the band accompaniment. Before the exercises were closed the picnickers spread themselves over the rocks of the Big Stony Garden, and with rocks and stones made the forest ring with the melody of the rocks. Others tried to investigate the mysterious disappearance of a little stream of water which is swallowed up in the rocks only to appear a half a mile away.—Philadelphia Times.

A Canadian Favorite.

The season of green fruits and summer drinks is the time when the worst forms of cholera morbus, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints prevail. As a safe guard Dr. Fowlers Extract of Wild Strawberry should be kept in the house. For 35 years it has been the most reliable remedy. 2w27d

Distrustful People.

Make an exception in favor of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Its known virtues as a cure for diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus and all bowel complaints cause all who use it to regard it as the most reliable and effectual remedy obtainable.

What Say They?

In popularity increasing. In reliabity the standard. In merit the first. In fact the best remedy for summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera infantum, etc., is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All medicine dealers sell it. 2w27d

Our Story.

A GAME OF HEARTS.

"The dutch, the dutch, oh, take care!" is shouted again, but too late—there was a misstep, a plunge, a heavy fall. Ella slipped from the saddle, but her long dress was caught, and she was dragged down. Erich was by her side in an instant and lifted her as some of the men pulled the pony to his feet. She was unhurt, but trembling and shaken, while her horse was soon controllable that she saw the impossibility of mounting him again, and gladly agreed to the suggestion that one of the workmen should lead him home. Erich gave the order and returned to her side.

"You are still ale, countess," he said in an anxious tone.

"Well, you are, too," was the laughing rejoinder, as she raised her eyes to his. But they quickly fell again. Why was his glance so grave, so troubled? What did it mean? Was he in earnest? And he loves another? Impossible! An idea darted into her head. What better opportunity than the present to find out all about it, to see whether his really was thinking of that pretty little plebian.

"I must go home," she said, hastily. "The way is long. I shall be late!"

"If you would take the wood path"—his voice was unsteady—"I could if you will allow me, act as guide. It leads almost straight to the castle."

"That would be very nice," said Ella, if it would not interfere with your work."

"A moment more and I am the country's debtor. But rest assured that I will not neglect my duties—above all, today, when I have been so clearly reminded of my position."

"You are accusing me, now," replied Ella, in a soft tone, "and you are unjust. You saw, you must have seen, how bitterly pained I felt, to hear you so spoken to."

"But that was not a proper feeling for you to have, countess. Your stand must be on the side of the nobles, you know. I may actually insist that you shall 'hunt with the hounds,' but at least you must join in the cry. What would Count Hugo say if he knew that you and I were here discussing his department, he would be very angry with you, certainly."

"My cousin has nothing to do with my sayings and doings before."

"Before," echoed Erich, with a bitter intonation. "Would it not be wiser to train yourself before to his views? They must be the ones most natural to you."

"You speak as if that were a crime, Herr Grüter. How sorry you make me—both for your own sake and my cousin's! Hugo really cares for you and you value any one must value his excellent heart and upright character. He has, you have told me so, yourself proved his helpful friendship to you upon more than one occasion in your life—and all this is to be set aside for the sake of a single hasty, unconsiderate speech, which Ella's color rose—sprang from at least a pardonable feeling."

"No countess, it shall not be so, indeed I do love Count Hugo. I will not deny that I loved him more yesterday than I do today, but I will not in cold blood forget what he has been to me. This morning I was furious. Mein Gott! a man is only a man—anybody would have felt so! But Count Hugo does not deserve that I should say one hard word of him. I will tell you more another time, countess. Now you may be sure I will not be unjust to your cousin."

They were now in the very depths of the wood, and Ella stood still to breathe in the warm, perfumed autumn air.

"Let us rest a little, Herr Grüter," said she sinking down at the foot of an old pine, and taking off her hat. The pine bough threw fine quivering shadows upon the girl's white brow, the soft wind blew a long light tress of golden hair across her breast where it lay murmuring and stirring in the sunshine. Erich stood with folded arms looking down upon her. Not more than her proud anger would have been aroused to day her every look beforehis and she spoke hastily, uncertainly.

"How strangely warm the air is for us. One might fancy departed summer has come again."

"It is not well to let ourselves be deceived by apparent miracles," replied Erich calmly. "We are here in the pines where it is warm and green. But I hold that inherent cold is cold, however it may for a moment seem to gleam and glow."

"Art I have always considered you a man of illusions."

"No, countess, my life has been too straight for that. I have always known the rough reality. But why do I say rough reality. Rather, joyous, bold, irresponsible reality who teaches her disciples, not like men of illusions and enthusiasms, to draw over their prison walls the golden drapery of empty dreams, and lies in supine content upon the clay floor, but to break their chains to burst them off at whatever peril of bleeding hands and torn garments, to rush out into the world, to labor or perhaps not to labor, to be able to live to nourish—but to live. We have the best of it, countess, believe me. Must we not be the wealthier of the world, the clear sky above our heads, the shadow and perfume of the pines—the loveliest human face that ever my eyes—oh, pardon me countess I have gone too far!"

Ella the proud beauty, so used to triumphs—sat in silence, with her eyes upon the ground, then hastily rose.

"You are angry," said Erich. "You ought not to be. What have I said? No more than other words and looks have already told you ten thousand times! But I forgot echo I was!"

"You did not make me angry," Ella answered, in a low, trembling tone. "I was only silent because—because I did not know what to say. Besides," she paused a moment then rallying her courage, went on quickly. "I was surprised that your principles should allow you, when you are on the point of entering life long bonds, to make such flattering speeches to a stranger."

"My principles, life-long bonds," Erich threw back his head with a gay laugh. "Excuse me, countess, for finding it so comical—but to hear such solid words applied to myself! Mein Gott, I have hardly gotten my hat off my head, when the good people are marrying me! Who is the luckless rambler who dares to share my worldly goods, my dog, my gun, my two cigar cases—with me. No, don't tell me," he went on, "I don't want to know it is too absurd. You did not believe that, countess! You know my song:

A youth, light hearted and content
I wander through the world,
Here Arab-like, I pitch my tent,
And straight again 'tis furled.

Ella's heart beat fast as she heard his words of denial, even while she whispered to herself, "Oh, fool, fool, to yield to this mad delight." She tried to speak, but all the words that came to her lips seemed to say too much. A moment they stood in silence, looking at each other, then, with a wild stamp of his foot, Erich broke out:

"Do not look at me so, countess, I cannot stand it. You are trying me too far—by heavens, I do not know what I may say! Why have you been so gentle to me, what have you meant by it? Be honest, I beseech you—if I have done you wrong, on my knees will I sue, I will not speak."

Ella's cheek grew pale. Here it was, the moment she had longed for and dreaded. He loved her; he would tell her so, she would hear him; and yet never had she realized so strongly as during that moment of strong passionate outburst—the deep, deep chasm of innate feelings and outward forms that lay between them—between the countess and the wild homeless wanderer.

The sudden wish came: "If Hugo were only here!" Hugo, who was always the same, who never frightened her with wild looks and stormy words! She was afraid of the tempest her own magic had raised. She longed for the shelter of her own secluded walls, which she had so rashly forsaken for the lonely woods and her game of play with this untamed beast!

All at once she grew calm, all at once felt that she was in no danger of self-betrayal; on the contrary, the revelations of his feelings guarded her own, made the affair again assume the shape of an exciting and absorbing game—nothing more. His hasty words had been much to her—oh, yes—but in must end now, the contest must be hers!

She looked up with the sweetest smile. "Why are you so vehement with me, Herr Grüter? Of course, I will honestly answer you every honest question."

Erich had regained his self-control: it was very seldom that his stormy nature so broke bounds, but he was still excited from the scene of the morning.

"Well, then, countess, I will confess—if I wronged you, you must forgive me—that I thought your sudden, unaccountable sweetness and gentleness to me, after your cavalier treatment—sprang perhaps from a fancy to—to—me first, a little idyll, I mean, such as—you know winter days are long—one has to pass the time somehow—of the many—princesses—ah—knights—countesses—and so I—to—to—flatter—I mean—in a word—Was that so, countess?" he paused, and pushed back the hair from his hot brow.

Ella drew the train of her riding habit over her arm.

"It grows cool, Herr Grüter. I must go home. Will you show me the path?"

With a grave bow he moved forward by her side. She stole a glance at his face: it was deathly white, lips compressed. Ella suddenly stood still.

"You are right," seemed forced from her lips. "I was wrong. You saw the right as I wished to make you believe something that was not then—I mean," she went on hurriedly, frightened at the dark red that rose to his face—"something that is not—true. But I own, with all my heart, that you are the most honest of us two—and I ask your forgiveness."

She held out her hand; he pressed it silently to his lips.

"This path leads straight to the castle countess."

Betrayed and left behind Ella went on, deadened, cold, she moved with her—and everyone was in a fine moment she heard a quick step coming upon her—she stopped trembling.

"Ha!" she exclaimed in relief "Herr Grüter—you—you—I was in short anxious and he walked on beside her with a grave, serious expression upon his face, scarcely a word passed between them.

Dinner was long and dreary. Erich was pale and silent—Ella in no way changed—and the countess herself—oppressed. They could not discover any attempt at conversation, but the countess—in the morning—was not encouraging, and after a glance at Ella, whose head—in revenge—had been turned upon all the company, she fell anxious and uneasy, and the meal was finished in almost absolute silence.

JUNIPER ISLAND STORE

A full assortment of Groceries, Canned Goods and Campers' Supplies generally—a first class stock, fresh and reliable, and at Peterborough prices. The popularity of this store last year and the favor with which it was received—has induced us to enlarge the building and lay in a much larger stock this season so that campers may be saved the trouble and annoyance of bringing their supplies from town and other places, as they can be equally as well served by us. Being centrally situated, it is easy of access—the Steamer passing close to the Island both entering and leaving Stony Lake.

Life Insurance Policy Holders

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGE OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by purely Canadian companies, and terminated by surrender or lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of insurance men. So unexpected and unwelcome an increase as $1,709,612 in the amount of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period when American companies doing business in this country showed a decrease under this heading of $318,304, could not fail to excite comment; so that the figures have been eagerly examined to discover how such a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Company.	Net amount in force.	Percentage of Surrender and Lapse.
Canada Life	$48,664,376	3.77
Confederation	17,574,823	5.21
Ontario Mutual	13,071,400	10.29
Federal	10,058,837	10.35
Sun Life	11,670,817	10.36
North American	8,470,620	10.68
Temperance and General	2,964,972	17.84
Citizens	2,067,956	29.15
Manufacturers' Life	5 723,100	30 12
London Life	1 644 285	30 61

From this table we can see that while such companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have actually decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.78 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, witness the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. That so large a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should entirely abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of clever management and attractive methods, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evident from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

An Irishman's Experience.

At the Salvation Army barracks last night Capt. Cunningham, one of the most energetic workers in the Army ranks, gave an interesting account of his early life. His personal experience illustrated the terrible effects of liquor drinking. By his dissipation he was led into crime, and was sentenced to a year in Kilmainhan gaol for theft. He was in gaol the same time as the Phœnix Park murderers, whom everyone will remember, Capt. Cunningham has been with the Army about five years now. The proceedings were interspersed with singing by Mrs. Cunningham and others. On Sunday Capt. Cunningham and Ensign Logan, another Irishman, will conduct the meetings.

Terrible Taurus.

On Saturday morning last Mr. Wm. Shaw, second concession of Cavan, went into a field on his farm to turn out a bull belonging to Mr. Thomas White, who lives on the adjoining farm, the animal having broke through in some manner. Mr. Shaw, who was accompanied by his man and dog, attempted to drive the animal out of the field, but it immediately turned on him, and, but for the timely interference of his dog, would undoubtedly have killed him. Mr. Shaw then noticed that the animal's head and horns were covered with blood, and he proceeded to look for his stock, after succeeding in getting the vicious animal on the road. He soon discovered his fine grey mare lying dead in the field, having been gored to death by the bull. On learning the facts of the case, Mr. White, like the honest and good neighbour that he is, at once offered to settle with Mr. Shaw, and they both left the matter in the hands of Messrs. Wm. Gibson and Robert Shaw to settle on the value of the animal. This was a fine mare, Mr. Shaw having some time ago refused $160 for her.

A Trespass Case.

The following case of local interest is reported in the Globe :—

At Osgoode Hall Wednesday in the Chancery Division, before MacMahon, J., in the case of Gordon v. Proctor, judgment was given in an action tried at Cobourg without a jury. The action was for trespass to lands and goods and conversion of goods, etc., brought by one James Gordon as plaintiff. The defendants justified the trespass under an execution against the goods of Elizabeth Gordon. At the trial the learned judge found that a certain conveyance of land and a bill of sale made by Elizabeth Gordon to the plaintiff was fraudulent and void against the defendants, the Learys. He now gives judgment in favor of the defendants upon certain questions of law raised. Judgment dismissing the action with costs. Clute, Q.C., for the plaintiff. Osler, Q.C., and J. W. Kerr (Cobourg), for the defendants Proctor and Hagerman. Watson, Q.C., for the defendants W. and J. Leary. Riddell (Cobourg) for the defendants Christopher Leary and Edmison (Peterborough).

Our Sewerage System.

A meeting of the special Sewerage Committee was held last night. There were present Mr. Langford, chairman, and Messrs. Moore, Davidson, Cahill and E. H. D. Hall. The committeemen thoroughly discussed the question and arrived at the unanimous conclusion that the time was ripe for a complete system of sewerage. The old papers which were procured at the time Councillor McNeil had the project in hand, were looked over for information. It was decided to at once engage a competent engineer to make a topographical survey of the town for the guidance of sanitary engineers, as a preliminary step. This will be begun within two weeks. Then the committee will consult the best sanitary engineers in the country as to the most suitable and satisfactory system of drainage to adopt, and the probable cost. Then, with all this information to lay before the public, the ratepayers will be asked to decide at the polls whether they want the work undertaken or not. If they decide in the affirmative, the committee will promptly begin the great project ; if otherwise, the papers and plans will at least be useful for a future occasion when the subject is again broached. The committee will meet again next week.

The Excursions of a Day.

Picnic Parties by Rail and Water Way—A Wet Day.

Old Probs was slightly astray yesterday, and the picnic parties who placed faith in the daily weather predictions were sadly disappointed. The probabilities spoke for fine weather with possible showers at night. The order of meteorological events was exactly reversed, the first half of the day being characterized by heavy intermittent showers, which about two o'clock ceased and the sky cleared nicely. Then the enjoyment of the pic-nicers began, and the pleasant weather became all the more appreciable after the disagreeable forenoon. However, the attendance at the several excursions which left town was no doubt considerably diminished by the unfavorable outlook in the morning.

DOWN THE RIVER.

The St. John's Bible Class and a few friends spent the day at Jubilee Point. They were not greatly discommoded by the rain, as the steamer afforded ample shelter, and shortly after the Point was reached the clouds rolled by and Old Sol shone benignly upon the small and select but happy gathering below. A few pleasant hours were spent at the Point and an early return made. The route home was enlivened by songs and music.

UP THE LAKES.

The excursion of the Independent Order of Good Templars to Stony Lake was also successful. The train was filled, and the crowd had no more room than it required upon the steamer Cruiser and scow. The Good Templars and their friends were not in the least disturbed by the rain, as they only left the boat for a short time during the afternoon. The round of the lake was made and a short stop made at Burleigh. The 200 excursionists expressed their delight with the trip.

A SUNDAY SCHOOL SATURATED.

The Charlottes street Sunday School was perhaps the most unfortunate of any. About 250 school children and elders took the train for Chemong, and while they were being transferred to the Park the rain fell in torrents. There was no protection on the scow, and umbrellas had to be brought into use. If one was lucky enough to get a rain-shedder over his head, his anticipations of a dry and comfortable trip were liable to be rudely upset by the drippings from his neighbour's blue gingham trickling down his neck. The first few hours under the trees were scarcely more pleasant ; but when the storm passed over and the day became bright again, all the previous discomforts were forgotten in the present enjoyment. A programme of sports was run off, as follows :—

Mrs. Taylor—1st, Sam Stenton; 2nd Frank Turner.

Miss Brundrette—1st, Sarah Jones ; 2nd May Redmond.

An improvised game of baseball (according to the Independent code of rules) between sides captained by Mr. Rowse and Mr. Fisk, resulted in the defeat of the former, though the pastoral prestige and prowess were on his side.

The pic-nicers have every reason to be grateful to the occupants of three of the cottages—Mrs. Archer, Mr. Pope and Mr. Rogers. Most of the ladies took advantage of the kind offer of shelter the cottages afforded.

The excursion returned home about half past six o'clock. Rev. S. J. Shorey and Mr. O. C. Rowse, superintendent, accompanied the picnic party and contributed to the success of the day's outing.

Personal.

Mr. J. C. Smyth, teacher, Peterborough, says the Millbrook Reporter, has been visiting friends and relatives here during the past week.

Miss Mamie Dumble, Peterborough, says the Cobourg World is visiting friends in town.

The Cobourg World says :—"We understand that the Rev. Geo. E. Stokes, the genial pastor of the Cobourg Baptist church, unexpectedly left for Toronto last week and came back—married."

The Millbrook Reporter says :—"Mr. Wm. Smyth, Principal of Peterborough Public School, has been in Millbrook this week as presiding examiner both for entrance and third class teachers."

Willow and Wicket.

Peterborough vs. Campbellford.

A rather strong eleven of the town club had a very pleasant outing at Campbellford yesterday, and succeeded in winning by 28 runs. The morning was very wet, and it was past 12 o'clock before play could be begun at all, but it cleared off nicely during the afternoon, the game being only once interrupted by the rain

Campbellford won the toss, but very foolishly sent the visitors to the bat, thus giving them the best of what was not by any means a good wicket ; and so good was did Ray and Stratton make of their opportunities that when lunch was called they had scored 47 runs without a casualty. It rained very heavily during lunch-time, and when play was resumed the wicket cut up so much that runs were very hard to get. The innings actually closed for 77. Ray and Stratton, as usual, played fine cricket for their score, but the rest of the team failed conspicuously. Tait and Harkins were the best bowlers for Campbellford, the latter getting quite a bit of work on the wicket.

Campbellford scored 49, of which 10 were extras. No one obtained double figures, the bowling of Attewell (3 for 14), Stratton (2 for 9), and Logan (3 for 17), being too much for them. Attewell kept up the bowling at one end, while Stratton and Logan bowled over about at the other.

In the second innings the visitors scored 59 for 8 wickets, Rogers getting 26 (including two grand leg-hits for 4 each), and Stocker 13. A fine one-had catch by Nancorrow deserves special mention in this innings.

Following is the score :

Chemong Park.

The Port Hope Times in its report of a picnic excursion from that town, thus refers to Chemong Park :—

"Chemong Park is a magnificent place to hold a pic nic, and is destined to become very popular with tourists and others desiring to spend the warm weather in a cool and healthy retreat. There are at present nine cottages within the grounds, and tents are also quite numerous. The occupants of the cottages are mostly Peterborough people—business men and their families. The 'head of the house' can reach town, from which the park is distant bu five miles, by means of a large three-horse bus, leaving his cool retreat in the morning and returning in the evening, in true suburban style. On a small island in the lake, a short distance from the shore, stands the boat house of the Peterborough Canoe Club. The lower part of the building, which is cottage-shaped, is occupied by the canoes, boats, etc., of the club, while the upper portion is fitted up handsomely as clubrooms. The situation is a most beautiful one for the purpose.

BRIDGENORTH,

a small village, is situated about half a mile east of the Park, and were the little hamlet accessible by rail, instead of by stage, and a roundabout water way, it would soon grow out of its swaddling clothes. Many of the excursionists visited the place during the afternoon."

THE CATTLE TRADE

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Lowe Talks About Rusk's Move.

OTTAWA, July 17.—The other day a Washington despatch was published detailing steps taken to convince the British authorities that there was no cattle disease in the United States to warrant the restrictions placed upon their cattle in Great Britain. Montreal cattlemen, especially those who have been agitating for a long time for permission to export American cattle from Canadian ports, are anxious that those engaged in this agitation should succeed. A correspondent had a talk with Mr. John Lowe, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, to day regarding the matter. Mr. Lowe said the question was an old one, and strong efforts were time and again made to compel the minister, Hon. John Carling, to accede to the request of admitting American cattle to Canada for exportation, but so far he could not see his way clear to do so. Failing in their efforts with the Canadian Government, the Americans were now directing their attention to the home authorities with a view of showing that there was no necessity for these restrictions.

In his opinion it would be unwise to endanger our present exceptional facilities as compared with the states, in respect to the cattle trade with Britain, by permitting American cattle to be brought into and exported from our ports. In the meantime cattle were only imported for breeding purposes after passing through quarantine. Strict quarantine regulations kept Canada free from disease and allowed us to place our live stock on the English markets, while the United States was placed on the scheduled list.

A GOOD SWIMMER DROWNED.

Another Boating Fatality Near Hamilton Gave His Life for Another.

HAMILTON, July 17.—Another boating fatality occurred last night. Frank Morgan, son of R. R. Morgan, and Will Barnes, son of Thomas Barnes of East Hamilton, are camping on the lake shore between Hamilton and Grimsby. Yesterday afternoon the campers were visited by two young men named Hagar and Williams. Hagar is a son of the Grimsby farmer who has already lost two boys this year—one by drowning and another by an accident on land—and Williams was a young fellow, about 22 years of age, who recently leased the farm of George Chambers, near Winona.

A boat was in the near vicinity and Hagar, Barnes and Williams got in it and rowed out from shore. In some way the boat upset, and the three young men were precipitated into the water. Barnes and Williams could swim; Hagar could not. Williams immediately struck out for the shore, but Barnes pluckily stayed to assist Hagar. It was only a matter of 200 yards, and the swimmer seemed to have no fear of not being able to do it. He swam easily along until he reached comparatively shallow water, when he sank and was drowned. At the spot where he went down the water was not more than six feet deep. Young Barnes succeeded in getting Hagar ashore all right and then the body of Williams was recovered.

No inquest will be held.

This Makes the Twentieth.

TORONTO, July 18.—The Kingston election, in which J. H. Metcalfe was elected by a small majority over D. Thompson, was attacked yesterday by a petition filed in the Court of Appeal. The petitioner is Sidney W. Day of Kingston, salesman. There are the usual charges of bribery, both personal and general, and in addition it is alleged that the election was not conducted in accordance with the principle, policy and provisions of the Ontario Election Act in that agents of respondent obstructed the access of voters to the polls and such were prevented from voting and wrongfully refused ballots and ballots were improperly counted and rejected.

PETERBORO BOOMING!

The Manufacturing Industries of this town have never been in a more prosperous condition. They are receiving large orders and so many of them that they have to work overtime to supply the demand.

Notwithstanding the above facts, I have properties of all kinds forced on the market, for various reasons, at prices far below fair value, and I would strongly advise any person contemplating buying a vacant lot, a house and lot, a market garden or a farm to buy Now, and buy from me. It will be money in your pocket to do so. Come in and let me know what you want and where you want it. I will guide you right and sell you cheap property. I have a Grocery Business, a Flour and Feed Store, a Hotel, a Butcher Business, and a well established Real Estate Business, all good openings and good reasons in each case for selling. Do you want to buy any of the above,—if not then I want to sell you a Choice Lot in the Little Lake Cemetery ; it belongs to a foreigner.

PRICES AND PROSPECTS.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF THE WEEK'S BUSINESS.

The Volume of Trade "Short Pack" Salmon Reports The Sugar Crop The Nebraska Drought Railway Earnings Wheat and Flour Exports.

New York, July 18. Special telegrams to Bradstreet's point out that the volume of general trade is of large proportions, though smaller than in recent weeks, with the distributive movement fairly active only San Francisco, New Orleans and Chicago present the most marked exceptions, with business quite active and improving in nearly all leading lines. On the Pacific coast fresh and canned fruits and lumber are higher in price, while salmon packers are circulating the usual "short pack" reports. Country orders for staples are increasing rapidly at New Orleans, where the crop outlook has a marked influence. The Louisiana sugar crop is progressing very well, and in many parishes the stand is finer than has been the case at this date in many years. Rice, though a little late, is doing well, and the stand is excellent.

The extreme heat this week has had less effect in checking the movement of goods than had been expected. Through Nebraska the drouth promises to be serious for the corn crop unless it rains soon.

Net railroad earnings for May show the effect of the lower tariff, thanks that month in offsetting losses from rate-cutting and large expenditures for permanent improvements, both the ratio and amount of gain compares well with the preceding month in this and other years. The total net earnings of 105 railroads for May aggregate $10,092,193, a gain over last year of 10.35, and for the first five months of the year 101 roads report net earnings of $50,252,194, an increase over last year of 12.54, which in turn exceeded 1888 by 10.7 per cent.

Nails and barbed wire have been in better demand at the west at slightly higher prices and Philadelphia reports muck bars firmer and higher in price. There is no gain or change in pig iron or steel rails. Copper gains in strength. Lake ingot is now firm at 12c and casting brands 11c. Anthracite coal is moving less satisfactorily than has been reported and it is not believed that the late advance is being obtained.

Wheat has resumed quite firm and fairly steady in price during the week. Exports of wheat and flour continue heavy, amounting to 1,668,630 bushels against 1,538,302 bushels last week and 1,648,324 bushels in the like week of 1889. Exports of wheat for three weeks of July equal 4,910,530 bushels, against 1,612,246 bushels in a like portion of 1889 and 1,237,000 bushels in 1888, while the price now is 5c per bushel higher than one year ago and 2c higher than two years ago.

Business failures reported to Bradstreet's number 181 in the United States this week, against 194 last week and 149 the week last year. Canada had 21 this week, against 32 last week. The total number of failures in the United States, Jan 1 to date, is 8883, against 6425 in a like portion of 1889.

Stock speculation at New York is stagnant with a firm undertone. Although the continuation of gold exports creates some uneasiness, money has been firmer under increased demands from the agricultural regions and somewhat restricted collections at various points.

The damage by fire to the plant of the Western Union Telegraph Company at New York yesterday not only interfered with trade at that city but seriously affected general business.

THE NEW NAVAL COMMANDER AT VICTORIA, B.C.

A Man with a Fighting Record He Is Reticent About the Behring Sea Matter and Says He Has Received no Instructions.

Victoria, B.C., July 18. H.M.S. Warspite steamed into Esquimalt Harbor at about 2 o'clock this afternoon and was received with a salute of 17 guns by the senior ship Champion. I was among the first to board her after she had anchored, and at once gained audience with Admiral Charles F. Hotham, who has come out to take charge of the squadron and whose record as a fighting man is such as, so it is said will fill the hearts of the American authorities with awe. He is the youngest Admiral in the British Navy and made his record during the Egyptian war, and particularly at the siege of Alexandria. He is a man of about 45 years of age, short in stature, and wears his beard sharp at the point. He expressed few opinions, but in answer to a question as to the reason of the centralization of the fleet he noted it was of no significance whatsoever, and that it simply amounted to the regular summer manoeuvres. In regard to the Behring Sea difficulty he was averse to talking.

It had not been said, come up in the Admiralty as a subject for discussion when he was in England last March. It was, however, talked of in the Foreign Office, but to what effect he had not been informed.

As to instructions he had received none in regard to the Behring Sea matter. The Admiral, however, would not say that there were no instructions in the big bundle of letters and despatches which stood on his table unopened. He believed that there had been no orders issued in regard to the subject later than those of two years ago, which were that a vessel might be sent to Behring Sea to protect and look after British commerce. He said that the squadron was ready to go at any time. The statement was accompanied with a sly wink of the eye.

"Are any vessels going to be sent north?" was asked.

"I do not know yet. I can't tell you where any of the ships are going as I have not had time to examine the despatches on the subject from the Admiralty."

Continuing with the interview, the Admiral said that he thought United States cutters in seizing vessels, taking out the cargoes and sending them to prize ports, ought to put prize crews on board and send the vessels to ports where the matter could be legally adjudicated. From his words it was evident that he thought the cutters had no right to do as was done last year, and as orders have been given to cutters to do this year, was that is, to seize all the vessels on board hunting paraphernalia, etc., and send the seized vessel to the nearest port. Coming from the source it does the statement is very significant and may be taken as the ground upon which the mode of procedure of the United States seizing vessels will be questioned. Further than this the Admiral refuses to express any opinions.

Alongside the Warspite in Esquimalt Harbor are five warships, the Champion, Amphion, Espiegle, Nymph and Daphne. The three latter vessels could not make a trip to sea owing to small coal carrying capacity and the Champion is needed at the South American Station of the Pacific Division. Thus it is generally expected that the Amphion will be sent to the Arctic. She has only been practising at gunnery here and is well stored with ammunition and fuel.

Sealing men here claim that the British Government will afford them protection from seizure, and say that the American Government understanding this will not seize any British vessels this year. This is the reason given for the non-departure of the revenue cutter Corwin for the north. No news of the sealers is expected till the latter part of the month when the steamer Mischief, which was sent north to Sand Island by the owners of the sealing fleet, will probably arrive in Victoria with the catch of the fleet.

Ottawa, July 18. There is nothing new in the Behring Sea case that can be given to the public," remarked a prominent member of the Cabinet to night, "although we by no means despair of a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulty before long. It is very irritating to all parties to the negotiations to see the foundationless and sensational reports which have been telegraphed broadcast over the world in connection with the Behring Sea negotiations, as they can do no good, while on the other hand, they tend to keep the country in an unwarrantable state of excitement.

On the most reliable authority it is learned that England did formally protest against the seizure of Canadian sealers, but made no declaration as to what course would be followed if their demands were ignored. It is generally admitted in high official circles here that some sort of an understanding has been arrived at between Secretary Blaine and the British Minister, both will insure Canadian sealers from molestation in Behring Sea during the pending negotiations. There is a continuous train of cable correspondence now passing between the Dominion Government and the British authorities on the subject, and it is believed that within a few weeks some important facts will be publicly announced in the direction of a settlement or understanding of some kind.

BREMNER'S CLAIM.

His Solicitor Demands Payment from the Dominion Government.

Ottawa, July 18. Stuart Henderson, Bremner's solicitor, has written the Dominion Government to-day demanding that the sum of $5365, with interest from the time of the Northwest rebellion in 1885, be paid to Bremner for furs taken from him by Gen Middleton. It will depend on what answer Mr. Henderson gets whether he will sue the Government or take action against Sir Fred Middleton, Hayter Reed and Sam Benson for the portion they took. In addition to this claim of $5365, Bremner has also another claim of $14,000 against the Government for goods taken during the rebellion from the general store near Battleford, for furniture, carts, cattle horses, farming implements and general products, so that the total amount of his losses is nearly $20,000. This claim came before the Royal Commission and was thrown out on the grounds that Bremner was alleged to have been a party to his own losses. Mr. Henderson also asks the Government for this claim, and shows that from these losses his client and his family are destitute.

The Ontario Prison Reform Association commenced to take evidence here in the court house this forenoon.

Adam Brown, M.P., is in the city. He had a long interview with Mr. Haggart, Postmaster-General.

Used a Flour Barrel for a Fig Leaf.

St. Louis, July 18.—A strange sight was seen in Lynch street last night. William Straube was busily bathing in a pond near California avenue, and while in the water his clothing was stolen. Bill made a break on a grocery store two blocks away and picked up an empty flour barrel. Knocking out the heading he put the wooden garment on as a woman does her dress, and then gingerly picked his way home over the cobblestones, in no wise refreshed by his bath.

A Rich Corporation.

Windsor, July 18.—Hiram Walker & Sons of Walkerville are applying for articles of incorporation as a joint stock company. The capital stock is $5,000,000, and all the various industries of their concern are included.

Royal Arch Masonry.

Kingston, July 18.—The Grand Royal Arch chapter of Canada to-day unanimously elected these officers: Grand Z. J. J. Mason, Hamilton; Grand H. J. E. Hardy Stratford; Grand J. J. Ross Robertson, Toronto; Scribe E. David McLellan, Hamilton.

THE QUEBEC HOLOCAUST.

ESCAPE WAS EASY HAD THE VICTIMS BEEN AROUSED.

The Big Blaze at Gotham—Where the Fire Originated—About $600 Telegraph Instruments Burnt.—How the Restaurant Girls Were Rescued—Other Losses.

Quebec, July 18.—The coroner's inquest on the remains of the victims of the fire at Delamare's tavern in St. Joseph street yesterday was held to-day at the morgue. The remains of the deceased were identified by Mrs. Pageau of St. Pierre de Charlesbourg, sister of Mrs. Maranda, as Pierre Louis Maranda, aged 41; Marie Euphrasie Duquet, his wife, aged 42, and their three children, Almida, aged 15, Alphonse, 8, and Zella, 5.

The jury went to inspect the ruins and ascertain if there were any means of escape by the rear. It is thought they might have escaped by the roof of the adjoining building if they had been aroused.

Chief Dorval of the fire brigade testified that his men were promptly at the fire. When he arrived the whole building and the sheds in the rear were in flames. He related the efforts made to save the adjoining buildings, as the fire had made great headway in Delamare's. There was a good supply of water and as soon as they could safely do so they placed ladders in position to reach the top flat. Some of his men entered and found the bodies of a man and child in a bed and on the floor the body of a woman in answer to one of the jurors the Chief said he had appliances for rescuing the inmates had he known they were in the building.

Attorney General Turcotte visited the morgue this morning and attended the inquest for a short time.

The remains of the Maranda family will be buried to-morrow by the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

A $7000 Fire at Montreal.

Montreal, July 18.—A $7000 fire broke out to-night in rear of 713 Notre Dame-street and spread to some tenements and sheds.

A Blaze at Sarnia.

Sarnia, July 18.—Fire broke out this evening in Loveley Bros.' rubberine collar works in the Owrey Block and burned fast. The Owrey Block was damaged considerably. Loveley Bros. lost their stock of goods and tools. The postoffice was damaged by water and The Sun office also sustained serious damage by water. James Higgins' fruit store was also damaged. All were insured except Loveley Bros.

JAY GOULD BURNT OUT.

The Western Union Telegraph Company's New York Building Consumed.

New York, July 18. The big Western Union Telegraph building was gutted by fire at an early hour to-day. The building is eight stories high, with a cupola, and contains the offices of Jay Gould, the Pacific Railroads, and the Associated Press, together with the operating rooms of the Western Union Telegraph Company. There were several narrow escapes from accident, but as far as reported no one was seriously hurt.

Later details of the affair state that the fire broke out in the battery room on the sixth floor and soon the entire upper portion of the immense structure was enveloped in flames. On the arrival of the firemen some exciting scenes were enacted. When the fire broke out there were about 40 operators at their tables in the operating room on the seventh floor of the building. The men were made aware of their danger by smoke issuing through the apertures connecting the battery room with the operating room. The battery room is situated in the rear of the building. This did not reassure the men, however, and they scampered down stairs pell mell. A few of the more cool headed waited for the elevator, and this was kept running until the drum operating it shorted began to smoke and sparks to fall all in the lower portion of the building had gotten out by this time. The last to leave the operating room were Night Chief Tobler and Chief Operator James Robinson. They looked for the source of the flames as soon as the force took flight in alarm, and in the centre of the room, where is located the distributing ring which contains the numerous associated press tubes and the distributing tubes of the Western Union Company, they saw a tongue of flame shoot up from the floor below. It was a fierce flame, and soon shot up several feet. To a grabbed up some hand grenades and threw them into the flames, while Robinson seized a Babcock fire extinguisher and turned it on. These methods proved futile as the means at last resort seized the few last kept in the building and connected it with the nozzle which enters the operating room near by. This was put in operation and the stream directed against the flames. Three minutes showed them that this too was futile and they abandoned the work.

As described by an attache of the building the flames in the battery room at this time must have made that place a raging furnace. The ceiling of the room is literally covered with lines of wire and cables, some of the latter being of immense size and covered with insulating material of a highly inflammable nature.

When the operators had all left the building the crowds in the streets discovered half a dozen or more stones standing on the roof of the structure which is bordered with iron railing. These were the kitchen help and others employed in the restaurant on the eighth floor where most of the employees of the Western Union take their meals. Just beneath where the women stood flames could be seen bursting from the windows, and curling upwards. The women were comparatively calm for a time but noticing the flames beneath them they began to scurry backward and forward, evidently puzzled as to what they should do. This sight caused great commotion on the streets below. One woman was seen to raise herself above the railing and peer in a terrified way down the side of the building on the Fulton-street side. The crowds standing by the railing of St. Paul's Church waved their hands and shouted themselves hoarse. "Stay there!" "The firemen are coming." "Don't jump!" went up from the excited people, but it is doubtful if even an echo of the shouts reached the imperilled women. The woman who had clambered up the railing desisted from her purpose. If such it was, of jumping and returned to her position on the roof, wringing her hands and looking appealingly to the crowds below. Meanwhile the life-saving nets of the fire department and many of the regular force were bending their energies to the rescue. A ladder was raised to the roof of the building, No. 8 Dey street, and another thence up the burning structure. In raising the ladder from the street great delay and difficulty were encountered because of the mass of wires entering there. The ladder from the roof proved too short to reach the women. Life lines were brought into requisition. From the top of the ladder a line was shot up to the roof by means of a bomb. In this way strong ropes were placed on the top of the building and the women were safely lowered one at a time to the roof of 8 Dey street. This successful rescue elicited about after shout of appreciation from the crowds who witnessed it from the street.

Firemen were distributed on all the adjacent housetops, whence they directed streams of water into the fiery furnace. The fire was got under control about 9 o'clock, after burning fiercely for two hours. The entire upper portion of the building was destroyed. This embraced the main operating room, the battery room, the gallery operating room, the dressing room, the main office of the Associated Press, the Western Union restaurant and the Western Union bookkeeping department. Among the offices damaged by water are those of Jay Gould, Russell Sage, Sidney Dillon, Dillon & Swayne's law office and the commercial news department. The fire burned and melted all the wires entering the building, and it is thought it will be when work to repair the damage. [illegible] business will be badly crippled. [illegible] operating room alone is [illegible] Abou 3,500 instruments [illegible] apparatus are destroyed.

The Binghamton Cigarmakers' Strike.

Binghamton, July 15.—About 350 striking cigarmakers assembled in front of Hall, Grummond & Co.'s factory at 6 o'clock to night where a number of non strikers were at work. The police force kept order, but the non-strikers were imprisoned in the factory half an hour and finally left under the escort of the police and their employers. The crowd followed close upon their heels and followed several of the men to their homes. About the same thing occurred at Reynolds & Rogers' factory, where a woman was notified that if she went to work she would be shot. The strike thus far has been a very peaceful one and this is the first demonstration of bad feeling.

Grew Out of an Old Feud.

Tuscumbia, Ala., July 18.—John W. Goodwin and Pete Challan, armed to the teeth, came here to-day and met Judge John A. Steele in a drug store. Judge Steele was unarmed, but his son came in soon and he and Goodwin drew pistols and opened fire. Steele fell dead, shot through the head. Tom Steele, another son of the judge, appeared with a shotgun and opened fire. Goodwin and Challan replying with pistols. Goodwin was mortally wounded. The affair grew out of an old feud originating in an insult to a lady.

The Deadly Level Crossing.

Middletown, July 18.—Henry Clay and James Stotz drove in front of a Middletown way train at Gothen last evening and were struck by the locomotive. Clay's head was cut off and Stott was probably fatally injured.

DIED OF A DOG'S BITE.

A Boston Boy Stricken Down After Nearly Four Months.

Boston, July 18. Last March two persons in Lowell were bitten by a mad dog, one of them, William Harwood, died of hydrophobia March 28. To-day the other, a bright little newsboy, Willie Johnson by name, died a victim to the same disease. Notwithstanding that the boy was bitten by the same dog as Harwood and that the details of the latter's horrible death provoked a profound sensation in the neighborhood, Willie received no medical treatment other than such as might aid the healing of the wound. The lad went about at play and work much the same as usual until a week ago yesterday, when, after remaining in swimming for three hours, he seemed stupid and irritable. After drinking some water Friday morning he was seized with nausea and faintness. His strength left him and his body and limbs twisted convulsively. However, for that day he plucked continued with the delivery of his papers.

His parents becoming alarmed at his condition summoned a physician Sunday morning. The latter, after a thorough examination, pronounced the case one of hydrophobia. Monday Willie suffered a horrible convulsion, but was permitted to walk outdoors. Yesterday morning he attempted to dress, saying that he didn't want to be late with his papers. But convulsion followed convulsion and strong opiates were administered. His death occurred at 10 o'clock this morning, resulting directly from exhaustion.

FROM HIGH LATITUDES.

A Ship From Labrador—The Reports of Destitution Groundless.

Montreal, July 18.—The arrival of a heavily built wooden steamship of the model of Arctic exploring ships caused somewhat of a curiosity along the river front this morning. She turned out to be the Hudson Bay Company's steam bark Erik, Captain Shaw, from Labrador. The Erik left London for Labrador early in June with a cargo of manufactured goods, and was as far north as the company's post at Ragged in 54 latitude. The vessel arrived at this port on July 3, and fishing had not yet begun. A large fleet of Harbor Grace fishing schooners arrived about the same time as the Erik, but could not begin fishing as the bay ice was only just beginning to move out. At the company's posts it was reported that the winter had been the severest for thirty years, and this had interfered with the fur crop, which was very small. Surprise was, however, expressed at the reports that destitution prevailed in Labrador; as both whites and Indians had had plenty to live upon and were fairly comfortable. The company's officers reported that there had been no deaths from privations during the winter. The mate of the Erik reports that there are large masses of ice still along the Labrador coast, and the fishing vessels have had great difficulty in reaching the coast. One of Munn & Company's vessels was stuck fast in the ice for twelve days. The mate added that even in high latitudes he never saw such large icebergs as those passed in the Straits of Belle Isle. The Erik returns to Labrador at the end of the week with supplies of provisions for the company's post.

FOR POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

Provisions of a Bill Introduced in the United States Senate.

Washington, July 18.—Postmaster-General Wanamaker's energy is giving Dr. Norvin Green and the Western Union Telegraph Company a world of trouble. He kept them on the jump for months by his advocating of postal telegraphy, and it was only after infinite pains that the House subcommittee was induced to shelve the various bills on the subject for the present session. The Senate is usually slower than the House, but sometimes surer, and the Postmaster-General has now turned his batteries in that direction. To-day Senator Sawyer, Chairman of the Postoffice Committee, introduced the department's bill for a limited postal telegraph system, and action is promised upon it by the committee. The bill provides that all postoffices where the free delivery system exists shall be postal telegraph stations, and in addition the Postmaster-General may designate those postoffices and telegraph offices as postal stations. The Postmaster-General shall contract with one or more of the telegraph companies now in existence for a period of 10 years.

Rates proposed are: For the first 10 words or less, counting address and signature, between postal stations in the same State and less than 300 miles apart, 15 cents. Between stations not less than 300 miles apart and not in the same State, 25 cents for the first 20 words or less. No rate shall be greater than 50 cents for 20 words.

Within two years after the passage of the bill one-half of the postal telegraph stations contemplated shall be connected by wires of the companies receiving the contract, and within the next succeeding year at least one-half of the remainder shall be so connected.

The Postmaster-General shall prescribe the rules and regulations for carrying out the purposes of the bill.

THE ILLINOIS CYCLONE.

Disasters Near Peoria. Telegraphic Communication Interrupted.

Peoria, Ill., July 18. A Lake Erie and Western train coming into this city was struck by the cyclone at Bridge Junction last night and one car was whipped out of the train and smashed to pieces. A coach containing about a dozen passengers was overturned and hurled down an embankment and several people injured. It was rumored here the town of Green Valley on the line of the Peoria, Decatur and Evansville road and Morton on the Santa Fe were swept away. Telegraphic communication with those places is shut off, the wires being badly demoralized by the storm.

The storm travelled towards Pekin and messages from there say it approached the outskirts of the city and suddenly rose to the clouds, disappearing from view. It is reported that seven were killed by the destruction of a brickyard at Westerly. At a late hour last night it was known great damage had been done across the river and men have gone across to investigate. A yellow spot, similar to the one from which the funnel hung, was noticed to the north of the city yesterday, and it is thought the towns of Lacon and Henry have suffered from the storm. In this city the only damage done was the overturning of cars.

Is It Major Andre's Sword?

New York, July 18.—Henry Reipe keeps a boathouse and fishery resort on the Passaic river at Avondale. Just behind his residence is a little vineyard. While hoeing among his vines a few days ago he came upon a long, narrow piece of rusted metal. After cleaning off the gravel, dirt, and mould he saw that he had an officer's sword of revolutionary pattern. The sword was of the regulation size and had an old-fashioned English handle. It was a quick almost fast in a metal scabbard. Excepting about six inches just below the hilt, it was in perfect condition. Reipe polished it with cleaning powder, and was rewarded for his pains with the discovery of this inscription in old English letters on the blade: "Major John Andre." There is no other letter or mark on the sword. Major Andre is said to have traversed all the ground in the neighborhood of Reipe's place, so it is thought there is little doubt that the old sword once swung at his side. Reipe says the sword lay about one foot under the surface, and 60 feet from the river shore.

Drowned.

Ottawa, July 18.—Mr. Lemieux, Department of Agriculture, was drowned this morning in the Ottawa at the foot of the Parliament buildings. Lemieux was about 50 years of age. His hat and clothes were found on the river edge, but so far the body has not been recovered.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.
Allen's Lung Balsam

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, Allen's Lung Balsam is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced Cough Cure. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL MATTERS.

At present there does not seem to be any very brilliant prospect of the "last spike" being driven for the Trent Valley Canal. On the contrary, the prospects are doleful enough that the last nail in its coffin will, if such a result is not prevented, be soon driven home. The public are asking all sorts of questions in reference to the subject. What is the Government doing in the matter? What is the Trent Valley Canal Commission doing? Is the one waiting for the other to cease doing nothing or to begin doing something? After deciding to construct the work—after pledging the Government through the solemn official utterance of the Minister of Railways and Canals, to its construction, the Government dropped the project, and, from all appearances, appointed a Commission to slaughter the scheme. This was done after the elections were over, and the canal was no longer needed to furnish water power for a vote factory. The people are pretty thoroughly sick of promises in respect of this canal. The promise of the Minister has been broken, and the promise of the sitting member for the West Riding, that we should have a thousand men working on the Peterborough-Lakefield section during the summer of 1887, has not been honoured. Now the report of the Commission is the next thing to be looked for. Without being in the confidence of the Commission we can tell the public when the report of the Commission will be made and what it will recommend. The report will be made in due time to influence the next general elections in this district, and the report to be of value for exerting the right kind of influence will recommend the construction of the canal. But it is doubtful if the people will be fooled with vague promises any longer. They will demand that some show of doing something be made. Nothing short of the money being voted and the contract being let for the Lakefield-Peterborough section will convince the people; who have been fooled so often by the cry of "wolf," that business is meant. If the government mean to do anything, or if they do not, now is the time for friends of the scheme to push it. The two engineers who were hostile to the work (Chief Engineer Page and Engineer Tom. S. Rubidge) are not in a position now to obstruct it with their opposition.

FARMERS UNITING.

At the annual picnic of the district, held at Idyl Wild, the speakers agreed in placing particular stress upon the necessity of farmers combining to secure legislation affecting their interests. The farmers of Minnesota have inaugurated a crusade in this direction, at the late meeting of the Farmers' Alliance at St. Paul, and the question of taking independent political action was warmly discussed, and the decision to take such action was made by a most decided majority, one of 378—394 to 24—and the farmers at once went into joint convention with the labour delegates, also assembled in the same city. The result of these deliberations was that a platform was adopted, which demands that the "war tariff" be radically revised; denounces the McKinley Bill as "the crowning infamy of protection"; demands government control of railways; that discrimination may cease, reasonable rates be established, watered stock not receive the reward of honest capital, and pooling of rates be absolutely prohibited. For producers it demands free and open markets for grain and proper facilities for transportation, etc. It holds that mortgage indebtedness should be deducted from the tax on realty; demands lower interest; an increase in the volume of money, and free coinage of silver; asks for the Australian ballot system; and holds that United States senators and railway commissioners should be elected by ballot. This is a step indicating that our Yankee country cousins are aroused and in earnest in their endeavours to secure their rights; but they, and Canadian farmers also, must remember that it is only by united action that reforms of abuses affecting the farmers can be effected. If they pull apart and divide on party lines they must have the bitter experience of finding that the politicians have made the gains and that the farmers are "left." It is a little peculiar that other classes with far more conflicting interests to exercise, can agree upon united action, while farmers whose interests, as a rule, are almost identical, pull apart like a badly trained ox-team was sometimes seen to do in the early days of the country. Unless the farmers of the country can make their minds to work unitedly for themselves, they cannot expect that, while they are disunited and at loggerheads, our legislators will go out of their way to give to the farming industry the rights which properly belong to it.

"Take Heed, Take Heed!"

The Diseases of Spring are Filling Many Homes With Suffering and Sadness.

The advent of the cuckoo, the robin and the swallow, those bright harbingers of spring, bring with them to the old and young bright visions of summer and happiness. But beautiful, bright and attractive as spring appears, we must not forget her hidden dangers. Yielding to her seductions, we discard our winter garb, forgetting her proverbial fickleness. A sudden change brings winter back again, and this entails a thousand colds, fevers and inflammations that too often result in death. Then too, the poisons arising from the ground at this season soon develop fevers, headaches and diseases of every function and organ of the body. What is needed at this time is a faithful use of Paine's Celery Compound. This scientific preparation has an especial power over the diseased and debilitated condition so common at this season of the year that is possessed by no other medicine. It is not an ordinary blood purifier, nervine or bitters, but combines in a remarkable and hitherto unknown manner the power to strengthen and build up the nerves, and hence regulating the nervous system. It purifies and enriches the blood; this purified life fluid is carried to the heart, lungs and brain with an impetus which removes all feeling of heaviness, weight and dullness. It aids digestion and creates appetite. It builds up the worn out tissues and strengthens weak women and tired men. You cannot afford to trifle with the symptoms of spring debility and weakness. They may not be dangerous in themselves, but should a fever, pneumonia, or other serious disease attack you it will not find the strength necessary for recovery, and death may be the unfortunate ending. Paine's Celery Compound is a purely vegetable preparation, endorsed by the best physicians, and is without an equal as a spring medicine. You cannot afford to do without it.

Little Quarrels Breed Bi

You just bring a couple of little quarrels into your family and they'll breed like sparrows, and you just bring a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters into your house and see how quickly health and strength follows its use. Nothing excels it for strengthening, regulating and purifying power. 2w26d

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

MUC H MARRIED MRS. WESTON.

She Asks the Court to Free Her of Her Nine Times Husband.

The divorce records of this term, says a Providence (R. I.) correspondent of the New York World, will be enriched by the entry of a very peculiar petition from Mrs. Stella Weston, the wife of a Wisconsin minister, who will contest the petition. Mrs. Weston took the preliminary steps this morning by instructing her lawyer to make out her remarkable story for presentation to the court. The woman is 32 years of age and has been married nine times, all within the space of eight years, Mr. Weston being her first and her ninth husband. He is also her second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth husband, all her marriages having been solemnized with the same bridegroom.

According to her statement, the Rev. Charles Weston is a marriage maniac: that is, he is ever seeking to be married, never insisting upon a new bride, but being perfectly content with Mrs. Weston in that role. Owing to this matrimonial mania Mrs. Weston says her married life has been one long and harrowing honeymoon. They were first married at the little town of Milbrook, in Wisconsin, and according to the forms of the Methodist church. Europe was selected for a honeymoon tour and while in Dublin he told her he thought their marriage was not ecclesiastically perfect because the parson who united them had not been ordained by apostolic imposition of hands. He held that this was absolutely necessary and made arrangements for another marriage in St. Patrick's cathedral of Dublin. She thought him overscrupulous, but consented, and there was another wedding. On their return home in the steamer he discovered another flaw. He had learned that St. Patrick's cathedral had once been a Catholic cathedral; that the mass had been sung there, and that the cathedral had not been rededicated since it ceased to be used for Roman Catholic worship. This omission he held to be fatal and another marriage was ordered. Then he forced her to be married on board ship by a Presbyterian minister, the Rev. James Munroe.

Attendance at one of Ingersoll's lectures, where John Calvin was denounced convinced him that this was illegal. Marriage by Baptists, Unitarians, Swedenborgians, and Spiritualists then followed, and then, a year ago, his wife got weary, left him, and removed to this city where she is now living with her sister.

She has had letters from her husband telling her that he has ascertained beyond all possible doubt that a Congregational marriage is the only one that has the indorsement of heaven, and if she will but consent to a wedding in a Congregational church he will forgive her flight and promise that this shall be positively the last nuptials he will ask her to participate in.

THE BANE OE NEWSPAPER GOSSIP.

Reasons Why Personalities Are Now so Important.

As long as gossip was oral it spread, as regarded any one individual, over a very small area, and was confined to the immediate circle of his acquaintances. It did not reach, or but rarely reached, those who knew nothing of him. It did not make his name, or his walk, or his conversation familiar to strangers. And what is more to the purpose, it spared him the pain or mortification of knowing that he was gossiped about. A man seldom heard of oral gossip about him which simply made him ridiculous, or trespassed on his lawful privacy, but made no positive attack on his reputation. His peace and comfort were, therefore, but slightly affected by it.

In all this the advent of the newspapers, or rather of a particular class of newspapers, has made a great change. It has converted curiosity into what economists call an effectual demand, and gossip into a marketable commodity. The old Paul Pry, whom our fathers despised and caricatured, and who was roundly kicked and cuffed on the stage for his indiscretions, has become a great wholesale dealer in an article of merchandise for which he finds a ready sale, and by which he frequently makes a fortune. In other words, gossip about private individuals is now printed and makes its victim, with all his imperfections on his head, known hundreds or thousands of miles away from his place of abode; and, what is worst of all, brings to his knowledge exactly what is said about him, with all its details. It thus inflicts what is, to many men, the great pain of believing that everybody he meets on the street is perfectly familiar with some folly or misfortune, or indiscretion, or weakness, which he had previously supposed had never got beyond his domestic circle.

It is no defense for this state of things to say that the passion for notoriety of any kind has been fostered to such an extent by this wide diffusion of printed gossip that there is a large number of people who do not dislike it, but on the contrary, put themselves in the way of having their private life explored by the press. They are a small minority at best, and their taste must be recognized as a depraved one.—Scribner.

A GAME OF HEARTS.

IV.

UENTS had been invited for the evening, and immediately after dinner both ladies excused themselves on the plea of household arrangements to make for the entertainment. As Ella left the room she was conscious that Erich rose to follow, but she heard her cousin ask him for a few moments' conversation in the smoking room. Her heart sank within her as she walked slowly behind her mother down the long corridor. What would the young men say to each other? What might take place between them?

The door of the smoking room closed. Erich stood still by the table, pressing his hand heavily upon it, silent, his eyes upon the floor. Hugo stood opposite.

"Will you not sit down, Gruter?" asked he uncertainly.

"As you like," replied Erich, taking a chair. Hugo sat down also, but neither spoke for some moments, then Hugo started up.

"Gruter, this morning I behaved like a cad! But I could not be angry with you. You had a right to be furious. I was a cad—and Erich, old fellow, can you forgive me? I can't bear your face to look so reproachful to me. We have gotten on so well together, best friends since we were boys!"

His honest eyes were dim, he held out his hand. Erich put his into it, the count's grasp was long and close; then he drew Erich down beside him on the sofa, gave him a cordial clap on the shoulder, in a hearty boyish relief at the reconciliation, which he had evidently expected would not be so easily effected.

"Listen, Count Hugo," said Erich, presently. "We are reconciled good! I have yet other things to do and to bear, before I am out of your debt that you know as well as I."

Nonsense!" was Hugo's half angry response, "what I may have done for you, you have already repaid ten times over; and God willing we have yet many a long day before us, to quarrel and make up in so comrade!"

Erich looked up.

"No, Count Hugo," he said firmly, "I have something to say to you—something hard for me to say. And you must not believe, promise me this—that it has the remotest connection with the foolish affair of this morning. But I am going away to-morrow morning, early, before day break, and you must not keep me, Count Hugo—you, of all men, must not bid some day you shall say, 'he was my friend, he ate of my bread and he played the scoundrel to me.' You know what I mean; I am a thoughtless fellow, I have the luck—good or bad—of not being able to slip on my own way, neglected and unnoticed, and it is better now for me and for you and, in short, it is high time was off. You understand me, Count Hugo?"

The count wassilent, his eyes fixed on the floor, there was a struggle with his pride, his angry jealousy at the thought of losing Ella had made him realize his love for her and here before him stood a man whose steadfast proud lips were denying himself the heart that he must know lay almost at his feet. Must he go? His noble honesty touched Hugo, but rising hastily he said:

"You are right, Gruter. I own I did guess something. I saw your parting in the wood to-day, yes, go! But you will let me do something for you, you must not get into straits again. I will get you a situation with my cousin, it is far away from here, where—nothing."

"Stop, stop!" cried Erich, walking quickly up and down the room. "Not a word more of that, Count Hugo! I have been silly long enough now, I could not stand it a moment more! I must take up my old vagabond life again! let me go—I cannot change me! I will let your title cover the next three months, if you will—give me enough to live on—long then—perhaps, else will come. But I promise you that when the winter comes up to my chin again, I will call out to you before Dusk and look enough of this, I will make my last appearance this evening for half an hour, and to-morrow with the latest stars."

He broke off, wrung the count's hand, and turned to leave the room. At the door, a low hesitating, "Erich," made him pause with his hand on the lock.

"Erich, do you wish do you think it best to take leave of the ladies?"

"I will not seek it," said Erich, "but if a chance we see nothing against it. I will only speak as you might expect."

The evening burst in a blaze upon Nesta's all on the front of the house—a splendid there, but the doctor had decreed the invalid early dismissal and laughter. Eilan her arm, while she with one full-blown rose in her bright hair, moved all with exquisite indifference—as consistently wrong to the door. Where is Erich?

The girl's cheek grew cold with each moment she trembled at the thought of the interview between Hugo and Erich, at the thought of the latter as too sensitive, at the thought of her own heart. The strange, reckless adventure, this gipsy, despite all pain it had left its strong hand upon her life had taught her the full meaning of what had been to her empty words, rapture, anguish had to-day in his wild wrath, seemed revealed to her what thing she had done when she had taken him as a plaything, and in the time of a few minutes hours, and the bitterest tears of her life had flowed, as she had told herself that she must not see him, the love which inspired her to kneel, to stoop from the proud height. Ella rose and all at once she was standing by a window looking out into the night, when Hugo came to her.

"You must give me one, Ella," he said drawing her hand through his arm "come!"

As she went to the piano, she saw Erich's tall figure, leaning in the doorway. He saw the quick flush on her face and felt her hand tremble.

"Erich was right," thought he angrily, "it is high time. Ella," he said in a low tone, bending over her as she touched a few soft chords, "do you know that Erich is going away to-morrow?"

"Going away!" she echoed mechanically "for how long?"

"Forever!" whispered Hugo, and left her.

A black veil fell before her eyes, her hands were numb, but she sang on one song after another, it will keep them away from me she thought vaguely, "these people."

At last she left the piano, it was late the party was breaking up. A mortal terror seized her would he go without taking leave of her? She slipped along the side of the room towards him, and whispered as she passed.

"I am going into the balcony of the garden room."

He bowed gravely, without a word.

A few moments later both were standing on the balcony, alone, pale and silent. At length Erich spoke, his voice had its own clear ring.

"Have you heard, countess, that I am again on the wing? Horrible, for a man to have a restless spirit, but—it pays for one not. My good employer in a letter free, released me from our engagement—and now I have only to say farewell, you will give you my thanks from the bottom of your heart."

—because I choose! The old song, you remember?

"I wander through the world,

"And if I do not wonder over anything, nobody wonders at me—for not at the old answer to the question in the—Bravo! most good of signs—I have kept my promise, I have—no, I—

But words in good English did not open to him, and he did not know how his heart rose like a goat within his mouthful. "Forget, forgive—take the right things your! He saw his eyes fixed clamoring voice, he thought of his friendship which had trusted him. All fine and great that lay hidden in the wild but noble ground of his nature shot up, putting forth bough and blossom—the stem

"No! Get out."

"Well, you're a fine one, you are. Look here, young fellow, shall out something. I'm not working this day for nothing." And then the pathetic foreigner voiced his anger and disgust in a torrent of genuine old Anglo-Saxon that allowed the reporter to make his escape in the blue haze that surrounded him.

Life Insurance Policy Holders

SHOULD READ THIS!

THE PERCENTAGES OF LAPSES.

The large increase in the amount of life insurance written by purely Canadian companies, and terminated by surrender or lapse, during the past year, has naturally attracted the attention of insurance men. So unexpected and unwelcome an increase as $1,709,612 in the amount of lapsed policies credited to Canadian companies during a period when American companies doing business in this country showed a decrease under this heading of $312,304, could not fail to excite comment; so that the figures have been eagerly scanned to discover how much a condition of affairs was brought about.

Perhaps this is most easily shown in tabular form by giving the net amount of insurance in force on the books of each of our principal Canadian companies and the percentage of lapsed and surrendered policies they are responsible for. In this case they rank as follows:—

Company.	Net amount in force.	Percentage of Surrender and Lapse.
Canada Life	$48,864,376	3.07
Confederation	17,574,823	5.31
Ontario Mutual	13,071,400	10.29
Federal	10,058,837	10.35
Sun Life	11,870,317	10 36
North American	8,470,620	10.66
Temperance and General	2,964,972	17.84
Citizens	2 097 956	29.15
Manufacturers' Life	5,723,100	30 12
London Life	1 644 255	30 61

From this table we can see that while each companies as the Canada Life and Confederation have actually decreased the amount of their lapses, some of the weaker companies have largely increased theirs, so that, although one company shows under four per cent., one under six, and four under eleven, the average percentage of lapses for the whole ten companies is 15.78 per cent.

The only moral we can draw from these figures is that the stronger and more widely known a company is, and the more of its patrons it will retain permanently on its books, while the weaker companies must, perforce, witness the defection of a certain proportion of their customers to their more powerful rivals. That so large a proportion as 30 per cent. of policy holders should entirely abandon the advantages of insurance in one year is hardly probable in these days of popular education. We can therefore only fall back on the hypothesis that the bulk of the lapses of the weaker companies must arise from their policy holders transferring their allegiance elsewhere. It is in fact a case of the wealthier and more widely known (even if not more progressive) companies absorbing the cream of the permanent business, and leaving only the transitory, and therefore less desirable risks, to their humbler competitors. By the aid of clever management and attractive methods, a weak company may be able to absorb a fair share of new business; but it is evident from these figures that the superior prestige of their older established rivals is certain to attract a proportion of their customers in the long run, and that thus their percentage of lapses will always be heavier.

The Biggest Yet.

Mr. J. J. Turner has shipped the largest awning yet put up in Lindsay, to Warner & Perry. The awning is 33 feet long, and will throw all other awnings in the town, as well as the shop it adorns, into the shade. Turner is kept busy making frequent shipments to outside places, from Montreal in the east to Rat Portage in the west.

A Pleasure Trip.

The Lindsay Post says:—Mr. R. B. Rogers, of Peterborough, superintendent of the Trent water, and a party of friends comprising Judge Weller, A. P. Poussette, R. D. Strickland, R. Max Donnelston, J. M. Irwin, of Peterborough, and J. K. V. Sutherland and L. M. Proctor, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., paid Lindsay a visit Saturday last in the superintendent's little steam yacht Empress. A number of the visitors left for Peterborough by the evening train.

Equal Rights.

The topic of the day and that which we all want is not only Equal Rights in a political sense of the word, but in many others. Here are people throwing away their hard earned money, with unprincipled houses who do not as much as thank them for it. Why should they do it? Why not call on W. J. Morrow, where you are received courteously, your money placed to a good advantage and you are placed on a solid basis in future for buying cheap groceries. dw

The Forester's Ramble.

Away to the greenwood with the Foresters on Tuesday next, July 22nd. By G. T. R. and steamer to Sturgeon Point a tempting, cool, charming spot, beautiful as Sherwood Forest, the haunts of Robin Hood and his merry men. A delightful day's outing. Enjoyment for all. Every comfort provided. Cheap and rapid. Return fare only 85 cents. Children half price. On the grounds unique athletic sports and the beautiful may pole dance. Don't miss this charming excursion. Tickets with members, at the bookstores and at the station. d

Give Him Six Months.

A pestiferous punster hands in the following outrage:—"At the Foresters' excursion, on July 22nd, the engineer will Hooper up, and the train will Kneesl along at a great rate. A. Carpenter will see that excursionists are treated with every Curtis-y, and also see that they have every chance for enjoyment, and an ho-Nes(t)bit of fun."

Struck by a Pitchfork.

Mr. A. E. Dixon, of Edmison & Dixon, met with a painful though as yet not serious accident Friday afternoon. He was assisting his men to take in hay upon his farm at the outskirts of the town, and while forking the hay in the mow was struck in the leg by the pitchfork of one of the men who was working near him. The prong made several ugly wounds at the knee cap, and Mr Dixon will have to remain in complete quietness for a few days if serious results are to be avoided.

A Very Marked Change.

Mr. Cluxton shipped by the C P R. four car loads of cheese on Thursday evening at 9 o'clock for the Allans' steamer Assyrian, for London. The cheese was loaded on the vessel last night before midnight and the boat sailed at daylight this (Saturday) morning. This cheese was in the factories on Thursday morning, 17th instant, and, barring accidents, will be delivered in London within fifteen days from that date. In the early days of Mr. Cluxton's business life, he considered he made fast time when he made the trip from Montreal to Peterborough in four days, travelling night and day. This marks a great, in fact, wonderful change in the transport facilities during the life of those not advanced in years, and a marvellous change since Christophe Columbus made his first trip across the Atlantic.

The 12th at Buckhorn.

The Orangemen of Harvey and their friends were astir bright and early Saturday morning, says the Lakefield Chronicle. After meeting in their lodge room at Lakehurst, the members wended their way, headed by the Indian Village brass band, to the picturesque village of Buckhorn, which was gayly decorated with flags and streamers. At the entrance of the village an arch of evergreen, richly decorated with flags and mottoes had been erected by the villagers to welcome the Order and their friends. Every preparation had been made for an enjoyable day, and one of the best patronized places was the platform erected for the lovers of the "light fantastic." The day was a big one for Buckhorn, nothing occurring to mar the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

The Despatchers go to Lindsay.

An important change in the Midland Railway system, which has been in contemplation for a number of years, has been finally decided upon and will take place about the first of September. This is the removal of the train despatcher's offices from Peterborough to Lindsay. Mr. Geo Stevens and his staff of five operators are making preparation to remove to Lindsay in the course of a month or so. The change is being made because Lindsay is a more central point, and, it is said a sop, that the offices were promised Lindsay as a return for municipal favours granted the Grand Trunk Company. A portion of Lindsay's railway station will be fitted up for the despatching offices. It is stated further that the station at Peterborough will be remodelled in the fall, and the vacant office room added to the other overcrowded departments and the waiting rooms.

Dot Down the Date.

The date of the Foresters' Excursion to Sturgeon Point is Tuesday, July 22nd, and not "Wednesday," as incorrectly stated in a local paper. Come along and enjoy the best excursion of the season. A rapid run by rail; a breezy pleasant sail; an orchestra on hand to furnish music for dancing; a beautiful picnic park; luncheon baskets looked after; tea, hot water and milk provided on the grounds. The New Market Building.

There was a very large attendance at Market Clerk Doherty's matinee to-day. Both sellers and buyers were well represented. So far as could be learned their was no complaint from fatigue, caused by climbing the wide easy flight of stairs leading to the market room, with which everybody was delighted. The farmers' wives and daughters highly appreciate the tables provided for their baskets. They were comfortably seated and the buyers had a wide passage in front from which they could bargain for the various produce exposed for sale. The forms now in use are to be replaced by chairs as soon as the order for them has been filled. There was plenty of room and the new market building, cool, well ventilated and well lighted, was unanimously voted a great success. The convenience and comfort it brings to both buyers and sellers will tend to make the latter attend our market in increasing numbers and the people of the town to more extensively avail themselves of the chance to select the commodities they require from the elaborate stock that will be presented.

Death of Mrs. Fitzgerald.

Fenelon Falls lost an old and respected resident Friday morning by the death of Mrs. Fitzgerald, widow of the late James Fitzgerald, one of the early settlers. Mrs. Fitzgerald has been ailing for some time, and her death was expected, but nevertheless the event has caused much sorrow in the village. The deceased lady was born in Ireland, and came to Canada while young. She was married to Mr. Fitzgerald in Millbrook early in the forties, and it was owing to his energy that the early growth of the place is attributable. Some years after coming here he and Mrs. Fitzgerald made a tour round the world intending to settle in Australia, if they liked the country, but after a short residence there they returned to Fenelon Falls, and the family have resided there ever since. Mr. Fitzgerald died about eighteen years ago, from the effects of an injury. Three sons and four daughters survive, one of the sons, Mr. Joseph Fitzgerald, formerly registrar of Haliburton, being manager of a large lumbering interest at Parry Sound. The funeral will take place on Sunday.

A Teacher's Excellent Record.

Mr. Brick, Principal of the Murray street Separate School, is to be congratulated upon the success that has attended the discharge of his duties, the value of which has been practically tested. There were sent up, from the Separate school to the Entrance Examinations eleven candidates. Of these seven succeeded in passing. In encouragement of the efforts of the boys, prizes have been presented to the three lads taking the highest marks. The first prize, a ten dollar gold piece, presented by Mr. C. J. Leonard, Chairman of the Board; Charles Butler, with 534 marks; the second price, a five-dollar gold piece, presented by the School Board, William O Brien, with 472 marks; the third prize, a five dollar gold piece, presented by Rev. Father Radkins, Edward Crowe, with 451 marks. The record made by these lads is highly creditable both to themselves and their teacher.

Friday's Ball Game.

Campbellford an Easy Victim—The Score 23 to 9.

Campbellford and Peterborough ball teams played Friday afternoon, and the visitors were easily disposed of. Both nines played yellow ball at times, as the error column will show, but the Peterboroughs batted their way to victory. McCabe pitched an effective game, striking out 13 men, and was well supported by Graham, while the fielding only reached mediocrity. Beattie and Ingram are a fair battery, but the Peterboroughs had no difficulty in hitting the ball, Brennan, Somers, Hay and McGlynn, distinguishing themselves by heavy batting.

The home team took the lead at the start and won easily. Following is the score:—

ENGLAND'S FATTEST BOY.

Five Years Old, Stands Four Feet and Weighs 117 Pounds.

LONDON, July 18.—The Lancet publishes to-day an account of an extraordinary child, born in West Cornel. He is now 5 years and 6 months of age, and is of the following dimensions: Height 4 feet, weight 117 pounds, circumference of abdomen 47½ inches, chest 37 inches, neck 14 inches, head 22½ inches, thigh 28 inches, arm 11½ inches, forearm 10½ inches. He is very healthy, eats all day long and is fairly intelligent. The parents and their other children are of ordinary size.

France's Fattest Girl Dead.

PARIS, July 18.—The fattest girl in Paris, by name Victorel Fantin, died last Sunday and was buried to-day with great ceremony. She was only 19 years of age, and weighed 470 pounds. Her limbs were enormous. She was engaged at the Eden theatre, but her size was such that she made very few appearances. It required seven strong men to assist her from her house to the stage.

Betrayed By a Finger Nail.

PARIS, July 18.—A finger nail on one of the window sills of Rimmel's perfumery works led to the discovery that the establishment had been robbed. Jules Labrun, a young man employed there, was suspected. It was learned that the nail of one of his fingers was torn off. The police heard he was hiding in his mother's house, to which they went to arrest him. As they entered the house Labrun opened a window on the sixth floor and jumped into the street, killing himself instantly.

The Shooting at Bisley.

LONDON, July 18.—Four of the Canadians have secured places in the 300 who will fire in the second stage of the match for the Queen's prize at Bisley. They are: Staff, Sergt. Ogg of Guelph, Capt. Bishop of Halifax, Sergt. Hall of Waterloo, Que., and Lieut. Smith of St. John, N.B. In the next hundred there were three Canadians: Lieut. Hora, of Kingston; Lieut. Manning, of St. John, N. B., and Private Hutcheson, of Ottawa. These three retire from the competition with prizes of £2 each. The best hundred in the first and second stages combined fire in the final stage.

PLUCKY MRS. PARKER.

A Wisconsin Woman Kills Single-Handed a Huge Bear.

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 18.—Mrs. Harriet Parker, who lives with her husband and little daughter at Dedham, fifteen miles down the Eastern road, had an exciting experience this morning. While her husband was absent, about 6½ o'clock, she heard the little girl, who had gone out in the yard, scream, and a second later the little one came running into the house, saying that there was a big bear out there. Mrs. Parker took her husband's Winchester rifle and went out. The bear was within twenty feet of her when she fired, sending the bullet into the brute's head. The bear started for her and she fired again breaking the bear's back. A third bullet struck the animal in the head, killing it. The brute weighed 400 pounds and was very thin and savage.

When Mr. Parker got home the bear was skinned and the meat all dressed. Mrs. Parker is quite a huntress, having frequently accompanied her husband on his trips.

Gas Struck in Kent.

RIDGETOWN, July 18.—On the farm of William Mead, near Mull, in sinking a well for water, Mead struck gas at 60 feet, and a pipe and reducer were put in. By turning a tap a stream of gas escapes with a deafening roar, showing a pressure estimated at 30 to 60 lbs. to the square inch. The gas is without odor, and Mead has probably enough to run powerful machinery for generations. In the meantime he will put it into his house and utilize it for cooking, heating and lighting purposes. The Mead well is only 5½ miles in a bee line from Ridgetown. The Ingraham well is only half that, and is probably as powerful.

SMALLPOX RAGING IN MEXICO.

Four Hundred Deaths a Month from the Disease at Saltillo.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 18.—Mr. Warren returned to-day from a lengthy stay in the state of Coahuila, Mexico. Most of the time was spent in Saltillo, the capital. He describes the city as generally prosperous, but ravaged by smallpox.

"I was told," he said, "that the deaths there from the disease averaged 400 people in a month for the last three months, and new cases are reported daily. The epidemic is mostly among children and is confined to no particular locality of the city. There seem to be no quarantine measures adopted to prevent the spread of the disease. There are scores of foreigners leaving the city and there is scarcely any travel into the stricken place. When a person dies of the disease the body is placed on a board and carried away on the heads of men to the burial ground. The face is exposed, and the winds passing over the body of the dead carry the pestilence to all quarters of the city and surrounding country.

A Pennsylvania Hurricane.

ERIE, Pa., July 18.—A hurricane struck Girard yesterday. Scores of houses and barns were unroofed and the costly Presbyterian church was almost destroyed. The damage to farm property was heavy.

Cronin's Murderer Dying in Prison.

JOLIET, July 18.—It was reported here last night that Patrick O'Sullivan, the iceman, now serving a life sentence for his complicity in the murder of Dr. Cronin, is dying. The authorities at the prison refuse to confirm the report, however.

PETERBORO BOOMING!

The Manufacturing Industries of this town have never been in a more prosperous condition. They are receiving large orders and so many of them that they have to work overtime to supply the demand.

Notwithstanding the above facts, I have properties of all kinds forced on the market, for various reasons, at prices far below fair value, and I would strongly advise any person contemplating buying a vacant lot, a house and lot, a market garden or a farm to buy Now, and buy from me. It will be money in your pocket to do so. Come in and let me know what you want and where you want it. I will guide you right and sell you cheap property. I have a Grocery Business, a Flour and Feed Store, a Hotel, a Butcher Business, and a well established Real Estate Business, all good openings and good reasons in each case for selling. Do you want to buy any of the above,—if not then I want to sell you a Choice Lot in the Little Lake Cemetery; it belongs to a foreigner.

WAR IN SAN SALVADOR.

THE INVADING GUATEMALANS LOSE A BIG TRAIN.

A Force Numbering 9000 Driven Back With Heavy Loss The Guatemalan Artillery Captured The Cause of the Conflict Union by Coercion.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 20.—El Universal publishes an account of a battle between Guatemalan and San Salvadorians in San Salvador, in which the former were defeated with heavy loss.

The Guatemalan force numbered 9000.

He will probably raise the standard of revolt in Guatemala.

Private telegrams from San Salvador say the San Salvadorians captured the Guatemalan artillery in the battle which took place on Thursday.

THE CAUSE OF THE WAR.

Attempting to Force San Salvador Into the Central American Union.

GUATEMALA CITY, July 20. The trouble between the Central American States grows out of the proposed union of the republics of San Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Costa Rica and Nicaragua. The convention for the union of the states was signed by Honduras, San Salvador and Guatemala, while a favorable reply was received from the Senate of Costa Rica in regard to signing it. The convention will also be presented to Nicaragua in a year, it being too late this year, as the session already met.

Gen. Ezeta, the new president of San Salvador, sent a cable that he would agree to every point of the four other republics except that upon the recognition of the States. This was almost an open declaration of war, and Guatemala and Honduras will endeavor to make San Salvador live up to the agreement. It is believed that Ezeta represents the old Conservative or Church party, which is undergoing a return to power.

Guatemala, which has been the foremost in endeavoring to bring about this union, has two objects in view, namely, to protect herself from force invasion and to strengthen her credit abroad. The meeting of commissioners from the Mexican boundary question is to be held in November. The decision of the Commissioners, if averse to Guatemala, will take a large slice out of her territory, and there will undoubtedly be some dispute over the matter. Mexico is supposed to be casting longing eyes upon Guatemala with a view to annexation, and she could only a power to be feared by such a small nation.

Costa Rica and Nicaragua will undoubtedly range themselves under the banner of the ruling union, and would be a difficult task for Mexico to embroil or interfere with the affairs of the Republics just now, for that would demand a change in San Salvador's attitude.

LIKE "AN ARROW WITH A ROAR."

The Deadly Cyclone Visits Iowa Carrying a Heavy Jag.

CORNING, Burres, Ia., July 20. A special from Pacific Junction, 16 miles south of here, gives news of a cyclone which struck that place at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. During the night a severe electric storm prevailed. In addition to the rain fell in torrents. The atmosphere about midnight became remarkably still yet dense. It was difficult for one to breathe. Egyptian darkness reigned, dispelled only by a vivid flash of lightning at the above hour when, with no warning, a large funnel-shaped cloud descended from the heavens like an arrow with a roar that terrified the entire city. The clouds struck the ground about 300 feet from the Burlington depot, and in a moment two business blocks, a grocery store, a feed store and three residences were torn to pieces as if made of paper. The timbers were carried up into the air and lost sight of. The cloud after traveling about 200 feet on the ground rose in the air only to alight again within a block's distance. It struck the second time a trifle to the west of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy station, and lifted a passenger coach belonging to the C. R. and Q. road a ditch and badly damaged it. A conductor sleeping in the coach was terribly bruised and cut and may die. After wrecking the coach the cloud flew upward and vanished.

Killed by Lightning.

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—A severe rain and electrical storm visited this city and vicinity this evening. At Milborburg lightning struck a shed, instantly killing Victor Marchand, fatally injuring Edgar Charles and seriously injuring Edward Williams. At Gentilly Road a dairyman was killed in the same way.

TROUBLE AT BUENOS AYRES.

The Political Situation Disturbed—The Garrison Under Arms.

BUENOS AYRES, July 20. The political situation here is disturbed. Reinforcements of troops have arrived and the garrison is under arms. At the close of the market yesterday the premium on gold was 300.

The Latest From China.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Chinese advices say Barrados, formerly superintendent of the money order department of the Hong-Kong general postoffice, was brought to Hong Kong from Manilla June 23 under extradition papers, charged with having appropriated $10,000.

A passenger boat plying between Hong Kong and Tai-Kok-Tsui sunk during a squall June 20 and seven persons were drowned.

A collision between steamers of the Osaka Merchant Steamship Company and the Yamamoto Company at Jinzoki June 26 resulted in the loss of the latter company's vessel and 14 lives.

A Victim of the Cyclone.

ST. PAUL, July 19.—Mrs. Melancon, who kept the Parnell House on Lake Gervais and who was seriously injured in the recent cyclone, died at the county hospital to-day.

THE WORLD OF LONDON.

STRONG COMMENTS ON THE BEHRING SEA BUSINESS.

The Papers For Once Agree, Which Bodes Ill For Uncle Sam's Claim The Disgraced Grenadier Guards Sheffield's Protest Against the McKinley Tariff.

NEW YORK, July 20. Mr. G. W. Smalley cables The Tribune from London: More very curious dispatches have been sent here by cable professing to give a further account of the negotiations relating to Behring Sea. The British public is invited to believe that Lord Salisbury addressed a direct threat to Mr. Blaine; that the President declined to explain his views to the Secretary of State; that the President subsequently told the Cabinet that American cruisers ought to deal summarily with British sealers; and that Lord Salisbury learned this privately and surreptitiously and thereupon told Mr. Blaine that England would take care of her own subjects. This surprising story is received here with some incredulity, but is nevertheless made the occasion for some pretty strong comments on the whole Behring Sea business. The London papers who discuss it are agreed in resisting America's claim. The Times sums up by saying: "Behring Sea outside the three-mile limit ring Sea outside the three-mile limit is just as free to all the world as the English Channel or the Mediterranean, and any attempt to restrict that freedom is a usurpation of well-established rights."

Questioned in the House of Commons on Thursday Ministers answered that they had received no report touching the President's alleged statement. The mischief done by such a story, if untrue, is considerable. Were it true, in the form stated, we should be within measurable distance of a diplomatic rupture.

The second battalion of the Grenadier Guards are ordered to South Africa. It is the first time in their history that they have been sent abroad except during a war, and it marks the extreme seriousness of the situation from a military point of view. It is for the gilards themselves at once a punishment and a disgrace. It impairs, if it does not destroy, the prestige of this favored and favorite regiment, and leaves an indelible blot on its long record of hitherto untarnished and honorable service.

The Secretary of State for War refused to answer any questions in the House of Commons relating to the recent mutiny in the second battalion of the Grenadier Guards, and declined absolutely to state the result of the Court of Inquiry. The truth is that the inquiry revealed a state of things far worse than anybody suspected. The battalion is honeycombed with disaffection, discontent and even disloyalty. The Socialist emissaries had not been satisfied with working from the outside. They had actually enlisted in the regiment, and had been working day and night to foment insubordination, above all things seeking to induce the troops to side with the mob when ordered out to quell the mob. Colonel Maitland's harshness had aided this systematic Socialistic debauchery, but the root of the trouble lay deeper. The Horse Guards became convinced that there was but one way to deal with it; and the battalion goes into military exile. It starts at three days notice and remains three years. A certain number of soldiers remain for trial by the court-martial which assembled yesterday. Colonel Maitland resigns, and Colonel Eator takes command of the battalion, which sails on Tuesday next. Meantime there is witnessed the novel spectacle of guard duty at Buckingham Palace and Marlborough House performed in part by that Yorkshire line regiment which was ordered up from Portsmouth. The sentries on duty at the gates of these royal residences for the first time within the memory of man are not in Guards uniform. The white glazed helmet replaces the bearskin.

Half of Sheffield is up in arms. The Sheffield cutlers think the new American tariff likely to disturb their hold on American markets, and have held a great meeting, the Mayor presiding. The master cutler moved a resolution of protest against what he calls the prohibitory tariff. This resolution proceeds in a very seldom heard between friendly nations. It summons the British Government to inform the President of the United States that this tariff, being hostile and unfair to the manufacturing population of Great Britain and Ireland, is viewed with great disfavor in this country. This, supported by the president of the Chamber of Commerce, was carried unanimously. An interesting comment on it is supplied by Colonel Howard Vincent, the member for Sheffield, and a member also of what is called the Fair Trade Party—perhaps its only member. Colonel Vincent says that Sheffield wants retaliatory duties, and these are, in his opinion, a certain result of the course the Americans are pursuing towards British trade. There are, at any rate, 20,000 Sheffield artisans who demand them.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

THE WARCLOUD AGAIN LOWERS IN THE EAST.

Emperor William Curtails His Northern Tour and Hastens His Conference With the Czar—France's Objections to the United States Tariff Bill.

BERLIN, July 19.—Emperor William has announced that he will return to Wilhelmshausen from his trip in Norwegian waters on July 26. Ministers DuVernois and Miquel will meet him there. The Reichsanzeiger last night declared the Emperor's plans for his trip had not been altered owing to the political situation, but the facts contradict the official statement. Arrangements were made for his voyage to extend a week longer. Affairs in the east are hastening to a crisis and this caused Emperor William to advance the date of his conference with the Czar.

Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador to Berlin, who is now in St. Petersburg, has sent Chancellor von Caprivi a formal intimation that the Czar will receive Emperor William on Aug. 10. The great manoeuvres to which Emperor William has been invited will begin on Aug. 7 and last for two weeks.

THE FIRST GUN.

A Democratic Senator Will Open Out on the McKinley Tariff.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The debate on the Tariff Bill is expected to begin in the Senate to-morrow. The understanding is that in the morning hour the Indian Appropriation Bill shall be taken up and considered until 2 o'clock and then give way to the Tariff Bill. Senator Voorhees (Dem., Ind.) has stated his intention to deliver a general speech on the Tariff at 2 o'clock Monday. The Republicans do not intend under the present arrangements to engage in general debate on the bill, therefore a Democratic senator will make the opening speech. Republican members of the Finance Committee have been informed the Democratic minority will not make a formal report against the passage of the bill.

PARIS, July 19.—The American consulate here is overrun with French merchants making inquiries and complaining of the effects of the American customs administration bill.

The president of the French Budget Committee advocates a commercial treaty with the United States to take effect in 1892 when France will have regained her economic liberty.

German critics say the French army never appeared to so great advantage as on July 14 on the celebration of the fall of the Bastile. They especially praise the artillery.

The Chamber of Commerce has sent a petition to the Government, asking that it try to secure a delay of two months in the time of enforcing the provisions of the Customs Administration. The petition also requests the Government to open negotiations with the other European powers for the holding of a congress to adopt measures for the protection of the export trade of Europe against the provisions of the bill.

WHO OWNS BEHRING SEA?

Great Britain's Investigations Into American and Russian Seizures.

LONDON, July 19.—The British Government is preparing to lay before Parliament the correspondence in relation to Behring Sea. The contention of the Government briefly is that the limits of American jurisdiction extend only to the three-mile limit from the shores of the mainland and islands of Alaska. To this position it is well understood that the Government will adhere, agreeing, however, to a close season for seals during nine months of the year with freedom to kill during July, August and September.

The British Government also is proceeding further to investigate the seizure of the British sealer Avannah in 1888 by the Russian authorities at the instance of the American Alaska Company, the vessel having been confiscated, the Russians claimed, for fishing within three miles of the Russian shore, the owners of the Avannah, however, having always asserted that they were at least six miles away. The case has for some time been dormant, but is being revived with vigor.

Down on Secret Societies.

DUBLIN, July 20.—In his sermon at the cathedral at Armagh to-day Rev. Mr. Neece denounced secret societies. He referred especially to the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He said this society, which was founded in America, was seeking new members in Ireland, and he warned all Catholics against having anything to do with the organization.

Victoria's Railways.

MELBOURNE, July 20.—The Premier has introduced in Parliament a railway bill providing for the construction of 1077 miles of country lines and 39 miles of suburban lines, the whole to cost £12,500,000 besides a grant from the treasury of £2,000,000. He said the scheme was necessary in order to meet the growth of the population which, as the census proved, was increasing faster than the population of America. The bill was well received.

Osman Digna's Losses.

CAIRO, July 20.—It is reported that Osman Digna is at Omdurman and that his followers have returned to Tokar. Osman, it is said, lost 400 men by famine and sickness.

A Fatal Fight With Smugglers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 20.—A company of gendarmes had a fatal encounter with a gang of smugglers at Therapia to-day. The gendarmes were seizing contraband tobacco near the British Embassy when they were set upon by smugglers and badly defeated. Two officers were killed and a number of others were wounded.

A deputation of merchants of Brousa has waited upon the Governor protesting that they are not safe from brigandage.

IT LOOKS BAD FOR DELAMARE.

The Quebec Saloon-keeper Thought to Have Kindled the Fatal Fire.

QUEBEC, July 19.—At the inquest to-day on the Miranda family, victims of the late fire, a young man named Dufour testified that Delamare, who had a bar in the burned building, offered him $10 on two occasions to set fire to the premises and that he refused. It is now all but certain that Delamare fired the building himself or hired some one to do it.

The Clandeboye Defaulter.

LONDON, Ont., July 19.—James Walker, the defaulting G.T.R. Clandeboye agent, appeared again before the magistrate this morning and was given a further remand until July 25. Walker is in a bad condition alcoholically speaking and a certain measure of his accustomed stimulants has to be daily meted out to him, otherwise delirium tremens might be the result.

Murderers Exterminated.

TUCSON, ARIZ., July 20.—It is now known that of eight Apache prisoners under the Kid, who murdered Sheriff Reynolds and his deputy and escaped, all save three have been killed. Kid and two others are at large. Detachments of troops from all the forts are out with hopes of intercepting them. Lieut. Mitchell with scouts has been in pursuit since his fight on Friday, in which one of the renegades was killed.

Found Guilty of Manslaughter

BRACEBRIDGE, July 19.—Thomas Byron and Francis John O'Donnell were found guilty at the assizes to-day of causing the death of William O'Donnell by drowning and were sentenced to three months' imprisonment each.

The deceased could not swim, but supported by a plank ventured into deep water with the prisoners, who withdrew his support from him so often that he became exhausted and sank.

The Trunk Lines' Commissionership.

NEW YORK, July 19.—At a meeting of the Trunk Line passenger agents Thursday the passenger commissionership was unanimously offered to Leslie P. Farmer, passenger agent of the Erie road. Mr. Farmer has not as yet accepted.

A SCORCHER AT MIDLAND.

Coal Docks, Ice and Grain Houses and 6,000,000 Feet of Lumber Burnt.

MIDLAND, July 19.—A fire broke out this morning at 10 o'clock in a closet adjoining Jeffery & Co.'s coal dock and grain storehouse. A heavy northwest gale was blowing at the time. The fire soon spread to a coal heap and attacked the sheds, then to Varne's icehouse, Jeffery & Co.'s grain storehouse, Sullivan & Nunan's ice house on Burton's dock, J. A. Smith's boat house and workshop and finally into Yates & Co.'s, who lose their ice and house, and the Emery Lumber Co. yard. After seven hours, work the flames were finally subdued but not before destroying between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 feet of lumber owned by the Emery Lumber Company of East Saginaw and the Moore Lumber Company of Detroit. The loss on the lumber is heavy, as the best grades are put on the west side of the yard. The loss is covered by insurance. Jeffery & Co., Sullivan & Nunan and J. A. Smith are partly insured. The companies interested are the Northern, Commercial Union, Western, Hartford, London, Liverpool & Globe and Citizens'.

A Blaze at London, Ont.

LONDON, Ont., July 19.—Fire broke out about 11 o'clock to-night in W. V. Brunton & Son's general drygoods store. The damage to the stock will amount to several thousand dollars but is fully covered by insurance.

A Mono House Consumed.

SHELBURNE, July 19.—The large stone residence of the late Thomas Buchanan, con. 5, lot 15 in the township of Mono, was consumed by fire at an early hour this morning. The inmates had to get out in their night clothes. Loss about $3000, insurance light. How the fire originated is a mystery.

Incendiarism at Paterson, N.J.

PATERSON, N.J., July 20.—The extensive machine works here of J. C. Todd were burned this morning. Loss $150,000. Several firemen were overcome by smoke and had to be carried from beneath the falling walls. The fire is believed to have been incendiary.

Six Families Homeless.

UTICA, N.Y., July 20.—A serious fire occurred in Fort Plain, a thriving village in Montgomery County, this morning about 2 o'clock. It started in Smith & Moyer's block, Kellogg-street, burned that and eight wooden dwellings and rendered six families homeless. Loss $10,000.

A MEAN THIEF.

How a New York Banker Swindled Hundreds of Poor People.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Bernard Aronson, who carried on a banking establishment in Canal-street, was remanded to-day in Police Court on the charge of swindling many poor people who have been sending money and tickets to Europe. More than 300 poor foreigners were complainants and they crowded the capacity of the court room. Yesterday there was a lively scene at the banking establishment when a crowd of people who had been swindled broke into the place and used the banker and his clerk very roughly. Mrs. Annie Josephs told a sample story. She had sent to the banker $75 to be forwarded for a ticket to her sister and children in Poland. After her sister traveled 300 miles to the steamer's pier she found her ticket was no good. There were 100 people in the same fix and the scene of misery was pitiable.

California's Crops.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 20.—The following is the weekly telegram sent by Sergeant Barwick to the chief signal officer at Washington: Grain harvest about over, yield and acreage much below average but quality is good. Abundant fruit crop, except peaches, reported from nearly all portions of the state fruit belt.

ST. PAUL, July 20.—The weather during the past week has been watched closely, as at this season a week of general bad weather would do great damage to growing crops. The reports received from all over the Northwest, however, are decidedly encouraging. There are localities where some complaints are made but as a whole the outlook is extremely favorable. In the southern and southwestern part of this state the barley and rye harvest is well under way, while in Northern Iowa the oat crop is being rapidly secured. The general reports indicate a better general yield of grain than for several years.

A Parkhill Man Badly Scalded.

LONDON, July 19.—Frank Howard, fireman at McGinnis Bros.' factory in Parkhill, stood on a log to lift it out of a boiling vat. As he reached overhead to grasp the chain to which the grab hook was attached to steady himself while he threw his weight towards the higher and apparently lighter end of the log, the hook slipped its hold and the log fell back into the vat, carrying Howard with it. The poor man sank into the boiling water over his knees, and was terribly scalded, though rescued by another workman named Michael Cluney at once. About his ankles his flesh was literally cooked, and the skin peeled off when his boots and socks were removed. Cluney's presence of mind in seizing Howard by the shoulders as he was falling saved the latter from instant death, and it is hoped Howard may recover.

The Knights of Pythias Adjourn.

MILWAUKEE, July 19.—The Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias concluded its sixteenth biennial session here yesterday. Before adjourning the long-talked-of liquor question was settled. A long and bitter debate was entered into between the prohibition representatives and the local option men. The latter finally won, the Supreme Lodge deciding that the various grand lodges were to judge whether saloonkeepers should be admitted to membership in the lodges subordinate to them. The two children of Founder Rathbone of the order, who were left destitute, are to receive $150 every three months from the Supreme Lodge while they remain unmarried.

A COLORADAN KIDNAPPED.

Held For $2000 Ransom Fears that He Has Been Killed.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., July 20.—Three weeks ago B. F. Spinney, a business man of this place and a ranch owner in South Park, was kidnapped and taken into the mountains by a Texan named Harris, who claimed Spinney owed him $200 for cattle he had purchased of him. Since that time nothing has been heard of Spinney. Mr. Harrington, a brother-in-law of Spinney, raised the requisite sum recently and went into the mountains to pay the ransom but he too has disappeared. The Texan said he would hold Spinney ten days and if the money was not forthcoming in that time he would kill him. It is feared he has carried out his threat.

Sudden Death of a Scientist.

UTICA, N.Y., July 19.—Christian Henry S. Peters, director of Litchfield Observatory and Professor of Astronomy of Hamilton College, was found dead this morning. An assistant janitor of the college was making his usual morning rounds about 7 o'clock and discovered Dr. Peters lying on the first step of the lower steps leading into one of the halls. On his head was the little cap he usually wore when taking observations and in the fingers of his left hand lying on his breast was a half burned cigar. Death had resulted from apoplexy. He was in his usual health yesterday and the night being a clear and fine one he had his astronomical apparatus for the purpose of taking observations through the night.

The Canadian Won.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 20.—A prize fight took place at Hyde Park, Friday night, between Frank Clark, light weight champion of Canada, and Richard Dunn of Chicago. Thirteen lively rounds were fought. There were 150 spectators. In the thirteenth round Clark forced the fighting to a finish, chasing the Chicago man into his corner, where he dealt him terrific blows upon the head and body. Dunn's seconds seeing their man too weak to defend himself further, threw up the sponge, and the purse, $150, was awarded to Clark.

RELATIVE COST OF ROYALTY AND REPUBLICANISM.

It is the habit of the Republicans to think that republican simplicity has the advantage over monarchial magnificence in the matter of cost. Let us examine into the facts of the matter. The grants out of taxation, devoted to the maintenance of the Queen and Royal Family of the United Kingdom, and the representative of her Majesty in Ireland, are as follows :—

Her Majesty's Civil List, as fixed in 1873	£ 385,000
Annual grants to thirteen members of the Royal family	158,000
Salary of the Viceroy of Ireland	20,000
	£ 563,000
From this must be deducted the net revenue of the Crown lands, formerly belonging to the Sovereign, but surrendered to Parliament by her Majesty at her accession	370,000
Leaving the annual cost to the tax payers	£ 193,000
Or	$ 965,000

The cost of government in the United States comes out as follows :—

President's salary (£10,000) and allowances (estimated £5,000)	£ 15,000
Vice-President's salary	1,800
76 Senators, at $1,025 per annum	77,900
325 Representatives, at $1,025 per annum	333,125
Salaries of Governors of States and Territories	34,800
Salaries of 6,145 members of State and Territorial Legislatures (estimated)	491,600
Or	$4,770,125

The cost of the French republic is as follows :—

Salary of the President	£ 24,000
Household expenses	12,000
330 Senators at £600 per annum and expenses, amount voted	184,000
584 Deputies at £200 per annum and expenses, amount voted	286,000
	£ 506,000
Or	$2,530,000

Thus it is seen that "royalty" costs Great Britain $35,000 less than a million a year, while republican simplicity costs the United States only $30,000 less than five millions a year, and France $70,000 less than two and a half millions a year. And these latter figures do not include the cost of reaping the perennial election crop that grows so thriftily under republican institutions.

THE protest craze that followed the general election has reached its majority—come of age. Twenty-one protests have been entered against the return of as many members.

BETWEEN the N. P. and the McKinley Bill our farmers will, suggests the Welland Tribune, have to skip around lively to make ends meet. The N.P. taxes what they have to buy, and the McKinley Bill takes toll out of what they sell. They are between the upper and the nether mill stone, and so long as they vote for the party of restricted trade, they have only themselves to thank for their position.

THE Illinois Central Railway Company is trying an experiment with its employees which will be carefully watched by all interested in the well being of the laboring classes. The company offers to buy a share of its stock at the regular market quotation at any time an employee wants one and can pay $5 on it, thereafter taking payments of $5 each, charging 4 per cent. upon unpaid balances, and when the share is fully paid for it will be turned over to the buyer. The employee forfeits nothing; if he concludes at any time that he does not want the stock, his money is returned him.

THE investment by Sir John Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper and others in Western Virginia lands, leads the Ottawa Free Press to say :—"For years the policy of the present Dominion Ministers has been to invest in American enterprises. The late Mr. Pope built a railway in Maine, and even induced Parliament to vote money in aid of his road. His son and son-in-law—Messrs. Rufus Pope and W. B. Ives—as well as Sir Charles Tupper, Senators Cochrane and Ogilvie, and other prominent Conservatives have invested in a Texas cattle ranch. Sir David Macpherson is president of a Dakota land company. Mr. Chapleau is proprietor of California plantations, and is quoted by Florida orange grove men as one who has made orange growing in that State profitable. Mr. Colby, an American by birth, has invested in Colorado lands, and shows his appreciation of Canada's colleges and universities by sending his sons to the United States to be Educated—so that they may become impressed with the Jacksonian principles that "to the victors belong the spoils." These are about the only evidences we have of Tory loyalty to Canada."

Socialism, Nationalism and Christianity.

Rev. Walter M. Roger, of London, Discourses on the Subject at St. Paul's.

There was not a very large attendance at St. Paul's on Sunday evening, the absence of a large number of the congregation from town contributed to the thinness of the attendance. After the preliminary services came the special

SERMON

The preacher took for his text of his sermon the 33rd verse of the sixth chapter of the Gospel by St Matthew—"Seek ye first the Kingdom of Heaven and its righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

The great question in every age, said Rev. Mr. Roger, has been how to secure food and shelter and raiment. Men sometimes in their extremity ask themselves if God really did care for them. Our blessed Lord received the applause of the multitude when he fed them miraculously in the desert. Yet, though He was not indifferent to the wants of the people, He impressed upon them the fact that material things were not the highest aim. The existence of the struggle for bread showed there was something wrong in the state of society that permitted the existence of such a state of things. There has been a busy quest after a solution of the problem of relieving the sufferings and injustices of society, in every age of the past, and even to this day the search was continued. Society was warned of the danger that threatened it from the schemes of socialism, something vague and hard to define, but for that reason well suited to the schemes which it fostered. Socialism was opposed to individualism, which was an exaltation of selfishness at the expense of the combined members of society. The Socialistic remedy for this individual selfishness was plausible on the face of it. In order to counteract individualism, Socialism demands that all things be held in common—that the family must go—the marriage bond must be broken. The extreme danger and sin of thus flying in the face of a God-ordained family institution were pointed out, as well as the fact that the sacred institution of home was founded in Paradise at the beginning of the world. Thus Socialism was ruled out as a factor in the reformation of society that would banish selfishness from its exalted position. Another scheme for the destruction of individualism was Nationalism—making the nation a joint stock association of the people of any given country. But the inherent weakness of this scheme was the lack of adequate provision for true religion—the fact of the fall of man was ignored and together with it the great scheme of salvation. The speaker forcibly pointed out that there was no cure for the evils of society or for any evil that affects society but the remedy which God through Jesus Christ had provided—the kingdom which He established upon earth. Christ preached a forsaking of human trust, and a reliance upon Christ Himself. If people thus trusted the Divine providence and sought in sincerity the kingdom of God and his righteousness they would be placed, in regard to the supply of their material wants, upon the same footing as the fowls of the air. The preacher pointed out what immense amelioration of the condition of the human race Christianity had brought. The condition of the workingman in the early history of Christianity and his condition in the present day were forcibly contrasted, and wherever we found Christianity prevailing in the world at the present day, we also found that the condition of the working classes showed that not only in material things but in morality and spiritual matters the people of Christian lands were immeasurably superior to those of other lands not so supremely blest. The glorious Gospel of Christ was designed to improve not only the spiritual and moral but also the material condition of the people. The great Reformer and Philanthropist was Jesus Christ and He was the great Social Reformer who alone could correct the evil conditions that burdened society. Christianity was good for both the body and for the soul. "Like as a father pitieth his children so did the Lord pity them that fear him. The preacher concluded by eloquently impressing upon his hearers the importance of seeking the Kingdom of God, which was the only remedy that struck at the root of the evils of society—whose principles made men to do unto others as they would would that others should do unto them—that taught the highest standard of justice in all the relations of humanity, that man was a brotherhood, whose members, recognized by practice the rights of others, that abolished oppression and unfair dealing and created a condition of society which gave equal justice to all in material things and fitted its members for a better life in the world to come.

Nurseries of Disease.

A Reporter's Rambles Among the Club Houses of Disease Germs, Microbes, and Miasmatic Odors—The Condition of Alley-Ways and Back Yards.

"Every householder, whether rich or poor, should give personal attention to the cleanliness of his premises, especially to the cellar and yard. Health is too important a thing to be intrusted to subordinates. No decaying matter should be allowed in the cellars."

When one of our leading physicians wrote the foregoing, he gave advice that should be acted upon at once. This city is far in advance of many as respects cleanliness of streets, yards and alley-ways. Yet there are a few spots that are a disgrace and a source of disease. Malarial poison rises unseen and lurks in the very air we breathe. It brings disease and death to thousands, and is rightly regarded with as much fear as a pestilence. To fortify the system against its attacks, we earnestly recommend the use of Paine's Celery Compound. By keeping the nervous system strong and vigorous the health becomes so robust that the poison of malaria is successfully resisted. This medicine regulates the circulation, and sends the rich, pure blood pulsating joyously to every part of the body, and removes all feelings of heaviness, weight, and dullness.

In malarial districts if a free use was made of Paine's Celery Compound, there would be no fear of chills, low fever, bilious attacks, and all that train of evils. A specific for all nervous diseases, it has a remarkable power in malaria and liver complaints, owing to the fact that the perfect performance of the functions of the liver depends upon the strength and well-being of the nervous system. It has cured chronic cases that no other treatment could even benefit. Its enormous sale has been created solely by its own virtues and the thousand of remarkable recoveries it has wrought.

Nearly Suffocated in a Trunk.

Yesterday afternoon, Pearl, daughter of John Guy, on Adams avenue, near Twenty-first street, thought she heard a child screaming in the rear of the house. She could see nothing, and wondered from whom the sound could come. She heard it the second time, and proceeded down the lot to see who it could be. On the way she passed an old trunk and there imagined she heard something. Strange as it appeared to her that sounds should come from the trunk; she approached and opened it.

To her astonishment she found a boy there, 9 years of age, almost breathless, pale, and the cold sweat on his forehead. He proved to be Loney Rich, son of Ben. F. Rich. He and others had been playing "hide and seek," and he had taken to the discarded trunk as a hiding place. As the lid closed it shut tightly over his head, the lock snapping. He had been in the trunk so long that the children with whom he had been playing had given up the search and gone home.—Ogden Standard.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Wonderful Bed.

Mrs. Willie K. Vanderbilt is said to have the most imposing bed in New York. Our Story.

A GAME OF HEARTS.

Quentin kindly, as an understanding old friend, he took Ella's hand and drew her to a seat beside him. The stars shone down the wind rushed by, as Erich spoke in his clear calm tones.

"I know what brings these words from you, countess. You feel that in your wantonness of pride and power you made a play thing of a man with whom the world had already played hardly enough; and you are afraid you have hurt him. But fool indeed I should misuse this great-hearted impulse and you must never think countess, that this is self-immolation. We—you know I have often told you so—do not take life so seriously. How could we get on at all if we did not every instant say to ourselves, that kindness, if it chooses, I've—all these jewels flowers, are created for other ends than to stick in the hair of a wayfaring man. We pass sun times, and look in through the clear home windows made bright and beautiful by these blooms we pass on, and for a while the memory engages us—but we always say to ourselves. When we come again may be in a month or may be in a year then the lovely things may not be so fair, they may be withered or blooming for another and it is better so. Always remember this, countess, and even if Edward hold first the little hand, dared to oppose this maiden head to the storms that must beat upon my own brow, then would I know you for a woman who has given me trust—confidence, nay more. You know I love often unless not not how much. It is hard to speak of such things, but when I have told you my story thereon will say to me how impossible it would be for me to rob this maid of his flower which is the glory and crowning his garden. Listen—you have often heard me call myself an adventurer, a wag about but I am no absolute of feeling of pride and self-respect, and I also know love. I spent days in consideration these when by chance I saw a golden haired face. A very long age, I had fallen upon evil times, things had gone wrong with me, not only was my money gone but my strength, my courage, everything. It was night, I was sitting in my garret room, from which next morning I was to be turned into the street, I was famishing. Ella," he stopped and took both her hands in his, "why do you look so pale? It is all over now." Well to be brief, I heard of Count Heidstellen's arrival in the city, he had rooms at a grand hotel. I wrote on a card "I am hungry." For an answer, he came himself, climbed the tumbledown staircase to my wretched room, entered as into a king's palace, stood before me and a desperate shabby rascal I was, you may imagine and gave me his hand and counsel, and he had counsel speak of it."

"Now countess, you see I cannot betray that man and you yourself will soon be grateful for it, thankful to me that I did not take advantage of a transient generous impulse of your heart to better you too life—a life which must have a dark ending."

Ella looked up resolutely, her quivering lip steadied, she said:

"No countess, you must not give me any more thought to such a light-minded bird of passage. Believe me, there is many a merry hour to be got yet in this summer-world I have one thing to beg of you, Ella time presses, promise me that you will make your cousin happy, happy as he deserves from me, become as a man would be made by you. And now farewell, Ella. Forgive me, as I forgive you."

For one short moment he pressed her to him, touched her brow with his lips, then sprang lightly over the railing and disappeared in the darkness.

Ella sat on—long where he had left her, staring blindly after him, chilled by the cutting night wind. Down, down from her height he dashed the proud queen, disdained by a man who had never loved her—the game is gone—ala!

* * * * *

One sunny day in August a gorgeous equipage, with its occupants, stopped before the gate of the villa Heidstellen, and a servant in gold-laced livery descended from the box to announce to the inmates that the carriage was waiting to take them for a drive. The owner of the villa, Count Heidstellen, was not at home, he had gone to Berlin on business, and would not be back for a week. The ladies, however, were at home, and the servant was ushered into the presence of the countess Ella, who was sitting in the garden with her cousin Erich Quentin. The countess declined the invitation, but begged that the carriage might be sent for her cousin, who was to dine with her. The servant withdrew, and the countess turned to her cousin.

"Erich, you must go for a drive, you look pale and tired, and you have been working too hard. Do go, I shall be dull all alone."

"Ella, I cannot leave you alone, I have something to say to you."

"Then say it, Erich, I am listening."

"Ella, I am going away, I have received a letter from my father, he is ill, and wishes to see me before he dies. I must go at once, I have ordered my horses to be put to, and I shall start in an hour."

"Oh, Erich, how sorry I am, but I hope your father will soon be well again, and you will return to me."

"I hope so, Ella, but I cannot tell. I have something to say to you before I go, something I have long wished to say, but have never had the courage. Ella, I love you, will you be my wife?"

"Erich, I am sorry, very sorry, but I cannot marry you, I do not love you in that way, I love you as a brother, but nothing more."

"Ella, you have been my friend, my companion, my sister, all my life, and I love you as a brother loves a sister, but I love you with a deeper love than that, I love you as a man loves a woman, and I want you to be my wife."

"Erich, I am very sorry, but I cannot marry you, I do not love you enough

St. John's Organ Recital.

On Thursday evening next Dr. Davies will favor the public of Peterborough with another of his popular organ recitals, appreciation of which, we trust, will be evidenced by a large attendance of our music-loving townsfolk. The programme contains several gems of classical music being selected from the works of Beethoven, Handel, Kink, Mendelssohn and other composers of the highest order. The recital will commence at eight o'clock. 2d17

Passed their Examinations.

Following are the names of those pupils of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute class who have passed the examination for machine drawing at the Provincial School for Mechanical Drawing:—Chas. D. McFarlane, Nihill Munro, Wm. Hamilton, Robt. L. Hamilton, Chas. D. Collins, Alfred Plummer. Fifty per cent. of the pupils who tried the examination were successful. The class was conducted by Mr. A. McCallum, draughtsman of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., upon whom falls a large share of the credit for the excellent record the young men have made. The fine showing of the class reflects honour upon the Mechanics' Institute.

A Temperance Lesson.

A peculiar incident occurred at one of the hotels Saturday night. One of the guests from Toronto took the coil of rope found in a room, intended to be used for escape in the event of a fire, and for fun he laid the coil of rope carefully on the bed with its usual catch spring uppermost, thus resembling a serpent coiled ready to spring, the catch spring answering for the fang or tongue of the reptile, and, indeed, thus placed, it was not unlike a live snake. This particular room had that afternoon been assigned to a guest whose grip only occupied it to a late hour. When the gentleman accompanied by another, who was "seeing him home," both "full," one a little more so, came in on lighting the gas the first one to spy "the snake" went wild; his friend was for a moment stunned, but the awful fear and shrieks of the other sobered him somewhat. The house was aroused and after great efforts the man who saw the snake was walked around several blocks and finally with the aid of a dose of chloral was snoring in the room next to the one where he saw the snake.

An Agricultural Game of Ball—Peterborough Defeated.

Peterborough was badly beaten by the Hastings team Saturday afternoon—and they deserved the licking. The infield played the yellowest kind of ball, and errors were made ad infinitum. The scorer became disgusted and simply jotted down the runs—which kept him busy. The visitors played almost as bad a game, but they hit the ball harder and oftener, and with the assistance of a Belleville catcher, Gibson, and the umpire, a Hastings man, got the most men across the plate. McCabe did not pitch his usual game, while Turnbull behind the bat, though he did his best, was not used to the position and consequently did not do as well as was necessary. Both teams batted pretty well, but the large score is due to unexcusable errors.

The umpire, Thos. Howard, of Hastings, gave Peterborough far the worst of a number of loose decisions. The Hastings players admitted that he was decidedly unfair. He evidently does not know much about the game but was determined that his club would win.

However, the game was really lost by the rank fielding of the home team, in spite of all that can be said against the umpire. The score was:—

Church Chimes.

The musical portion of the services in the George Street Methodist Church Sunday night was exceptionally good. The anthem, a special piece, was well rendered, while, after the benediction had been pronounced, the choir sang beautifully and with taste, "God be With You Till we Meet Again." It was extremely annoying and disconcerting in a number of persons who abruptly left the gallery of the George Street Church Sunday night before the close of the service, though the congregation was requested to remain seated while the choir sang the last hymn. Persons who do not wish to stay till the service is concluded, should not go to church.

Obituary.

On Sunday one of the oldest residents of the town, in the person of Mary Brealey, relict of the late Geo. Jenkins, passed away, after a long illness. The deceased lady was 71 years of age and has been a respected resident of the town for over half a century. She leaves behind her to mourn her loss a family of five, which consist of Mrs. J. I. Davidson, Mrs. F. L. Somerville, Misses Annie, Nellie and Mary and two sons, George and John. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, from the family residence, 384 Stewart street.

Equal Rights.

The topic of the day and that which we all want is not only Equal Rights in a political sense of the word, but in many others. Here are people throwing away their hard earned money, with unprincipled houses who do not as much as thank them for it. Why should they do it? Why not call on W.J. Morrow, where you are received courteously, your money placed to a good advantage and you are placed on a solid basis in future for buying cheap groceries. dw

HEATED TERM RETREATS.

The Town Surrounded by Summer Pleasure Spots.

Easy of Access, Delightful to Stay at—The Summer Homes of Hundreds of Our Citizens—Foreigners Appreciate Their Merits.

At all times Peterborough is a delightful place of residence, but especially so in summer. Thes its beautifully shaded streets with long lines of thrifty trees—travellers say it has the finest and most abundant shade trees of any town in the province—make it comparatively cool and pleasant in town. But when we reflect that on almost every side we have magnificent water side resorts of easy access, the desirability of the town as a place of residence will be more highly appreciated. These include every form of enjoyment and recreation boating, fishing, bathing, cool shade, fresh air. In a brief review of these heated term retreats reference may be made to the nearest first.

Chemong Park.

Six miles from town presents numerous advantages. There are two ways of reaching it. A short railway run takes the traveller to the Chemong Valley R.R. terminus and three miles of a steam reaches the Park, now a most popular and favourite resort. Detailed descriptions have so often been given in these columns, that more than a general reference is unnecessary. Its beautiful groves, clean greensward, bubbling springs of clearest water oozing fresh and cool from the depths of the dense bush of forest at the south of the park, the whole fringed with the bright waters of the lake, make a collection of attractions that must bring appreciation. The natural beauties of the place have been enhanced by art; cottages have been built; the accumulated leaves and forest rubbish have been removed; the trees have been trimmed; walks opened, and everything reasonable has been done to make the place a veritable pleasure spot. The numerous cottages are all occupied, and it will not be amiss to give the results of the latest census of the park population:

Mr. Edg. Pearce and family.
Mr R B. Rogers and family.
Mr. John Moloney and family.
Mrs. Geo. Cluxton and family.
Mrs. Archer and party.
Mr. John McKee, family and party.
Mr. J. D. Tully and family.
Mr. W. W. Daly and family.
Mr. F. E. Bell, family and party.
Mr. T. A. Hay and family.
Mr. T. Rutherford and family.
Mr. Geo. Hutchinson and family.
Mr. Hopkins (London, Eng.) and wife.
Mr. F. J. Lewis and family.
Miss Barlee and party.
Mr. A Elliott and party,
Mr. Rickham has charge of a boat house at which canoes, sailing boats, skiffs, etc., can be leased at reasonable rates.

The present permanent population of the park is about 120, and, counting the guests of the residents, that come and go, the average daily population of the park is about 150.

The residents in addition to all the health giving advantages of the park, enjoy economical living and easy access to the town. The Chemong coach, run by Mr. Scott, a new vehicle specially constructed for this service and picturesquely drawn by three horses, driven abreast, makes two round trips per day. Leaves the park at eight o'clock, reaches town at 9. Returns at 10 o'clock and reaches the park, returns at 3 and leaves town on the last run of the day at 5 o'clock. Thus access to the park as well as the town is easy, and residents at the former can procure all their grocery and other supplies with the greatest ease from town. Besides the park is an excellent market for the farmers of the vicinity and there is keen competition, so that residents get the best of new eggs, fresh milk, vegetables, fruits, etc., at extremely low prices, and living at the park is cheaper than in town. As to fish those that take the trouble to go for these, can get an abundant supply from the lake, and those who are too lazy, even, to fish, can purchase them plentifully and cheaply.

The park is a favourite resort for picnics. A short run from town by train and boat brings them to the park at about 9 o'clock, and the period of stay lasts till about 5 30. Thus the greater part of the day is spent in the beautiful grounds instead of on a long tiresome journey which other routes require. The swing in the floating bridge is now in use and steamers from all parts of the northern lakes land at the park wharf.

There is delightful bathing at the park the water at the shore being not deep and the gradually shelving shores make danger of drowning accidents impossible to small children. There is an utter absence of mosquitoes or black flies and there is no "poison ivy," which by the way, may be distinguished from the harmless ivy, by its three leaves in a cluster, while the harmless has five leaves on a stem. Next summer a Bell telephone exchange established at the Park will be another convenience and it is highly probable that a branch of the C.V.R. R will be run directly to the spot. It is a wonder that this is not already done by the G.T.R. Their revenue from the road would be doubled. It is thought by very many that the C P R., which has no local point for excursion parties will at no distant date run a spur from the main line in this direction.

Stony Lake News.

The annual begins to Stony Lake has begun, and tourists and campers are migrating continuously and in large numbers to the popular northern resort. Since the introduction of the improved train service this summer, there is also a much larger Saturday night business done by the boats. Business men can leave Peterborough at 6:40 p m., spend Sunday at Stony Lake, and reach town again a few minutes after eight Monday morning—the round trip for less than $1.50.

Among those who went up Saturday night for a few day's outing were Messrs. Geo. and John Bennett and W. R. Greatrix, bound for the formers' lodge near Young's Bay; Mr. Felix Brownscombe; Mr. Chas. McClelland, Miss Lucy McClelland, Mr. A. E. Thompson and Miss Goodsell, for Mr. John McClelland's summer home; Mr. Wm Loch and Miss Loch for "Pompadour;" Messrs. M. Frake and D. Yarnold for Young's Point; Mr. Alex. Strickland for his father's island and Mr. A. L. Amys for Mr. Sheriff Hall's; Mr. R. J. Colville, Mrs. Richard Dancy and Mrs. D. Sinclair, Toronto, for Juniper Island, to join the camp of Mr. T. S. Clelland family, Mrs. C Irvine and Miss Maggie Matthews; Mr. H Grundy for "Ivanhoe;" Mr. A. Stevenson, Miss Stevenson, Miss Dartnell, of Whitby and Mr. R. M. Denistone, for Mr. C. H. Clements's lodge on Clear Lake; Mr. John Green and son to to join Mr. F. B. Stone and party, who are camping on Juniper Island; Mr. and Mrs. D. Breeze and Mr. B. Shortly, Glenwood; Mr. G. M. Roger and Miss Tillie Mahood, for Juniper Island; Mr. Geo. Munro, for Mr. Wm. Hamilton's lodge; and a party of four Rochester gentlemen bound for the American colony at Boschink. It was about midnight before the boats had finished the distribution of their human cargoes.

OPEN FOR THE SEASON.

Nearly all the cottages are occupied, but as yet few tenting parties have arrived. By next week, however, and for the following three weeks the season will be at its height. Quite a number of gentlemen are in the habit of spending a few days at Young's Point for the fishing. In Clear Lake there are several lodges occupied. Mr. Chas. Wynn and family; Mr. C. H. Clements and family; Mr. R. W. Brock and family, of Toronto, who have engaged Mr. Fuller's house, are on one side of the water. Across the way Mr. Wm. Hamilton's residence has been opened by some members of his family, while "Ivanhoe," Mr. H. Grundy's house, has been occupied for some time by a numerous party, comprising Rev. D. Reddick and wife, of Port Hope; Mrs. Barber, Bostoe, and a sister, and Mrs. Grundy and children. Mr. R J. Kidd and family were there a few weeks ago. Mr K. G. Loch and family have been spending some time at "Pompadour." Mr. J. D. Collins and family have also sought recreation on Catamaran Island. Mr. Sheriff Hall and his family are at their lodge, and the two houses of Messrs. T. E Bradburn and R. J. Lee are tenanted by members of their families. Mr. E. H. D. Hall's cottage will soon be occupied also, it is expected. Mr. F. J. R. Fairbairn and Miss Roger are with Mr. G. M. Roger on Juniper Island. Mr. Richard Hall and family are occupying Mr. Lefevre's house and island. Mr. Rufus Stevenson returned to-day after a couple of weeks at Mr. Clements'e.

There are a number of lodges in the direction of Burleigh, most of them belonging to Lakefield people, in which their owners are installed for the season. These are the Messrs Strickland's, Dr. Bell's, Messrs. F. Lillicrap, W. M. Graham, Cox, Grills, and others. Miss Petrie, of Guelph, is stopping with Miss Bella Graham. Capt. Kinsey's dainty little cycle is tenantless yet. A Mr. White is at "Carradhu," preparing it for the reception of a party of Port Hope people. Mr. Wm. Hamilton and Capt. Piper are at his two none (Toronto) are at Mr. T. W. Robinson's place, and manage the store on Lasher Island—which, by the way, is doing a thriving business. At "Kenmore" is a large party, consisting of Mrs. Foster, of Buffalo, two children and maid; Mrs. H. Waters, Rochester, child and maid; Mrs. B. McCargar, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. John Lasher and Miss Lasher, Peterborough. Further up, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brownscombe, and Mr. and Mrs. Felix Brownscombe and Mr. and Mrs. McWhinnie and family are spending a month at their lodge. Mr. Batcher's lodge is vacant, but will be opened out this week. The family of Mr. J. B. McWilliams are spending the summer at their lodge near Burleigh. Mr. Robt. Armstrong has been spending a couple of weeks with them.

The Burleigh hotel is crowded with tourists, mostly American. Mr. Holmes keeps a deservedly popular house, and, as the fishing is good, he, of course, has all the patrons he can accommodate. "Anchorage Island," the property of Mr. E. Peplow, will be occupied next week by a party of about ten young people, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. W. Paterson. It is not probable Mr. Peplow or any of the family will be among them, though they may be occasional visitors.

THE BOSCHINK COLONY.

gason, with their families, have been occupying their cottages. The ladies and children are there for the summer. Mrs Brodigan Syndicate Island is quite populous. Messrs A Hall, R. Hall, P. Connal and W. G. Ferand Miss Caldwell are in their cottage at Hall's Mills. Inspector Sark, of Toronto is stopping with Mr. Connal, as are also Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stewart. Mr. D. H. Moore's new lodge is yet unoccupied. Messrs S. and J. Best are at Mr. J. G. Weir's place. Mr. and Mrs. Weir having returned to their country home until after harvest. Mr. and Mrs. D. Breeze and family, Mr. D Gamble, Mr. C. B Lowe, Mrs. Wm. Lowe and Mrs. Chas. Lowe, Toronto, with their children, are at "Glenwood" for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stewart, of Toronto, returned this morning after having spent a couple of pleasant weeks at "Glenwood". Master Orville Shortly, Fletcher Meharry and Eli Lush are at Mr. B. Shortly's house. Mr. Shortly and family will go out next week for a month or so. Mr. Thos Bradburn and family are in their lodge. Mr. W A Sanderson and wife will open out their house next week. At McIntyre's house there has, as usual, been a jolly gathering. Messrs. H. LeBrun, Jas. Dolan and E. Dunn have been "housekeeping for a week or so, and during that time have had lots of visitors. One day they had 24 people for dinner. Mr. T. Dolan and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morrow Mrs. T. Dunn and others have been at the island within the past two weeks. On the large island behind McIntyre's is a party of about 25 people from Fergus and the west, comprising the families of Mr. Joseph Robert and Henry Craig, of Fergus, the first-named editor of the Fergus News-Record, and Mr. Shaw, the veteran newspaper man and camper. They have material laid down for a new house. The Messrs Bennett's house will not be occupied permanently till late in the season. Some members of Mr. R W. Grabbe's family are in the lodge at Eel's Creek, to which an addition has been built. Mr R W. Waters, of Norwood, has commenced the erection of a cottage on the Dummer shore. Messrs. W. E. Roxburgh and J. W. Clark, of Norwood, will also build. These are about all the parties at present at Stony Lake, but this week and next will see more added, while some will be returning home.

NOTES.

The steamer "Mary Ellen" lost the key of her screw this morning and was disabled in mid-lake. The "Cruiser" came to the rescue, and Capt. Reynolds obligingly took her passengers. The delay made the steamer 20 minutes late at Lakefield, but Conductor Morris held the train.

It is noticeable that every year there are a greater number of strangers at Stony Lake. It is becoming widely known as a camping ground.

The crops of fish and huckleberries and raspberries are all good, towards the head of the lake, particularly.

Song services were held on Juniper and other Islands Sunday evening, as is the custom during the summer season.

Mr. W. E. Sherwood and family, who have been regular habitues of Stony Lake, are this year summering at Manasseaga Point. Mrs. W. J. Sherwood is with them.

The huge new house being built by Capt. Sloan, of New York, is visited every day by people from different parts of the lake. Its eclipses all its neighbors. It is finished in oiled ash, and no expense has been spared to secure comfort. Capt. Sloan's steam yacht is expected about August 1st.

Sunday evening a gentleman undertook to demonstrate to a lady that his skiff was perfectly safe, and stood on the edge—for a moment only. Then he went into the water up to his neck.

Rice Lake Resort.

Jubilee Point and Idyl Wild continue to draw large crowds of visitors, principally Americans, who are passionately fond of fishing as a rule and always locate in the best place for that purpose they know of. Though about twenty miles from Peterborough, these watering places are brought into close connection with the town by Commodore Calcutt's steamboat service. The hotels at Jubilee Point and Idyl Wild have during the season a constant average of 15 boarders each and in the course of a year the register shows hundreds of guests as having stopped at either place for from two days to a month. Rice Lake is full of fish,—maskinonge and bass—and quite a number of Americans make it there annual rendezvous for a short outing. As yet there have been very few townspeople on Rice Lake, but several parties are expected this week. As soon as the railway line from Cobourg to Harwood is completed, it is certain that there will be still more people arrive at Rice Lake from Cobourg and other places. Already several excursions from Toronto are booked in readiness for the completion of the line. The first locomotive is expected at Harwood Wednesday.

There seems to be a sort of rivalry between the two hotels. The people of Hastings and Cobourg and side of the lake as a rule patronize Idyl Wild and call it "our hotel." The one at Jubilee Point is spoken of as the "Peterborough hotel." Cobourg is jealous of Peterborough and Peterborough institutions, and thus attempts to draw the line of her influence. If its any satisfaction to Cobourg, all right It doesn't hurt Peterborough. The fact remains that both hotels are owned here, and both are the means of drawing a large amount of trade to Peterborough.

Jubilee Point and Idyl Wild are also headquarters for excursions from within a radius of twenty miles from Rice Lake. There have been already this season about 40 pic-nics to the Rice Lake resorts, which averaged 150 people each—and the pic-nic season is only half over.

American visitors are taxed $5 for the privilege of fishing in Rice Lake, while in the northern waters only $2 is charged. Mr Calcutt has written to the government, but there appears to be some misunderstanding. The law reads that $5 shall be charged in all waters. The discrimination is likely to be injurious to Rice Lake.

The rice beds in the lake are yearly growing smaller, owing to the rapid spread of a new kind of fishweed, which kills the rice. The rice harvest will suffer, but the fish crop will gain in proportion.

THE COMMERCIAL ASPECT of this summer resort region is not of the least importance, especially to the town. Every excursion that comes to town represents more or less extensive purchases from our merchants. Indeed, on several occasions, the parcels and bundles of purchases brought home by the excursionists have been so numerous as to tax the capacity of the steamer and make necessary some special arrangement for the bestowal of such freight. Thus the people of the vicinity of Rice Lake get into the habit of coming to town, and, seeing the advantages the shops of Peterborough present, they will become regular customers of the town and visitors to our market. And when the season of navigation closes and the ice makes the journey to town will be easily and frequently made. This influx of lake people will be increased when the Harwood and Cobourg line is in running order—which it will be in a few days—so as to permit persons living south of the lake to reach town easily. Commodore Calcutt has worked hard to popularize this route, and since the greater his success, the greater the benefit to our merchants and business men, the latter are in duty bound to assist his efforts in every way. The cheap Saturday rates are a great attraction, and doubtless many hundred of dollars worth of goods were carried down the river on Saturday evening. Such a happy combination of business and pleasure cannot help but make the southern summer resort route popular.

PETERBORO BOOMING!

The Manufacturing Industries of this town have never been in a more prosperous condition. They are receiving large orders and so many of them that they have to work overtime to supply the demand.

Notwithstanding the above facts, I have properties of all kinds forced on the market, for various reasons, at prices far below fair value, and I would strongly advise any person contemplating buying a vacant lot, a house and lot, a market garden or a farm to buy Now, and buy from me. It will be money in your pocket to do so. Come in and let me know what you want and where you want it. I will guide you right and sell you cheap property. I have a Grocery Business, a Flour and Feed Store, a Hotel, a Butcher Business, and a well established Real Estate Business, all good openings and good reasons in each case for selling. Do you want to buy any of the above,—if not then I want to sell you a Choice Lot in the Little Lake Cemetery; it belongs to a foreigner.

CANADA AND THE STATES.

TESTIMONY TAKEN BY THE SENATE COMMITTEE

Canada, on the Whole, Has the Best of the Situation. Puget Sound at Our Mercy Gen Miles Frankly Talks of Affairs.

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 21.—Mr. Hoar, chairman of the Senate Committee on Relations with Canada, presented to the Senate to-day the testimony which has been taken by that committee. This testimony was not accompanied by a report. It is understood that the committee will make a report of its conclusions at a later period after additional testimony shall have been taken at Buffalo, Detroit and other points. The testimony already taken comprises some 1,200 printed pages. It consists of testimony of the mutiny men, railroad officials and prominent business men of the United States and Canada, men engaged in the fishing industry along the northern boundary of the United States and Canada. The testimony covers all the points of vital interest as to the relations between the United States and the dependency of Great Britain in North America. The first witness examined was Gen. N. A. Miles in command of the Pacific coast. General Miles, commenting upon the defenceless condition of the United States on the northwestern border, said: "I would simply say that the information that I have was collected for myself and for the higher officers of the Government and was regarded as confidential, but in stating to you as a body of representatives of the legislative branch of the Government I should feel it my duty to lay before you any facts that I have, and of course will exercise myself relieved from any responsibility as to secrecy after that will state what is well known in regard to Canada. I believe that the railway system of British Columbia could be occupied by American troops in ten days. In other words, that the principal part of British Columbia could be occupied by American troops, not, however, through Victoria. That is on the Island of Vancouver occupied by British forces, a place where the British Government has expended millions in building dry-docks, navy yards and made some surveys for fortifications. They have there at the present time a fleet of warships under command of a British admiral.

I think it is fair to say, what every intelligent man must know, that during 10 days the British fleet could destroy every town and city on Puget Sound, destroy our railroad system there and occupy our outlets for the northwestern country. They could also send up the Columbia River and destroy the City of Portland and that railway system. There is not a gun or an earthwork on Puget Sound, nor a single artillery soldier. There are a few obsolete guns at the mouth of the Columbia at Fort Canby, but that is not now occupied by troops. That is the condition of affairs north of the harbor of San Francisco.

South of the harbor of San Francisco there is not a gun in position, a round of ammunition or a single artillery soldier to defend the harbors and cities of Sandiego, Santa Barbara and San Pedro, the terminus of one of the railways, and from those points a small force could destroy the railway system in Southern California.

The following is a concluding sentence of the report of a board of officers appointed to investigate the question of fortifications at San Francisco harbor and the Golden Gate. From the defective character of the earthworks and emplacement upon and in which the existing armament of this harbor is mounted it is not possible to fire a single gun with a service charge, nor could this state of affairs be remedied in the course of a month.

The report contains an account of the British fortification at Esquimalt, where it is reported that Great Britain is now concentrating war vessels with a view to possible contingencies in Behring Sea. A great number of witnesses testified in all relations the question of subsidies to steamers from the Pacific coast to China, notably the line which have been subsidized by Great Britain in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway, and which constitute a continuous subsidized line from China to Liverpool over the Canadian Pacific.

The general policy and effect of the Canadian Pacific Railway upon the United States railroad is discussed by the friends and the opponents of that system. One of the curious features of the testimony is a consideration of the possible transfer of a portion of the fisheries interest from the Atlantic to the North Pacific coast. The testimony gives the latest information as to the salmon industry on the Pacific coast and the coal production along the northern frontiers and on the northwestern states. The testimony is an important contribution to many subjects connected with the tariff and will be likely to be found of use in the tariff debate.

Nearly every question connected with the tariff as affected by the relations between the United States and Canada is treated on both sides. The managers of the United States transcontinental railway system set forth at length their complaint at competition of the Canadian road, which is made possible by the fact that those roads are not subject to the operation of the Inter State Commerce law. A great many different remedies for the evils of which the United States companies complain were suggested. Most of the American railway managers maintain that the Canadian Pacific is inimical to American railway interests. Many of them assert that the long and short haul and the pooling relations of the Inter State Commerce Law should be repealed. The advocates and the opponents of reciprocity state their cases at length. Some very curious information is given as to the nature of the seal fisheries. Most of the fishermen engaged in the seal fishing on the North Atlantic coast insist that the seals are very destructive of food fish, and that it will be a benefit to the country when they shall all disappear. There is abundant evidence to show that seals are destroyed in the most wanton manner during the spring, irrespective of the season which ought to be regarded as close and even when the seals are in the breeding season. The testimony contains full information as to the wool growing interest, as the wool manufacturing industry on the Pacific coast and along the northwestern border.

The relations of the fishery question on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts are set forth. One of the fishermen of the northeastern coast said it requires over [illegible] hundred pounds of food fish per day to [illegible] and that it may become necessary on the coast to get rid of the seals in order to preserve the food fish for mankind. Some of the fishermen predict that, with the existing methods of hunting the seals there will not be any seals in fishing seas in five years time.

The report contains a vast amount of detailed information as to the new northwest. The advocates of commercial union, of reciprocity, of free raw material, have been permitted to state their views at length. The complaints of New England fishermen and the operations of the modus vivendi in Canada are detailed. There is exhaustive information as to the material and political condition of Canada. There is complete information as to the vessels and fisheries of the United States. Some light is thrown upon the controversy between Newfoundland and France as to the French fisheries at the Island of St. Pierre-Miquelon, which are becoming a sensational feature of Canadian news just now. The rights of American fishermen under the several treaties with Great Britain are considered. The subject of annexation, of which so much has been said, is incidentally referred to by a number of witnesses, and the advantages and disadvantages which it is assumed would result from a union of the two countries are explained by individuals. There are Canadians as well as Americans. The committee itself makes no statement upon this subject, nor does it communicate any conclusion of any kind in connection with the testimony.

The conclusions, as has already been stated, are reserved for a subsequent period after additional testimony shall have been taken.

An appendix to the testimony contains a great deal of information about the Dominion of Canada from official Canadian and other sources, which is hardly to be found in any other compilation. In one portion of the appendix the present existing race question in Canada between the French and English speaking portion of the Dominion is fully explained.

Full information as to the trade and commerce and the political and physical material and relations of the Dominion of Canada are contained in the appendix and throughout the testimony.

Voorhees on the McKinley Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—At 2 o'clock the Senate took up the Tariff Bill and was addressed by Mr. Voorhees in opposition to it. He characterized the bill as a financial monster every claw and tooth of which had been carefully inspected in the lobbies and found to be sound and reliable. It was only in an impure political and moral atmosphere generated by a corrupt monopoly of wealth that a financial measure like this would dare to show the hard lines of its guilty face, much less would it expect to be treated with respect, spoken well of and treated as law.

France Knows What to Do.

PARIS, July 21.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, replying to the interpellation of M. Dupuy in regard to negotiations with the powers relative to the American Customs Administration Bill, said the Government had been in negotiation with the other European powers with the object of trying to concert collective action against the bill. The other powers, he said, were averse to entering into any engagement in connection with the matter.

M. Ribot declared that he feared further action would defeat its own object. M. Dupuy said he hoped M. Ribot would strenuously try to secure from the United States government a moderate application of the provisions of the bill. In any case, he declared, the French Customs Committee know now what course to adopt.

A GHASTLY SPECTACLE.

A Horrifying Spectacle at a Missouri Funeral.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 21.—The wife of John N. Peterson died here last Thursday of dropsy. She weighed nearly 300 pounds. The largest casket to be procured in Sedalia was the exact measurement required at the time of death, but as it was not delivered until Friday morning, the body had swollen so much that it was crowded into the casket with difficulty. It was then screwed down and the body kept for burial. Ice could not be procured.

The funeral services were set for Saturday afternoon, and a number of neighbors acted as watchers Friday night. At midnight the watchers were startled by a loud report in the room where the coffin had been placed. It was found that the gases of the body had accumulated within the casket until their forces burst the glass over the face of Mrs. Peterson. So great was the force of the explosion that the body was shot forward and upward, the head protruding from the coffin.

It was decided that the funeral should take place at once. The grave having been prepared the coffin was carried into the burial place and ropes were placed under the casket. As the coffin was being lowered one of the assistants let go of his end of the rope. This threw the weight to the head of the coffin and the ropes were jerked from the hands of the men stationed there.

The coffin fell with great force head downward and burst to pieces. The grave was filled up at once without waiting for another casket.

Decline to Testify.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Coroner Hertz, who is investigating the explosion on the steamer Tioga, to-day received an answer to his requests from the Messrs. Bright, proprietors of the Genesee Oil Works of Buffalo, who shipped the naphtha on the Tioga—to come here and testify before the coroner's jury of inquest. The Messrs. Bright decline to come and say they see no reason why they should do so. They disclaim any responsibility for the explosion. They say: All carriers from Buffalo put all the products of petroleum in the same classification, charge the same freight and make no distinction between them, all these products being designated "Oil." There was no concealment whatever from the steamboat company of the character of the shipment. The steamboat company knew the character of this and previous similar shipments.

Sterile New England.

BOSTON, July 21.—The damage in New England by the present drought is now past recovery what ever the future weather. Most districts have been without rain sufficient for a growing season for weeks. Corn and tobacco in the lowlands are still in fair condition. Pastures are drying up, rendering the early feeding of stock necessary. Streams are low and the beds of shallow creeks are dry. Grass is the only abundant crop, and a [illegible] yield of excellent hay has been secured.

IT DOES NOT SPECULATE.

BUYS THE SILVER IT NEEDS AT CURRENT MARKET PRICES.

The Silver Question in the House of Commons—A Neat Back-Handed Slap for United States Methods. The Chancellor of the Exchequer a Mild Sarcasmist.

LONDON, July 21.—In the House of Commons to-day S. Williamson asked, in view of the marked influence of American legislation regarding silver on the price of that metal in London, that steps be taken by the Government to secure a full supply for mintage purposes.

Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said the mint does not speculate in silver. It must, subject to reasonable foresight, purchase according to its requirements.

LEOPOLD LAUDATORY.

Taffy for Belgium and a Tight Grip for the Congo Country.

BRUSSELS, July 21.—The 60th anniversary of Belgian independence and the 25th year of the reign of King Leopold were observed to-day with a Te Deum service in the cathedral in the presence of the members of the royal family, the cabinet ministers, the foreign diplomatic representatives and the members of the Senate and Chamber of Representatives. Afterward a reception was held at the palace. In responding to an address from the Senate, King Leopold referred to the work of Belgium in Africa as receiving an impetus through the decisions of the Anti-Slavery Conference. Belgium, he said, had taken a great part in a vast enterprise, and he hoped she would take a still greater part in the future. The object of his life was to render the country beautiful, strong and happy. The present session of parliament would be occupied with great acts marking an epoch in Belgian history. In responding to an address from the Chamber of Representatives the King said he deemed the time opportune to assure to Belgium his African possessions after the expiration of 10 years, which period was necessary to consolidate the state. In the event of his death, Belgium, his heir, would surely never wish to diminish the extent or importance of her new possessions.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

Uxbridge as a Port of Entry Drowned Bodies Recovered.

OTTAWA, July 21.—Mr. R. R. Elliott of Uxbridge was in the city to-day and called on the Minister of Customs to urge the importance of making the town of Uxbridge a port of entry.

The body of Mr. Lemieux, the civil servant who was drowned in the river here on Saturday, was recovered this evening.

Andrew Pringle, who was arrested on suspicion in connection with the recent indecent assaults upon little girls, appeared before Magistrate O'Hara this morning on a charge of chasing two little girls, Ellie McAllister of Redpath-street and her sister in New Edinburgh, on the 13th instant. The two girls were seated on the witness bench when Pringle was led into the prisoners' box. They immediately recognized him and Ellie became so frightened that she attempted to leave the court. Pringle was greatly excited and frightened. He reached his head over the box and without being spoken to said in a slow and hesitating manner: "I didn't run after you, I only stood there and said you were foolish to run away from me." His Worship at once imposed a fine of $50 and $2 costs or in default three weeks in jail. Pringle took the latter and went down. Pringle acknowledged to-day to Detective Montgomery that it was he who escaped from Cannington lock-up some time ago on a charge of indecently assaulting some little girls. He said that he made his escape by burning the wood around a bar in the cell by a red hot iron which he heated by a small stove in his cell. Chief McVeity has written Chief McBain asking if he will send Pringle on to Cannington after he has served his term here.

Hon. Mr. Drury, speaking to a reporter at the close of the Prison Reform Commission, said he believed it would have practical results. Certain defects were believed to exist in the present prison system, and the evidence so far had largely gone to sustain the belief. "When we come back from the States," said Mr. Drury, "we will draw up a report to the Government, and it is quite likely that the recommendations therein made will be included in a bill and brought before the next session of the Legislature."

The body of the boy Severin, who was drowned at Tetreaultville on the Aylmer road on Tuesday, was found this morning at the Upper Ottawa Improvement Co.'s works at Hull. It was wedged between the logs, showing that it had come down since Saturday night, as logs were behind it which had come down since. Coroner Graham took the body in charge. An inquest was held and a verdict of accidental drowning returned.

The customs department desires it to be announced that no authorized official list of the new customs tariff is in existence. One will be issued shortly.

Returns of the American consulate here show that during the year 1889-90 395 immigrants came to this city.

A Hint 'Twas the Husband.

BERLIN, July 21.—A tragedy surrounded with mystery was perpetrated in the Thiergarten Park near Gold Fish Lake early this morning. The body of Marie Wender, the pretty wife of a postoffice official, was discovered with a bullet wound in the left breast and her throat cut. There is no clue to the murderer. The husband of the woman was away from home much of the time. It is suspected that the couple did not live happily together, and that Mrs. Wender had a lover. The husband has not been seen since the crime was discovered.

Hunsberger's Narrow Escape.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 21.—A team of horses owned by Jacob Hunsberger were instantly killed by the G.T.R. express this morning. Mr. Jordan and a son of Mr. Hunsberger narrowly escaped death. Young Hunsberger says he did not hear the whistle and was on the track before he realized the train was upon him. The horses were struck about the middle and the wagon overturned, the driver being thrown underneath it. The animals were dreadfully mangled, but young Hunsberger escaped without a bruise. The men who saw the accident about Jordan station say the train did not whistle.

The Old Lady Escaped.

CREDITON, Ont., July 21.—The dwelling house of Mr. P. Speardown was destroyed by fire at noon to-day during the absence of all the family except Mrs. Speardown and mother, an aged lady, who was asleep in bed. The neighbors discovered the fire and carried her from the burning building. Loss $450.

The Captain Exonerated.

QUEBEC, July 21.—Judge Chauveau has dismissed the charges brought by the sailors of the ship Polyneman against Captain Charron, owing to the contradictory nature of their evidence. The ship's log proved that the deceased sailor Duffy received proper treatment, but his illness was so far advanced that it was impossible to save his life. Captain Charron was exonerated from all blame in the matter.

A Partial Solution of the Difficulty.

HAMILTON, July 21.—At a meeting of the Hospital Committee of the City Council to-night, it was decided that the committee recommend Dr. Olmsted of this city for the position of medical superintendent of the City Hospital, with a salary of $1500 a year. Dr. Olmsted has had charge of the hospital since the resignation of Dr. Crerar gate on July 1, and has given general satisfaction.

To the Falls at Lightning Speed.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 21.—A company has been incorporated to build an electrical road from Buffalo to Niagara Falls, through Tonawanda. Capital $250,000. J. C. Conway, E. H. Butler and Michael Nellany are trustees. It is said operations will be commenced at once and the road finished to Tonawanda by Christmas. The company has ample funds.

A DRY DOCK MYSTERY.

How Did He Come By His Death?—A Chance for Good Detective Work.

ST. CATHARINES, July 21.—There is considerable feeling in Port Dalhousie over the termination of the coroner's inquest concerning the death of the man Miles Robinson, who is alleged to have fallen from the deck of the steambarge Tilley into the bottom of the dry dock. The jury rendered what is known as an "open verdict," and probably could do nothing else with the evidence but the general impression at the Port seems to be that Robinson was the victim of foul play. It is pointed out that when he was found he was lying at the bottom of the dock as if stretched out for a sleep and there was not any appearance of his having fallen from the boat. The distance from the point he is said to have fallen from must be thirty or forty feet and yet there was not a bone broken in his body and the rotten planking on which he lay when found was intact. There was a deep gash apparently cut with a sharp instrument near the base of the brain, from which the brain was oozing, but there was no indication that this wound was received in falling. Blood was found, too, spattered over the side of the boat in a suspicious manner and which would not have happened had the man fallen over. There is enough in the surrounding circumstances to warrant the authorities in reopening the whole case and exerting every means in their power to clear up the mystery.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

TORONTO, July 22.—The market to-day has been quiet and steady, with nothing of a speculative nature. Flour prices are nominal. Straight roller at $4.50 and extra at $4.30. There has been a steady demand for wheat, and oats have been quiet.

The following stocks are in store in Toronto elevators:

	Bush.	Bush.
Fall wheat	28,821	39,894
Spring wheat	62,333	75,377
Oats	765	2,989
Barley	14,622	17,335
Peas	3,071	3,071

There is no change in produce. Eggs are still held at 13c; butter is held at from 13c to 15c; other products are unchanged.

There was little done on the street, at these prices:

Wheat, white	$ 98 to $	98
" red	98 to	98
" spring	90 to	92
" goose	70 to	74
Oats	44 to	45
Barley	45 to	50
Peas	58 to	61
Timothy	13 00 to	16 00
Mixed hay	7 00 to	12 00
Straw	7 00 to	8 00
Dressed hogs, 100 lbs	6 50 to	7 00
Beef, forequarters, 100 lbs	4 00 to	6 00
Beef, hindquarters, 100 lbs	7 00 to	9 00
Veal, 100 lbs	6 00 to	8 00
Mutton	7 00 to	9 00

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports: Wheat firm; demand poor; holders offer sparingly. Spring wheat, 7s 2½d; red winter, 7s 1½d; No. 1 Cal., 7s 3½d. Corn, 3s 9½d. Peas, 5s 7d. Pork, 53s 3d. Lard, 30s 3d. Bacon, long clear, heavy, 29s 6d; light, 30s 6d; short clear, 29s 6d. Cheese, 41s 6d.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports: Floating cargoes—Wheat and corn firmer. Cargoes on passage—Wheat, firmer, held higher; corn, firm. Mark Lane Wheat and corn a turn dearer; flour, English, firmer; American, a turn dearer. Mark Lane—Spot, good mixed American corn 18s 6d, was 17s 3½; straight Minneapolis flour 28s, was 30s. French country markets generally dearer. Weather in England fair; with showers. Liverpool—Spot wheat, steady; corn, a turn dearer.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Buffalo reports: There were free offerings of cheese to-day, market very dull, and only sale was 1000 boxes of Cloverfield at 7¾c.

Little Falls reports: Cheese—From bad to worse seems to be the tendency of the cheese market. To-day shows another sharp decline, and the prices are off fully ½c from last week. Transactions: 36 lots at 6¾c, 54 lots at 7c, 21 lots at 7⅛c, 1 lot at 7¼c and 9 lots commission. Total 9635 boxes.

Farm dairies—Sales of farm dairy cheese amount to 985 boxes and the prices ranged 7 to 7⅛c, with the bulk at the former figure. Butter—485 packages of creamery sold at 16 to 16½c, with the bulk at 16, and 12 packages of dairy butter at 16 to 17c.

Utica reports: The market appears demoralized. The margin of profit is extremely slight, and there seems to be no demand from abroad and the home consumption at this season requires only a nominal supply. Trade was decidedly dull. Buyers were conservative and cautious. The ruling price was established at 7¾c, as against 7¾c last week and 7⅞c the week before. Transactions were: 4 lots, 400 boxes at 7c; 88 lots, 9220 boxes at 7¼c; 58 lots, 4658 boxes at 7¼c; 33 lots, 3365 boxes at 7⅜c; one lot, 250 boxes at 7½c; 22 lots, 2078 boxes, commission. Transactions same date last year aggregated 19,962 boxes, ruling prices 7¾c.

A Bad Storm.

QUEBEC, July 21.—A severe storm visited the Lake St John district last week, doing considerable damage to property and the crops, more especially in the parish of St. Prime. Barns and fences were blown down, trees uprooted and glass in many of the houses broken. The grain crop may be seriously affected. The steamer Pioneer belonging to Messrs. Price & Co., while at anchor opposite Belle River, was struck by a hurricane and stranded on a sand bank a total wreck. There were thirty men on board at the time, all of whom escaped with difficulty.

Filling the Stations.

ST. CATHARINES, July 21.—These appointments were made by the 34th annual conference of the B. M. E. Church of Ontario this evening: Toronto, Rev. P. Brooks; Buxton, Rev. William R. Drake; Guelph, W. T. Minter; St. Catharines, C. A. Washington; Windsor, R. Miller, superintendent; Hamilton, W. T. Minter; Dresden and Nazrey, Chapel Nathan Ellsworth, Brantford, George R. Blount; Chatham, W. Hawkins, superintendent; Collingwood mission, H. M. Cephas; London, T. C. Oliver, A.M.; Ingersoll and Woodstock mission, Bro. S. A. Lucas; Peace River mission, Charles Mayo; Bro. R. P. Ball, general house agent and evangelist; Rev. T. H. Slater, general foreign agent.

A St. John Victim.

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 21.—A lad named Hugh Barden was drowned this morning while bathing off Barrack Point. Two companions made efforts to save him, but without avail. The body has not yet been recovered.

Canadian Railway Entrance Into Chicago.

MONTREAL, July 21.—Sir Joseph Hickson, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, was seen to night in connection with an Associated Press despatch which announced that the Canadian Pacific Railway had obtained a legal decision confirming their right to obtain an entrance into Chicago. He explained that the legal proceedings referred to were between the Wabash & Chicago and Western Indiana Companies, the latter being the company that supplies terminal accommodation to the Wabash, Grand Trunk and four or five other companies entering Chicago. The point at issue was whether the Wabash had the right to bring in the traffic exchanged with the Canadian Pacific without paying additional rental. As a matter of fact the Canadian Pacific does not run its trains into Chicago. It merely exchanges traffic with the Wabash Company at Detroit, nearly 300 miles east of Chicago, and the Grand Trunk was not a party to the legal proceedings referred to and did not interfere with any Canadian Pacific rights, real or fancied, which it might possess.

OUR COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE PRINCIPAL.

In an article written a few day's before the last meeting of the School Board, the EXAMINER advocated the procuring of the best available man for the position of Principal of the Collegiate Institute, and it is a pleasure to hopefully note that the Board acted accordingly in the appointment of Mr. Cortez Fessenden, late Principal of the Napanee High School, or, rather, Collegiate Institute. The new Principal has a record which indicates that he has the qualifications that go to the making of a first-rate Principal. Knowing that the public are deeply concerned in everything that pertains to our chief institution of learning, and Mr. Fessenden to-day having signified his acceptance of the offer of the Board, the EXAMINER has much pleasure in introducing Mr. Fessenden to its readers. Mr. Fessenden is in the prime of life, having been born in 1852, and though comparatively young in years, he has seen a great deal of experience in his profession. He was born in the United States, being a descendant of a member of an old Canterbury, England family, who came to Salem, Massachusetts, over two hundred years ago (1640.) However, all his life, since his infancy has been spent in Canada. He received his early education at the HighSchool, Knowlton, P.Q., subsequently at McGill Normal School Montreal, finally graduating '74 at Trinity University, Toronto. His experience as a teacher includes one year at Hellmuth College, London, under the present Bishop of Toronto. He held the position of Principal of Brampton High School, and for the past ten years he has been Principal of the Napanee High School. Both of these latter schools, under Mr. Fessenden's management, were raised to a high degree of efficiency. Mr Fessenden's scholarship has been practically recognized by his alma mater. For five years he was examiner at Trinity in science and mathematics. Indeed as a mathematician Mr. Fessenden enjoys a more than Provincial reputation, Dr. McLellan, in the introduction to one of his works, referring to Mr. Fessenden's mathematical acquirements in very complimentary terms, and the latter's published work on this subject, "High School Physics," is officially authorized by the Departments, and in use in every Province of the Dominion, except New Brunswick. He has in press at the present time a new work on Physics, which will be published by McMillan & Co., of London, England, in the course, it is expected, of the present year. Mr. Fessenden is not only a successful teacher, a scholar, an author, and gentleman of culture, but he is also a public spirited citizen, active and energetic in promoting the material, as well as educational, interests of the community with which he casts his lot. While working hard at the up building of the Napanee High School to the status of a Collegiate Institute, for which a new building, to meet the requirements of such a status, is in course of erection, Mr. Fessenden has found time to work as a maker of books, and also to help forward an important civic institution in Napanee. He is a director and manager of the Napanee Water and Electric Light Company. He is, therefore, a man of action and of energy, just such a man as the Collegiate Institute requires. The EXAMINER feels justified in congratulating Mr Fessenden on becoming a citizen of the first town of the Dominion, and in congratulating the School Board and the citizens on securing the services of a principal with such a well approved record. But the best man will have his efforts largely neutralized without the hearty and active co-operation of fellow-teachers, school board, pupils and parents; and this we bespeak in his behalf with full confidence that the co-operation spoken of will be heartily extended, in which event we can, we feel, safely predict a prosperous future for the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. This Institute has had a rather trying experience in the near past, but happier days are dawning. The School Board seems to be influenced by broad, liberal ideas, and inclined to work harmoniously for the promotion of our educational interests, whether associated with the Institute or the Public Schools; in fine, the conditions are in every way favourable for a "boom" in educational matters in Peterborough the coming year, and, we hope, many a year beyond.

MONDAY'S press despatches record a very undesirable victory for a Canadian; some bullet-headed Canuck had the necessary superiority in skill, brute-force and endurance to enable him to knock out some Yankee tough. The training and trouble necessary to fit a man for such an encounter and unfit him for useful citizenship, would, if rightly directed, have resulted in benefit instead of degradation and injury, to society.

THE Toronto Trades and Labour Council, "while noting the creation by the Ontario Government of a commission to inquire into and report upon the very important question of prison reform, desires to emphasize its pleasure at the appointment as one of the commissioners of Mr. Alfred F. Jury, of Toronto, because his presence thereon will, of itself, be a guarantee that such phases of the question as bear directly on the interests of the working people of Ontario will receive impartial consideration." Mr. Mowat has a knack of appointing the man to fill the position; not merely to draw the salary.

THE folly of our Dominion Government galloping all over the world to secure trade relations with distant lands, while they neglect the opportunity presented at our very doors, is aptly set out by the Globe, as below:—Having subsidized a line of West India steamers, the Dominion Government is about to despatch Mr. Adam Brown, M. P., to Jamaica to see if he cannot extend our trade in that quarter. Those who recommend that we should try to establish wider trade relations with our next-door neighbor are accused of "grovelling before the Yankees;" yet it is safe to say there is more to be made by grovelling before them than by grovelling before a small, distant and comparatively poor community like Jamaica, while the act would be no more humiliating in one case than in the other. We have kept our plenipotentiaries pretty busy of late. Sir Charles Tupper has been to Spain, Belgium, France and Italy; we have sent agents to Australia, and we have made overtures to almost every nation, civilized and uncivilized, in South America; but all to no purpose. A community which will not buy cannot sell abroad. Mr. Brown will discover the truth of this elementary principle the moment he asks the West Indians to accept our manufactures whilst refusing to take their commodities in pay.

GAS FOR BUFFALO.

The Bison City to be Supplied From the Canadian Fields.

PORT COLBORNE, July 19.—Donald McGillivray of this town, treasurer of the Provincial Natural Gas and Fuel Company, to whose pertinacity and enterprise the great success in developing the natural gas fields is very largely due, was seen to-day in regard to the dispatch from Ottawa, stating that his company had signed a contract with the Standard Oil Company to supply the Buffalo district with gas from the Bertie fields.

Mr. McGillivray spoke with some hesitation. He was free to say, however, that such a contract as was referred to in the despatch had not been signed, but he would not affirm or deny the truth of reported negotiations looking to such a consummation. "Of course," he said, "we would like to be able to put our gas in Buffalo. One of our wells could supply double the quantity that would be required. It is true, too, that the engineering difficulties in the way are not sufficiently serious to require much consideration. But there are a hundred other things—small items, some of them, but none the less are they obstacles. We do not apprehend that the American Government would put a duty on gas, because cheap fuel would be a very desirable thing for the manufacturers and for the people, but they might, under pressure from the coal barons, be induced to hamper us if we went to Buffalo direct."

EXPLOSION OF MOLTEN IRON.

Seventeen Workmen in a New York Foundry Terribly Burnt.

NEW YORK, July 19.—This afternoon while the employes of Cassidy & Adler's iron foundry in West 55th-street were standing about a smelting furnace which contained about six tons of iron, some of which was being run off into moulds, the cupola exploded and seventeen men were more or less burned by the moulten metal. Foreman Peter Scallon was probably fatally burned. The liquid metal covered his entire body so that recognition was barely possible. Edward McNally and Fred Rosenken were also terribly burned about their bodies, but may pull through. The rest were able to go home after treatment. The explosion was caused, it is said, by the neglect of some workingmen, who were assigned to that task, to keep stirring the molten iron while it was being strained into the moulds. The gases that generated in the molten iron caused the explosion.

WHEN KURNEL MEETS KURNEL.

Then Comes the Shock of War. The Battle of Stinking Creek.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 20.—Another outbreak of the Smith-Messer feud is reported from Knox County. The battle occurred Thursday evening at Hubbard's mill on Stinking Creek, one of the most lawless sections in the state. There was a political meeting there, the candidates for the various county offices being advertised as speakers. Both the Smith and Messer factions were on hand carrying their Winchesters and "forty-fours." It is not known just how the trouble began, but at about 3 o'clock the shooting commenced and when the smoke had cleared away four men were found to have bitten the dust while the rest had disappeared. Eighteen men were arrayed on one side and about 25 on the other. Those killed are two of the Mills boys belonging to the Messer faction and Robert Burchett and John Howard belonging to the Smith crowd.

A Free Trip to Europe.

The publishers of the Canadian Queen will give a free trip to Europe to the person sending them the largest number of words constructed from letters contained in the name of their well known magazine "The Canadian Queen." Additional prizes, consisting of silver tea sets, gold watches, china dinner sets, portiere curtains, silk dresses, mantel clocks, and many other useful and valuable articles will also be awarded in order of merit.

Webster's unabridged dictionary to be used as authority in deciding the contest.

This is a popular plan of introducing a popular publication. Every one sending a list of not less than ten words will receive a present. Enclose thirteen 2c. stamps for illustrated catalogue of presents and three months' trial subscription to the Queen. Address, the Canadian Queen, "B," Toronto, Ont. dw

Our Story.

STANLEY AND EMIN PACHA

THE GREAT EXPLORER'S STORY OF HIS MARCH ACROSS AFRICA.

An Exciting, Engaging, Earnest Book—The Great Forest and Its Tiny Inhabitants —Travel in a Land Without Roads and Where Man is the Only Beast of Burden.

Stanley's new book "In Darkest Africa" is in all respects his greatest. Not only does it describe a larger and more varied territory than any of its predecessors, but it tells of harder work, greater privations, worse disappointments and a purpose more difficult of realization. Besides all this, it is much better written than either of the author's earlier books. The experience and thoughtfulness that come to men as years go by have had a marked influence upon Stanley's style. In the final chapter he tells us that the entire work about a thousand large pages was written in fifty consecutive days, yet the reader will find no padding, nothing that is prosy, but, on the contrary, a rapid, stirring narrative, full of incidents vividly related and reflections that no one will be tempted to skip. It is a remarkable book in every respect and disappointing to none.

A BAD OMEN.

The work opens with a chapter describing the arrival of his expedition in Egypt and the council the long isolation of Emin Pacha, governor of the equatorial province of Egypt, from the home government and of the efforts which eventually led to the sending of Stanley to his rescue. One of the explorer's first duties was to make an ally of Tippoo Tip, the greatest slave merchant and general cure in all Africa. The interview with this old scoundrel is reported in a style as creditable to Stanley's shrewdness as to his pen, though the final results were satisfactory only in preventing Tippoo becoming an open enemy with spear and rifle. The relief expedition, like all other large parties in Africa, was composed of a more villainous and worthless lot of fellows than could be found in any prison in the United States, but they were the best that could be had in Africa. They were thieves, murderers, ne'er-do-wells and everything else bad, yet they had to be treated consider-ately. In his first general order as his officers Stanley wrote, "Officers will please remember that the labor of the men is severe, their burdens are heavy, the climate hot the marches long and the rations poor and often scant. Under such conditions human nature is extremely susceptible, the force punishments should be judicious and vexatious, to prevent straining patience too much. It has been usual for me to be greatly harbearing. Let the rule be three pardons for one punishment."

DRIVING THEIR MULES.

One man was hanged, another stood with a noose about its neck and many were at the other end of the rope ready to drag the wretch to eternity. Then the leader "set up a guard to see whether the brutish followers might not have some humanity and loyalty in them. He had previously arranged that one of the condemn should beg for the culprit's life. Here is his description of what followed:

"Now, my man, have you anything to say to us before you join your brother who died yesterday?"

The man remained silent and scarcely seemed conscious that I spoke. I turned round to the headmen. "Have you anything to say before I pass the word?"

Then Rashid incited his brother chiefs, at which they all rushed up and threw themselves at my feet, pleading forgiveness, blaming in harsh terms the thieves and murderers, but vowing that their behavior in future would be better if mercy was extended for this one time.

During this scene the Zanzibaris face were worth observing. How the eyes shone and the lips closed, and their cheeks became pallid, as with the speed of an electric flash the same emotion move and Enough! children, take your man, his life is yours. But see to it. There is only one law in future for him who runs off a rifle, and that is death by the cord."

Then such a manifestation of feeling occurred that I was amazed—real big tears rolled down many a face, while every eye was suffused and enlarged with his passionate emotions. Caps and turbans were tossed into the air, rifles were lifted, and every right arm was up as they exclaimed:—"Until the white cap is burned none shall leave him! Death to him who leaves Bula Matari! Show the way to the Nyanza! Lead on, now—now we will follow."

THE INNER MAN.

There is but little description of slaughters and their methods, but it is enough to show what a hell Central Africa must be man under the slave trade is suppressed. Much of the suffering of the expedition might have been averted had not the natives suspected the party of being slavers and killed every one who attempted to find food. Unable to obtain supplies by trade the men stole fruit grain and animals. That some who sought for food were themselves killed and eaten did not deter others from straying from the column, impelled by their inner cravings. Discipline was hard to maintain, treachery was to be feared, says the author:—

"The more experience and insight I obtain into human nature the more convinced do become that the greater portion of a man is purely animal. Fully and regularly fed he is being capable of being coaxed or coerced to exertion of any kind, love and fear sway him easily, he is not averse to labor however severe but when starved it is well to keep in mind the motto "Cave Canem" for a starving lion over a morsel of beef is not a ferocious or so ready to take offence. High discipline daily tireless and endless marching into regions of which they were perfectly ignorant never seemed to gall our men much when their stomachs were pampered and abundant provender for their digestive organs was provided; but even hanging unto death was only a temporary damper to their inclination to excessive mischief when pinched with hunger."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

"Then we halted on the crest of a commanding hill to drink the beauty of a scene of which we knew no rival, which had been the subject of our thoughts and dreams for months, and now we were made glad according to the degree in which we had been afflicted and the pleasure was in value as evil. Every face gloated over the beauty of the landscape and reflected the secret pleasure of the heart. The men were radiant with the fulfilment of dear desire. Distrust and bitterness were for a while entirely banished. We were like men out of durance and the dungeon, free and unfettered, having exchanged fetters and chains for sweetness and purity, darkness and gloom for divine light and wholesome air. Our eyes followed the obscure track, roved over the pasture hillock, great and small, every lovely object and swarded level around it, along the irregularities of the forest line, and fondly fur real behindhand, adventurous pioneering there, yonder as sunnily as bay like cannot have a care like yours. The mind grasped the minutest peculiarity as well as space as vision, to cling fast for many, many years. A score of years hence, if we live so long, let but allusion be made to this happy hour when every soul trembled with joy, and praise rose spontaneously on every lip, and we shall be able to map the whole with precision and fidelity."

The meeting with Emin is described in the quiet manner which Stanley always uses at climaxes where almost any other man would be tempted to drop out the writing:—
